Nixon off on new peace trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon headed today for his third Summit meeting in a little over two years with Soviet leaders, expressing hope his new "journey for peace" would help avoid a runaway arms race and a danger of world war.

Nixon flew first to Brussels for meetings with some of the top leaders of NATO countries —with the aim of giving "new purpose and direction" to the alliance —before going to Moscow Thursday.

In a brief departure ceremony at Andrews Air Force Base, just outside Washington, Nixon said that "as we take off on another journey for peace," his aim at the Moscow Summit was threefold:

— "First, we expect to strengthen the bilateral relations between the two strongest nations in the world.

—"Second, we hope to develop areas of cooperation to displace confrontation in other critical areas of the world that might be those places where conflict could develop between the two great powers.

—"And third, we hope to make more progress on a goal that we began to achieve and move forward toward in 1972 of limiting both the burden and also the threat of nuclear arms over our two nations and over the world generally."

The President seemed in good spirits, having apparently recovered strength from the fatiguing Mideast trip. He also showed no sign, in his public appearances on leaving the White House and at the airbase, of the limp resulting from an attack of phlebitis in the leg that occurred while he was on his way to the Mideast.

He expressed confidence, in his departure statement, that most Americans "are united behind the efforts we are making to attempt to resolve differences that otherwise would lead to a runaway arms race and otherwise would lead to confrontation not only between two great powers but all over the world."

Nixon leaves behind, as he did when he went to the Mideast for the first meeting by a President with leaders of three Arab countries in their own capitals, the multifaceted Watergate scandals, with Congress in the process of an impeachment inquiry.

He made no reference to his domestic problems as he outlined his hopes for the Moscow summit, including further steps to limit the arms race.

"These are very great goals and like all great goals, they are difficult to achieve just as was the case of the goals we sought to achieve on our first trip to the Mideast," he said. "But we are confident that when we look at these goals not only must we seek to achieve them but we believe that we can achieve them."

The President added, "And we know that (with) American strength, American resolve and, above all, American determination and dedication, that we will be able to make progress on this long but vitally important journey for peace, not only for America but for all mankind."

This third Nixon Summit with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev follows previous Nixon-Brezhnev meetings in Moscow in May, 1972 —when they signed the first phase of nuclear arms control agreements —and a Brezhnev visit to the United States last June.

Slight break in record heat expected

A slight cooling trend is expected Wednesday in the current heat wave that sent temperatures to 97 degrees Monday and made it the hottest June 24 ever recorded in Pomona.

Today the forecast was for 96 degree heat accompanied by heavy smog. Air Pollution Control District officials in both Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties called health advisories in both valley areas today. Advisories are called when the ozone level reaches .20 parts per million.

The APCD asks that the public limit unnecessary driving and curtail strenuous physical activity in the affected areas.

Monday's hot weather broke a previous record of 94 degrees that was set June 24, 1957. The smog was also heavy in some areas.

In San Bernardino County Monday, Fontana reported a peak of .51 ppm, Upland, .45 ppm and Chino, .25 ppm.

Los Angeles County APCD reported a peak of .23 ppm and Azusa .21 ppm.

The overnight low was 59 degrees and is expected to be a warmer 61 degrees.

But the weatherman said temperatures may "cool down" to the low 90s Wednesday and for the remainder of the week, because of a low pressure area that is moving along the coast.

Sam Howe of Southern California Edison Co. said a survey of valley substations revealed that the use of power is down by about five per cent over this time last year.

Howe said this may be an indication that residents are making an effort ho conserve energy and are responding to appeals to save power.

"We will know more if this is the case today after another hot day." Officials say that air conditioning is the biggest culprit of energy.

Bonelli Swim Park in San Dimas had another busy day Monday, reporting 3,622 visitors to the swim park and 3,850 visitors to the fishing, boating and picnic facilities at the North Shore of Puddingstone Lake.

DEMONSTRATORS GET THE GATE

Two female demonstrators are forcibly removed from the Normandy Motor Inn Monday as they tried to get in to see Vice President Gerald Ford, who was addressing a Republican fund-raising event. Minneapolis police and Hennepin County sheriff's officers removed 25 demonstrators, seven by force.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today unanimously struck down a Florida law granting political candidates the right to free reply space in newspapers in which they are criticized.

Mississippi is the only other state with such a law but it was believed other states might enact one if Florida's had been found valid. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has suggested Congress consider a federal right-to-reply law.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, writing for the Court, said "compelling editors or publishers to publish that which 'reason tells them should not be published' is what is at issue in this case."

He said the "statute operates as a command in the same sense as a statute or regulation forbidding" a paper to publish something. The law violates the First Amendment guarantee of a free press, he said.

The Miami Herald brought the Florida case to the high court after the state Supreme Court upheld the 1913 law on July 18, 1973.

The statute called for fines and jail terms for violation of the requirement to allow a candidate to reply to any publication which "assails personal character;" charges "malfeasance or misfeasance" in office, or "otherwise attacks his official record."

The Herald was sued by Pat L. Tornillo, a Democratic candidate in 1972 for a seat in the Florida House of Representatives. As head of the Classroom Teachers Association, he was a well-known figure in the community.

Tornillo invoked the law after the Herald rejected his demand to print replies to editorials against his candidacy.

Dade County Judge Francis J. Christie dismissed the case but was reversed by the state Supreme Court.

Burger said the law exacted a penalty on the basis of the content of a newspaper by imposing additional printing, composing and materials costs and by taking up space that could be devoted to other material the newspaper may have preferred to print.

Even if this were not so, the opinion said, the law still failed to clear First Amendment barriers because of its "intrusion into the function of editors."

"A newspaper is more than a passive receptacle or conduit for news, comment and advertising," Burger said. "The choice of material to go into a newspaper and the decisions made as to limitations on the size of the paper, and content, and treatment of public issues and public officials —whether fair or unfair —constitutes the exercise of editorial control and judgment."

Revenue sharing funds

$2.2 million OK'd for city golf course

POMONA — County supervisors Monday agreed to spend $2.2 million in revenue sharing funds to reconstruct the Mountain Meadows Golf Course.

Supervisor Peter Schabarum made the motion to use federal funds to complete the reconstruction project at the close of a day-long budget session. The vote was 4-1 with Supervisor Kenneth Hahn voting against the action.

The money will provide for renovation of the 18-hole course, but will not be used to construct a proposed clubhouse. Supervisors plan for a private concessionaire to build and operate the clubhouse. The concessionaire will be picked following routine bidding.

Supervisors in May couldn't agree on a plan proposed by M & M Golf Co., comprising associates of golf pros Billy Casper and David Rainville. The company wanted to rebuild and improve the course with a 32-year lease agreement with the county. The county would have received $18,000 a year, or percentages from the gross receipts of the fees and concessions.

But Supervisor Baxter Ward and Hahn balked at the negotiations to complete the project and it never received approval from the board.

The first step in the project will be the revamping of plans and specifications for the course.

She was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital, but died a few minutes after arrival there.

Sheriffs deputies said Victoria was riding her own horse in an arena at the stable when she fell off. Her head struck a corral post.

The victim attended Diamond Point Elementary School.

She was born on March 29, 1962. She is survived by three sisters, Becka, Patty, and Cindy, and two brothers, Steve and Chris.

Rosary will be recited Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Church in Altadena, and a Mass will be celebrated on Thursday morning. Burial will be in the Resurrection Cemetery in South San Gabriel. Funeral arrangements are being handled by Cabot and Son Mortuary, Pasadena.

He'd rather go on trial than down the aisle

Miss Slatcher was ready. The caterers stood by, the presents were on display. And 100 guests were arriving for the reception.

But Eaton, a store manager, was in the prisoner's dock at Reading Magistrate's court, defiantly resisting pleas from the bench, his mother, his father and his waiting to accept bail and go through with the ceremony.

Police said even though they charged Eaton with attempting to enter a store with intent to steal they had no objection to letting him out to get married.

"I definitely don't want bail. I want to go to prison," Eaton said. The judge reluctantly sent him to jail to await trial in about seven weeks.

The bride said she'd wait until he got out.

7 killed in Arab guerrilla attack on Israeli resort

By United Press International

Three Arab guerrillas in a rubber landing craft disembarked at the Israeli resort of Nahariyya, blasted into an apartment house and killed four persons today before Israeli soldiers gunned them down. Israel hinted at a retaliatory strike into Lebanon.

Seven persons were killed in the 2 ½ hour battle at Nahariyya —the three guerrillas, an Israeli soldier and a mother and her two children, the Israeli military command said. Six other soldiers and a civilian were wounded.

In Damascus, the military command of the Palestinian guerrillas assumed responsibility for the attack and called it a reprisal for Israeli air raids on Palestinian refugee camps in Lebanon.

In Cairo, the Arab League was poised to call an urgent meeting of its defense council to discuss concerted action to halt Israeli attacks on Palestinian camps in Lebanon, an Arab League spokesman said.

Deaths reported

Violent political clashes erupt in Chinese cities

HONG KONG (UPI) — Violent clashes between opposing political factions have erupted in at least a dozen major cities and provincial areas of China this month, diplomatic sources specializing in Chinese affairs said today.

Wall posters put up in Peking during the past few days claimed some deaths occurred in at least one area, Kiangsi Province in East Central China. One series of posters reported 200 deaths but was vague on details.

China specialists in both Peking and Hong Kong indicated they have not been able to confirm the reports of fatal clashes.

But they said the claims should not be discounted since they were contained in posters put up in the capital with the support of at least some members of the central leadership.

Despite the claims of deaths in Kiangsi, most available information from diplomatic and intelligence sources indicated have been on a relatively small scale.

So far they appear to have involved small factional groups fighting with sticks, stones, iron bars and other nonlethal weapons.

The Peking posters about violence in Kiangsi have been the most sensational and detailed.

They were put up by a group from the province calling itself the "Sons and Daughters of Chingkangshan." Chingkangshan is the mountain where Communist Party Chairman Mao Tsetung formed his first guerrilla base in 1927.

Governor defends use of new bullets

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill Monday defended state police use of hollow-point bullets, saying "those who prefer the police shoot lollypops at gunmen will just have to go elsewhere."

Connecticut state police are switching from .38-caliber handguns to the more powerful .357 magnums and are issued bullets that are banned in warfare as brutal and inhumane.

"We like it here in Connecticut," Meskill said of the new guns and ammunition.

"The real issue is when the guns are used —not the ammunition. Troopers use great restraint in the use of their weapons."

Owner kills 30,000 turkeys over costs

WAKINSVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—The owner of Georgia's only commercial turkey hatchery said Monday he slaughtered about 30,000 baby turkeys because production costs have exceeded the price producers can get for the birds.

James E. Thaxton, president of Thaxton Turkeys, Inc., said he could lose $250,000 or more by the end of the year if the trend continues.

Priest gets last laugh in contest

DETROIT (UPI) — The winner of a contest for a week's vacation for two at the Playboy Club at Lake Geneva, Wis., was the Rev. Malcolm Carron, president of the University of Detroit. But Carron, a Jesuit priest, said he did not enter the contest.

He was named winner of the drawing Monday, beating odds of 6,000 to 1. An investigation showed that someone else submitted the priest's name as an entrant. The prankster remained unknown.

Contest entrants wrote their names on coupons and dropped them in boxes at men's clothing stores in the Midwest.

When Playboy learned of the Carron mix-up, it offered an alternative prize and he accepted —a trip to a Port St. Lucie Fla., Country Club. The priest is an avid golfer.

County workers get pay increase

County supervisors Monday approved new salary schedules which gives most of the county's 7,000 employes 7.5 per cent pay raises each year for the next three years.

Clerical workers, however, will receive only a six per cent hike this year, based on a two-year study on clerical reclassifications just completed.

The pay hike will cost an additional $8.2 million for the new fiscal year which starts July 1. The new budget has $75 million allocated for salaries.

For the first time, supervisors adopted a salary schedule for a three-year period. The 1976-77 pay hike, however, will come in divided increments of 5 per cent and 2.5 per cent.

The three-year agreement provides that employes can reopen negotiations if the cost of living increase goes over 10 per cent and the management can reopen negotiations if it falls below seven per cent.

County employes had received an average of five per cent pay hikes last fiscal year.

Burglars take snake and parrot

ONTARIO — Police this morning were searching for a Pied half moon parrot and a python snake taken Monday night by burglars who forced their way into Gladson's Pet Shop at 154 N. San Antonio Ave.

Police said the burglars, possibly youths, broke a window and crawled inside of the pet store. The parrot and the snake were taken from their cages by the burglars who exited through the rear door. Officers said the burglars made no attempt to take some small change left in the cash register.

Impeachment not relevant to state campaign--Flournoy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Houston I. Flournoy said Sunday Edmund G. Brown Jr. "seems to think impeachment is the most important issue in the campaign."

Brown, Flournoy's Democratic opponent in the November election, "does not seem to realize the governor of California does not have a vote on the question," Flournoy said.

Flournoy made his remarks at a meeting of the California Republican Assembly, who voted unanimously to support Flournoy and all Republican candidates in the election.

"If we refuse to get sidetracked into irrelevant discussion," Flournoy said, "I think we can win and show that the Republican Party is not going the way of the Whigs."

Firemen from three cities rescue boy

POMONA — Firemen from Pomona, Montclair and Chino joined efforts Sunday afternoon to rescue a young boy from the San Antonio Wash.

Pomona Firemen Ron Gomez was lowered into the wash on special equipment to pull out Glen Martin at East End Avenue. Martin had gone into a culvert pipe in order to get out of the fast moving water which had carried him several blocks from the point where he entered the wash behind the Sears store.

Firemen from the Montclair and Chino departments were stationed at other points of the wash to assist if Gomez was unsuccessful at the East End Avenue junction with the wash.

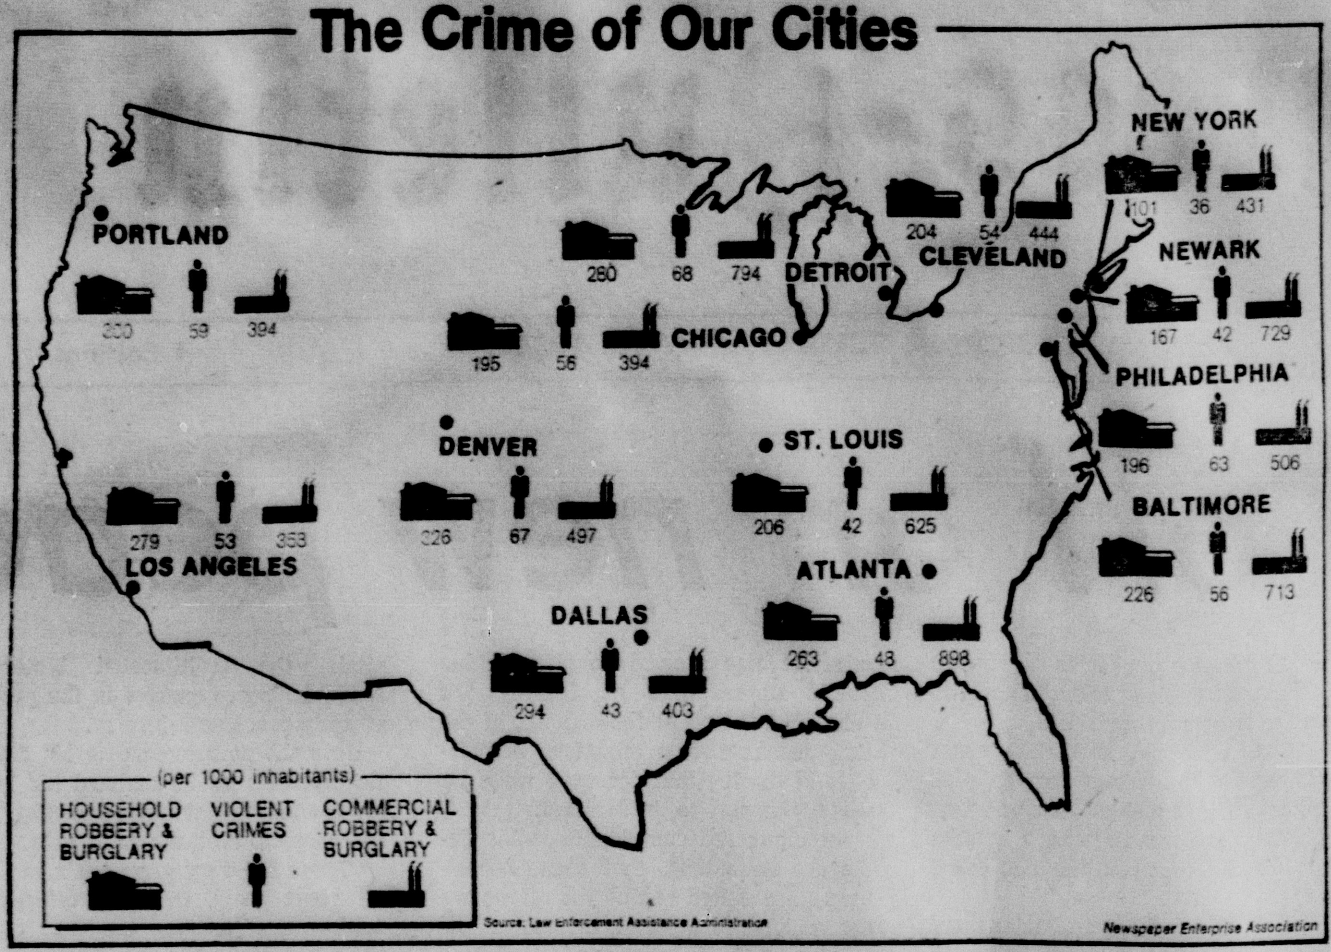
Height rule killed for men, not women

STOCKTON (UPI) — A man can be 4-foot tall and still be a city policeman, but women have to be 5-foot-4.

The Stockton Civil Service Commission dropped a 5-foot-7 requirement for policemen but refused to change the woman's height requirement.

City Attorney Monreo Langdon said he could not find a good defense for retention of the 5-foot-7 requirement for men.

The Crime of Our Cities



Source: Law Enforcement Assistance Administration

Newspaper Enterprise Association

What is the safest big city in the United States? Would you believe New York? According to a recent study by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, New York had the fewest crimes of violence per inhabitant of the 13 cities studied. Cities were rated on crimes of both homes and business.

Helicopter crash kills two firemen in training flight

LA CANADA, Calif. (UPI) — Two occupants on a training flight of a fire department helicopter were killed Sunday when the craft crashed and burned in the Los Angeles National Forest near Big Tujunga Reservoir.

A fire department spokesman said Hill was apparently flying the two-seat Bell 47 helicopter and was training Radcliffe in the use of the aircraft.

It was the second crash of a city chopper in the three weeks. On May 29, a police department craft crashed in Lopez Canyon in the San Fernando Valley. Cmdr. Paul Gillen, a 25-year-old veteran of the force, was killed instantly.

Health's first woman

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Dr. Joanne E. Finley of Philadelphia is the first woman to serve as commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Health. She was sworn in Monday.

Dr. Finley, 50, is the former public health director for the city of New Haven, Conn. She received her medical degree from Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland in 1962, going back to school after having raised four children.

From 1968 to 1972 Dr. Finlay was director of health planning for the department of Public Health in Philadelphia.

City, police to work with Mex-Am youths

POMONA — Members of the City Council indicated Monday night they would work informally with Police-Chief F. P. Wallick, neighborhood groups and city staff in an effort to improve relations between the city's Mexican-Americans, youths and the police department.

The indications were given after a lengthy meeting during which the department was criticized for its handling of an incident June 16 at the Eagles Lodge and nearby Taco Lita stand that resulted in the arrest of 11 .

About a dozen persons spoke on the matter.

Speakers alleged police brutality and harassment of Mexican-Americans but a youth said such allegations were aimed at only a few of the department's police officers.

The speakers spoke of a desire to improve the understanding between the department and the city's Mexican-American community, adding that a number of meetings already had been held with city officials and police personnel.

"This will not be resolved overnight. It's going to take time," Councilman Ben Ochoa told the audience.

He encouraged the Mexican-Americans to continue their efforts to promote a better understanding between minority groups, youths and the police.

Major fire averted in downtown Ontario

ONTARIO — An Ontario police officer investigating the smell of smoke in the area of S. Pleasant Street and the quick action of Ontario firemen Monday night may have prevented a major conflagration in the downtown Ontario area.

Police Officer Terry Callison said he smelled smoke while on patrol in the area and went to investigate. Callison said he had some difficulty in locating its source but finally noticed smoke pouring up from underneath the loading dock of Sam's Auto Wrecking at 115 S. Pleasant Ave. Callison called the fire department which arrived in less than a minute.

Ontario fire Inspector Rick Lebell said this morning, "If they hadn't stopped the fire when they (firemen on the scene) did, we would have had a real ripper.' Lebell said that a major fire in the area could have resulted with the huge old wooden building housing the auto wrecking company, the Hoyt Lumber Co. on the south, and numerous business on the west, becoming involved.

Employes of the auto wrecking firm told firemen later that they had had a small fire Monday afternoon involving a cardboard box, but believed they had completely extinguished it. No fire report was made. Lebell said the cardboard box may have continued smouldering and finally ignited the old wooden timbers under the loading dock.

Magic or not it's against the law to desecrate tombs in cemetery

LONDON (UPI) — A pretty girl dancing naked at midnight over exhumed coffins in a cemetery. A headless body dumped in a parked car.

Farrant went on trial recently on charges of desecrating tombs in Highgate cemetery, the north London graveyard where Karl Marx is buried.

"Whatever bizarre activities this young man may wish to indulge in in his private life...He is not entitled to damage property or to disturb the dead," said prosecutor Richard du Cann.

Farrant was said to have styled himself the high priest of the British Occult Society, partly dedicated to revealing the future by communicating with the dead.

Testimony said he and his groups held monthly meetings in Highgate cemetery "if the weather was fine." The prosecution charged that the meetings involved breaking into family vaults and stealing bodies from their coffins.

On one occasion, a young French girl danced naked at midnight over desecrated coffins and graveyard tombs, the court was told. In another case a headless body snatched from a grave was dumped in a parked car when the group was disturbed, the prosecution charged. The motorist who owned the car found the corpse in the front seat the following morning.

Ford follows Agnew act on golf course

Ford's drive off the tee at Rolling Green Country Club soared almost straight up, grazing the head of Tom Gerard when it came down.

"I'm deeply sorry about that," Ford said.

163rd to get new airplane type, mission

ONTARIO — The California Air National Guard's 163rd Fighter Group here may soon have a new mission and a new type of airplane.

The fighter group, based at Ontario International Airport, has a present assignment of intercepting and identifying any unknown aircraft in Southern California.

For the job, it has some 20 F-102 jets which are manned on a 24-hour alert status.

The Air Force announced Monday the fighter group would be redesigned as the 163rd Tactical air Support Group.

"This would be an entirely different mission," said Lt. Col. Lloyd A. Hutton, base commander. "If we go to a tactical air support group, I'm certain this will involve a change of aircraft.

"I'm not sure of the aircraft we will be assigned, but the aircraft associated with this mission is the 0 2, a twin engine propeller airplane. This is built by Cessna as an executive aircraft."

Hutton said he hasn't received official notification yet of the Air Force action. Thus, he was reluctant to discuss if this would cause a reduction in personnel. But, he noted, every mission carries its own special "manning."

The fighter group had been designated last February to be phased out and replaced by an Air Force detachment now assigned to Castle Air Force Base near Merced.

The proposed phase out was based on a study by the U.S. Defense Department to improve air surveillance and long range warning capability.

The Air National Guard, which occupies 49 acres on the south part of the airport, has 900 assigned here, including 200 full time employes. The annual payroll is about $3.1 million.

The fighter group has been assigned to the airport since 1952 when it returned from the Korean Conflict.

Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., however reported today the Air Force plans to provide the guard with 24 Cessna 0-2A twin engine light planes used primarily for forward fire control.

These planes were designed for use in counter-insurgency warfare and were used heavily in Vietnam. The aircraft operates from a short landing strip with minimal noise factors.

Phasing out the F 102 jets will mean a loss of 171 authorized positions, of which 111 are full time air technicians, said Veysey. The new unit will have an authorized strength of 467 guardsmen, 159 air technicians and three active duty personnel. Air technccians displaced will retain job rights with the state and go to other guard units.

CLAREMONT — A woman motorist escaped injury early Monday afternoon when her car crossed the center divider of Foothill Boulevard and slammed into the Republic Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Stephanie M. Adams, 35, of 146 E. 11th St., told police she had to swerve to avoid a car which made a sudden turn in front of her as she was eastbound. The wall of the building at 1001 W. Foothill Blvd. was damaged by the impact.

Contract given G. Dynamics

POMONA — The General Dynamics plant here has received an Air Force contract of $1.4 million for replacement of F111 aircraft electronic countermeasure systems.

The awarding was announced by Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist. Work will be done at the Pomona plant with funds coming from the current budget.

House of Pies burglars fail

ONTARIO — Burglars who crawled through a trap door on the roof of the House of Pies, 1141 N. Mountain Ave. tried unsuccessfully to pry open a cash register, chisel a safe, and break open a pay telephone box, were being sought by police this morning.

The burglars, who police said may have been in the building several hours, made off with only two $1 bills left on a desk in the manager's office.

Australians reject showing of 'Throat'

CANBERRA (UPI) — The Film Board of Review has recently unanimously rejected an appeal to permit the American movie "Deep Throat" to be shown in Australia.

Last week., The Film Censorship Board rejected "Deep Throat" on the grounds of indecency.

In its official report Wednesday, the four-man review committee declared the film was hardcore pornography, and ruled against its distribution in Australia.

Police search for burglars

ONTARIO — Police this morning continued their search for burglars who broke into a karate studio in a residential home at 1821 E. Princeton Ave. Saturday and made off with several handguns, karate sticks, more than 2,100 rounds of ammunition and numerous karate cards.

Police said the burglar forced open a sliding glass door of the Kung Fu Studio sometime during the day Saturday. Richard W. Lasiter, 36, owner of the studio, said the burglar took numerous cards given to karate students with the name Jimmie H. Woo Associates on them.

Total value of the stolen items was listed at $267.

A WHALE OF A FLOAT

Students at Sycamore Elementary School in Claremont have joined the 'Save the Whales' drive in the U.S. and have constructed a 26-foot-long sperm whale named Jonah, which they have entered in the Claremont Fourth of July parade. Jonah is black on top, and white on the bottom, and has a mouth in front, of course, into which you can crawl and count his 26 ribs. The students have written letters to Soviet Premier Alexsei Kosygin and Japanese Premier Kakvei Tanaka in protest of the wholesale slaughter of whales off Japan and Russia.

St. Bernard, police car tangle; dog wins

POMONA — A St. Bernard dog and a police radio car collided early this morning with the patrol car apparently coming off the worse for the crash.

The mishap occurred shortly after 1 a.m. at Vanama Street north of Harrison Avenue. Officer Boyd Ellerbeck, 31, said he was northbound when a cat ran across the street in front of his car. The cat was followed by Baron, the St. Bernard, in hot pursuit. Baron slammed into the side of the car, scratching it, and then left the scene.

Ellerbeck said he was unable to examine the dog closely because the accident had made the animal "Irritable." It didn't appear hurt, though, he reported.

The dog belongs to Laura M. Lindskog who lives at 2913 Vanama St. He got out of the backyard through an unlatched gate.

A Montclair woman was injured slightly in a collision at Indian Hill Boulevard south of Kingsley Avenue Monday evening. Rachel S. Arnold, 26, of 10372 Ramona Ave., was released after treatment at Doctors Hospital in Montclair.

Police said the driver of the other car abandoned his car at the scene and drove away in a second vehicle. They impounded the car he was driving, which had been loaned to him by friends, officers said.

The victim said she ws southbound when the other driver turned abruptly in front of the car.

Sex film, book purveyors menaced by ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday gave juries more leeway to find books and movies obscene, and some lawyers for booksellers, libraries and film distributors are worried.

"It's a very, very menacing thing," said Maxwell J. Lillienstein of New York, who represents American Booksellers Association and other publishing interests.

Both Lillienstein and William D. North of Chicago, who represents the American Library Association, saw serious danger that alleged obscenity will be used as a screen for continuing the attack on books which are socially, economically or politically distasteful to a particular group. North cited "Down These Mean Streets" by Priri Thomas and Eldridge Cleaver's "Soul on Ice" as examples.

Lilleinstein recalled that Claude Brown's "Manchild in the Promised Land" has been banned in Macon, Ga. North said inter-library loans could be seriously curtailed, since a librarian sending a book into another area would not know whether it might be found obscene there.

Publishing and film interests had urged the high court to refine its 1973 rule by declaring that "community standards for determining obscenity must be state-wide and not those in a particular locality. But the justices refused in their 5-4 decision to do so.

The majority ruling by Justice William H. Rehnquist said last year's opinion means juries may "rely on the understanding of the community from which they came" but that if states wish to express the standards" in more precise geographic terms" they may do so.

In the process, the justices viewed the film "Carnal Knowledge" and unanimously found it not to be obscene.

President Jack Valenti of the Motion Picture Association hailed this result as leaving the filmmaker "free to tell an honest story without hard-core pornography."

Hollywood attorney Stanley Freishman, who represents the Adult Film Association, saw the matter in a different light. He said the decision permits "whatever a jury doesn't like" to be found obscene.

Cost of market basket rises again; increasing profit margins blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department's statistical "food market basket" is higher again and the figures back up administration claims that increasing profit margins of stores and wholesalers are behind the high price of food.

The annual retail cost of a typical food market basket went up to $1,733 in May —an increase of 0.3 per cent or $5 from the April rate. The figure released Monday is a statistical one —a selection of U.S. farm-produced food needed to feed a household of 3.2 persons for a year. While it does not match average family food costs, changes in the statistic indicate changes in grocery bills..

According to the report, the farm value of foods in the basket declined for the fifth consecutive month to an annual rate of $690 in May, down $34 from April. But middlemen's margins —costs and profits in processing and selling foods — rose for the fifth consecutive month and reached $1,043 in May, up $39 from April.

Don Paarlberg, director of the department's economics section, told Congress that the margin between what the farmer receives and the consumer pays will continue to increase "substantially" for the remainder of the year.

Paarlberg said that the faroretail price spread would "continue the upward push" as a result of rising wages, energy and material costs and transportation charges.

The market basket cost rose steadily from last November to a record $1,748 in March before going back to $1,728 in April. The $1,733 rate in May was 19 per cent, or $240, above May 1973, and the report said most of that increase was due to higher middlemen's margins, 25.6 per cent higher than last year. Farm returns were 4.2 per cent higher.

Compared with January of this year, the retail market basket cost went up $53. In that period, farm returns for market basket foods declined $84, but middlemen's costs and profits rose about $137.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Betty Hutton, the famed Hollywood star of the 1940s and 1950s who fell on hard times in the 1960s, was back in the spotlight Monday night.

But at a $100-a-plate dinner in the Riverboat nightclub, in the Empire State Building, the 53-year-old former actress denied that her appearance was the beginning of a comeback.

"I'm not going back. I've been there before, and I'm not going back," the moist-eyed Miss Hutton, once known as the "blonde bombshell," said.

She was the guest of honor at a benefit for St. Anthony's parish in Portsmouth, R.I., where she has been living and working as a cook since last February after a long downward spiral in her career.

Once the owner of a Hollywood mansion and a $10 million fortune who commanded $25,000 a week for performances, she found herself early this year in a Boston hospital, broke and friendless —but the Portsmouth parish took her in.

There, Miss Hutton says, she converted to Roman Catholicism and found peace for the first time in her life.

Although she says she has no intention of abandoning her new way of life, for a moment last night, it was like old times.

The affair, organized by columnists Earl Wilson and Arthur Riback, reportedly netted more than $15,000 for the parish.

GOODBYE FOR A WHILE

President Nixon waves to staff members on the White House lawn today just before he took off for Andrews Air Force Base to board a plane for Brussels to confer with NATO leaders in advance of his third summit meeting with Russian leaders.

Dramatic ruling on Calley trial

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — A federal judge said today that the issue whether President Nixon and top military leaders improperly influenced the conviction of former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. in the My Lai massacre "cannot be brushed off lightly."

U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott, in a lengthy exchange with government attorney Capt. David Schulingkamp, appeared to disagree with the government's contention that the issue of command influence is outside the scope of review of his court.

"It (the issue of command influence) is apparently a situation that is new, a situation that is different, one that cannot be brushed off lightly," Elliott said.

Schulingkamp said the thrust of the government's argument was that the issue of command influence was outside the scope of the federal court and was a matter that should have been left for the military judge to decide during the court-martial.

Earlier, Calley' attorney charged that Calley was denied a fair trial by "command control" which was exercised by President Nixon and top military leaders.

"I believe that we have the perfect case of circumstantial evidence to show that from beginning to end that command control was involved in this case," said Attorney George Latimer.

Latimer quoted statements by President Nixon, Secretary of State William Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird and Gen. William Westmoreland in support of his claim that Calley's court-martial board was influenced by higher-ranking officials.

The 31-year-old Calley is seeking to have his conviction and 10-year prison sentence for the murder of at least 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai six years ago overturned in federal court.

Latimer quoted President Nixon as characterizing the My Lai incident as a "massacre," and saying that appropriate action would be taken to insure that that was read by court members," Latimer said. "Command influence. When a commander-in-chief speaks, you can't go higher than that."

He also quoted Laird as saying he was "sickened and shocked by the allegations that had been made."

He said that the military decided to charge Calley with murder instead of war crimes so that higher ranking military officials would not be brought into the case.

The Salt Lake City attorney reviewed another argument that Calley's conviction should be overturned because he was not taught that he could disobey an unlawful order. He said on the night before the My Lai incident, the final instruction given to Calley by Capt. Ernest Medina, his company commander, was to "kill every living thing."

"Thirty men in that unit fired at civilians and every one of them interpreted that to be Captain Medina's instructions," Latimer said.

Committee kills campaign gifts subpoena move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a 21-17 party line vote, the House Judiciary Committee today killed a motion to subpoena House records on campaign contributions given members of Congress by milk producers in 1970-71.

The committee subsequently voted to go into closed session to debate making public some of the 7,000 pages of evidence it has examined during its inquiry into impeachment of President Nixon and to discuss what witnesses, if any, it will call.

The vote against subpoenaing the secret milk records came before newsmen were ordered to leave the room. All 21 Democrats opposed the motion of Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, and all 17 Republicans supported it.

One of the allegations against Nixon in the impeachment inquiry is that he was influenced in raising dairy price supports by a $2 million campaign pledge from milk producers. Nixon argued he was under congressional pressure to meet dairymen's demands.

Mayne said 154 members of Congress co-sponsored legislation to force higher price supports. But Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the committee has no authority to investigate what motivates congressmen to back legislation.

Drunk driver names will be published

TOKYO (UPI) — Police in the state of Ibaraki east of Tokyo have decided to publish the names of drunken drivers in an effort to reduce auto accidents.

"There were 14,010 auto accidents in Ibaraki prefecture last year and 7.1 per cent of them were caused by the drivers in a state of intoxication," a spokesman said.

He said authorities hoped the new measure would help to keep drunken drivers off the highways in Ibaraki.

Dempsey celebrates

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Dempsey celebrated his 79th birthday at a restaurant here Monday, and among the celebrants was Gene Tunney —the Manasssa Mauler's most noted ring foe and the man who took his championship away in 1926.

"God Bless you, Jack, I love you," Tunney said upon entering the birthday celebration. "You're the greatest man ever in American sports."

Dempsey, who lost his title to Tunney on Sept. 22, 1926, and then lost a rematch a year later, beamed as a birthday cake was brought in shaped in his fighting image of 50 years ago.

"Thank you, thank you very much," Dempsey said. And then, glancing toward his most famous ring opponent he added, "and thank you Gene for taking the time to be here with me and my wife on this occasion."

Sacrifice OK, but . . .

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., Monday called for better gas mileage and cleaner industrial production, saying that appeals for individual sacrifices such as less air conditioning and summer car trips would not solve the energy problem.

"Those personal sacrifices that President Nixon called for represent the least important kind of energy conservation," he said. "They may be a step in the right direction, but they have given energy conservation a bad name."

Stevenson, keynote speaker at the Illinois Energy Conference, said, "At least through the mid-1980s, energy conservation will be our major tool for dealing with the energy crisis."

Brando hospitalized

A hospital spokesman said Monday that Brando, 50, was admitted last Friday and was expected to stay in for several more days.

The actor's secretary, Alice Marshak, said Brando tore his throat vomiting after apparently eating spoiled fish in Tahiti two weeks ago.

Death threat probe

BOSTON (UPI) — The FBI chief in Boston Monday confirmed that his office has investigated death threats against Peter Fuller, a millionaire sportsman. Fuller said the threats forced him to withdraw as a candidate for governor.

Special Agent James O. Newpher said that Fuller, who dropped out of the race in March, had told the FBI about the alleged threats. "I wouldn't really want to comment at this time," Newpher said. "Fuller has given us information which we looked into. No immediate action is expected."

Fuller, who owns a Cadillac agency, said a masked gunman jumped into his car near his home March 26 and threatened to kill him and other members of his family if he didn't withdraw.

"I was frightened," said the Harvard educated ex-boxer. "He was a messenger —and a pro. I'm not a sissy, but I'm not going to tell you that my reaction was not a traumatic one."

Chavez campaign

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Cesar Chavez Monday said he is starting a national campaign to help the "terrible problem of 60,000-70,000 illegal Mexican and Filipino workers" competing with American farm workers on the West Coast.

Chavez, the head of the United Farm Workers, charged the Department of Justice is "completely lax in enforcing the regulations preventing the entry of illegals and to prevent them from breaking our strike."

"We don't know why the Justice Department is not enforcing the law," he said, "But we do know it's a total breakdown. We go to the Immigration Service and they say they can't do anything."

Scientists who made first atom bomb say Nixon unwise in sale of reactors

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Four scientists, including the man who was in charge of the explosives division of the Manhattan Project, which designed America's first atomic bomb, said today the Nixon administration's decision to sell nuclear reactors to Egypt was "imprudent and unwise, and possibly reckless."

The criticism was made in a report by Daniel F. Ford, executive director of the Union of Concerned Scientists; Henry W. Kendall, professor of physics at MIT; George B. Kistiakowsky, professor of physical chemistry emeritus at Harvard University, and George Rathjens, professor of political science at MIT.

Kistiakowsky was in charge of the Manhattan Project's explosives division during World War II. All three have served as consultants or advisors to the federal government on nuclear and scientific matters.

The introduction of nuclear power reactors into Egypt under the proposed U.S.-Egyptian agreement will substantially enhance the capacity of that nation to move directly to the possession of nuclear arms," the scientists warned.

"Egypt would acquire much of the critical technology and persons trained to implement it. The necessary fissionable material would be a part of the reactor program.

"The consequences of the proposed ... agreement would be to convert the costly economic and difficult technical obstacles of a nuclear weapons program into a purely political decision. In view of these consequences we regard the proposed agreement as imprudent and unwise, and possibly reckless."

They warned, "A simple implosion nuclear weapon requires from 4 to 8 kilograms of plutonium, depending on the weapon design. A reactor of the size of those contemplated for sale to Egypt produces in excess of 200 kilograms plutonium per year. Accordingly, a few months operation of the reactor would produce enough material for a number of (nuclear) weapons."

The report also said that as in the case of Egypt, the installation of U.S. reactors in Israel, also announced by the President, "would bring with it fissionable, and thus potentially, weapons material and radioactivity."

However, they said the situation in Israel is different from that in Egypt. "Israel is an advanced technological nation and with an established nuclear program would not gain important technical skills as would Egypt through a nuclear power program."

French composer Milhaud dies at 81

GENEVA (UPI) — Darius Milhaud, a rebel composer and a titan of 20th century music, has died in Geneva at the age of 81.

Milhaud, who produced more than 400 compositions in a career of more than 50 years, had suffered from heart trouble for several years and his condition had increasingly worsened in the past few months. He died Saturday.

Milhaud's unusual work, from South American folk music to American jazz, at first stunned critics and audiences accustomed to the classical style but later influenced many modern composers, including George Gershwin.

His operas and ballets included the renowned "Creation of the World," composed in 1923, and the monumental "L'Oresteia," a trilogy of operas based on the Greek tragedies of Aeschylus, on which he worked for 12 years.

His work also included 18 string quartets, four quintets, nine sonatas, 12 symphonies and 36 concertos, the musical score for a film, "The Beloved Vagabond," and a 1963 musical version of the papal encyclical, "Pacem in Terris."

He also wrote a brief composition mourning the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of President John F. Kennedy, "Murder of a Great Chief of State," in two days following the murder.

"The important thing in a musical work is the vital element —the melody —which should be easily retained, hummed and whistled in the street," Milhaud once said. "Without this fundamental element, all the technique in the world can only be a dead letter."

Milhaud was born in Aix-en-Provence, France, on Sept. 4, 1892, and studied music there and in Paris, publishing his first work in 1912.

In 1916, he went to Brazil for two years and came in contact with the South American folk music which he incorporated into his own work.

Upon the death of Ravel in 1937, Milhaud was considered by many authorities as France's foremost living composer.

When World War II broke out, Milhaud came to the United States and joined the faculty at Mills College in California. Although seriously crippled by arthritis, he made many appearances as guest conductor with major American orchestras over the years.

In recent years he had lived in a villa in the Geneva suburb of Chene-Bourg with his wife Madeleine, whom he married in 1925.

Could mean 5-cent drop in tax rate

$6.7 million Walnut school budget OK'd

WALNUT — A $6.7 million tentative budget, still promising a reduction in the tax rate, was approved by school trustees Monday night.

In two earlier budget presentations, school officials had indicated there would be a slight tax reduction—and they did not sway from that in the $6,742,448 tentative plan for 1974-75.

A 5-cent drop in the general purpose tax rate, from $4.01 to $3.96 per $100 assessed valuation, was predicted by George Hartnett, assistant superintendent for fiscal and facilities management.

Hartnett did not have figures available, however, for the total tax rate which would include permissive overrides—so whether an actual tax savings for residents will be realized is uncertain.

Figures are still tentative, officials said, as a final budget is not due for adoption until the first week of August.

Trustees spent nearly four hours in a study session before approving the budget Monday, and while they made no changes in the tentative plan, indications were there would be modifications before a publication budget is approved next month.

The tentative budget is up about $200,000 compared to earlier figures presented to the board, and is $600,000 higher than last year's $6,-45,204 budget.

Reason for the increase next year lies in total cost of salaries including cost of living raises and addition of 22 new employe positions.

Ray McMullen, district personnel director, said salaries and benefits, which take up 83 per cent of the budget, are up 1 per cent over last year. Also, 15 new certificated and seven classified positions are being added.

Positions will be added to handle an expected six per cent boost in the student population next year, McMullen added. Average daily attendance figures are predicted to jump 12 per cent on the secondary level as compared to 3 per cent on the elementary level.

The budget includes a six per cent salary increase granted teachers last month, and a six per cent boost recently given administrators. A 6½ per cent increase for 130 classified employes, costing $70,000, was approved by trustees Monday.

When comparing total income and expenditure figures, a $111,000 deficit shows up, but the budget is balanced when reserves are included. Expenditures are at $6,456,323, compared to income at $6,345,-130.

Income from all sources is up 11 per cent over 1973-74, but expenditures are up 12 per cent, accounting for the deficit.

Reserves are there, however, making a balanced budget. A total of $231,625 in contingency reserves has been appropriated, with $54,500 in restricted balance.

Contingencies are down by $114,000 compared to earlier figures, however.

Power cut off by falling tree

ROLLING HILLS (UPI) — A tree fell on power lines here Monday night, cutting off power to more than 500 residents for about an hour.

Officials said the blackout occurred at 9:47 p.m. Power was restored to almost all of the homes by 10:38 p.m.

The two women Monday became the first of their sex to undertake the state police trooper training course at Farmingham, Mass., and could become the first female troopers in the 53-year history of the law enforcement group.

Russ launch laboratory into space

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union successfully launched an unmanned Salyut space laboratory today, the Tass news agency said.

The station, Salyut 3, went into orbit 14 months after the unsuccessful mission of Salyut 2.

Western space experts said if all goes well, the Soviets will probably soon launch one or more manned Soyuz spacecraft to dock with Salyut 3.

The first Salyut laboratory experiment ended in tragedy in 1971. Three cosmonauts aboard Soyuz-11 docked with the station but died on their return to earth due to a leaky hatch on their spacecraft.

The Salyut-2 station, launched April 3, 1973, was badly damaged 11 days later by an unexplained accident which cut loose four solar panels supplying electricity, according to Western monitors.

The station eventually disintegrated in space without any attempt being made to send a manned spacecraft up to dock with it.

The Soviets never confirmed the accident and said the Salyut was never meant to be anything more than an unmanned test of the space station.

At the time, Western experts said the accident raised serious doubts about the Soviet manned space program. There was particular concern about the Soviets' ability to carry out the 1975 Soyuz-Apollo docking mission.

Nine U.S. astronauts who arrived here Sunday have resumed joint training with the Soviets for the mission.

Vandals hit auditorium

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Red paint was splashed on walls of the Shrine Auditorium Monday night, where a Soviet dance company is appearing this weekend. An anonymous caller later told UPI the action was taken to protest the treatment of Jews in Russia.

Police found that the building was streaked with paint on the south and west sides. There was no other damage to the building.

The Soviet dance companies are scheduled to return to the Shrine in August after their appearance this weekend.

Burglary victim found slain

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The body of a 67-year-old man, apparently slain during a burglary, was discovered Sunday in his living room by neighbors who became suspicious when they saw a window screen lying on the ground in front of the home.

The man was identified as Louis Martella.

Police said his pockets had been turned inside out and a television set was missing.

Brush fire started by firecrackers

PERRIS (UPI) — A brush fire started by illegal use of firecrackers Monday afternoon burned 1,500 acres in the Gavilan hills area before it was contained.

Six conservation camp hand crews, 14 engine companies, three bulldozers and five air tankers took five hours to contain the blaze and expected to have it controlled today.

Although the flames came to within six feet of several homes in the area, no structures burned, the state Division of Forestry said. A spokesman said investigators had determined the blaze "was caused by illegal use of fireworks, but we have no suspects."

Thief kills vendor; 20 loot truck

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 55-year-old Southgate truck vendor collapsed and died Monday after being beaten by a thief in a housing project in south Los Angeles, police said.

Victorino A. Parades was beaten by one man and then another before collapsing on the floor of his truck. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police said the truck was looted of the remaining merchandise by more than 20 other persons following the incident in the Jordan Downs housing project.

Disappeared from campground year ago

Parents of missing girl feel she's still alive

FARMINGTON, Michigan (UPI) — It has been one year since 7-year-old Susan Jaeger disappeared from her family's tent at a Montana campground.

Her parents, who live in this Detroit suburb, still believe their daughter is alive and will be returned to them.

"We're still just taking it one day at a time," Marietta Jaeger, said. She, together with her husband, William, coordinated the establishment of a $14,000 reward fund for information leading to the return of their daughter.

Susie was asleep in a tent with her sister and two brothers in the early morning hours of last June 25 at a camp ground near Three Forks, Mont.

Thirteen-year-old Heidi awoke at 4 a.m. to find Susie's sleeping bag empty. A jagged slash was ripped across the tent directly above where Susie had slept. Her stuffed animals were strewn on the ground nearby.

The Jaeger family, who planned the summer vacation to what they called their "land of milk and honey" for almost a year, remained at the campsite for a month while FBI investigators and local police searched for the brown-haired child.

One ransom call was received, in which a man described Susie to her parents' satisfaction and demanded an undisclosed amount of money. But he did not call back.

Now, the family is clinging to one last thread of hope —a phone call made to their Farmington home last September by a man who appeared to have knowledge of Susie's whereabouts.

"We were reluctant to say anything about the phone call up to this time," Mrs. Jaeger said, "because we didn't want to scare him off. He said he needed time to work out a plan and would contact us again, but he never called back."

The Jaegers arranged for the printing and distribution of posters bearing Susie's picture throughout the Western states. They have received donations from all over the nation to boost the reward fund to $14,000.

"It's been such a long time since she disappeared," Mrs. Jaeger said. "She could have been taken almost anywhere in the Western region.

"Just look at how long the search for Patricia Hearst has taken. We really do believe that she could still be alive."

As your family grows, so does your need for life insurance.

$10,000 of Life Insurance for $3.60 a month at ages 21-29.

$3.90 at 30-34 / $5.70 at 40-44

Apply by mail, no physical needed!

Let's face it: you need the most life insurance when you can least afford it. When you're young. During the years when you're raising a family — and your wife and children are most dependent on you.

Well, now you can get the extra life insurance you need. When you need it. At a price you can afford. This plan from Physicians Life gives you $10,000 of pure term life insurance for as long as you keep the policy in force. From the very first day of coverage, it pays full benefits for death due to any cause from illness or accident — except suicide — which is fully covered after two years. In the event of suicide within the first two years, all premiums paid in are returned to the beneficiary.

High protection, moderate cost.

To provide this economical coverage, we have returned to the original purpose of life insurance: protection. This is term insurance. It offers you pure protection. It's the most amount of level insurance we can sell you for the least amount of premium. In return for your monthly premium we guarantee to pay your beneficiary $10,000 should you die, regardless of your age when you die, as long as your policy remains in force. Nothing could be simpler.

$10,000 of protection when you need it most.

This plan covers you to age 65 for $10,000. If you should die prematurely, this policy can help your family adjust to their new situation without the added burden of money worries. It can clear up bills. Help pay off your mortgage. Send your children to college.

Protection you can't lose if you change jobs or if your health turns bad.

You can enjoy the security of knowing that once you get this Physicians Life protection, it's yours for as long as you want it, right up to age 65. Unlike some group policies through employers, you can't lose it if you change jobs.

In fact, you can't be cancelled even if your health suddenly goes bad. That's because this policy is "guaranteed renewable" till age 65. So you can carry this protection with you wherever your career takes you. And regardless of what happens to your health.

With your term insurance, you can also get coverage for your wife. And your children. You can insure your wife for $3,000 of term insurance for as little as 65¢ a month more, if you are under 30 years old. And if you're under 55, you can insure all your eligible children for $1,500, for just $1.00 a month more.

Every child in your family — including future additions — is eligible when he's 15 days through 17 years old. And that $1,500 coverage lasts on each child until he reaches 25, as long as your policy remains in force.

This coverage for your wife and children carries a special guarantee designed to give you peace of mind, and to make your policy one of the most thorough protection plans available today.

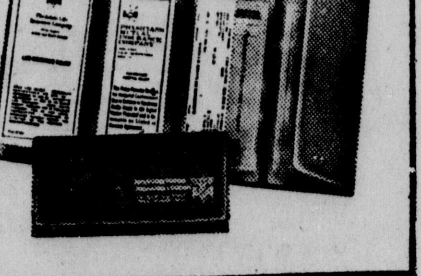
It's the ideal way to protect all your valuable personal papers in one place.



We'll take care of their insurance if you die.

Yes, if you die before you reach 65, your wife's insurance will be paid for until she's 65. In addition, the protection you give your chidren will continue in force until they're 25 — at no cost to your wife or children! This promise holds true even if your wife is in her early twenties — and even if your children are still in the cradle, in the event you're not there to take care of them.

You can change to a whole life policy any time up to age 60. Regardless of your health.

When you buy this term insurance plan, you are guaranteed the right to convert it into a whole life policy. That is, insurance with a level face amount and a level monthly premium—insurance that builds cash value after a few years. You can do this any time you wish up to age 60, without a physical. The coverage of your whole life policy will be the same—$10,000.

Once you convert, you can keep your $10,000 of protection for life—even if you live to be a 100. Even if an accident or illness leaves you unable to get insurance elsewhere. We guarantee it!

Your wife enjoys exactly the same opportunity: she can convert to a whole life insurance policy as long as she's under 60 —even if you have died and we are paying her premiums for her.

And each of your children can convert at age 25—or when you're 65—whichever birthday comes first. Of course, if you are no longer alive, this opportunity to switch to whole life insurance will come when he reaches age 25.

Apply today. No physical needed. And, you're protected by a money-back guarantee.

Just fill out and mail the Application along with your first month's premium (see table on this page). It's as simple as that.

As soon as we receive your Application, we'll evaluate your qualifications on the basis of the health information you give us. If you qualify—and we've found that most people in average good health do qualify—we will issue your $10,000 term life policy (Form 702) and mail it to you.

When you receive your policy, look it over carefully. If it is not everything we say it is, mail it back to us within 10 days after you receive it, and we will refund your money promptly!

You can buy with confidence by mail.

Most insurance policies call for the advice and counsel of an experienced, professional agent. However, since this is simple term insurance, there are no complex provisions and involved options that need explanation or clarification. Just about all you might want to know about this plan is here on this page. And when you get your policy, you'll be pleasantly surprised by how clear and easy to understand it is.

Your policy is issued by the Physicians Life Insurance Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of Physicians Mutual Insurance Company —founded by doctors in 1902. Physicians Life is governed by the same Board of Directors that guides Physicians Mutual . . . respected men of the medical and insurance professions . . . and is dedicated to the same traditions of integrity and service that characterize the parent company. Physicians Life currently has over $65 million of life insurance in force.

Here's Your Monthly Premium.

Pick the plan you want — and check the monthly cost for your age.

For Wednesday, June 26

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Neither you nor your mate will be very tolerant over domestic issues. The least irregularity could bring about unnecessary discord.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It doesn't look like you'll be able to dodge certain obligations you've been neglecting lately. Face them today.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't spend money on anything today unless you're positive it's the best buy you can make for your dollar.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A conflict of aims is developing in an important personal relationship. Talk things over before it gets out of hand.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be careful what you put in your signature on at this time. It may obligate you more than you realize.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your outside interests should be modified a bit for the present or they will prove to be more of a liability than a fun outlet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Octl 23) For the next few days avoid arrogant individuals who like to throw their weight around and give you orders.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll suffer considerable embarrassment if you get involved in an argument with another over a subject he knows more about than you do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Continue to stay on guard and proceed cautiously in a venture you share with another or you'll be taken advantage of.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Co-operation from others you're now hoping for will be slow in coming. Do as much as you can on your own.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do more than spot-check work or service you're having done at this time in order to avoid the possibility of serious mistakes.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Be extra-patient and considerate toward one you're emotionally involved with. The person is harboring a secret hurt.

This year will bring certain changes that you may resist at first, only to learn later they were really for your own good. Don't miss out on them.

Tugboat can't make up mind

MORRO BAY, Calif. (UPI) — When the tugboat Blue Eagle goes back in service, it could be rechristened the Good Ship Uncooperative. When it was supposed to float, it sank. When it was supposed to stay sunk, it floated.

The tug was capsized by a big wave April 24 just outside the entrance to the bay of this fishing town.

Earnest and Carson Porter, a father and son abalone diving team from Atascadero who won the salvage rights from the insurance company, figured they still had a fair amount of work ahead of them recently as they labored underwater, when suddenly the boat began to stir under them.

The Porters said they weren't ready to handle the refloated boat, so they did the only thing they could under the circumstances —sank it again.

$18,299,174 city budget calls for no tax increase

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — An $18,299,174 city budget for the new fiscal year that reflects no increase in the present city tax rate of $2.495 per $100 of assessed valuation was adopted by the City Council Monday night.

However, the question over employe salaries, which account for the largest single expenditure, apparently remains to be completely resolved.

Following an executive session that ended after 1:30 this morning, the council announced a "memo of understanding" had been reached in principle with the City Employes Association, the largest of the three employe groups.

The memo calls for an eight per cent, across-the-board pay raise and 100 per cent payment by the city for dependent health benefits.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said this morning negotiations were continuing with the Pomona Fireman's Association.

The Pomona Police Officers Relief Association is under a two-year contract adopted last year that calls for a salary survey of six cities and is not involved in salary negotiations this year.

Adoption of the budget came by 4-0 vote after the council invited comments from citizens inasmuch as the formal public hearing was held last week.

Retired Fire Capt. Abbot Engelhardt urged the council to reconsider its decision against a five per cent increase in retirement pay.

"The time has come when the retired city employes should be given some due respect with regard to their loyalty," said Engelhardt.

Vice Mayor Charles W. Bader, who presided at the meeting in the absence of Mayor Ray J. Lepire, said he found it difficult to discuss the subject because the council was still involved in salary negotiations.

Lepire was in San Diego attending a meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

E. J. Gaulding, a planning commissioner, said he resented general revenue sharing funds used to balance the budget and took issue with comments made at a council meeting last week that other funds used to balance the budget were "reserves".

Those funds, said Gaulding, clearly had been set aside for a northside library branch.

Gaulding said it also appeared to him that city employe salaries were higher than comparable positions in private industry.

Bader requested Gonce "at the earliest opportunity" to draw up recommendations where the city might contract the city services.

CRACKDOWN ON ILLEGAL FIREWORKS

Pomona Fire Inspectors John Gomez, left, and Vernon Johnson display an assortment of confiscated fireworks as Pomona Fire Department prepares to crack down on use of cherry bombs, firecrackers, Roman candles and other illegal pyrotechnic devices during the July 4 season. Sale or discharge of fireworks is illegal in Pomona. Fire Chief John M. Fowlkes said the local crackdown was part of a statewide effort to reduce injuries and fires caused by illegal fireworks. Fowlkes is asking parents to assist by reporting violations, particularly on the sale of fireworks, to the fire department.

'Get tough' policy adopted

Owners of area nuisance land rapped in San Dimas

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — The City Council Monday gave notice that it intends to get tough with owners of land declared a public nuisance.

Richard Kumer, superintendent of building and safety, told the council that the county and the city had been trying to get one property owner to clean up his land for more than 20 years.

Lough said he felt "more than 20 years is ample time to clean up any property." But the council later in the meeting did show leniency and granted Prehn another 30-day extension when Kumer reported that the property owner had lost a finger while trying to clean up debris on his land.

But Lough and other members of the council agreed that the council is going to initiate a firmer policy against land owners who have been ordered to clean up their land and in some cases bring the properties up to code.

Lough directed Kumer to inform Prehn that the council would not look favorably upon another request for a time extension saying "these endless time extensions are beginning to be a joke in the community."

Prehn was given until July 22 to abate the nuisance.

In other action, the council agreed to amend a city ordinance to permit auto sales business in a commercial neighborhood zone.

The council agreed to the amendment after William Ryan, spokesman for the Canyon Shopping Center Merchant's Association, said merchants in the center were 100 per cent in favor of the establishment of an auto parts store in the center.

Planning Director Mark Goldberg said the shop would not be a machine shop for auto repairs and would be a very clean operation.

Policemen praise new radio units

LOS ANGELES — New small radio units resembling the common handitalkies previously used by the sheriff's department are really much more effective devices, Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess said.

The new communications instrument is the Mobile Radio Extender. The unit allows a deputy, who is out of his car, the full transmission and receiving capabilities of the patrol car's radio.

This added capability gives greater latitude for field investigations, allowing the deputy to be away from his car for extended periods of time without being out of radio contact, Pitchess said.

"This new device, which we are acquiring, is consistent with our policy of providing the highest level of service possible to citizens, and the highest level of safety for the officer," Pitchess said.

Storm drain and street contracts are awarded

POMONA — Los Angeles County has awarded a $2,371,773 contract to Steve P. Rados Inc. of Santa Ana for construction of a storm drain complex here and a $1,366,429 contract to Laird Construction Co. of Claremont for the improvement of a section of Valley Boulevard.

Rados will start work within 30 days and completion is set some 14 months later, according to Supervisor Peter Schabarum.

The section of Valley to be improved is between Grand Avenue and Pomona Boulevard through the cities of Pomona, Industry and Walnut.

The storm drain project consists of about 1½ miles of open channel and underground storm drain to run from the existing channel upstream of Temple Avenue to Pomona Boulevard near the Corona Freeway.

It will also include a lateral drain along Roselawn Avenue, extending from the main line conduit to a point near Mission Boulevard.

The total drain varies in size from a 30-foot wide by eight-foot high open channel to a 12-by 9-foot box conduit.

Six bids were received from the Valley project, ranging from a high of $1,633,687 to the Laird low bid.

The work includes reconstructing and widening the roadway on an improved alignment to provide for a four-lane divided highway with curb, gutter, sidewalk, and driveway aprons including the widening of the existing bridge over San Jose Creek.

Schabarum pointed out that this is a Federal-Aid Secondary Urban Extension (FASUE) project and under terms of a five-party agreement with the cities and the state. The work will be jointly financed.

The improvement is another phase in the development of the Master Plan highway connecting metropolitan Los Angeles with the San Gabriel Valley cities.

During the work, which is scheduled for completion next February, access to adjacent properties will be provided by the contractor.

Tai chai and kung fu instruction offered in classes in Montclair

MONTCLAIR — Tai chi, the ancient Chinese exercise for health, and kung fu, the Chinese art of self-defense, are offered for the first time in the activities sponsored this summer by the Montclair Recreation Department.

Tim Tackett, English and drama teacher at Montclair High School, instructs these classes. He has developed the kung fu course from the various martial arts he has taught and studied for the past 13 years in both Taiwan and the United States.

He has taken techniques from over 12 styles of kung fu, Japanese karate, kenpo, judo and aikido and simplified them into an easy-to-learn, but practical form of self-defense.

Tackett is a third-degree black belt from the Kuo Shu (kung fu) association of America, a second-degree black belt from the Taiwan Juo Shu (Kung Fu) Association in Taipei, Taiwan, and a first-degree black belt in Japanese karate. He also holds an instructor's certificate from the Free China Kuo Shu Association, the only non-Chinese ever to achieve this honor.

Tackett will be assisted by Bob Chapman who was his first student and has a first-degree black belt from the Kuo Shu Association of America and a first-degree black belt in Tai Karate.

Tai chi has been widely practiced as a daily exercise in China since the T'ang dynasty, 618 to 906 A.D.

These classes are offered to both boys and girls 12 and over and men and women on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. There is a registration fee of $20 for the seven-week course.

Tai Chi will be offered from 11 a.m. to noon and Kung Fu from 1 to 2 p.m. for women and 2 to 3 p.m. for men. All classes are held in the activity room at Montclair High School.

Classes conclude on Friday, Aug. 2.

Playgrounds will be operated at Lehigh, Margarita, Monte Vista, Kingsley and Vernon Elementary schools. Two activity centers will be at Montclair High and the recreation building. Craft and shop activities go at Serrano Junior High School.

Programs for adults are archery, basketball, fencing, tennis, volleyball, weight training, ceramics, folk guitar, cake decorating, knitting and crocheting, belly dancing, yoga and macrame. Special activities include "Check-A-Child," Bicycle Club, family swim, free movies, Starlite Symphonette and senior citizens shuffleboard club.

Those wishing additional information should contact the recreation department, 5111 Benito Ave.

Tiny tot swim classes to begin

POMONA — Swim classes will begin next week for mothers and their babies, 3 months to 3 years, and for Tiny Tots 3 to 5 at the Pomona Valley YMCA.

An evening class for Tiny Tots will be held Mondays and Wednesdays for five weeks from 7 to 7:30 p.m., beginning July 1.

A morning Tiny Tot swim session Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 10 a.m. for five weeks will start July 2.

Mothers will learn how to teach their babies to swin in a class held Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 to 7 p.m., beginning July 1.

Classes are held in the Y indoor pool where the temperature is maintained at 82 degrees throughout the winter months.

More information about the classes, which carry a $15 fee, may be obtained by calling 623-6433.

Dedication booklet helps in fund-raising campaign

MONTCLAIR — A dedication booklet has been published to kick off a fund-raising drive for the new Montclair High School Stadium.

Members of the high school's Key Club will be calling on businessmen and service organizations for their assistance in the fund-raising.

Proceeds will be used for the installation of a flag pole, score board, public address system and snack bar accessories.

Bleachers in the stadium are complete with construction under way for the rest room facilities and storage buildings.

The dedication booklet and ads in it will be used throughout the year at all home football games.

Special tax assistance offered for senior citizen property

POMONA — Special assistance is being offered to senior citizens who have not yet filed their claims for Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance.

A representative of the Franchise Tax Board will open a temporary office on Monday, July 8, and Monday, July 15, at the Palomares Community Center, Arrow Highway and Orange Grove Avenue. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The assistance is a reimbursement of a portion of the 1973-74 property taxes paid. The average payment in 1973 was $201, according to State Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

To be eligible for property tax assistance, claimants must be 62 or older as of Jan. 1, 1974, must own and occupy their own home, must have paid the property taxes on the home, and must have an income of $10,000 or less.

Qualified homeowners can obtain forms from the temporary office or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, Post Office Box 1588, Sacramento, Calif. 95807.

Wrong number

An article published Sunday about the Avenue of the Flags Committee incorrectly listed the telphone number of John Rogan. The correct number is 622-3084. Rogan is chairman of the committee.

TEEN CENTERS TO OPEN

Three youths pass the time away by playing pool at Westmont Community Center, one of three Teen Drop-In Centers the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department will operate during the summer starting this week. Around the pool table are, background, Arthur Sanchez, left, and Andy Esquivel, and Leroy Mason, in foreground. The other two Teen Centers will be at Palomares and Washington parks.

3 attend youth leadership center

CLAREMONT — Claremont High School students Eric Neuhaus, Moni Law and Roxanne Rota are attending the youth leadership involvement center at UC San Diego this week in preparation for their work as American Red Cross volunteers.

Also at UC San Diego is Claremont High junior Jeffe Kean, who is a counselor this week at the center and will serve as local Red Cross summer youth director.

Helium crisis not a lot of hot air

The Department of Interior has announced that holders of oil and gas leases on the Outer Continental Shelf must pay royalty fees to the department on natural gas that is vented to the atmosphere or is flared (burned) as well as on oil and gas lost in spills, blowouts and fires.

While oil losses have been minimal in recent years, the department estimates that some 60-billion cubic feet of natural gas was vented or flared from continental shelf wells during 1973. This would have amounted to about $2 million in royalty revenues to the department.

With its other hand, however, the government is permitting the wasting of another resources which, while not figuring prominently in the present energy crisis is considered irreplaceable in scientifiic research — helium.

So charges an article in "Transmission," published by the Northern Natural Gas Co., headquartered in Omaha, Neb.

Although helium is found in the atmosphere, the most economical recoverably source is natural gas, and not all natural gas contains helium. The richest proven source in the United States is the Hugoton Field, underlying parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

But natural gas from the Hugoton Field, like gas from other fields in the area, is being used to satisfy current demands. As natural gas reserves decline so does the future supply of economical helium. When natural gas is consumed as fuel, the nonburning helium goes up the smokestack to be lost forever.

In 1960, Congress passed the Helium Act Amendments, designed to conserve some 62-billion cubic feet of helium over a 22-year period. Northern Helex, a subsidiary of Northern Natural Gas, was the first of four private companies to be awarded a contract to extract and sell helium to the government for storage and resale.

Administered by the Department of Interior's Bureau of Mines, the helium conservation program worked as planned for the first eight years, with nearly 3.6 billion cubic feet of helium annually going into storage for the future. Then in late 1969, the program started running into trouble.

Unlike most other government conservation programs, the helium program was to be self-supporting. But with the phasing out of the space and missile projects, helium consumption began tapering off.

In 1971, the helium conservation program became a victim of economics. Because it was losing money, the government issued contract termination notices. Since then the matter has been entangled in litigation, with Northern Helex claiming breach of contract and seeking damages.

In the meantime, helium once destined for conservation is being vented to the Kansas air.

Scientists warn that helium will be vital in meeting the nation's energy needs in the next century Without helium, things like the production of energy from thermonuclear fusions, the transmissions of electricity by superconducting powerlines and the conversion of coal to gas in environmentally clean plants using magnetohydroynamic generators will be unlikely, if not impossible.

The helium that has been wasted is gone, says "Transmission." Only future generations will be able to look back on this period in history and decide whether our continued waste of this gas was a costly error in judgment.

Heat from cold

The nation's energy crisis is very real and its longevity is certain, according to all but dreamers and wishful thinkers. There are two great needs now being faced:

We must conserve our present energy-producing resources, especially those we ourselves control. We must seek out and learn how to exploit new resources, exotic though they may seem now.

The energy industry is making every effort to accomplish all of these things, even the exotic future sources. One of these latter — really far-out for the layman — is being explored under auspices of the National Science Foundation.

The concept is that substantial amounts of energy could be derived at low cost and with no pollution by harnessing temperature differences within the oceans. According to a New York Times dispatch, it has been estimated that the heat being carried by the Gulf Stream through the Florida Straits between Miami and the Bahamas could be harnessed to produce the equivalent of all the electricity now used by the United States.

The harnessing would be done by plants moored 25 miles off Miami. Warm surface water would be used to vaporize propane or ammonia, the vapor driving power plant turbines. It would then be condensed back into a fluid by frigid deep water, and recycled.

Several test plants are being planned. And if the hypothesis proves practically applicable, there certainly should be no shortage of the basic element, water.

U.S. target of new guerrilla attacks?

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's triumphant tour of the Middle East has already produced a backlash, which could upset the peace Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has labored so hard to fashion.

Secret intelligence reports warn that the Palestinians are deeply disgruntled over the President's failure to come to grips with the Palestinian problem. This is almost certain to encourage the extremists to step up their terrorist activities.

Isreael can be expected to respond by retaliating against guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria. Indeed, President Nixon had scarcely left Israel before Israeli warplanes hit back at Palestinian raiders by pounding the Lebanese border villages where they hole up.

Command strikes against Israel and Israeli retaliation raids would only polarize Arab opinion and prevent a peaceful settlement. This plea was made to the President, according to diplomatic reports, by both Egypt's President Sadat and Saudi Arabi's King Feisal.

Emotionally, Sadat pleaded with the President to bring the Palestinians to the peace table in Geneva. The Egyptian leader promised to use his influence to persuade them to negotiate their future borders and relationships with Israel.

If the Palestine problem isn't settled by negotiation, he warned urgently, the extremists would seek their own solutions through violence and terrorism. The President received similar warnings at every stop in the Arab world.

Yet in Israel, he joined Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in a joint statement condemning "armed bands" and "mercenaries" who invade "the territory of another state." The emotional Palestinians took this to mean that President Nixon was siding with the Israelis against the Palestinians. Even moderate Palestinians leaders joined in the angry denunciation of the President.

The extremists are expected to express their displeasure more emphatically by launching new guerrilla attacks upon Israel. But Israel security is getting so tough to crack, intelligence analysts predict, that the terrorists will have to seek other targets.

High on their list, intelligence reports warn, will be U.S. targets, including airliners, embassies and consulates around the world. "It just doesn't look good for the United States," one analyst told us bluntly.

Ominously, Palestinian extremists are armed with sophisticated Soviet-made Katyusha and Strella rockets. These have been furnished to the terrorists, according to intelligent reports, by Libya's strongman, Col. Muammar el-Quaddafi.

At least one commercial plane already has been destroyed by Arab terrorists using Strella rockets. And Israeli police discovered three Katyusha rockets, one of them aimed at the sacred Wailing Wall in Jerusalem. The rockets wre found moments before they were to be exploded by automatic timing devices.

Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., during a trip to the Middle East learned from intelligence sources that Arab terrorists have also adapted a new arsenal of makeshift, terrorist weapons from everyday American products. These weapons, Murphy told us, include the following:

—"Pig Bomb": This is a cardboard tube usually a toilet paper tube or kitchen-towel tube, packed with black powder and .22 caliber bullets. It contains a fuse which is actuated when the hand releases its grip on the tube. This nasty device can be gift-wrapped and delivered to an assassination victim. The time fuse gives the messenger time to get away before it explodes.

—Aerosol Flame Thrower: This is a simple, lacquer-base aerosol can with a zippo or butane lighter taped to its side. The lighter is ignited, the spray button pushed and a spurt of flame shoots out 12 to 13 feet.

—Refrigerator Bomb: Narcotics or other valuables are stashed in a refrigerator, which is wired with a gigantic explosive charge. A detonator blasting cap is inserted in the refrigerator's light socket. The terrorists simply unplug the refrigerator when they want access to the stash. Police or soldiers, raiding their hideout, would be blown to bits.

—Pen Gun: This is an Italian-made weapon, which looks exactly like a chrome ballpoint pen or pencil. But it fires a .22 caliber shell and is exceedingly difficult to detect at airports.

Murphy points out that these weapons are already known to the terrorists, who are expected to use them for hijackings, assassinations and sabotage. A victim marked for assassination, for example, could have his refrigerator turned into a bomb, or the aerosol flame thrower could be used to set off a sabotage charge from a safe distance, suggests the congressman.

Intelligence reports warn that the terrorists might provoke incidents against Egypt, Jordan and Saudi Arabia, because of their pro-American policies.

The Egyptians stressed to President Nixon that a Palestinian solution would end most of the terrorism and put the Palestinians to work building their own nation. President Sadat, however, didn't define the borders of the proposed Palestine state. He preferred to leave the specifics to be negotiated at Geneva.

Our sources say that Kissinger, in his secret talks, promised U.S. support to the moderate Palestinians. Presumably, this would include CIA backing. But the moderates, angry over the President's statement in Israel, are now in no mood to deal with the United States.

PAUL HARVEY

Nursing homes come a long way

Horrifying accounts have been crossing my desk. An individual writes, "This is a smuggled letter; I am living in a retirement jail!" A University of Chicago psychologist, Robert Kahn, says, "Nursing homes are the worst institutions ever devised by man."

The Illinois State Senate hears testimony of "slavelike conditions" in some nursing homes, of "thousands barely surviving in dark, rat-infested rooms . . ."

And then—like a fresh breeze across the clover patch—I hear that nursing homes don't have to be like that. It is deep-rooted Jewish tradition to respect one's kin and to venerate the elderly.

In Rogers Park, suburban Chicago, Jewish elderly are allowed to remain in their own homes. Housekeepers are provided, where necessary. Buses are provided so they can get around.

Those requiring more care live in an apartment house where they remain free to come and go and visit storefront coffee shops and otherwise "function, fuss and get around."

In Overland Park, suburban Kansas City, there is a new Indian Meadows Nursing Center which offers the elderly health care in a country club environment. And at a cost that's very little more than the so-called warehouses.

Rooms are as lovely as a resort hotel. There are resort-type social areas for dining, lounging, sunning, television. There are resort-type planned activities—movies, handcraft, cruiseship accommodations.

Residents are admitted under care of their own physicians if they prefer. Their own doctors' orders are followed precisely by hospital-trained professionals.

So here we can have a scientific facility in the healing arts—not a "nursing home" so much as a "nursing center," with clinical excellence plus compassionate concern for individuals. And it does not have to look like a barracks.

The gentle man with the dynamic vision in this instance is Robert W. Rieger, whose concern for the elderly reflects a compulsion to "do unto others."

He has established similar facilities elsewhere in the Kansas City area and in Colorado Springs, Denver, Omaha and St. Louis.

But his newest, Indian Meadows, enhances the elements which allow the ailing elderly a life of beauty and dignity, with opportunities for privacy, where preferred, and self-assertion with a peer group according to each individual's capability and preference.

When we are young we know we will be young always. So easily the schoolager may dismiss the thought of aging from his mind and callously wish to dismiss any evidence of it from his sight.

Meanwhile, on the other hand, the young will revere an artist or a teacher, a lawmaker or a clown, who is 80-plus — forgetting that each of his elders is equally unequal in some degree.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Hear both sides

Recently, your publication and others have presented articles, editorials, or letters (usually generated by conservationist groups) which claim that Japan is "slaughtering the world's whale populations to extinction.

With little regard for balanced discussion (and sometimes containing factual errors, oversights, omissions), certain of these presentations have even demanded a complete economic boycott of Japan to force a 10-year blanket moratorium on all commercial whaling.

To date, only the conservationist view of this subject has been reported in the U.S.

In the interest of presenting some of the facts which have been little heard in this controversy, the Japan Whaling Information Center has been established in New York by The Japan Whaling Association.

Through the American tradition of fair-mindedness and willingness to listen to both sides of the story, it is our hope to establish reasonable balance in what has become a one-sided issue.

For the people of Japan, conservation of the world's whale populations is not only an ecological priority, but also a nutritional necessity. Whale meat has long occupied an important part in the protein-poor Japanese diet. — Ray Josephs, David Levy, Japan Whaling Information Center.

Gossip for today

I see where a minister claims there is no longer such a thing as "original sin." His contention is, all the sin possible have been around since time began. However the interesting thing is, with all that backlog to choose from, day by day in every way it is getting increasingly difficult to sin in the good old fashioned manner.

As a case in point, a Long Island Appeals court has ruled there is nothing wrong with sunbathing in the nude on New York beaches.

Or remember how in great grandpa's day belly dancing (according to great grandma at least) was considered a cardinal sin? Well, today in Decatur, Ga., a preacher's wife is teaching this fine art, and you can even signup for a course in belly dancing at the Pomona Y.

Consider also how far we've come in our ability to detect and punish the sin of inebriation. Only 70 years ago no less an authority than the world heavyweight champion, John L. Sullivan, stated: "A man ain't drunk unless he lies down in the gutter."

So it is not at all surprising that these days one gets the impression the time will eventually arrive when, thanks to our courts and our modern disposition to believe there is nothing either right or wrong but thinking makes it so, sin will disappear entirely. But unfortunately even when things look brightest something always happens to prove that sin will inevitably raise its ugly head. —Did you know that even at this very moment the Food and Drug Administration is investigating the possibility that the practice of artificially coloring bread is sinful?

VIEWPOINT

Lawyers and the public interest

By CHESTERFIELD SMITH
President
American Bar Assn.

The organized bar has become increasingly sensitive to the fact that historically the poor have been under-represented as far as the legal system is concerned. They have not had either equal access to courts as plaintiffs or equal representation as defendants.

Our hearts traditionally have gone out to the poor because, economically, poor individuals can do little to obtain adequate legal assistance. But it seems to me that the lack of adequate legal representation embraces far more Americans than the poor.

There are both individuals and groups who are, for practical purposes, barred from the courts and from the legal process generally because they lack sufficient commitment to a particular issue pending in the courts to support litigation on the same scale as their adversaries. Environmental and consumer concerns are two immediate and obvious examples. There are many, many more.

One device which has evolved to remedy part of this imbalance is the so-called public interest law firm. This type of law firm offers the best possibility of enhancing truly equal legal resources for all those groups who have been largely unrepresented.

Unless and until a better mechanism than the public interest law firms is found, all lawyers should support and help fund those firms. One possibility is the funding of public interest firms directly by bar associations. A portion of each member's dues could be allocated to the bar association's firm. This procedure is now under way in Beverly Hills, Boston and, perhaps other cities.

The imposition of a tax directly on the individual lawyer for the use of the public interest type law firm is another alternative. Perhaps each lawyer should tithe for "public good" activities in either money or services.

The American Bar Association has been interested for several years in the program by which large law firms are encouraged to create a public interest department or to fund a separate public interest firm. This has worked with notable success in some instances, but it alone can never be the whole answer.

It may be possible at least partially to staff public interest offices with lawyers donating a portion of their time, but who are otherwise employed elsewhere.

I am convinced that the best way of supporting public interest law firms will vary from area to area. There may even be devices other than public interest firms which are better suited to accomplish the goal for both society and the legal profession. Further examination of public interest law firms and all other possibilities by the organized bar clearly is warranted before substantial restructuring of the profession should be undertaken.

What is immediately important as I see it is the recognition by lawyers generally of the proposition that every lawyer owes a substantial portion of his time — or its monetary equivalent — to the perfection of the adversary proceedings in our courts.

That obligation is of course not in lieu of our obligation to serve our own clients. In my judgment it is, however, as important as any of the other traditionally recognized professional obligations of lawyers and, to now, one which in the main has been sadly neglected.

Principal names Serrano scholars

MONTCLAIR — Honor students for the fourth quarter at Serrano Junior High School have been announced by Principal John J. Gilfillan.

Students receiving all A grades for the quarter were eighth graders Earl Allen, Jeri Boughner, Kelley Boyer, Rodney Dayton, Christine Flores, Kristi Helm, Lorie Hockersmith, Rosanna Jew, Jay Lesko, Bruce MacLean, Linda Nolte, Matt Randall, Jerry Reed, David Snider and Leigh Ann Weddell, and seventh graders Rickey Brewer and Karin Severson.

The following students were named to the honor society at Serrano for being placed on the honor roll for two consecutive quarters.

Signal job contract let

MONTCLAIR — A contract to install traffic signals and lights at Mission Boulevard and Central Avenue has been awarded to Steiny and Co. which submitted a low bid of $56,477.

The project includes installation of a modern, eight-phase traffic actuator signal which will provide a separate left turn phase for all directions and result in a significant increase in efficiency and reduction of accidents, said San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert O. Townsend.

The county Board of Supervisors awarded the contract at their Monday session. Construction is expected to take six months to complete. Work will begin when necessary electrical equipment is received.

Claremont okays remodeling plans

CLAREMONT — The Architectural Commission has approved exterior remodeling plans for the Beef 'N' Barrel Restaurant at 860 S. Indian Hill Blvd., but is requiring that the applicant furnish a $15,000 six-month bond to cover landscaping plans and the parking lot.

The commission did not approve proposed redwood planter boxes nor landscaping plans submitted for the front of the building.

Issuance of the building permit is contingent on posting of the bond.

Housing Officer Don Luxembourg recently explained to the commission that the city staff is concerned about the inadequate off-street parking, and that 12 to 14 more spaces are needed.

Dwight Thompson, representing the applicant, O'Meara - Chandler reported that three more tennis courts will be added this summer to ths new Valley Racquet Club development which is part of the Rodeway Inn Beef 'N' Barrel complex, and that the firm will be studying the whole development from a landscaping point of view within the next 60 days.

He requested that approval be given for the remodeling and that within 60 days plans for landscaping and parking will be submitted for the entire site.

Commission members said they felt landscaping could improve the project appearance.

Seed of origin

Aemilius Simpson, a British ship captain, founded the Pacific Northwest's enormous apple growing industry in 1824 when he planted seeds from an apple he had eaten when leaving London.

Topic for legion: "Prison Reform"

ONTARIO — "Prison Reform" will be the subject of a presentation by Dr. Vera Dreiser at the American Legion Lucnheon Club meeting Wednesday at noon in the auditorium of the Legion Post, 310 W. Emporia St.

Dr. Dreiser earned her doctorate at New York University and was in private practice as a consulting psychologist in New York City for 15 years before serving at the California Institution for Women as administrator of the psychiatric treatment unit for 10 years.

She recently terminated her public service to devote full time to the writing of a biography of her late uncle, the distinguished American author-journalist Theodore Dreiser.

The public is invited to attend the program which will begin at 12:30. Reservations for the luncheon and program may be made by calling 984-3811.

Dr. Singer named chief at hospital

GLENDORA — Dr. E. Richard Singer of Glendora has been elected chief of staff for the Glendora Community Hospital. He succeeds Dr. David G. Haney.

Dr. Singer came to the area in 1968 following four years with the U.S. Air Force. He is a member of the American Board of Surgery and the American College of Surgeons.

Serving with him on the executive committee are Dr. Roberta Armstrong, president-elect; Dr. Jack R. Bostwick, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Haney, chairman of the joint conference committee; Dr. I. Paul Geleris, chairman of the medical audit committee; Dr. Donald D. Davis, chairman of the surgical committee; and Dr. Melvyn H. Krause, chairman of the medical committee.

WILLIAM J. CONDON of Uplard has been appointed superintendent of cold rolled and coated products maintenance at the Kaiser Steel Corp.'s plant in Fontana. He joined Kaiser in 1959 as a senior industrialist engineer and became assistant superintendent of the tin mill in 1971. He and his wife, Eleanor, have two daughters.

Woman's club is sponsoring rabies clinic

DIAMOND BAR — The Diamond Bar Woman's Club will sponsor a rabies clinic Wednesday, July 10, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on the Diamond Bar Plaza parking lot.

Dr. Andrew Rodzinak, a veterinarian with the Southern California Veterinary Medical Association, will administer the innoculations.

A representative from the county Department of Animal Control will sell dog licenses. Proof of immunization must be presented before a license is issued.

Chino dealer is recognized

CHINO—Chino Motors Ford has received the Distinguished Achievement Award in recognition of high standards of operation maintained in the dealership during 1973.

The award is Ford Division's highest honor for achievement. This is the fourth consecutive year it has received the honor.

Hotels for sale

CARACAS (UPI) — The Venezuelan government has decided to get out of the hotel business. The government tourist agency says it will sell its nine hotels if its price is met. The hotels represent the biggest chain in Venezeula.

Primary economic impact of Kaiser Steel... $270 million a year.

We asked Urbanomics Research Associates to put a dollar and cents figure on what our Fontana plants mean to the local economy. They looked at such things as Kaiser Steel's payroll, expenditures for raw materials, fuel, supplies, equipment, transportation, taxes and charitable contributions.

The study shows that Kaiser Steel, Fontana, spent nearly $270 million in 1971—money that went directly into the area's economy. And the level of spending is even higher today.

It's an economic fact of life that the money we spend helps provide jobs and income for people living in the area. Every job at our steel mill creates two additional jobs in local communities—more than 25,000 jobs in all. Here's how the $270 million which we spent in 1971 adds up:

Kaiser Steel Fontana Plants and the local economy (1971)*

Total Annual Payroll	$ 92,583,200
Total Annual Expenditures (for raw materials, fuel and operating supplies)	$113,987,000
Investment in New Plant and Equipment	$ 18,030,400
Transportation Costs (paid or caused to be paid)	$ 33,000,000
Property Tax Payments to San Bernardino County Local Government	$ 7,846,000
State Sales Tax (paid or caused to be paid)	$ 3,000,000
State Unemployment Insurance	$ 994,600
Community Contributions
Associate In-group Donors (AID)	$ 207,000
Kaiser Steel Corporation	$ 128,000
Total	$269,776,200

*These figures do not include any of our other facilities such as our plants in Los Angeles or our Iron Ore mine in Riverside County.

We try to be good neighbors. It's our neighborhood, too.

Ford to halt ads on unproven claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. has agreed to stop running commercials claiming that its Galaxie and LTD cars have steel reinforcements as strong as highway guard rails, or that the LTD runs quieter than a glider in flight, the Federal Trade Commission says.

Under a consent order tentatively accepted by the FTC, both Ford and its advertising agency, the J. Walter Thompson Co., will no longer make claims in the future involving strength, quietness or performance for any Ford product unless they have reliable evidence to support it.

The guard rail commercial featured workmen removing the front doors of a 1971 LTD, exposing the rails. Chains were attached to the rails and the car was lifted vertically while an announcer intoned: "Steel guard rails. They're strong and durable ... like the rest of the car." The whole shot was framed by a highway guard rail.

The FTC, however, said:

"In truth and in fact the steel guard rails in the side doors of the Ford LTD and Ford Galaxie automobiles aren't as strong as a typical highway guard rail in that, among other reasons, they do not have the same lateral strength as a typical highway guard rail."

Lifting the car vertically by the rails, the commission said, offers no proof that the rails would resist an impact from the side the way a highway guard rail does.

The glider commercial, in both print and on television, showed a sound meter placed inside an LTD and an engineless glider in flight.

"Nobody has to convince you how quiet a glider is," says the announcer. "Airborne. With no engine at all. Can an LTD be as quiet as a glider?"

In truth, the FTC said, the 82 decibel readig in the plane is really rather noisy, not "quiet" at all. Ford and J. Walter Thompson, it added, had thus "established a misleading standard of quietness of the 1973 Ford LTD ... "

The complaint contended that both commercials represented false, misleading and deceptive advertising.

A staff analysis released along with the settlement noted, however, that the commission was not challenging whether an LTD is really quiet —only its comparison to a glider.

2nd largest bank raises prime rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — First National City Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, recently raised its prime rate back to a record high 11 ½ per cent.

The much awaited decision of First National to hike the amount of interest it charges key corporate customers dampened trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.08 at 820.79 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 154 to 56, among the 115 issues crossing the tape. Volume amounted to more than 300,000 shares.

Wall street for the past few sessions had focused its attention on Citibank which had lowered its rate to 11¼ per cent two weeks ago. Few major banks followed suit.

First National Bank of Miami, one of those that did follow, Thursday hiked its prime to 11½ per cent.

A further discouraging note for investors who have worried over rising interest rates, was a report late the commercial and industrial demands at New York's 12 top banks rose to $719 million in the latest week.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although the market has been depressed by high interest rates, "we will look back to this period in the future as one which provided tremendous long term appreciation possibilities while providing a nearly excellent return," says A.W. Zelomek Associates. The firm maintains there is no evidence the nation is in a major recession and certainly not at the threshhold of a depression. It urges investors to accumulate prime securites.

Comparative Market Indicators says it is looking for signs bearish elements on Wall Street have reached a bottom and "we will then reverse our current stance and become aggressively bullish.

How to cut the price of protein.

All it takes is three 8-oz. glasses of milk: half the protein you should have each day. And all they cost is 28¢ — so cut yourself in on the bargain!

Milk has something for every body.

Cost of three 8-oz. glasses of milk is based on the average price of a half-gallon of milk in California stores. The U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance of protein per person is 45 grams as endorsed by the Food and Drug Administration; three 8-oz. glasses of milk provide 25.5 grams.

PRESIDENTS

Q. "Among our presidents who drove cars, who was the best driver?"

A. Too tricky a query, that. Can only report that Lyndon Johnson was the fastest. He sometimes tooled along at speeds far inexcess of the limit. Slowest no doubt was Calvin Coolidge. He never exceeded 16 m.p.h., and didn't drive at all while in office. First president to drive a car was Warren G. Harding.

WHAT DO YOU mean when you say something is fabulous? Surprisingly few folk realize that word is not just a synonym for wondrous. If it's fabulous. it's like something in a fable. Take the unicorn, for instance. Now that's fabulous. Incidentally, surprisingly few folk, too, realize it's not just a horse with a horn on its head. A true unicorn of good breeding has not only the head of a horse, but the hind legs of a stag and the tail of a lion.

VA hospital director must retire or be transferred

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The director of a Veterans Administration hospital, as discipline for influencing VA officials to give jobs to his daughter and son-in-law, has been given his choice of retirement or a transfer to Pennsylvania.

John Cox, director of the West Los Angeles VA hospital, used "undue influence" to pressure officials to hire his daughter at the Brentwood hospital, also in Los Angeles, and to have his son-in-law transferred from the VA hospital in New York to the West Los Angeles hospital without proper authorization, a VA spokesman said recently.

The daughter and son-in-law were removed from their positions by a VA investigating panel, said the spokesman, Laul Mills.

He overlooks safety play

"Why did you take me all the way to six?" complained South. "Don't you know I may open a fifteen-point notrump on occasion?"

"I don't really mind your fifteen-point notrump," replied North. "What I do object to is the way you misplay them."

South won the diamond lead with his ace and led his four of clubs. West played the seven and South went right up with dummy's king. East showed out and try as he might South had no way to avoid the loss of two club tricks.

Where had South gone wrong? There was a perfect safety play available to him.

He should simply have covered West's seven of clubs with dummy's nine spot. This would have cost him a trick if East had started with exactly two clubs. But all the trick would have cost him, would have been a 30-point overtrick. As North pointed out you can afford that loss when insuring a slam.

Suppose clubs had broken 3-1. South would lose a club trick and could not lose two. Suppose East held all four clubs. West would have shown out and South would have known about the bad break. The only way to lose the slam was for West to hold all four and South to misplay the suit.

Supreme Court ruling

'Carnal Knowledge' not obscene

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, ruling the film "Carnal Knowledge" was not obscene, said today that juries may be instructed to apply their own "community standards" rather than broader standards in dealing with obscenity cases.

The court had been urged to tailor its obscenity standards to the laws of the 50 states on the ground that movie makers and book publishers could not cope with possible suits in thousands of separate political subdivisions in the country.

But in an opinion by Justice William H. Rehnquist the court said the standards it laid down last term approve such an instruction but do not require it.

"The Constitution does not require that juries be instructed in state obscenity cases to apply the standards of a hypothetical statewide community," Rehnquist said.

As for "Carnal Knowledge" —the subject of a Georgia case which tried to have the award winning movie declared obscene —Rehnquist said the court's "own view" of the film satisfied it that sexual conduct was not depicted "in a patently offensive way."

"While the subject matter of the picture is, in a broader sense, sex, and there are scenes in which sexual conduct including 'ultimate sexual acts' is to be understood to be taking place, the camera does not focus on the bodies of the actors at such times," the opinion said.

"There is no exhibition whatever of the actors' genitals, lewd or otherwise, during these scenes. There are occasional scenes of nudity, but nudity alone is not enough to make material legally obscene under (our) standards."

At the same time in a separate 5 to 4 decision the court said the federal law barring the mailing of obscene material does not offend constitutional safeguards when "applied according to the proper standard for judging obscenity."

The decision affirmed six convictions in Los Angeles for the mailing of a brochure advertising the report of the President's Commission on Obscenity. The brochure carried illustrations of the sexual material dealt with in the report.

Rehnquist said the brochure is a form of hard-core pornography well within the limits forbidden in its test case last term.

The "Carnal Knowledge" decision unanimously reversed the conviction of Billy Jenkins, Albany, Ga., theater manager who was fined $750 and sentenced to 12 months probation for showing the movie, which was held by some critics to be among the "10 Best" of 1971.

Jenkins was convicted under a law making it a crime to depict conduct that would violate Georgia's indecency statute if engaged in publicly.

All the justices did not go along with Rehnquist's reasoning. Justice William O. Douglas has always felt that any restrictions on obscenity violate the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall said they are as convinced as they were last term that the court's new standards do not extricate it from the "mire of case-by-case determinations of obsenity."

Two grass fires deliberately set

EL SERENO (UPI) — A total of 17 acres of grass were burned Sunday in two separate fires which authorities believed were deliberately set.

Firemen said the first fire, which charred two acres, was apparently set to decoy authorities so the second blaze, which burned 15 acres, could be ignited.

Seven engine companies and three helicopters fought the fires which caused $150 damage to one home.

Dodgers 'robbed' by Murrell

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS ANGELES — Billy Buckner doesn't have exclusive rights to sensational catches in leftfield at Dodger Stadium.

Seldom does a great catch turn around a baseball game but Ivan Murrell's sensational grab of a Jimmy Wynn 'home run' inspired the Atlanta Braves to rally for a 4-3 victory over the Dodgers Monday night behind Buzz Capra's pitching.

Murrell's diving catch into the third row of the leftfield stands in the third inning robbed Wynn of a three-run homer which would have given the Dodgers a comfortable 6-0 lead.

It was such a great catch that the large Monday crowd of 30,261 gave the Atlanta leftfielder, who is mainly Henry Aaron's caddy when the home run king rests, a big ovation.

"I know that corner pretty well," Murrell explained. "A couple of years ago I caught one just like that in the same spot that Jim Lefebvre hit."

Murrell was picked up by the Braves after being let go by the San Diego Padres. A former teammate of Wynn's at Houston, the native of Panama had a good idea of where the ball was going.

"I also know Jimmy hits the ball high. When he hit it, I ran back to the corner and waited," Murrell said. "There were fans all around me when I jumped but they didn't bother me."

Murrell's great catch kept Capra in the game and the right-hander immediately got tough in recording his eighth consecutive victory, an Atlanta club record.

Capra, who was a castoff from the New York Mets, retired the next 16 Dodgers in order and earned the victory when his teammates rallied for four runs in the seventh inning.

"Murrell's catch was the play of the game," Capra said. "When he got it, I said, by golly, if I can hold them to three runs, I think we'll get a couple. It turned the game around."

Capra also drove in the winning run in the seventh when he laid down a perfect bunt on Mike Marshall's 2-2 pitch to score Craig Robinson on a suicide squeeze.

"I just barely fouled off a couple of pitches as Marshall nearly struck me out," Carpa explained. "Then Eddie (Mathews) put the squeeze on. It was a straight high pitch, inside, but I got it down."

Marshall had no chance to get Robinson at the plate.

Lefthander Doug Rau was working on a three-hit shutout entering the seventh when his usual problem of tiring in late innings developed.

Dave Johnson opened the frame with a bloop single and Murrell drew a walk. Darrell Evans ripped a double to score Johnson. Johnny Oates' ground out brought Murrell in and Robinson tied it with a single to send Evans home.

Dodger manager Walt Alston then sent for workhorse Marshall, who had just won three consecutive games over the Giants in relief.

But Robinson got a good jump on Marshall and easily stole second, advancing to third on catcher Joe Ferguson's throwing error. Capra's bunt did the rest.

"We're playing Dodger type baseball," Murrell grinned.

The Dodgers scored quickly against Capra.

They tallied an unearned run in the first inning when Davey Lopes beat out an infield single, stole second and went on to third on Oates' throwing error. Wynn got his 57th run batted in with a ground out.

The Dodgers got a bad break in the eighth. After Lopes singled, Buckner followed with a line drive which first baseman Johnson speared at the bag for an easy double play.

DODGER DATA — Andy Messersmith (7-2) will face Ron Reed (5-3), making his first start since being struck by a line drive on May 15, in tonight's middle game of the series . . .

Both Aaron and the injured Ralph Garr (sprained ankle) are expected back in the Braves' lineup tonight . . .

Don Sutton (6-6) will oppose Carl Morton (9-2) in Wednesday's special 1:15 p.m. contest which is the Dodgers' annual Businessmen's Special . . .

Marshall was selected the National League Player of the Week for his three victories over the weekend. He is 11 games ahead of his record race for appearances by a pitcher set last year in Montreal . . .

The Dodgers have belted 65 home runs to Atlanta's 53. The Braves are way off their HR pace of last year when they hit 206. But Atlanta's pitching staff has compiled an impressive 2.96 earned run average compared to last year's infamous 4.25 figure . . .

Considering Atlanta is in second place 6½ games behind the Dodgers compared to its fifth place in 1973, it's easy to say pitching is the name of the game.

Angels in cellar; walloped by A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's got a grand slam from Sal Bando, a scare from Reggie Jackson, clutch hitting from Angel Mangual and promises of pending deals from owner Charles O. Finley as they crushed California, 11-3.

They also got a 2 ½ game lead in the American League West from their lopsided Monday night win.

All the Angels plucked from the evening was a quick drop to the division cellar.

Bando's sixth grand slam of his career came in the eighth inning off rookie reliever Barry Raziano, but the loss went to Angel starter Dick Lange (2-3). Bando suggested his big blow "wasn't too important because of when it came"—Oakland already had a 7-3 lead——and credited Mangual with wield ing the big bat of the night.

Mangual, Oakland's designated-hitter, singled in two runs to tie the game in the second and an inning later put the A's in the lead with a sacrifice fly to give him 22 rbis this season. He had only 13 last year and says that Manager Alvin Dark has made him a more confident hitter. Mangual said that ex-skipper Dick Williams "scared me and made me worry when I came to bat."

The A's all were scared when Reggie Jackson doubled up while beating out an infield single in the second. He complained of a pain in his lower back and was taken immediately to Merritt Hospital for observation. A muscle pull was at first feared, but doctors later reported it was only a spasm.

Jackson is expected to play here tonight as the A's send Jim Hunter (9-8) against California's young Frank Tanana (4-10). Vida Blue went eight innings Monday night to even his mark at 7-7.

Regular racing back on schedule

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Abbreviated race distances to curb fuel consumption will be abandoned NASCAR President Bill France, Jr., said Monday.

France said the remaining auto races on NASCAR's 1974 Winston Cup schedule will be conducted at regular distances, beginning with the July 4th Firecracker 400 at Daytona International Speedway.

All Grand National event distances were reduced by 10 per cent during the first half of this year as part of a campaign to reduce fuel consumption 25 per cent during the energy crisis.

"We have complied with all conservation requests and are meeting our target on fuel savings. NASCAR will continue to be prepared to meet any adverse changes in the national energy situation.

Easy win for Billie Jean

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Billie Jean King, playing with the guile and venom that helped her win five Wimbledon titles, today destroyed Kathy May, 6-1, 6-1, as she started defense of her women's crown at the All England Tennis championships.

Mrs. King, one of the brains behind World Team Tennis and the no-nonsense player-coach of Philadelphia, treated the capacity center court crowd to all that is good in tennis—the drop shot, the sliced second service, the top spin lob hit on the run and sound serving and volleying.

Miss May, of Los Angeles, tried to out-hit the champion and paid the penalty. She was repeatedly long over the baseline and was caught flat-footed at the net when Mrs. King, of Long Beach, Calif. used the drop shot.

Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. was inactive today, having drawn a first round bye in the draw of 96 ladies.

Third seeded Evonne Goolagong, the 1971 champion, needed only 29 minutes to defeat Mariejka Schaar of Holland, 6-1, 6-1.

Third-seeded Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill, kept his sweater on in the cool, cloudy afternoon to win the fourth set of his duel with Ove Bengtson of Sweden—it was postponed until today when the light failed last night—and the match, 6-1, 7-9, 6-2, 6-4.

The tall Swede, who much prefers indoor surfaces, couldn't match the American's consistency. The double faults that troubled him in the first three sets Monday were again in evidence and gave Connors the winning service break. With the score 2-2 Bengtson double-faulted to 30-all and again at game point.

"All I can say is that I'm glad to be playing again," Connors said. "I couldn't play in the Italian and French championships" — he was banned for his membership in WTT. "I'm quite satisfied with my game at this point," he said.

Goolagong simply had too many shots for her less experienced opponent—one of the few players around who has no backhand, hitting forehands from either side. It was the Australian's deep probing backhand that gave Mrs. Schaar the most trouble, although Goolagong won several key points with slippery drop shots that had no answer.

The 88th Wimbledon championships began Monday with the men's singles and Jan Kodes, Stan Smith and John Newcombe, each claiming to be the defending champion, scored first round victories.

The prestigious tradition-bound tournament on Wimbledon's famed grass courts — and at $234,480 the richest as well —finds itself with a full complement of the world's top men players after two years of bans and boycotts, which explains the abundance of defending champions.

Newcombe, victor in 1970 and 1971, claimed he was prevented by the boycotts and bans from competing again until this year. "And so I consider myself still the champion and defending my title," he said.

Newcombe, playing with a wood racquet instead of his customary steel to meet the terms of a commercial contract, had some trouble adjusting, but dispatched France's Georges Goven in straight sets 6-3, 6-2, 8-6.

The top seed, who is the strong betting favorite and the players own choice to win, Newcombe said, "I hit so much wood today the strings at the top of the racquet are more frayed than in the middle."

Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., who won here in 1972 and didn't play in 1973 made the same claim of being the defending titleholder after handily beating Grover Reid of Greenville, S.C. 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

And this only added to the bitterness of last year's champion Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, who was chagrined to discover that he was seeded only sixth, the lowest seeding for a defending titleholder in the history of the tournament. Kodes defeated Sherwood Stewart of Houston, Tex., 6-3, 6-4, 9-7.

Mitzi McMillen holds on to win AAU Pentathlon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mitzi McMillen of Seattle held off Marilyn King of the Millbrae (Calif.) Lions Monday to capture the National AAU women's pentathlon championship.

Miss McMillen led Miss King by 57 points Sunday after the first day of the two-day meet, but saw her lead dwindle to only 17 points after Miss King won the long jump with a wind-aided leap of 19-feet, 5-inches.

They tied for second, however, behind Laurie Stephens, of the Sweetheart Track Club, Brockport, N.Y., in the final event, the 200-meters, giving Miss McMillen first place in the overall competition with 4,051 points to Miss King's 4,034.

Miss McMillen won the 100-meter hurdles and the high jump Sunday, while Canada's Debbie Van Kiekebelt captured the shotput.

Following the meet, the AAU's International Selection committee named four representatives for upcoming meets against the Russians.

Miss McMillen, 18, and Miss King, 25, were named to the senior pentathlon team which will face Russia at Durham, N.C., July 5-6.

Lisa Kinamaka, 15, of the San Jose (Calif.) Cindergals, and Jeanine Shepherd, 17, of the Gazelle Track Club of Seattle, who finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in the AAU meet were named to the team for the junior meet against the Russians in Austin, Tex. next Friday and Saturday.

The third place finisher in the AAU meet was Lisa Chiavario of the Albuquerque, N.M. Olympettes.

NFL strike appears likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NFL players and owners went back to the bargaining table with a federal mediator today, but a strike next Monday seemed more likely than any chance of a settlement of the dispute.

The 1 p.m. EDT session was the first held by negotiators for the two sides since talks broke off in an angry mood 12 days ago.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said before the meeting he was adamantly opposed to postponing the strike deadline if a new contract is not signed.

"Even if some progress is made this week, I don't think we can play the carrot and stick game and put off strike action," Garvey commented.

He was pessimistic that a strike —the second in the last three seasons —could be averted, particularly since none of the major issues presented by NFLPA had been met to its satisfaction.

The agenda for the first day of renewed bargaining listed insurance, pensions, union security and player safety as issues for discussion. But they were only four of 90 demands Garvey and the players have served on the owners' Management Council.

Federal mediator James Scearce was hopeful that he could keep the talks going through Thursday and possibly into the weekend as well.

At issue are a series of contract changes which the players deem to be "freedom issues" as well as minimum wage and contract provisions. John Thompson, executive director of the Management Council, has declared that in the owners' view the "freedom" demands, including elimination of the reserve clause, would create "anarchy" in the National Football League's operations.

A strike call by the players on Monday would have no immediate impact until the first NFL team pre-season camp opening on July 3 when San Diego's rookies have been summoned for workouts.

But the Players' Association has conducted a strenuous campaign to persuade rookies and free agents to boycott the training camps, although they aren't eligible to join the NFLPA until the regular season begins.

If a strike should be called, the first public event to feel the brunt of the action would be the nationally televised College All-Star game agains the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins in Chicago on July 26.

World Cup field down to eight, no favorites

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —The World Cup field was pared down from 16 to eight teams by the past two week's play, but it also stripped the competition of a clear-cut favorite.

"The going will be rough," said Pele from a spectator's vantage point.

Reports from the West German camp forecast sweeping changes in the home team, which entered play two weeks ago as the favorite. Italy, a strong second choice, even failed to survive the preliminaries.

Dutch captain Johan Cruyff said the first confrontation in group A could decide who will be the group finalist in Munich July 7.

Eight teams fought their way to the second final round and faced a mini-league competition to decide the two finalists. "There are no outsiders in this party," said Dutch manager Rinus Michels.

The eight were divided into two groups of four with their first matches Wednesday — East Germany vs. Brazil and Holland vs. Argentina in Group A, with West Germany vs. Yugoslavia and Sweden vs. Poland in Group B.

Cruyff, who has replaced Pele as soccer's superstar, said the opening matches would be crucial. "Our game against Argentina could be dangerous," he said. "They .... have improved with every game. This match and East Germany's with Brazil probably will decide who finishes first in Group A."

Holland has played splendid football so far and was favored to beat Argentina, but the Argentines have tremendous reservoirs of skill and could spring a surprise.

East Germany provided one of the major shocks of the tournament by defeating West Germany, the favorite, 1-0 Saturday and Brazil has been unimpressive, drawing two games 0-0 and scoring only three goals in a feeble display against Zaire, the tournament's weakest team.

Sources in the West German camp said the team's defeat would have "consequences" and four or five changes might be made for the Yugoslavia match in Group B. Yugoslavia has shown both ruthlessness and skill against Scotland, Brazil and Zaire.

Sweden was generally accounted the weakest of the last eight and faces Poland, the only team to win its first three games.

But Swedish Manager Georg "Aaby" Ericsson was unperturbed. "We are riding so high we will beat the Poles as well," he said.

Competition is Marshall's thing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Michael Grant Marshall is earning $87,500 with the Los Angeles Dodgers to take time out from his kinesiology courses at Michigan State University.

The money, the East Lansing, Mich., resident said, is not all that important. The competition is.

At 31, Marshall is baseball's premier relief pitcher. With the righthanded screwball artist in their bullpen, the Dodgers are confident they can dethrone the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West.

In the middle of the Dodgers' three-game series with the Atlanta Braves this week, Marshall has appeared in 46 of this club's 71 games. Since Dodger starters had 19 complete games, that meant the man from Michigan with the big words had appeared in all but six of LA's contests requiring a reliever.

Marshall is studying for his doctorate and lecturing on kinesiology at Michigan State. Kinesiology is the study of the principles of mechanics and anatomy in relation to human movement.

"Competition is the key to this game," Marshall said. "If it weren't for the strong competition, it wouldn't be any fun. That's what this game's all about."

And, he continued, not just competition with the other teams in the league.

"You can't let the fact that maybe a pitch isn't working well for you sway you from using it," he said. "You have to force yourself to use it even though it's difficult to throw that pitch.

"Now that's where the competition within yourself comes in. Besides the competition between teams, there's an awful lot of competition in yourself. You have to accept and meet challenges. Once you can meet them, then you're ready to go."

In a weekend series with the San Francisco Giants, Marshall pitched seven innings of scoreless relief and came up with three victories in three days to run his record to 7-3.

"My individual record means absolutely nothing," he said and he didn't sound like he had just delivered one of baseball's better age-worn cliches. "All that counts is the game goes under the Dodger win column."

Traded to the Dodgers during the off-season, Marshall pitched in 92 games for the Montreal Expos last year. That was a major league record.

Now it appears that he will break that record with ease. Asked if he thought he would appear in 120 this season, he replied stoically, "I hope they (the Dodgers) need me in that many."

Marshall says the thing that might separate him from the other relief pitchers in the big leagues is superior conditioning.

"What I say is if you want to play during the season, you work during the offseason," he noted. "During the season, I use the game as my conditioning.

"Usually, if I go two days without pitching, I'll throw some batting practice. Unless I throw quite a bit prior to that. Then I'll go three days. But I'll never go longer than that without throwing to a hitter."

The articulate and learned professor has a way of expressing himself that puts him in another world from other baseball players.

"The particular situation that I'm in doesn't make any difference when I pitch," he said. "I like to think I'm going to pitch to the guy the same way, regardless whether there's anybody on or not.

"I sit and watch the game closely for three innings in the dugout. I don't try to determine if a pitcher is tiring. That's up to the manager. I'm just ready any time the manager calls me. Any night."

Top draft choice signed by Astros

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Astros have signed Kevin Drake, their No. 1 selection in the June free agent draft.

Drake, a 6-3, 195-pound outfielder from Lompoc, Calif., batted .400 this season as a high school senior. He had signed a letter of intent to play football with UCLA.

Drake, 18, will report to Cedar Rapids, the Astros' Class A farm club in the Midwest League.

Ollie Brown is sold to Phillies

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Astros Monday purchased the contract of American Association scoring leader Wilbur Howard from the Denver farm team and waived Ollie Brown to Philadelphia.

Brown collected 15 hits including three home runs, but only hit .217 in 27 games with the Astros this season.

National League roundup

Bob Gibson not finished yet; fans 11 while blanking Bucs

By United Press International

Bob Gibson may be nearing his 39th birthday, but it's still too early to blow out the candles on the famed St. Louis Cardinals' righthander.

Gibson, who many thought was washed up after losing eight of his first 11 decisions this year, Monday night demonstrated the form that has made him baseball's winningest active pitcher when he tossed a four-hitter and struck out 11 in leading the Cardinals to an 11-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the second game of a doubleheader.

St. Louis also took the opener 3-1 and moved to within one game of the first place Philadelphia Phillies in the NL East.

Gibson, who had not won a game since May 19 and was rumored headed for the bullpen, won his 241st career game to break a tie with Boston's Juan Marichal as the winningest active pitcher. His 11 strikeouts also moved him to within 12 of becoming only the second pitcher, next to Walter Johnson, to pass the 3,000 career strikeout mark.

Gibson said he had felt good for the last two or three starts but just couldn't get it together.

"Anyone can know he's doing something wrong, but not know how to correct it. It's like that in pitching, hitting or writing," he said. "There's nothing you can do about it. It just happens."

Tim McCarver, who caught Gibson during the Cardinals' pennant-winning years in the 1960s, was behind the plate Monday night and said Gibson was hitting the right spots.

"For a guy who's been throwing as hard as Bob has for as long as he has, you've got to throw to spots to be successful," McCarver said. "Thats the big difference tonight."

A three-run homer by Ted Simmons and a solo shot by Jim Dwyer provided Gibson with the only runs he needed to post his 56th career shutout. Simmons' homer was a three-run blast in the third inning.

In the opener, the Cardinals scored all their runs on four straight singles bunched around a throwing error by Richie Zisk in the second inning. Ken Reitz delivered the key single, driving in Luis Melendez, and Bake McBride also scored on the play when Zisk's throw went into the Pittsburgh dugout. Mike Tyson singled home Reitz with the final run of the inning.

Philadelphia topped Montreal 8-2 in a nationally-televised game, Atlanta edged Los Angeles 4-3, Houston beat Cincinnati 6-1, San Diego nipped San Francisco 2-1 and New York defeated Chicago 4-2 in other NL games.

Phillies 8, Expos 2

Jim Lonborg pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory and also hit a grand-slam homer to keep the Phillies in first place in the NL East. It was only the third major league homer for Lonborg, who boosted his record to 10-5. Larry Lintz collected three hits for Montreal.

Astros 6,Reds 1

Doug Rader and Cesar Cedeno hit homers to support the five-hit pitching of Tom Griffin and lead the Astros to victory over the Reds. Rader's homer was a three-run blast while Cedeno's was a two-run shot as the Astros pinned Don Gullett with his fifth loss in 12 decisions. Griffin struck out eight in picking up his eighth win in 11 decisions.

Padres 2, Giants 1

Reliever Vicente Romo halted a Giant rally in the ninth by retiring two batters with the bases loaded as the Padres handed San Francisco its 12th loss in 15 games. Romo preserved Dan Spillner's fourth victory in five decisions while Ron Bryant, a 24-game winner last season, suffered his ninth loss against only two wins.

Mets 4, Cubs 2

Successive errors by Dave Rosello and Jose Cardenal enabled the Mets to score the tying and winning runs in the ninth inning and defeat the Cubs. Rosello let a potential double play ball go through his legs, permitting Jerry Grote to score, and Cardenal threw wildly to third on the same play, allowing Cleon Jones to score the winning run.

Chaffey places two on All-CIF team

Chaffey High, which placed second in the Citrus Belt League standings this past baseball season, placed two of its players on the All-CIF 4-A teams, it was announced today by the Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation.

Pitcher Larry Garcia, only a junior, and senior outfielder Rod Weigand were placed on the second team by the All-Southern California Board of Baseball.

Garcia went into Chaffey's CIF game with Eisenhower with an unbeaten 12-0 record on the mound, but suffered the loss in the game and ended the year with a 12-1 slate and a 0.58 earned run average.

The Tiger lefthander went into the playoffs with a 10-0 record, hurled a five-hit 5-2 victory over Mater Dei in the first round and then picked up the victory in Chaffey's 16-3 win over Newport Harbor in the second round.

Weigand had a batting average of .424 for the Tigers this past season. The Tiger outfilder drove in the first Chaffey run against Eisenhower to tie the score at 1-1, but the Eagles went on to knock the Tigers out of the playoffs, 4-2.

Tim O'Neill, senior righthanded pitcher for North Torrance High who, in his first season of varsity baseball, led the Saxons to the 4-A division title by pitching all five playoff victories, has been named the 4-A Player of the Year.

The 6-foot-1, 170 pound mound star was a unanimous selection, as he accounted for 21 of North's 26 season wins (15-2 record and six saves).

INGLEWOOD — Oriental featherweight champion Zensuke Utagawa arrives in Los Angeles Tuesday from Tokyo and will start local training drills Wednesday for his July 9 bout with Ruben Olivares at The Forum.

The Utagawa-Olivares contest is scheduled for 15 rounds and will be for the World Boxing Association featherweight championship.

Utagawa will be accompanied by Shintaro Uchiyama, the Japanese bantamweight titleholder. Uchiyama is paired with unbeaten Mexican sensation, Carlos Zarate, in a 10-rounder which will open the title card at 8 o'clock.

The 24-year-old Utagawa, a native of Fukushima City, has a 34-2 record. He is rated as the No. 2 contender by the WBA.

Felix Millan is hospitalized

CHICAGO (UPI) — The New York Mets, already short of infielders, lost another Monday when Felix Millan was hospitalized with a nose infection.

Millan became aware of the infection Sunday, and Monday morning his face was so swollen he would have been unable to play. He visited the Chicago Cubs' team doctors and was hospitalized for a minimum of two days.

Phillies option rookie outfielder

Errant shots cause tie in state golf meet

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — If it hadn't been for a couple of errant golf balls, U.S. Amateur Champion Craig Stadler would be leading the California Amateur Golf Championship all by himself going into today's second round.

Instead, the two lost balls cost the 21-year-old University of Southern California junior four penalty strokes and shoved him into a four-way tie for the lead, despite his four birdies and an eagle on the 10th hole at Cypress Point.

On a day when two-thirds of the field of 202 starters couldn't break 80, the low score at Pebble Beach was a 74 turned in by Simpson's younger brother, Dave, who is 17.

Also scoring 74 but over the easier Cypress Point layout were Stanford's Conrad Nilmeier, San Jose State's Mark Lye and Kim Cater, a 16-year-old high scholer from Pebble Beach.

Stadler turned the first nine Monday three-under-par, then dropped a 10-foot putt for an eagle on the 10th to go five under par.

However, Craig bogied the 11th and then disaster struck at the 12th when he pushed his second shot into the sand and was unable to find the ball. On the next hole the U.S. Amateur Champion hooked his T-shot into a jungle of wire grass, again losing the ball, and took his second straight double bogey.

After today's second round the field will be cut to the low 64 scorers for a third round of stroke play to decide the low 16 who will enter match play Thursday.

Youngest slugger

DETROIT (UPI) — The youngest man ever to win a batting title was Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, who was 21 years old when he batted .340 in 1955. Kaline never won another batting title.

No-hit bid stymied; Busby, K.C. lose

By United Press International

For 5 1-3 innings Monday night, a crowd of 16,193 in Kansas City watched Steve Busby of the Royals try to match a miracle.

Then it all fell apart and the Chicago White Sox scored a 3-1 victory over the Royals after spoiling Busby's gallant bid to be the second man in the history of baseball to pitch consecutive no-hit games.

Busby, who pitched the second no-hitter of his career against the Milwaukee Brewers, June 19, carried his no-hit pitching forward for 5 1-3 innings before Pat Kelly singled in the sixth inning. Kelly's hit snapped a string of 33 consecutive batters Busby had retired over a two-game span. Former Yankees' pitchers Vic Raschi and Lindy McDaniel shared the previous American League record of retiring 32 straight batters over spans of several games.

Once having broken the spell, the White Sox scored three runs in the seventh inning and went on to a 3-1 victory behind the combined four-hit pitching of Wilbur Wood and Terry Forster. Wood allowed four hits in 8 1-3 innings, picking up his 12th victory with the relief help of Forster.

"I began to think that Busby might pitch a no-hitter again," admitted White Sox manager Chuck Tanner after the game. "But I figured I've got Wilbur and I felt pretty good about it. I thought Busby might pitch nine or 10 hitless innings but Wilbur might still pitch runless ball even though he gave up several hits."

Wood, still working on a three-day pitching schedule, said he understood why Tanner brought in Forster in the ninth.

It's common sense to do that," said Wilbur. "I had been goosing the ball up there for eight innings and the difference in the velocity between us is like night and day. As for the possibility of a second no-hitter —well, the law of averages was just against him."

The Oakland A's defeated the California Angels, 11-1, the Boston Red Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 9-0, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Detroit Tigers, 3-1, the Cleveland Indians topped the New York Yankees, 10-3, and the Minnesota Twins tipped the Texas Rangers, 8-4, in other AL games.

Ron Santo's two-run homer started a three-run seventh-inning rally which brought Wood his 12th victory against eight losses. Carlos May started the seventh with a single, Santo homered and then the White Sox added a run on Bill Sharp's double and Bucky Dent's single. Busby had pitched 22½ consecutive scoreless innings.

Red Sox 9 Brewers 0

Rico Petrocelli hit his ninth grand slam and Luis Tiant pitched an eight-hitter for his 10th win to give the Red Sox their victory over the Brewers. Petrocelli's grand slam came in the fifth inning after Dick McAuliffe's single, a double by Carl Yastrzemski and a walk to Carlton Fisk. Jim Colborn was the loser.

Orioles 3 Tigers 1

Bobby Grich's two-run homer in the second inning was the big blow for the Orioles as Doyle Alexander, who went the distance with a five-hitter, won his third game. Lerrin LaGrow lost his seventh decision against five losses for the Tigers.

Indians 10 Yankees 3

Fritz Peterson, making his first start against his former teammates, pitched seven innings of five-hit ball and John Lowenstein hit a grand slam homer to pace the Indians to their victory over the Yankees. Fred Beene, another former Yankee, finished up for the Indians, who collected 15 hits, including three by Oscar Gamble. Bill Sudakis had two doubles for the Yankees.

Twins 8 Rangers 4

Danny Thompson singled twice, doubled and drove in two runs with an inside-the-park homer in leading the Twins to their victory over the Rangers. Bert Blyleven went six innings for the Twins to win his sixth game while David Clyde suffered his fourth loss of the season for Texas.

Disabled list for Mel Stottlemyre

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees anounced Monday that pitcher Mel Stottlemyre, after having been examined by orthopedic specialist Dr. Robert Kerlan in Los Angeles, will be placed on the 21-day disabled list.

Stottlemyre's injury was diagnosed as a pulled muscle in his right shoulder. He will be unable to throw a ball for two to four weeks. He is 6-7 for the season with a 3.49 ERA. The club did not announce who they will bring up to replace Stottlemyre on the roster.

Busby, Orta tie for honors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chicago White Sox second baseman Jorge Orta, who belted out 16 hits and a .903 slugging average last week, earned a tie with Kansas City Royals' no-hit pitcher Steve Busby as the American League player of the week.

Orta, benched earlier this season, bounced back last week with his first four home runs of the season bunched into the 16 hits. One of the homers beat Minnesota in the 10th inning on Saturday—the third such time this season Orta has won an extra inning game for the Chisox.

Busby, of course, made history on Wednesday at Milwaukee when he no-hitted the Brewers to become the first man ever to twirl no-hitters in his first two seasons in the majors. In the game, Busby retired the last 24 batters in succession after walking Milwaukee's George Scott on a 3-2 pitch in the second.

Odds look even for Muntz, Lloyd

Muniz is rated no. 8 in the world and Lloyd no. 10.

Montclair builds streak to seven wins

MONTCLAIR — Montclair Post 616 captured its seventh straight win Monday night, en route to a 13-6 rout of Claremont Post 78.

Coach Bob Lastoskie's club scored all its runs in the first four frames in support of southpaw Don Pierce (3-0), who went the distance despite issuing eight walks and hitting a batter.

Dale Biggs went three-for-three and drove in four runs to pace 616, now 10-3 on the summer. Pierce added a pair of hits and Mike Medeiros continued his torrid pace by chiming in with two more hits, one of them a bases loaded triple in the third to break the game wide open. Montclair led 5-4 when Medeiros added the timely hit.

The southpaw pitcher-outfielder has now collected 11 hits in his last 16 at-bats over a four-game span and driven in six runs during that streak.

"We've really started playing good ball," said Lastoskie. "But it may be too late. We're 8-2 in league (District 25) but Redlands hasn't lost yet and you have to win the title to make the playoffs."

Montclair visits Tri-City Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. in a league crucial. A loss could eliminate it from any playoff activity. Bruce Richardson (4-2), who threw a no-hitter his last time out, will be on the mound.

Claremont fell to 12-11-1.

Sports news in brief

HUBIE BROWN Monday became the fifth head coach of the ABA Kentucky Colonels in the past four years. Brown, an assistant coach with the Milwaukee Bucks in the NBA the last two years, will be taking on his first head coaching job.

THE ABA KENTUCKY COLONELS Monday announced the acquisition of guard "Bird" Averitt from the San Antonio Spurs and 6-8 forward Wilbert Jones from the Memphis Tams.

THE WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE now will be able to try to sign members of the NFL Dallas Cowboys. The 5th Texas Court of Civil Appeals Monday said a lower court had abused its discretion in deciding the WFL could not sign Dallas players.

JAPAN won its first game after two losses today to edge the United States 4-3 in the third game of their College "World Series" at Maruyama Stadium in Sapporo, Japan.

WBA FLYWEIGHT CHAMPION CHARTCHAI CHIONOI of Thailand said Monday night he was postponing his championship flight with Susumu Hanagata of Japan. Chartchai said the fight, scheduled for July 19, would be postponed to sometime in August because of his weight problems and a bad back.

Muir High's hurdler voted top track athlete

Fred Shaw, Muir High's premier high and low hurdler who was a double California State Meet winner in his pet events, has been named Athlete of the Year in CIF Southern Section Track and Field for 1974.

The selection of Shaw as the CIF, Southern Section MVP was unanimous. He was not only a double California State Meet winner (13.7 and 18.9), but coach Walt Opp's ace anchored the Mustang mile relay team to a 3:13.8 clocking (47.7 leg), the fastest time in the nation this year. Shaw was only defeated twice in the hurdles all year, both times by teammate Jim Austin and both in the highs.

In unprecedented action, the All-Southern California Board of Athletics, meeting to determine the annual all-star teams in baseball and track, saw fit to honor Southern California High School girls in track and field for the first time.

The board honcred those girls who specifically had distinguished themselves in the California State Meet competition.

Quickie diets cause variety of problems

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 17-year-old girl and have a weight problem. A year ago I weighed less than 100 pounds. Now I weigh 138 pounds. To get under 100 pounds I went on a diet which my parents thought was a sensible diet, lots of protein, no desserts, lots of vegetables and fruits, and the good things for me, I thought. Three months later I was slim, but had developed a foot drop. To make a long story short, I was in and out of doctor's offices and hospitals several times before they decided it was caused by a sudden weight loss.

After that I started eating normally, plus started taking vitamins to correct the foot drop. I also got a job after school. Right now my foot drop has been corrected, but I am overweight. My grandparents seem to think that my job has something to do with this problem. The place wher I work is a quick food take-out establishment and 75 per cent of the food prepared is fried. My grandparents calim that being around all that cooking oil has caused it to penetrate my body, causing me to be overweight. I am trying to diet again and cut down on my eating, but have had no success. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

DEAR READER — No, you won't get fat from cooking oil penetrating the body. The only way calories penetrate the body is by way of the mouth on their way to the stomach. You can't inhale calories either.

If your foot drop was because of weight loss it must have been associated with lack of thiamine (vitamin B1) or from pressure on nerves to the leg in some mechanical way. The latter seems unlikely. Thiamine does help in such problems. A number of overly restricted diets are deficient in thiamine. A young, active girl, often still growing and developing, should never be on a diet that causes her more than a steady weight loss of two pounds a week — and a loss of only one pound a week is much better. It's slow but safe and trains you how to eat so it doesn't come back.

Try again, but be sure you are still getting enough calories to lose weight only gradually and that your diet contains enough vitamins and minerals. For more information on losing weight, write to me in care of this newspaper, PO. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on losing weight. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read that certain vitamins can make your hair return to its original color. Can you tell me what this vitamin is and how much to take to obtain the desired result, or even some improvement in the color? I have also seen a doctor on T.V. who said that his brown hair was a result of his taking vitamins, otherwise, it would have been white.

DEAR READER — This idea is completely without scientific foundation. There is nothing in any vitamin that will return your hair to its natural color. About the only way the man on T.V. could have brown hair because of taking vitamins would be if he was wearing a wig after having lost all of his hair from taking toxic doses of vitamin A.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. White to Dr. Lamb in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Cast on canary's leg could stay two weeks

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: My sister's canary with its leg in a cast? I couldn't believe it. How long does a bird have to kee pone on?—P.H.

Dear P.H.: Most, but not all, leg splints can be removed in about two weeks.

DEAR DR. MILLER: What's the best way to keep grass awns out of my dog's coat? They get all matted up in his hair and get underneath and work into his skin and cause abscesses sometimes. He's even gotten them into his ears and eyes. These weed seeds are really terrible—there should be some way to prevent them. I hope you can tell me what it is. — S.O.

Dear S.O.: Grass awns, foxtails or whatever they may be called, should be a great concern to every dog or cat owner whose pet might be exposed to them. They may work their way into any opening in the body or even through the intact skin, through the mucus membranes of the mouth and throat or stomach, causing great misery and occasionally death. Unfortunately, in some areas these dangerous weeds are so common there's no practical way to clean up and eliminate them all. In this case, the best answer is to completely avoid such an area when exercising your dog. If this isn't possible, contunual vigilance is the next best approach.

Examine your dog carefully immediately after he has been in an area where these foxtails occur. Search for them first in the nostrils, mouth and ear canals.

Then go to feet and other parts of the body to comb out or pick off any of the awns found. The longer you wait before inspecting the animal, the greater the chance the foxtail will already have worked out of sight and down into the ear canal, into the throat or some other area. Sudden, continual sneezing, cocking of the head, or pawing at one ear, coughing, pawing at the mouth, or continual licking of one spot of the body may all be signs that a missed foxtail is causing damage and the poor patient needs immediate veterinary attention.

Brownsville Station

Detroit rock group scores with single

By BRUCE MEYERS

It took the three members of Brownsville Station several years of hard work to stay in one place musically so the world could catch up to them. They were always one of the best, most straightforward rock bands to ever come out of Detroit — but until their single of a few months back, "Smokin' In the Boys Room," their track record on the charts had been less than impressive.

"Smokin' " finally isolated Brownsville's audience — high school-age boys — and started what could be the band's steady rise into the big time.

One of the best things about Brownsville Station is their sense of humor. At least two-thirds of their shows slop over from humor into farce, on a basic teen-age level. Best of all, they have excellent memories for the way things really are for most high school kids.

Brownsville's new ablum, "School Punks" (Big Tree BT-89500), is — like their manic stage performances — nonstop from the start to finish. Most of the songs revolve around various forms of American male teen-age lust, but this is rock, and the lyrics really aren't that important anyway.

"Punks" is a uniformly tight album, combining new tunes one,"Kings of the Party," an obvious follow-up to "Smokin' " with some well-selected oldies "Hey Little Girl," and "I'm A King Bee; it's unquestionably their best album so far.

On the other hand, the band has yet to catpure on vinly anything like the natural spontaneous power of their driving stage act, sparked by bespectacled Cub Koda on guitar and lead vocals. If they ever pull it off, Brownsville Station could turn into one of the really big rock bands of the 1970's.

Meanwhile, unwilling to remain mere musicians, the trio has moved into movies. They've finished work on a screenplay called "Brownsville Station Join the Army." In the flick, members of a rock band are drafted and sent to the front lines — at the White House. With a plot like that, it could turn into one of the great Z-movies ever made.

Lake Elsinore pumps broken

LAKE ELSINORE (UPI) — Pumps that supply fresh water to Lake Elsinore still are not working.

Maintenance crews Wednesday were not able to restart the pumps that brown down June 12 after an electrical malfunction.

State park Ranger Bert Frizzell said the water level is dropping, but marine life has not been affected. The water level of Lake Elsinore, a dead lake which has no natural source of water, has been maintained by pumps on three wells that yield 7,000 gallons of fresh water a minute.

'Mack & Mabel'

New show to open at Music Center

LOS ANGELES — David Merrick's new musical, "Mack & Mabel," starring Robert Preston and Bernadette Peters, opens an eight-week pre-Broadway engagement at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 tonight.

The show will also play St. Louis and Washington, D.C., before opening in New York in October.

Michael Stewart has written the book and Jerry Herman the music and lyrics for the musical, directed and choreographed by Gower Champion. The trio of Stewart, Herman and Champion first collaborated on Merrick's biggest Broadway hit, "Hello, Dolly!"

Wild and wooly and full of fun. That's Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park. The rip-roarin' wild west brought back to life for the whole family to enjoy.

You walk the streets of ghost town. Gunshots! The sheriff shoots it out with two badmen. Duck into the Calico Saloon and belly-up to an 1880's bar.

Back into the streets. A pretty girl plays a steam calliope. A barker hustles you into the Birdcage Theater for an old time melodrama. Later, you watch glassblowers. Gunsmiths. Blacksmiths. Visit the livery stable. Candy store. General store...with its pot-bellied stove and old time merchandise.

Whoosh down Timber Mountain on a log.

The wildest rides in the west.

Clamber aboard an old stagecoach. "Reach for the sky." It's a hold-up! Over to Timber Mountain. Ride a log through sawmills and logging camps. Woosh...you're plummeting down a mountainside. Next minute you're aboard a small train, clattering and creaking your way into the depths of a gold mine. Look out! Dynamite blasting...and you just missed being trapped!

Thrill to Wild Animal Follies.

Entertainment Knott's style.

Fiesta Village is next. Mariachis playing. Dancers whirling around the plaza. Teeming shops and cantinas. Then to Gypsy Camp to see Zoltan's Gypsy Puppets. Or back to the Knott's John Wayne Theater to catch the Lennon Sisters, Flash Cadillac, Rick Nelson or another headline act.

Dusk. Amble over to the covered wagon camp. Country music around the campfire. Minutes later, Knott's Incredible Fireworks Machine blazes into action.

Buy an antique lamp.
Or enjoy a choice steak dinner.

Enjoy turn-of-the-century nickelodians.

Dinner time.

A big, old-fashioned chicken dinner at Mrs. Knott's restaurant. Or a sizzling steak. Or maybe just hot pretzels and boysenberry juice from a street vendor.

A full day...and just enough time to pick some unusual gifts at one of Knott's stores. A sunbonnet or home-made pickles. A turn-of-the-century toy, or an antique lamp. Finally, you hop a genuine San Francisco cable car for a ride to the parking lot. It's been a wild day...full of fun. You haven't seen everything. You haven't done everything. But, then, there's always another day.

KNOTT'S BERRY FARM Buena Park

Critic critical

All the world's a stage to the wandering actor

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actors are fine — in their place — on a stage, and there, I love them, good, bad or indifferent. I even love some of them as persons outside the theater.

I don't love them — and I'm sure this goes for 99 per cent of audiences — when some director's whim to do something different has them:

1—Running up and down the aisles as an unnecessary part of the action, possibly tripping over a relaxed aisle-sitter with a protruding foot to the injury of actor and-or customer;

2—Crawling over members of the audience who, to make this inconvenience possible, have paid $10 to $15 musicals to sit in bleacher or other unorthodox type of seats, instead of comfortable orchestra chairs;

3—Engaging in general fraternizing with the audience during the performance as part of the director's "inspired" interpretation of the show;

4—Ganging up at the exits after a performance to handshake or embrace the paying customers in a mistaken gesture of camaraderie. What the customers want is to get out of there and find a taxi.

The recent examples of such misdemeanors are nothing new. We've had these things before, and we'll have them again, but they will be no more enjoyable in the future than in the past.

Such directorial conceits usually are associated with revivals of old plays or musicals that some misguided genius feels need a blood transfusion to be effective, but this is not always the case. Now and then there is a brand new work that is made difficult to accept by one or more of the foregoing prejudices.

Imaginative directors are always welcome, of course. But they can be so without embarrassing or harassing the paying customers. Or the unpaying ones such as myself, a critic.

I love the proscenium stage that keeps the players confined to their rightful area. I don't mind the thrust or arena stage, but only when the directors keep the actors out of my lap.

And I doubt very much that the manipulated actors enjoy such contact with the "civilians."

Just relax, fellows. The audience wants to be entertained, not annoyed.

3 students named for jazz fete

LA VERNE — Bill Snyder, Kevin Mason and Joe Movich of the Bonita Jazz Ensemble have been named top instrumentalists to perform in the California All-Star High School Band at the Monterey Jazz Festival in September.

Snyder, trombonist; Mason, trumpeter, and Movich, guitarist in the Bonita High School group will join professional jazz musicians at the 17th annual festival Sept. 20, 21 and 22. They will be featured in the afternoon concert, Sept. 22.

Snyder performed in the all-star band in 1973 and was named the top high school trombonist in the state. He recaptured the honor this year, and Movich was named top guitarist.

The local trio will perform with such jazz greats as Dizzy Gillespie, Gerry Mulligan, Ladd McIntosh and Chuck Mangione.

Robin Snyder, director of the Bonita Jazz Ensemble, reported that the group took fourth place in the fourth annual California High School Jazz Band Competition earlier this month.

Eagle Rock High School of Los Angeles was awarded first place honors by the panel of professional musicians and educators while Mira Loma High of Sacramento and Corona High won second and third place respectively.

The high school jazz band competition is sponsored each year by the Monterey Jazz Festival in cooperation with Monterey Peninsula College.

WAXING MERRY— Wax effigy of Roy Rogers' horse, Trigger, looks on as Rogers and his wife, Dale Evans, check out the Rogers display at the Movieland Wax Museum in Buena Park. The set, installed when the museum opened in 1962, is being refurbished. The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily and until midnight Friday and Saturday.

23rd Annual

Artists' auditions winners to perform at Redlands Bowl

REDLANDS — Six winners of the 23rd annual Young Artists' Auditions of the Redlands Bowl Association will present a recital in the bowl at 8 p.m. Friday. Admission is by free will offering.

Senior winners won $100 each, junior winners $50. The awards will be presesnted at the concert.

Soprano Rosemary Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scott of Claremont, won the junior vocal division. Winner of the senior division was Elizabeth Van Gelder of Colton. They will sing operatic arias and lighter selections.

Miss Scott, who attended the University of Redlands studying under Walter Martin, has had considerable experience in public appearances. Her activities include writing and performing her own guitar-vocal folk music, directing a junior church choir, theater and television appearances, writing a play, and studying operatic roles. Besides the young Artists' Auditions, she won a scholarship this year by placing first in the Gladys Turk Foundation vocal competition at UCLA. Her accompanist is Lois Darr.

Miss Van Gelder, now a student of Gwendolyn Roberts of San Bernardino, has done most of her public singing in churches and women's clubs, in the area. Ruth Wilkerson will play her accompaniment.

The two senior piano winners, Ernestine Walker, a University of Redlands student from Pasadena, and Geoffrey Merrill, Redlands, will play works by Rachmaninoff, Mozart, Kerr and Haydn.

Miss Walker is studying with Dr. Alexandra Pierce.

Merrill, after graduating from the University of Redlands, spent four years in U.S. Air Force bands where he was frequently the soloist. He regularly played percussion instruments in bands. His teacher is Aube Tzerko of Los Angeles.

Instrumental winner Roger Caldwell of Rolling Hills, a University of Redlands student, will play Concerto No. 1 for Trumpet ("Mystical") composed for him by Susan E. Herman, who will play the accompaniment. Caldwell has been a member of the Redlands University-Community Symphony and the Riverside Symphony. He is head of the Redlands Brass Quintet. He studies with Dr. Lester Remsen of the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Another instrumental winner, horn player James D. Avery, has been playing the horn since the age of 13, and has appeared in the symphonies of College of the Desert, Palm Spring, Redlands and San Bernardino. He played in Army bands from 1969 to 1971. He is a student of Ralph Pyle of the Los Angeles Philharmonic. He will be accompanied by Steven Bergens.

Still far off

If the solar system was scaled down so that the sun was the size of a beach ball, Pluto would orbit approximately 10,000 feet away.

Clubwomen!

Special forms are due

Valley Women, a supplement of the Progress-Bulletin highlighting activities off all women's clubs in the valley, will be published July 23.

Madame President will your club be included?

Fact sheets, sent out May 16 to club presidents or publicity chairmeen, are due by the end of this week if they are to be included in the special edition.

If any club has not received the form to be filled out, an officer of the organization should contact the Progress-Bulletin women's editor, Mrs. Mary Remillard, at the newspaper, 622-1201, this week.

The annual edition will carry interviews with the four Woman Achievers for the valley who were selected rently by a panel of judges, in addition to the stories of almost 200 women's clubs.

TODAY'S Women

Yolanda Grisham wed to Gilbert Ascencio

The courtyard at Griswold's Inn, Claremont, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Yolanda Grisham and Gilbert Ascencio.

The Rev. Rodney Parrot officiated at the double-ring rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grisham of San Dimas and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Ascencio of La Verne.

The bride is a graduate of Bonita High School and Mt. San Antonio College. Mr. Ascencio graduated from Bonita High School and is employed by Gainey Ceramics.

Secretaries will meet Thursday

In keeping with its basic principles of learning as much as possible about each of its member firms, the spotlight will center on the firm of Security Pacific National Bank of San Bernardino when Executives' Secretaries, Inc., holds its meeting Thursday.

Members and guests will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the upstairs main lobby at 402 N. D St., Ontario, for the hospitality hour and a tour of the new bank's facilities. A buffet dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Speaker for the evening will be Carl E. Hartnack, vice chairman of the corporation's board and president and chief operating officer of Security Pacific Bank.

Sorority meeting set

Tau Gamma Kappa sorority members will visit a reading center when the group meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at Sultana School in Upland.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Edward Barnes.

Winter wheat is moving

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor

Plains states are throbbing with a massive and finely-tuned movement of winter wheat to ports and grain elevators.

It's a multi-billion dollar operation that literally means life and death for millions of underprivileged people, especially in Africa and Asia, and economic well-being for farmers, grain companies and haulers.

Towns and cities such as Enid, Hutchinson, Dodge City, Kansas City, Wichita, Omaha, Chicago and ports like Corpus Christi, Houston and New Orleans are some of the hubs. Railroads, trucks and barges move into and through them on their way from the farms to country elevators, the larger terminal elevators, river ports for barging and Gulf ports for exporting. This orchestration of movement eventually extends through the Great Lakes to cities like Buffalo and by rail to Chattanooga and Portland, Ore. which handles much of the exports to Japan.

Unlike 1973, when large and unexpected foreign sales caused some shipping bottlenecks, this year's movement is going well, according to a UPI survey of elevator, railroad and board of trade executives.

The first of an estimated 1.5 billion bushels of winter wheat started moving in late May and early June when the Texas cuttings began. That golden stream will continue to flow northward through America's bread-basket states of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and South Dakota until combines cut the last stand of North Dakota wheat sometime in late July.

Despite drought, tornadoes, winds, rain and some wheat fungus which delayed and hurt the yield in some states, the total wheat harvest, counting the 560 million bushels estimated for the spring crop, will hit a record 2.1 billion bushels. That's 24 per cent higher than last year's record.

About 800 millions of those bushels will go into domestic breads, cereals and other foods; 1.15 billion bushels will be exported; and some 232 million bushels will be added to the nation's reserves thinned by the Russian wheat deal.

Last year at this time, when the railroads were asked to carry what amounted to a two-year harvest because of Russian exports, there were some transportation problems. Aside from the massive tonnage to be hauled, floods in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys forced railroads to carry what normally would have been handled by barges. There was a shortage of freight cars. Ships were late or bunched at the ports. Some grain had to be dumped at sidings or placed under makeshift shelters because there were not enough grain hoppers or elevator storage space.

Elevators have more room because the heavy foreign sales cut grain reserves to 217 million bushels, the lowest since 1953. That stockpile is expected to go up to 449 million bushels by mid-1975.

Some farmers, stung last year when they rushed wheat to market and sold below the $5.85 top bushel price generated by the Russian deal, are holding crops, waiting and gambling on a better price. Wheat futures currently are above the $3.75 per bushel level, about $2.00 lower than last year's top but $1.00 higher than this season's low.

Railroads last year invested $1.4 billion in capital improvements in plant and equipment, including thousands of grain hoppers, and added $500 million in new equipment through leasing. Railroad employment during the first quarter of 1974 was up an average of 10,000 per month over 1973. A lot of that money went into 26,000 covered car hoppers, 100-ton monsters which now carry about two-thirds of all rail-hauled grain.

"I think we have a good chance of getting by better than we have in a long, long time," said J. B. Gregg Sr., first vice president of the Kansas City Board of Trade and a rail expert. "We probably have more empty space than we've had in the last 10 years. There has been a large increase in covered hopper cars from the railroad, and the farmers have more savvy about marketing."

Creek Brock, administrator of the Kansas Wheat Commission at Hutchinson, a big grain hub, says "farmers are studying the market more closely since the Soviet sales. I think they are marketing in an orderly manner and will not sell it all at once."

Leonard Edwards of Union Equity, a huge elevator complex at Enid, Okla., says "the car supply is good so far although there always is the chance of a pinch."

"Freight car availability is in better shape today than at any time in the last 17 months," said Stephen Ailes, president of the Association of American Railroads. "With the current backlog of car orders at its highest level in almost 20 years and with new orders running 43 per cent ahead of last year's high pace, the outlook is very good."

The Santa Fe, Rock Island, Frisco, Missouri Pacific and Katy railroads are major haulers of Texas-Oklahoma wheat. The Union Pacific, Chicago and North Western, the Burlington Northern and the Milwaukee are major rail haulers in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and South Dakota.

"Everything is moving beautifully so far," said a spokesman for the Santa Fe. "Oh, sure, at the peak, when everyone's hollering for space at the same time, we may have a tight fit. But right now we're in the best shape in years."

So are the nations depending on American wheat to fend off malnutrition and starvation.

United Nations officials estimate that up to 500 million children in the world suffer from severe malnutrition. Millions are starving to death, and they depend heavily on American wheat.

Investors frustrated over climbing interest rates

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors, frustrated over a resumption of the interest rate climb, stayed on the sidelines most of the week while prices dropped on the New York Stock Exchange.

Most of them waited to see what First National City Bank of New York, second largest in the nation, would do about the prime rate, that charged key corporate customers.

They got their answer Friday when Citibank raised its lending rate to the prevailing 11 ½ per cent from 11 ¼ per cent. Citibank had lowered the rate recently, touching off the best market gain of the year. The market turned down, however, when it became clear other banks would not follow at this time.

Further indications interest rates would not ease in the near future came when the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported commercial and industrial loan demand soared by $719 million in the latest reporting week. And the Fed has said it intends to maintain a tight credit policy to combat inflation.

There were predictions the prime would go to 13 per cent before peaking, but other observers said they expected to see the rate fall by year-end to around 7 or 8 per cent.

Investor disinterest showed up in the lack of volume for the week. Sales totaled 54,164,170 shares, compared with 58,648,986 the week before and 65,125,449 the year before.

Another disquieting factor was the government report Friday the cost of living index rose 1.1 per cent, indicating inflation still is rampant.

With investors on the sidelines pondering the interest rate situation and inflation, the little activity which occurred was in the blue chips, glamors and special situations.

Texaco was the most active issue, off ¾ to 25 ¼ on 611,200 shares. Virginia Electric & Power was second, off ½ at 9 ½ on 606,900 shares. The utility reported lower earnings recently.

Citicorp, parent company of First National City Bank, was third, off 4 ⅜ to 34 ½ on 576,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 27.70 for the week. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost 3.84 to 87.46, and the NYSE common stock index declined 2.16 to 45.82.

Declines widely outnumbered advances, 1,574 to 213, among the 1,960 issues crossing the tape.

Superior Oil took the worst beating of the week, plunging 19 ¼. Halliburton, an oil service issue, dropped 6 ¼.

IBM fell 9 ¾ in the generally weaker electronics and computer group. Honeywell gave up 8 ⅜, Digital Equipment 7 ⅞, Burroughs 7 and Fairchild Camera 6 ½.

Transportation issues were soft. Norfolk & Western lost 4 ¼, Burlington Northern 2 ⅝, UAL Inc. 3 ⅜ and Delta Airlines 2 ⅝. KLM, National, Northwest Orient and United Aircraft were point-sized losers.

Among the glamors, Xerox lost 7, Corning Glass 6 ⅜, McDonald's 6 ¼ and Upjohn 5 ½.

Chemicals and motors were lower. Eastman Kodak fell 6 ¼, DuPont 3 ⅛, and Ford and General Motors 1 ½ apiece. U.S. Steel added 3 ¼.

Stalking foolproof investment

By CARLTON SMITH

Is there a magic formula, known as "dollar cost-averaging," that enables an investor to come out ahead no matter whether the market goes up or down?

There would appear to be, if you look uncritically at some of the "explanatons" currently being circulated as to how DCA works. They emanate, needless to say, from organizations trying to stir individual investors out of their doldrums, and get that money coming into the market again.

One promotional piece "proves," with charts and figures, that you can turn a profit while the price of your shares is down: "25 per cent gain for dollar cost-averaging investor during a 50 per cent decline!" it exclaims.

And that's mathematically possible — if the price curve is shaped right, with ups and downs in just the right places. Price curves are seldom that obliging.

Watch out for people trying to sell you snake oil. More modest claims for DCA can properly be made, however, and for certain investors it can be a useful guiding hand.

The principle is simple. You invest, at regular intervals, a fixed dollar amount in the shares of your choice.

Let us say, for example, that you decide to begin cost-averaging with shares at $20. You're going to invest $100 every three months, over a two-year period.

For the first six months the price edges up $2 or $3. Then a market decline sets in, and over the next 12 months the price falls 20 per cent. In the last six months, an uptrend carries the price back up to $22.

Make up your own price history, figure out how many shares your periodic investments would have acquired, and their value. Now figure the average price over the two-year period and see how many shares your $800 would have bought at this average price.

You'll frequently find that using the DCA formula would have given you something of an edge over the investor who bought at the averare price — which may seem, to the non-mathematician, a way of getting something for nothing. If you rig the figures just right, you can make DCA look like magic, indeed.

But note, first, that DCA won't add anything to profits in a period when prices are steadily rising. If you knew that was going to happen, your strategy would be to buy as early, as fast and as much as you could.

The trouble is that nobody — but nobody — can tell whether the market is going to go up, or down, or sideways. Many investors have trouble getting this through their heads. They wait for "the right time" to buy, and far more often than not, this turns out to be the wrong time.

A DCA program can be a cure for this, by insuring that the investor plods along through the declines, buying at least some of his shares at low prices, rather than most of them at high prices. But you have to be aware of a couple of large "if"s.

You'll be able to accept and stick with the idea of dollar averaging IF you believe that the long-term, historical upward trend of the market is going to continue, and will resume in the reasonably near future.

And DCA will work IF, and only if, the shares you're buying are the kind that will rise in price when prices generally are rising. That again is something the investor can't really know. Many a solid seeming stock has gone into a dying swan act while the market was booming ahead.

Latch onto one of these losers, and hang on grimly in the belief that DCA will eventually take care of you, and in the words of one broker, "You can dollar-average yourself right out the window."

Thus it can be risky to apply dollar averaging to investing in individual stocks. A DCA plan is based on faith that, while the market does go down, it eventually goes up again. Whatever you're investing in has to move with the market.

For most investors, that means shares in a mutual fund with a broad portfolio of stable stocks, spread well across the market.

There DCA has a good chance of working to your benefit. But magic it's not.

BRIDGET MOFFITT

What do you think the President should do?

What the President should do about gas shortage is not use gas. Tell people if they got horses use them instead of cars. If they don't got horses and got bikes ride them. If you don't have a horse or a bike trade their car for them. Make it so cars are not aloud in the U.S.A. But sometimes I don't think that should be against the law. Because when you need to go to places like a different state you need a car. Because if you ride a bike you will get tired. If you ride a horse your horse will get tired. I think the president is doing pretty good right now.

What do you think the President should do?

I think he should tell the truth about Water Gate and if he is I think he should do a better job of it. I think he should resign to get rite at all the problems of Water Gate. He should lower the price of everything or rise our salarys. The price of food is shooting up like a rocket. He should do something about it.

He should do something about taxes that are shooting up too. They are going up everytime turn around or practically everytime you turn around taxes are going up just like a rocket too. Everytime you go to the market you get less food for higher prices. That what I think a President should do.

Chino

What do you think the President should do?

I think the President should give all evidence necessary to the congressional committees and the courts. If he doesn't, they will be forced to look for evidence elsewhere, perhaps from less reliable sources. The President should try to restore the confidence of the people by opening himself and his office to the people. The people want to know, and have the right to know what goes on in the government.

The president should present more of a friendly and trustworthy image to the people, so that they can trust him. They want to trust him, but it is awfully difficult with the present atmosphere of Watergate.

President Nixon should know exactly what is going on inside his office at all times, and run it himself, so we can prevent another Watergate from occuring. Watergate is an unfortunate mess, but it is not as important as some other things, like peace!

What do you think the President should do?

I think they should give all the President a chance to be President.

Karey Newman
Age 11
Chino

What do you think the President should do?

I think that a President should do good things not bad and if they are running for President and what they said what they would do something they should do it if they don't they are no good. I think a president should try to stop the war and to stop the fighting thats going on and try to stop all the people and high school kids to stop smoken marijuana and drugs this is whats going on in are country. I think a president should try to make people and kides love each other and what I think a president should do.

Evangeline Rouleau
Age 10
Chino

What do you think the President should do?

We all know that Nixon tries to do good stuff but he does some bad stuff. Lincoln was a good man every thing he did every body liked and Washington he fought the Revolutionary War and Kennedy he was a good man. Lets go back to Nixon he should lower the prices or higher the salary of the people who are working and that's my story.

Chautauqua summer festival shines on

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor

Chautauqua—a word that once meant summer fun mixed with cultural uplift for millions of Americans—lives on at Chautauqua, N.Y., where the granddaddy of summer festivals is celebrating its first 100 years as a pioneer in adult education.

The original Chautauqua has survived its namesakes that once spread across the nation and is bigger and better than ever. It has an annual budget of $2.5 million, a summer staff of 500, and a program schedule of nearly 300 events.

Chautauqua's two-month season, which opens June 27, is expected to draw 8,000 resident participants, including 2,000 students enrolled in classes, and a total of 300,000 visitors. A commemorative 10-cent stamp will mark the centennial nationally and a history of Chautauqua has just been published by the University of Chicago Press.

Born as a training camp for Methodist Sunday School teachers on Lake Chautauqua in southwestern New York, Chautauqua opens each weekday with a devotional hour and its Sunday worship service in the 7,000-seat amphitheater is reputedly the largest in the nation.

But faith walks hand in hand with reason and the arts on the 700-acre Chautauqua grounds, which boast both a Hall of Christ and a Hall of Philosophy. A voluminous schedule of popular price symphony, opera and theater presentations, university-credited undergraduate and graduate courses in music, art, dance, theater and the humanities, and a broad sports progrum are the main attractions for Chautauquans.

Platform speakers

Platform speakers, always the meat and potatoes of the Chautauqua movement, include such diverse personalities as psychiatrist Karl Menninger (who also is enrolled as an art student), President Kingman Brewster Jr., of Yale, NAACP leader Roy Wilkins, and Communist theoretician Herbert Aptheker. A well-known lecturer usually draws an audience of 3,000, even at 9:45 a.m.

The centennial's entertainment stars will be opera's Marilyn Horne, Joanna Meier, Richard Tucker, and Robert Merrill, ballet's Allegra Kent, Patricia McBride, and Jacques d'Amboise, instrumentalists Leonard Rose, Earl Wild, George Shearing, and Virgil Fox, and popular musicians Melba Moore, Stan Kenton, Dave Brubeck, Victor Borge, and Peter Nero.

In addition to opera classics— all in English—Chautauquans will hear Hanson's "Merry Mount", Bernstein's "West Side Story," and the world premier of Seymour Barab's "Philip Marshall". Theater offerings range from O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet" to "6 Rooms Riv Vu" of recent Broadway vintage.

Dr. Oscar E. Remick, 41, a right-on theologian and former minister who is president of the institution, believes jeans-clad, guitar-strumming young people flock to the Chautauqua community of Victorian gingerbread houses and hotels because of the very trends in American society that doomed most Chautauquas in the 1930s. One such trend, he said, was secularization, which made biblical faith and contemporary culture mutually exclusive.

Religious awareness

"We now have a reversal of the trend—a new desire to put together in a living way all our values in the arts and other areas of life," Remick said. "Chautauqua doesn't show art for art's sake or provide education for education's sake, but for the sake of the good life. Through culture we are embracing a deep religious awareness of the significance of man's creativity."

He added that the chance of experiencing education and the arts as a community of all ages "where conversation is very open and outspoken" is especially attractive to young people who are used to being segregated by age and relegated to the isolation of television entertainment. In view of this, he said, he is not surprised that there is growing interest in certain areas of the United States in reviving defunct Chautauquas.

"Chautauqua remains an idea whose time has come," Remick is fond of repeating to anyone who will listen.

They listened by the millions —some say nearly 40 million each summer—to that concept in the early part of this century. Imbued with the Chautauqua idea, Americans filled the open-air pavilions and tents that served as forums for national debate to hear the likes of William Jennings Bryan, Booker T. Washington and Billy Sunday, as well as Swiss yodelers, British bellringers, and Russian Cossack choruses.

Booking agents, notably the Redpath Bureau in Chicago, cashed in by supplying 9,597 communities with packaged Chautauquas by means of 100 circuit companies. These companies had a "morally we roll along" cachet and were helped in drumming up audiences by the press and pulpit. Local volunteers formed work crews to spruce up a town before Chautauqua caravans arrived by train, later by truck and auto.

Historical footnotes

Chautauqua had its roots in the widespread Lyceum movement, which pioneered adult off-campus education in America as early as 1826. New York Chautauqua's most important contribution to this education concept was the nation's first book club, sponsored by the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle in 1878.

By 1900, this project was giving a chance to some 10,000 reading circles to acquire college-level learning in the home through a four year course that led to a diploma and even graduation at Chautauqua if desired. The reading list included such serious tomes as "The Strength and Weakness of Socialism" and "Animal and Vegetable Biology."

Chautauqua is rich in historical footnotes. The first extensive use of electricity for lighting was on the Chautauqua grounds by inventor Thomas A. Edison, son-in-law of a Chautauqua founder.

Japanese sword art to go on exhibition

LOS ANGELES — An exhibition of more than 70 masterpieces of Japanese swords and their fittings will go on view at the county Museum of Art July 2.

The swords, tsuba (guards) and mitokoromono (fittings) included in the exhibition range from the 6th to the 19th century.

Japanese swords are universally admired for their artistry and unexcelled craftsmanship. The blade of the Japanese sword consists of a hard cutting edge, flexible sides and a tough resilient core. Its superior metallurgical qualities result from various steels which are forged, folded and reforged many times to produce a combination of steels in thousands of laminated layers. The period of political unrest and constant warfare that followed the end of the Heian period and the rise of the warrior samurai in the Kamakura period (1185-1384) led to radical developments in the Japanese sword. Many excellent examples from this period are included in the exhibition.

Tsuba and other sword fittings will also be on display. Originating with the practical need to protect the hand during combat, tsuba acquired great ornamental importance reflecting the status, personality and aesthetic preferences of the owner. Made of iron, copper, gold, silver and a rich variety of metal alloys, they are embellished with abstract or pictorial designs created by engraved, openwork, relief or inlay methods. To be seen in the exhibition are important examples of openwork designs by early Katsushi masters of the Muromachi period (1392-1573), as well as fine examples of pictorial decoration by such legendary tsuba masters as Kane-ie. From the early Edo period (17th century) tsuba by masters of the Higo school may be seen, as well as important works from the late Edo period by such masters as Goto Ichijo and Otsuki Mitsuoki.

A free brochure prepared by George Kuwayama, senior curator of Far Eastern art, will be available, and free guided tours will be offered Thursdays at 12:30 p.m. "The Art of the Japanese Sword" exhibition can be seen Tuesday through Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and weekends 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through Aug. 18. Admission is free.

Art exhibit being held at library

POMONA — The seventh annual exhibition of art work by Pomona city employes and their families is now on view at the Pomona Public Library. The show continues through July 15

The exhibit includes painting, dimensional media, mixed media, crafts and photography.

The judges, basing their decisions on originality, composition and ingenuity, will ccomplete the judging before the last week of the show.

A $5 cash prize will go to the best in each category, with ribbons going to those placing second and third. A $10 prize will be presented to the best individual piece in the show.

Entries cover the range of oil paintings, crochet and knit items, seed painting, metal sculpture, original wall plaques of various materials, pottery, stitchery and photography. Many of the items will be offered for sale following the show.

COVINA — The Covina Alumnae chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional musical sorority for women, recently presented the Sword of Honor to Miss Audrey Grigsby for "outstanding leadership and contribution to the sorority."

Others taking office were Janelle Poull, first vice president; Lois Holdridge, second vice president; Ruby Dubin, treasurer; Colleen Wilson, recording secretary; Greta Morris, corresponding secretary; Roberta Lamoureux, chaplain, and Frances Marsolais, editor.

COUNTRY CUTUPS — Singin' and a-pickin', this comical quartet of animated animals offers its version of "Polly Wolly Doodle" in the new Disneyland attraction, "America Sings," opening Saturday. More than 100 Audio-Animatronics stars will be featured.

150th birthday

Exhibit celebrates anniversary of England's National Gallery

GREGORY JENSEN

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's National Gallery of Art is celebrating its 150th anniversary this spring with a kind of intellectual striptease.

A birthday exhibition, a special book and frank public statements by Director Michael Levey are ensuring that Britain's premiere art gallery has hardly any secrets left.

The exhibition moves behind the masterpiece-hung scenes to illustrate the work of departments most museums keep hidden—the process of restoration, painstaking scientific detective work, scholarly research and cataloguing.

The companion book unveils many secrets of today's high-finance infighting over high-priced masterpieces. "Failures and Successes" shows not only paintings the gallery gained but those it lost, mostly to the United States.

Frankness traditional

"Our French 18th Century pictures are a thin bunch," he said in a typical comment. "We are surprisingly weak in Dutch still lifes...We lack anything at all by certain very rare great artists."

Such frankness has a long tradition at the National—a 1945 catalogue set a museum trend by openly discussing paintings' flaws.

It is the only major gallery in Europe not based upon a royal collection. It bought its first paintings, and in 1824 began showing them in a borrowed house.

"We opened with only 38 pictures," said Levey, the gallery's top official. "Today there are just about 2,040. That's still a remarkably small holding compared with leading foreign galleries like the Louvre, which owns something like ten times that amount.",

Yet as these birthday celebrations show, the gallery has many pluses to balance the minuses.

"Despite our small numbers, ours is usually agreed to be one of the most balanced of all picture collections in the world," Levey said.

The gallery's building, with its stately colonaded facade filling the north side of Trafalgar Square, is pressed for space. But unlike most museums its attics and cellars don't bulge with unshown works.

"What we have is on show," Levey said. "It's a collection where masterpieces mingle with good, if less sheerly important, other pictures."

The current exhibition, running through June, concentrates less on pictures than on the unseen work of the gallery's 272 staff members.

It shows what's being done to save a large alterpiece by Cima which, "in Venice in 1820," says the catalogue, "fell accidentally into the Grand Canal and has not been the same since."

Pleasure house

It demonstrates the multiple uses of specialized photography, X-ray, ultraviolet, infrared and raking light photography, each keyed to reveal something different about the painting under study.

Levey bubbles ambitiously about educational schemes, special shows and exciting events he wants for the gallery's next few decades.

"I want people to look on the gallery as a pleasure house, not a treasure house," he said. In that sense, not even gaps in the collection matter much. "We are not collecting postage stamps," Levey said.

Two artists to exhibit clothing

CLAREMONT — Fabric artists Jean Ray Laury and Joyce Aiken, co-authors of the book, "Creating Body Coverings," will exhibit their garments and autograph books at the Hidden Village, 215 Yale Ave., from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

They have been documenting the current trend of personalizing clothing by embroidering, dyeing, drawing , and printing, and the recycling of garments, making lace tablescloths, neckties, and salvage store treasures into shirts, skirts, tunics and caftans. The book shows people from many parts of the contry in body coverings they have made, ranging from elaborate and dramatic cloaks to a total tattoo job.

Several artists from this area are represented. Ruth Law of Claremont stuffed a pair of opera length kid gloves and clasped the fingers to form a belt. Mark Law crocheted an umbrella, which he calls "a sunbrella not a rainbrella," and a full length sleeping bag with a hood, which he calls a "napsack." Joanna Gray, who teaches art at Claremont High School, made hats, belts and neckties of peanuts. Her students painted their old tennis shoes into lively op art, taking canvas painting into new paths. Linda Allen, also a teacher in the Claremont High School art department, is represented by a full length macrame dress. Elizabeth Fuller's batik on organdie is also shown.

Miss Laury and Miss Aiken, co-owners and teachers at Everywoman's Studio in Fresno, are also authors of "Handmade Rugs," "Applique Stitchery," "Quilts and Coverlets," and "Dollmaking."

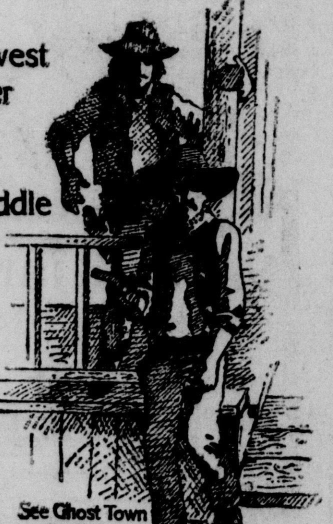
Art club to install officers

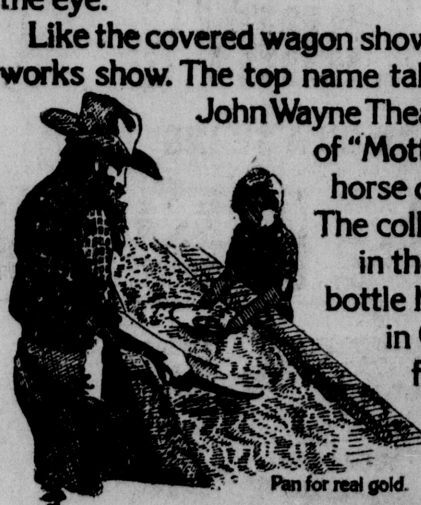
CHINO — Alberta Cook will be installed as president of the Chino Art Association at a meeting at the Chino Community Building at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

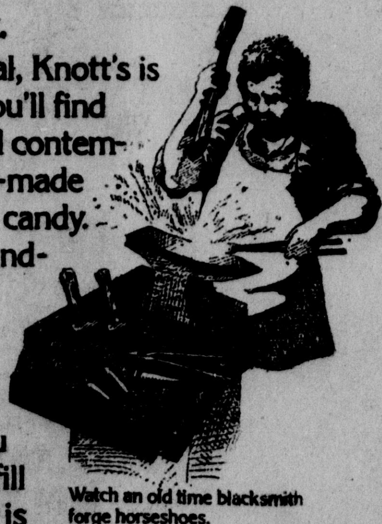
Also taking office will be Mary Royce, first vice president; Carol Joy, second vice president; Ethel Sweet, recording secretary; Mrs. Courtney Hermann, corresponding secretary; Ann Stone, treasurer; Sandra Berger, publicity chairman, and Joyce Wassilchalk, gallery chairman.

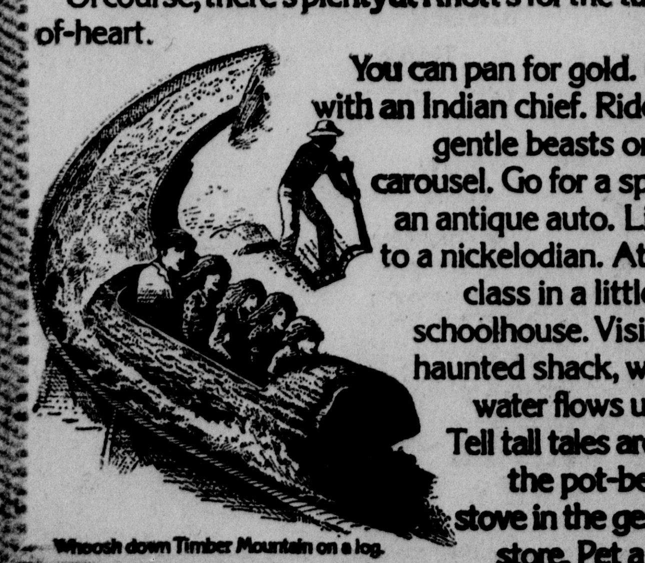
Artist-teacher Berniece Kelley, president of the Southern California Community Artists, will give a demonstration of portrait painting at the meeting. The public is invited.

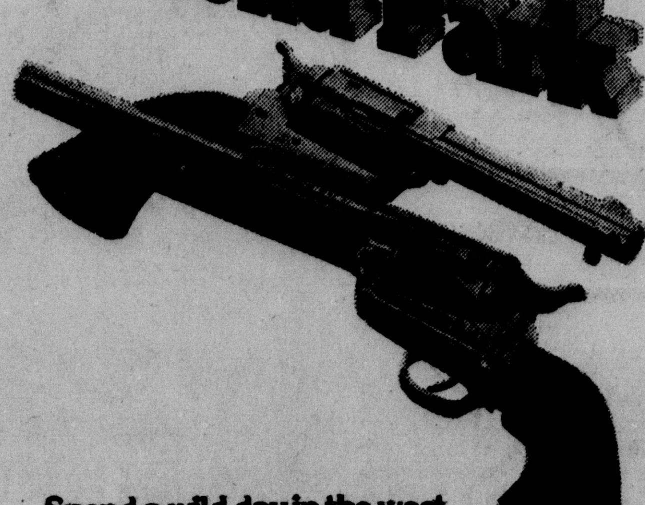
Mrs. Kelley attended the Bisttram School of Fine Arts and the Otis Art Institute and studied under several prominent artists. She has had several one-man shows and taken part in numerous group exhibits throughout Southern California. Among her various awards was first prize in the genre category in the 10th annual open show of the San Gabriel Fine Arts Association recently. She teaches portraiture, still life and floral paining.











Knott's Wild Animal Follies, produced and hosted by Ralph Helfer of "Daktari" and "Gentle Ben" fame, features wild animals live and uncaged on stage.

The wildest shows in the west.
Every day at Knott's.

Walk into Knott's Ghost Town and you're in the middle of a shoot 'em up showdown between a sheriff and two "funfighters".

Or sit timidly in your seat during Knott's Wild Animal Follies—while steps away panthers, brahma bulls and other beasts prowl the stage live and uncaged! A lion leaps toward you. A husky man wrestles a 500 lb. bear.

See Ghost Town "Funfighters".

You shoot the rapids on Knott's Timber Mountain log ride—plummeting through darkened underground caverns and plunging down a rocky spillway.

Then you board a mine train to creak and clatter your way deep into the earth, making a run for the tunnel mouth as dynamite goes off behind you.

Taming of the west.

Of course, there's plenty at Knott's for the tamer-of-heart.

You can pan for gold. Chat with an Indian chief. Ride the gentle beasts on the carousel. Go for a spin in an antique auto. Listen to a nickelodian. Attend class in a little red schoolhouse. Visit the haunted shack, where water flows uphill. Tell tall tales around the pot-bellied stove in the general store. Pet a goat or llama in Knott's animal farm. Watch the Mexican folk dancers and tap your toe to the rhythm of the "guitaron".

Whoosh down Timber Mountain on a log.

Looking at Knott's.

Like the covered wagon shows. The mighty fireworks show. The top name talent in the Knott's John Wayne Theater. The tiny world of "Motts Miniatures". The horse drawn fire engines. The collection of carriages in the livery stable. The bottle house and the girls in Goldie's Place. The flamingoes and the peacocks and the roosters running loose. The glass blower with his bubbles and the blacksmith with his sparks and steel.

Pan for real gold.

Shop talk.

If you love the unusual, Knott's is a great place to shop. You'll find antique fire engines and contemporary cut glass. Home-made pickles and hand-made candy. Imported gowns and hand-carved leathergoods.

Eat your fill.

If you're famished at Knott's Berry Farm, you have a dozen places to fill your tummy. Best of all is Mrs. Knott's own chicken dinner restaurant. (Been bringing folks back to Knott's for 40 years.) Then there's the steak house, the cable-car kitchen and a host of snack shops. Old-fashioned hot pretzel and popcorn stands are everywhere at Knott's.

Watch an old time blacksmith forge horseshoes.

Show up at Knott's. Any day or night. You'll enjoy the wildest shows in the west...and then some.

Television actors seek pay raise

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The very center of the storm" is not a new television soap opera. It is the phrase used by the actor's union to describe what they get paid for television reruns.

The Screen Actor's Guild—representing movie and television actors and actresses from the poor and obscure to millionaire stars—began mailing out strike authorization ballots Wednesday to its 27,000 members.

The union is currently in negotiations with the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers and the three major television networks — ABC, NBC and CBS— for a new contract, with a July 1 deadline.

The union wants a 25 per cent increase in minimum pay— currently $483 a week—plus a payment of 100 per cent of the original salary every time a show is rerun on television in prime time.

The current contract calls for 50 per cent of the minimum scale, plus 15 per cent of salary above the minimum, for the first rerun, with lower payments for each subsequent showing, down to 15 per cent of the minimum.

Union leaders said that in 1966, its members earned $40.5 million, but last year, despite the inflation of the past eight years, they made only $37.3 million.

At the same time, television network profits have increased 244 per cent in the past three years as the number of original programs decreases and the amount of prime time reruns increase, said Chester Migden, the union's national executive secretary.

The union went on strike four years ago.

Migden said that despite the image of wealthy Hollywood stars, 85 per cent of SAG's members make less than $3,500 a year as actors. Only 3 per cent make more than $25,000 a year, he said, and only .5 per cent—143 members—are in the star class of more than $100,000 a year.

Billy Hunt, executive vice president of the producers association and chief management negotiator, said talks had been cordial so far, "with no bareknuckle bargaining or acrimony" and he expected settlement without a strike.

The union said it is urging members of the public to complain to the Federal Communications Commission about the number of television reruns, encouraging the FCC to limit reruns to 25 per cent of prime time programming.

Covina band to present first concert

COVINA — The Covina Concert Band, under the direction of founder-conductor Charles L. King, will present its first concert of the summer in the bandshell of the Covina city park at 8 p.m. Thursday. Admission is free.

The band will present a free concert every Thursday evening throughout the summer. The Covina Festival of Music will start July 18 and will run for 13 consecutive evenings closing July 30. The 60-piece band, in its 19th year, is sponsored by the City of Covina and is part of the Tri-Community Adult Education program.

The first Covina Concert Band was formed in 1890 and after a number of years of activity was disbanded. When King arrived from Canada he proposed that the band be revived. This was done in 1957, and the band has been steadily growing in quality.

More than 1,500 people attend each of the evening concerts throughout the summer. The highlight of the season is the Covina Festival of Music when orchestras and bands from other cities may be heard.

Financial support of this program is by the City of Covina and friends or patrons of the band. Any one wishing to become active in its administrative activities or wishing to support by becoming a patron may call the Covina Band office at (213) 331-8113 or may write to the Covina Concert Band, College Street, City Hall, Covina.

Find mummified body of woman on hotel roof

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The mummified body of a woman has been found on the roof of a downtown hotel, according to the police.

Detectives said the woman, whose body had been stuffed into a military duffel bag, apparently had been murdered.

A tenant of the hotel in the city's Tenderloin section discovered the body while looking for used bottles.

ON HER TOES — Violette Verdy will be one of the principal dancers during the Greek Theater engagement of the New York City Ballet Aug. 12-24. The company will present four different programs, including the West Coast premieres of nine ballets.

Tickets now on sale for N.Y. ballet

LOS ANGELES — Tickets are now on sale at the box office of the Greek Theater for all attractions of the summer season.

The season will open July 9 with Harry Belafonte and his International Company, playing nightly through July 15.

Barry White, Love Unlimited and the Love Unlimited Orchestra perform July 16 through 21, followed by the Smothers Brothers for three performances on July 25, 26 and 27. July 29 through Aug. 4 the O'Jays and guest star, Bobby Womack, will appear.

Aug. 5 through 10, the Greek Theater Association will present the National Theater of Great Britain's production of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" coming direct to the West Coast from London.

Making its 10th appearance in the Greek Theater, the New York City Ballet with its full complement of stars, will be seen in four different programs, including West Coast premieres of nine ballets, Aug. 12 through 24.

The box office will be open every day, Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., and on Sunday, noon to 7 p.m. Mail orders for all performances are being accepted at the theater.

British musician to perform at Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — British conductor Raymond Leppard, principal conductor of the BBC Northern Symphony Orchestra, will direct the Los Angeles Philharmonic and perform as harpsichordist in a "Festival of 17th and 18th Century Music" in the Hollywood Bowl at 8 p.m. July 3, 5 and 6.

July 3 will be devoted to concertos for one, two, three and four harpsichords with orchestra by J.S. Bach, and to music by John Dowland. Leppard will be at the first harpsichord with William Tim Read, John Steele Ritter and Susanne Shapiro collaborating on the other keyboards.

On July 6, Leppard will conduct the Philharmonic and the Roger Wagner Chorale in the first American performance of Cavalli's "Messa Concertata," and American mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade will sing arias by Cavalli and Monteverdi on a program that will begin with brass music by Gabrieli.

The concert on July 5 will be devoted to music by Mozart Symphony No. 25 in G Minor and Symphony No. 38 in D, arias from "Le Nozze di Figaro" and "La Clemenza di Tito" sung by Miss von Stade, and the Concerto in C Minor, with Los Angeles-born pianist Stephen Bishop as soloist.

Jazz classics finding new life with country-western treatment

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Careless Love" and "Muskrat Ramble" rightfully are associated with the jazz music that began in New Orleans but like all good tunes they can fit neatly into other styles.

They are easily adaptable, for instance, to country music.

"Careless Love" is one of the songs in a blue grass album, "Glen Neaves & The Virginia Mountain Boys" (Folkways FA 3830). It is played by Neaves on fiddle, Cullen Galyean on banjo and Bobby Harrison on guitar. Neaves, who has a fine nasal twang, also doubles on vocals.

If you like the real blue grass sound, Neaves and his musicians can offer more than half an hour of music that is down to earth.

Needs No Frills

Since the banjo is the heart of blue grass, Galyean is called on to perform some finger gymnastics. Although Galyean does not profess to be a virtuoso, he plays the banjo in a clod kicking style that needs no frills.

Ivor Melton, the fourth man in the quartet, is featured on the mandolin and he adds a light ingredient to the music.

At the time this recording was made, the Virginia Mountain Boys were not fulltime musicians so this session has a feeling of spontaneity about it.

Among the tunes in addition to "Careless Love" are "Poor Ellen Smith," a classic blue grass song; "What a Friend We Have in Mother," a sligttly different version from the religious song; "Nigger Trader," a lament which refers to the plight of a black man who is separated from his family in a slave trade deal, and "Barbara Allen."

Happy Ending

"Muskrat Ramble" was written as a jazz tune by one of the earlier practitioners of New Orleans jazz, Kid Ory. It has probably been played more than any jazz classic during the past 50 or so years. Even so, it is not alien in a country setting.

It is one of the selections in "The Atkins and Travis Traveling Show" (RCA APL1-0479). Co-starring Chet Atkins and Merle Travis, the album is a fine endeavor by two of the best known guitarists in the country.

Hats are 'in' for fall

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The always optimistic millinery industry says hats off to a hats-on fall and winter.

"Business is booming," reported the Millinery Institute of America, the trade and promotion organization. "Ladies' hats capped a triumphant year of renewed popularity ... and moved into the fall season with a range of completely new moods and silhouettes."

New moods include the soft, crushable knit types with big matching mufflers, scarves, and boas, and the return of brims in all shapes and widths.

Number one among the brims is the snap, pulled down so far over the face that walking will be hazardous unless a woman holds her head high. By contrast, there is the off-face brim, still wide, and the soft brim, rippled instead of stiff-looking.

The institute, using a floor show type of musical presentation, previewed the new styles Wednesday afternoon for fashion editors visiting New York for a rundown of all the next winter's ready-to-wear trends.

Its heady forecast followed several years in which sales were in the doldrums while women went bareheaded. Hats go it alone or in combination with coordinated jacket, scarf, bag or muff. Here, fake furs, felts and feather treatments predominate.

The firm of Veaumont featured cable-stitch knits in crushable caps with long, bulky scarves. Some fitted down to the forehead, other shapes were off the face. Albrizio showed a brimmed, fedora type hat with boa falling to the hemline plus a big muff, all done in beige feathers.

Casual was the word for many of the hats —easy to pack, crushable and aimed for the girl on the go. Among the handsomer numbers were the ruby red velvet snood from Mr. Martin and Adolfo's eyecovering snap brim with crocheted crown in white.

Casual and sporty looking too were the fedoras, copied from the men's wear classic, but softened and done mostly in felt for women. Shapes varied from Mr. John's giant fedora with stiffened brim in moss green to Jack McConnell's small brimmed fedora in white felt with rhinestone-studded band.

The big fur hats were not so plentiful as they have been in previous seasons. But for the woman determined to have one there was Mr. Laurence's outsize beret in natural sable.

Daytime colors tended to the muted tones —rust and soft green —and all white. There were a few blacks for day but many for evening, usually jewelled.

BOOMING BUSINESS, predicted by milliners this fall, includes these fashions, from left, red jersey turban, white cloche, snood in ruby red velvet and washable, and cable-stitch knits.

Hypertension can be controlled—doctor

Dr. Marvin Moser, addressing doctors attending the symposium on high blood pressure, did the urging. He is assistant clinical professor of medicine, Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Bronx, N.Y.

He said high blood pressure can be controlled in most patients, and complications such as kidney and heart failure and stroke prevented — if patients can be encouraged to seek treatment and stay on medications.

To reach this goal, he stressed the need for a simple, practical approach to treatment.

Dr. Moser further recommended that physicians follow-up hypertensive patients, including those who do not require medication.

Patients sometimes discontinue treatment because they are unaware of the risks involved, or they have no symptoms, or there is inadequate followup by the physician, or treatment is too expensive, or drugs produce unpleasant side effects, it was noted.

Side effects are not a problem in the majority of patients, according to the doctor.

He described situations in which the drug treatment is tailored to the individual patient. In mild cases, when there is no organ of the body involved, and in early treatment of some other cases, an oral diuretic and rauwolfia or both of these drugs and hydralazine are the "treatment of choice," the physician noted.

Most patients have to be kept on some medication for the rest of their lives to keep the blood pressure under control.

The symposium was co-sponsored by the New York Medical College; Westchester Academy of Medicine; Westchester County Medical Society; Westchester Heart Association; and CIBA Pharmaceutical Co., as part of its Medical Horizons Postgraduate Education Series.

Dr. Moser stated that the average patient with untreated elevated blood pressure has a life expectancy that is nine years less than the one with normal blood pressure.

Insomniac victims offered sleep suggestions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rattling around the house at three in the morning, looking for something to read that might lull me to sleep, I came across a magazine that offered a myriad of solutions.

A bit bleary-eyed but cheerfully may I pass them along to the insomniac victims of this mysterious malady. Ones I know include the woman artist who says she's up at three just popping with ideas and the news executive who says he's awake at 1:30 and 2:00 every morning and would go on to work if there were a commuter train at the time.

At any rate, the current "Modern Maturity" offers a variety of "recipes for sleep."

Nice to know they call us "clever, creative people who simply cannot—or will not—let their minds stop working."

But, it adds, "There are ways to retrain the too-active mind."

Sample: Before going to bed, do a little exercise, some stretching at least. Get into a full warm tub, or take a cold foot bath...pop into bed, drink herb tea.

Once horizontal, breath deeply three or four times, holding the last breath as long as you can; repeat several times. Lying on your back, slowly and precisely concentrate on your feet. Say to yourself, "My feet are heavy." Think of each part of your body in the same way— legs, stomach, chest, arms, neck and so on.

"If you have thoroughly concentrated, you can fall asleep immediately."

No counting sheep in the magazine's recipes but it says "if you are still resisting, mentally write the number three—as slowly as you can— three times. You should be fast asleep seconds later."

In the food intake recommendations, "Modern Maturity" says that calcium and Vitamin D are nature's most readily available nightcaps. Warm a glass of whole or skim milk, add a tablespoon of honey. The calcium tranquilizes; the honey helps the body retain fluids "thus keeping the kidneys from alerting you during the night."

"Many herbs are used as nightcap teas," says the author, Dian Dincin Buchman. "...Peppermint tea is delicate and aromatic. Chamomile tea is a traditional tranquilizer.

"Aromatic woodruff can greatly improve, even prolong, one's sleep. To make the tea, use hot—not boiling water. Sage tea plus honey brings on a sense of calm.

"We had a 'sleep jar' when I was a child that contained a teaspoon of sage and rosemary to every two tablespoons of peppermint; use one teaspoon of the combined herbs for a cup of tea....

"The Germans use ground anise with honey in warm milk as their bedtime drink. The Dutch use a tablet of aniseed in a glass of hot milk. Grated nutmeg, lemon and boiling water can be used.

"Did your grandmother have a sleep pillow — a tiny herb cushion covered with gay fabric? These are good for invalids and anyone in need of extra help in sleeping.

"Crush the dried leaves of lavender, rosebuds, or any pleasant smelling herbs. Add a fixative and enclose it all in two (big) handkerchiefs...Make a washable pillowcase of colorful fabric. Pin to the bed pillow ticking."

The chronic insomniac is willing to try any cure, I find, including the mental attitude that "Well, if I really needed the sleep, I'd get it."

But whatever the solution or solutions, all are preferable to the habituating sleeping pill. On with the chamomile!

Clubwomen!

Special forms are due

Valley Women, a supplement of the Progress-Bulletin highlighting activities off all women's clubs in the valley, will be published July 23.

Madame President will your club be included?

Fact sheets, sent out May 16 to club presidents or publicity chairmeen, are due by the end of this week if they are to be included in the special edition.

If any club has not received the form to be filled out, an officer of the organization should contact the Progress-Bulletin women's editor, Mrs. Mary Remillard, at the newspaper, 622-1201, this week.

The annual edition will carry interviews with the four Woman Achievers for the valley who were selected rently by a panel of judges, in addition to the stories of almost 200 women's clubs.

WIC chapter books talk by mayor

A 6:30 p.m. social hour will precede the 7 p.m. dinner at Griswold's Inn, Claremont.

The nominating committee will offer the slate of officers for ensuring year. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Bruce Allyn, 622-9961.

PRINTED PATTERN

Day-night pyjamas

SLITHER INTO the newest fashion for day or evening — soft, silky party pyjamas plus a bare-back halter. The Original of Printed Pattern A512 by Rona is a thin, langorous nylon jersey that weighs only a few ounces, and falls beautifully against the body. The trio is great in one brilliant print, or solid plus stripe combination. There's no draping to that halter top — it's shaped to fall beautifully into folds at the top when you put it on. For a more casual look, consider also polyester knit or denim-look cotton.

Printed Pattern A512 is available in Misses' Sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 12 (bust 34) jacket, pants, halter require 7/8 yards 60-inch fabric.

Please send $1.25 for Printed Pattern A512 to The Progress-Bulletin, Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York, N.Y. 10011. (Add 25c for each pattern for First Class Mail and Special Handling.) Please Print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZIP, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Becker-Miller rites solemnized in church

The Rev. Joseph O'Carroll performed the double-ring rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Miller of Montclair and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Becker of Upland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of eyelet lace designed with a ruffled high neckline, yoke and long sleeves. A ruffle trimmed the hemline. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink baby tea roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Brenda Gray was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Laura Becker, sister of the groom, and Miss Lora Lundberg.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Trgzinski and John Babinec, aunt and uncles of the bride, from New Jersey and Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Todd from Lake Tahoe.

New market service will aid builders with impact reports

POMONA — The Southern California Gas Co. has initiated a new market service to provide builders with information needed to prepare environmental impact reports required by city, county and state agencies.

F.B. Wilson, district manager, said the Environmental Planning Information Service was created to help a builder and his staff to become better acquainted with a community before starting a project there. The service is offered to builders at no cost.

The program involves collecting a variety of data and information requested by a builder on any given community within the gas company's Southern and Central California service area.

Material is supplied in the form of an environmental planning information book. It includes items on the city structure, list of incumbent officials, city and county maps, city organization chart, lists of the city's cultural amenities and a community activities report by the chamber of commerce.

In addition, an economic profile of the community and copies of the city's general plan, redevelopment plans, zoning maps and zoning ordinances are included.

A majority of the information provided, however, is directed at assisting the builder in preparing his environmental impact report, said Wilson.

Included is specific information for the mandatory elements of the general plan required by state law, such as circulation, conservation, land use, noise abatement, open space and seismic safety.

Additonal information is given for the permissive elements, such as community design, public service facilities, recreation and transportation.

The book also has a special section which details the gas company's CONCERN energy conservation program and its computerized cost study program.

"These are included to help the builder assure the most efficient energy uses in his proposed project," he noted.

The gas company has already prepared information files on 120 communities, extending from Buttonwillow near Bakersifield to the larger cities within Los Angeles and Orange counties.

The utility met 80 builder requests for information, said Wilson. Builders wanting information should contact their gas company representative.

Catalog features home improvements

POMONA — The renewed interest in do-it yourself home improvements is reflected in Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s fall and winter catalog now being distributed to 16 million families in the U.S.

Due to the energy crunch and current inflationary economic trends, more people are seeking to save gas and money by spending more of their leisure time within their homes, said company officials. As a result, they are placing more importance on creating a home that accommodates their person tastes as well as shelter needs while enhancing their property values.

And since many homes are sprouting anti-inflationary gardens, it includes a number of products for preparing and preserving produce, such as canning supplies, "Meals-in-Minutes" boilable storage bags and compact freezers for additional storage space.

It also has nine pages of ready-to-finish furniture that can be antiqued, stained or painted to fit any decor.

Origin of brandy

Orchard Lane planned for the family

UPLAND — Homes in the Orchard Lane condominium development here were planned for families. It includes a heated swimming pool, therapy pool, cabana and children's playground.

And the home interiors feature wall-to-wall carpeting, tailored draperies, luminous kitchen ceilings and built-in kitchen appliances such as ranges, continuous cleaning ovens, dishwashers and disposals.

All laundry facilities are located within the homes. In addition, some homes have wood burning fireplaces. Wood shake roofs are standard and patios have electrical outlets and exterior lighting installed.

The development is having a close-out phase of its two bedroom units, priced from $19,990. These include air conditioning. The sales information center and furnished model homes are open daily.

To reach the project, persons may take the San Bernardino Freeway to Mountain Avenue, go north to Seventh Street and then west to the homes.

Dusty uniforms

Khaki is a Hindustani word meaning "dust." British troops during the Indian Mutiny of 1857-8, dyed their white drill uniforms with curry powder or the mud and dust (khak) available, for camouflage. A permanent khaki dye was later developed for the drill uniforms, and its name was adopted by other armies.

PLAN NO. 31156
1777 SQUARE FEET

House plan centers on modern comfort

Here is a home which is packed with about every conceivable item and feature that will contribute toward modern ease and comfort and will assure delightful living for every member of the family.

The handsome Contemporary exterior has wooden frames surrounding the windows in the front elevation and vertical columns of stone veneer.

To the left of the entry is the living room which faces the street but from which there is access to the rear patio and yard through the sliding glass doors in the dining ell. To the right of the entry is a huge family room which has a view toward both the front and rear of the house. This room is completely open to the kitchen so as to form one spacious area where informal living can really be appreciated.

Highlights of the kitchen are an eating nook for family meals and an abundant amount of storage space including broom and pantry closets. Another closet opens to the family room.

This design requires only a small amount of hall space. A washer and dryer closet open to the hall. This feature eliminates the necessity of carrying both dirty and clean clothes from one end of the house to another. Both baths have twin pullman lavatories.

This same exterior, plus a Spanish exterior, are also available in a four bedroom floor plan, at a different price structure, and are illustrated in the book. Town & Country Homes.

Complete working drawings for plan 31156 can be purchased for only $12.67 for the first set and $6.36 for each additional set ordered at the same time. This plan will be available at these special prices until October 23, 1974. Please allow two to three weeks for delivery. A specification booklet is available for $1.06. A large reproduction rendering of the exterior is available for $1.06. The following home plan books are also available: Distinctive Homes—$1.33; Prize Homes—$1.33; Hallmark Homes—$1.33; Town & Country Homes — $1.33; Homes by Hiawatha—$1.33; Ranch & Modern Homes — $2.12. All six books—an $8.77 value—for only $6.89.

Orders for less than three books, please add an extra 20 cent per book for postage and handling. Prices include sales tax. Send all orders to: Hiawatha Estes, P.O. Box 404—Northridge, Calif. 91324.

Hawkins has franchise director

ORANGE — Rush Williams of Herbert Hawkins Realtors has been appointed director of franchise and will direct the firm's expansion into Colorado and other states.

He recently accompanied Herbert Hawkins, firm president, to Denver where they completed a franchise agreement with First American Realty of Colorado which has six sales offices.

Williams said the realty firm has developed a new concept in real estate franchising and he plans to promote this in Colorado with later expansion planned for other western states.

Broker-affiliates receive training, recruiting facilities, regional headquarters, supply center, advertising, national and local marketing programs and all full services of the Hawkins firm, he added.

The Colorado expansion will open up a new area of recreational, retirement and resport properties to California residents, said Williams.

Prior to his new position, Williams had served as regional director. His office will continue to be located at the Hawkins regional headquarters at The City Financial Center in Orange.

Additions, repairs top construction

MONTCLAIR — Residents here continued last month repairing and adding on to their existing homes.

For May, a total of 104 permits were issued for a combined valuation of $109,731. This boosted the totals so far sidential structures, six, $3,586; and signs, 10, no valuation.

Other permits and valuations include:

Single family home, one, $22,000; industrial building, $16,200; structures other than buildings, six, $3,103; swimming pools, three, $15,600; additions and alterations to nonresidntial structures, six, $3,586; and signs, 10, no valuation.

The single family home, with an attached garage, is located at 9995 Ramona Ave. It is owned by the Acoustics, Inc., of Alhambra.

3 young dope addicts slain in gunbattle

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police shot and killed three young heroin addicts recently and arrested a 16-year-old student in a running gunbattle and chase through a suburban banana plantation.

A police spokesman said a police lieutenant was hit in the abdomen by a .22 caliber bullet during the gunbattle with the addicts. He was reported in serious condition following emergency surgery in a hospital.

Police said the battle in the residential Phrakhanong area erupted when patrolmen were told that five youths had been seen smoking heroin in the plantation.

One of the youths escaped, police said.

Firm reports shock hazard 'possibility'

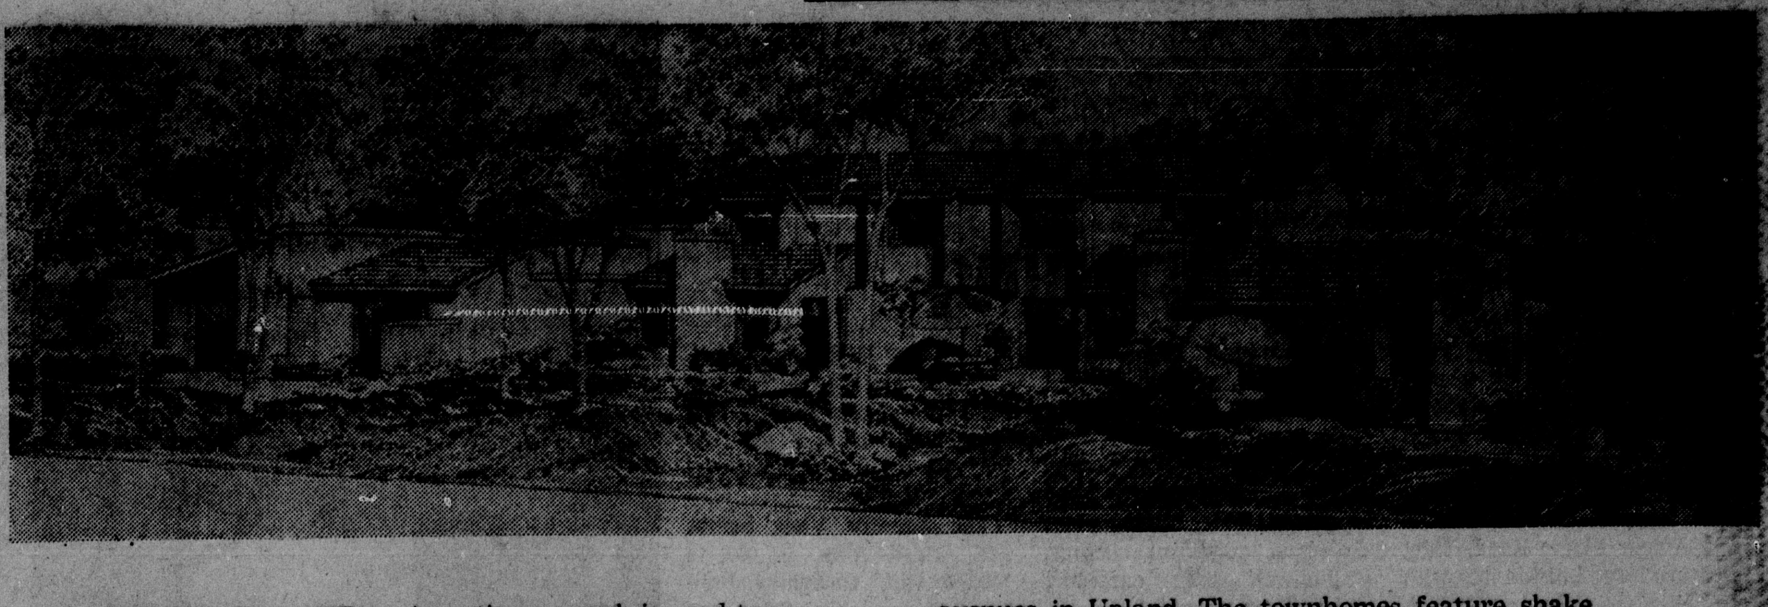
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Whirlpool Corp. has notified the government that some of its trash compactors might pose a shock hazard because of an improperly assembled power cord.

The company warned the Consumer Product Safety Commission of what it called a possible problem. It said it did not know how many of the units are on the market or in possession of consumers.

The Benton Harbor, Mich., firm said that 619 of the units with the potential problem were turned out at its plant in Danville, Ky.

The model number on the units is SAC301P, but the serial numbers were not available.

Whirlpool said it discovered the problem during an assembly line inspection. The units involved retail for about $230 each. The commission has not yet determined whether the problem represents a substantial hazard under its rules.



MOUNTAIN GATE — A rustic approach is used to establish an Early California atmosphere at the Mountain Gate condominiums at 13th and Mountain avenues in Upland. The townhomes feature shake roofs to enhance the development's overall appeal. Prices start at $34,995.

In Walnut:

Country View project holds grand opening

WALNUT — Country View Homes, described as a new "community within a community," will hold its grand opening here today.

The 70 single family homes are located on La Puente Road near Pierre Road. They feature large hillside lots with views of the Pomona and Walnut valleys.

Buyers have a choice of four floor plans and 12 exterior elevations, three or four bedrooms and two or three bathrooms. Many two story homes have spiral staircases. The homes have from 1,478 to [illegible],332 square feet of living area.

Features include kitchens with gas ranges and continuous cleaning ovens, luminous with gas ranges and minious ceilings, disposals, dishwashers, custom cabinets, ceramic tile kitchen countertops and a special pass-through window to the patio area.

Other amenities are formal dining areas, fireplaces, family rooms, dens, sliding glass doors, cathedral ceilings, wall-to-wall shag carpeting and two-car garages.

Some plans include special bonsus rooms which can be used as extra family recreation areas or additional bedrooms. Wet bars are also offered as options.

Use of high quality insulation in walls and ceilings along with gas appliances for cooking, water and comfort heating helped qualify the La Solana Corp. development for Southern California Gas Co.'s "Concern" award.

This is awarded to builders who incorporate energy saving insulation and gas appliances in new residential construction.

The Country View homes are priced from $37,000 to $46,500 with conventional financing available. Sales are being handled by the Herbert Hawkins Co.

Zoroastrians diminishing; only 25,000 left in Iran

By JOHN ARDAGH

London Financial Times-UPI

YAZD, Iran —This dusty town on the edge of the great central desert is today the remaining stronghold of Iran's dwindling minority of 25,000 Zoroastrians. Here, 6,000 of them co-exist with some 60,000 Muslims.

The Muslims have their splendid mosques with brightly colored ceramic; the Zoroastrians, a gentle and civilized people, have their simple fire-temple where they worship Ahuramazda, the all-wise spirit of light —as they did in the days of Cyrus the Great when theirs was the national religion of the mighty Persian Empire.

Just outside the town are two lonely towers with ancient brick walls against a backdrop of bleak mountains. These are two of the famous "dakmes" or "towers of silence'' where Zoroastrians traditionally put their dead.

Their belief has always been that the dead human body must not defile the sacred elements of earth, fire and water, and so must neither be buried, cremated, nor put in the sea. So it is cleansed, wrapped in a shroud and left on the open roof of an isolated tower to gradually decompose.

No non-believer is ever allowed inside the towers. Some of them, in rural parts of Iran, are still in use. But these two at Yazd, like others in the big cities of Tehran and Isfahan, are empty save for bleaching bones.

The leader of the local Zoroastrians, a kindly man who works in a sugar factory, was happy to explain why the towers are no longer used. First, he said, some Muslim fanatics violated their secrecy by flying over them in helicopters and taking ghoulish photos which Tehran newspapers then published to discredit the Zoroastrians. Then some medical students climbed into the towers at night and removed some of the bones to use for their studies —a prank in doubtful taste.

In face of this, the Zoroastrians of Iran gracefully conceded that their custom was untenable in the modern world. They agreed to bury their dead. At the foot of the Yazd towers is a new cemetery with rows of neatly tended graves.

Most of the time, the Zoroastrians co-exist very easily with Iran's Islamic majority. The Shah himself supports and protects them since, among other things, theirs is the true original religion of his country.

Zoroaster, its founder, lived in Persia about 1,000 years before Christ. He saw the universe as a battleground of the two great opposing forces of good and evil. Fire, the divine purity, was the symbol of good. For many centuries his religion held sway in Persia.

The Three Wise Men who came to Bethlehem were three of its high priests or hagi. Then in the 7th century A.D., when the Arab invasions converted most of Persia to Islam, some Zoroastrians fled to India where they survive today, around Bombay.

Others managed to hold out inside Persia, or Iran is it is now called. Today they form a tight-knit community that in its gentleness and strong belief in simple goodness is mindful of Quakers in Britain or North America. The religion embraces the minimum of ritual and the maximum of common sense. Its precepts: Good thoughts, good words, good deeds.

The Zoroastrian community today is respected in Iran, but very much on the defensive. Its numbers are dwindling, yet members still are not interested in making converts.

Travelers must learn currency restrictions

By MURRAY J. BROWN

UPI Travel Editor

Americans planning to travel abroad would do well to learn something about the regulations concerning the import and export of currencies in the countries on their itinerary.

Ignorance is no legal excuse and violations could result in confiscation of funds, fines and, in some cases, imprisonment.

Regulations vary almost from country to country and include provisions for written or oral declarations, limitation on funds brought in or taken out, and outright prohibition on the import or export of national currency.

The recently enacted Foreign Transactions Reporting Act, for instance, requires all persons entering or leaving the United States to report to Customs officials if they are carrying more than $5,000 in money or monetary instruments. The latter includes travelers checks, money orders and investment securities in bearer form.

Italy Sets Limits

The U.S. Customs Service emphasizes, however, that there is no limit on the amount of such funds the traveler can take out or bring in, unlike the restrictions imposed by other countries.

The latest country to impose limitations is Italy. Beginning in April, travelers may enter or leave with no more than 20,000 lire. The move is designed to build up Italy's badly depleted foreign exchange reserves.

There is no limitation on the amount of other currencies which may be brought into Italy or most other countries in Europe, Asia or elsewhere.

Countries which have limitations on their money include Bangladesh (20 taka), Israel (200 pounds), Peru (1,000 soles), Japan (100,000 yen) and Iran (200,000 rials).

Deposit Required

Hungary allows visitors to bring in or take out up to 200 forints. But the Soviet Union and other Communist countries prohibt both the import and export of Russian rubles, Bulgarian leva, Czech koruny, East German marks, Polish zlotys and Romanian lei as the case may be.

It's against the law, too, to bring in or take out Albanian leks, Burmese kyata, Egyptian pounds, Indian rupees, and Indonesian rupiahs.

Incidentally, if the itinerary includes Poland any zlotys that are not spent must be deposited at border points on departure and can be collected only on the next visit within a year at any custom office upon presentation of the receipt.

Yugoslavia allows travelers to bring in up to 500 dinars but in notes no larger than 50 dinars. On the other side of the world, New Zealand has no limitations on the import of its currency but bills must be no bigger than $5 while Fiji will not exchange more than $12 in Fijian currency for departing visitors.

Check Total

Visitors to China are forbidden to bring in Chinese or U.S. currency. There are no restrictions on the amounts of other foreign currencies brought in but all must be declared on the official form on entry.

The Taiwan government has no limitations on national or foreign monies but requires that visitors possessing more than $200 in U.S. funds make a declaration on arrival.

If written or oral declarations are required, make sure the total is accurate. You could be in trouble if you declare you are taking out more money than you brought in.

Veteran country - hoppers usually convert most of their U.S. dollars before departure (keeping some small bills for possible emergencies) into U.S. or foreign currency travelers checks. Overseas, do your converting at banks and licensed money changers for the best rates of exchange. Don't cash more than necessary for immediate needs since converting the surplus back into dollars will cost money again. And save all records of such transactions to show authorities on departing.

If there are no restrictions, buy a small packet of foreign currency before leaving the States to cover tips, transportation and other small expenses at your destination. Such packets are available from American Express, Deak-Perera Co. and some

Uniform base rate set for natural gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission has established a national, uniform base rate for natural gas, pricing it at 42 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for interstate sales by producers.

The rate applies to the 48 contiguous states and will be applied to gas produced from fields tapped after Jan. 1, 1973.

The rate structure had been a quilt-like pricing system with prices ranging from 19.9 cents to 34 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

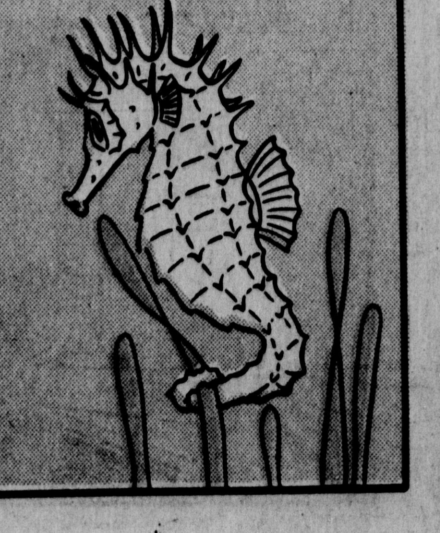
COLOR THE SEAHORSE LIGHT BROWN

SEAHORSES...

A SEAHORSE IS A TINY, ODD-SHAPED FISH THAT LIVES IN THE SEA. IT GETS ITS NAME BECAUSE ITS HEAD AND ARCHED NECK LOOK VERY MUCH LIKE THAT OF A TINY HORSE.



THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

THE ROCK WE CALL SLATE IS REALLY MADE-OVER SHALE- IT IS A METAMORPHIC ROCK. THAT IS, IT BEGAN AS ONE KIND OF ROCK AND WAS CHANGED INTO ANOTHER KIND OF ROCK BY HEAT AND PRESSURE DEEP WITHIN THE EARTH. THE TINY BITS OF MINERALS IN SHALE ROCK WERE REARRANGED INTO HARD, THIN LAYERS. THESE CAN BE SPLIT INTO SMOOTH, FLAT SHEETS AS THIN AS PAPER. THE FINEST BLACKBOARDS ARE MADE OF SLATE THAT HAS BEEN SPLIT INTO THIN SHEETS. MOST SLATE IS GRAY IN COLOR, BUT IT CAN BE BROWN, BLUE, OR EVEN RED.

Bicentennial designs

By MORT REED

On March 6, 1974, the secretary of the Treasury and director of the Mint made the final selections of three winning designs from the National Bicentennial Coin Design Competition for the reverses of the dollar, half dollar and quarter. The Treasury awarded $5,000 to each winning designer.

His own company, Jack Ahr Designs and Sales, opened two years ago, specializes in custom-product designs, such as sales and employe incentives awards. For 16 years, Ahr was employed as an artist, art director and director of creative services for companies serving the high school, college and industrial markets, designing such items as class rings, medals and special awards.

He studied for two years at Bowling Green, Ohio State University and continued his art studies at John Herron Institute of Art and the Academy of Art in Chicago.

Seth G. Huntington's design of Independence Hall was selected for the reverse of the half dollar. Huntington, of Minneapolis, is manager and art director of the Custom Art Department of Brown and Bigelow, the largest calendar and advertising specialty house in the world. He is a graduate of Minneapolis College of Art and Design and served on the faculty of the St. Paul Arts and Science Center.

His experience as an artist and designer has been in corporate design, educational materials. book illustrations and advertising display. He has received numerous citations and awards including two "Printing Industries of America" annual graphic arts awards.

Dennis R. Williams, whose design of the Liberty Bell and Moon has been chosen for the back of the dollar is 21 and a junior at the Columbus, Ohio, College of Art and Design, majoring in sculpture. His instructor assigned him the National Bicentennial Coin Design Competition as a design problem. He plans to teach sculpture at the college level after graduation.

Trip tips

Riding rails is a bargain in Europe

By Marie Mattson

European trains will take you from the Arctic Circle to the Mediterranean — sometimes at speeds over 100 miles an hour. Riding the rails is perhaps the most convenient and inexpensive way to get about the continent.

If you'll be traveling first class to Amsterdam, Vienna, Rome and Paris, a 21-day Eurailpass, at $150, will save you money over regular fare. Eurailpasses also are sold for one month ($190), two months (260) and three months ($300).

Students under 26 years of age will find the Student-Railpass a bargain if they're traveling as far as Scandinavia, Germany, Austria, Italy and France. With it, one can roam around for two months for only $165.

A Eurailpass is for first-class travel, a Student-Railpass, for second class. You must purchase your pass from a travel agent or European rail representative before you leave North America — they're not available in Europe.

Youths between 10 and 20 years of age also can use Inter Rail, a season ticket sold only in Europe. The pass is valid for second class rail travel for one month up until Oct. 31, costs $105. The big attraction is that in addition to the 13 countries honoring the Student-Railpass, Inter Rail also is valid in Great Britain, Ireland, Finland, Greece, Hungary and Yugoslavia. Student status is not necessary. You pay 50 per cent of regular fare on trains in the country of purchase and travel free elsewhere.

Inter Rail can be a top value for youths flying Icelandic Air Lines to Luxembourg. The half-fare train ticket to get you to Luxembourg's border costs next to nothing (Luxembourg is only 62 miles long, 37 miles wide) — from then on you're traveling free.

If you'll be spending most of your time in one country or doing a minimum of rail travel, other discounts may be better values than the above passes. Many countries issue their own season tickets that provide unlimited travel within their borders — sometimes they offer other discounts, too.

Most rail specials are available for both first and second class travel and for periods of one, two, three and four weeks.

In northern Europe, second class rail is satisfactory; in southern Europe, where second class can be very crowded, it's worth the extra money to go first class. (Some second class trains in northern Europe are comparable to first class in the south.)

Many concessions can be obtained only after you arrive in the country. Prices may vary some what because of currency fluctuations.

AUSTRIA From Austria's train windows you can see some of Europe's most spectacular scenery. A two-week pass for second class rail travel costs about $50. Each province, too, offers a regional ticket. You'd pay $11, for instance, for a seven-day pass good in the Tyrol.

BELGIUM. Trains run frequently, distances are short and Belgium offers many rail discounts. A regular season ticket for five days costs $18 second class; a special season ticket good any five days within two weeks during summer, $22 second class. A half-rate card ($7 second class, $11 first) entitles you to travel anywhere on Belgian railways for half price for one month.

FINLAND. Trains go almost to the Arctic Circle. A Finnrail Pass lets you wander as you please; $40 for two weeks, second class.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Modern worries not new

Some things began a long time ago! — As a case in point, I can assure you that eighty-two years ago Pomona's newspaper editors were definitely ecology minded. A quotation from the August 20, 1892, Pomona Weekly Times should easily substantiate that statement.

"On next Wednesday," the news item read "The San Antonio Light and Power Company will turn the water into the tunnel and pipe at Hog's Back, according to Engineer Sanders. — THEN GOOD-BYE FALLS!"

What's more, those early day Pomona newspaper editors were also campaigning with laudable vim and vigor for civic improvement and urban redevelopment. For proof I call your attention to another Weekly Times article which pointed out:

"Every thinking man concedes now that two things must be done by the City Trustees this year — pave Second Street and give our people a sewer system."

And when it came to racial discrimination, that same Pomona Weekly Times was right in there doing its level best to champion the rights of at least one minority race. — When, in 1892, the Southern Pacific Company issued orders forbidding Indians from riding free on its trains, The Times editor bemoaned such discriminatory action, pointing out that for years prior to the issuance of that order Indians had been allowed to travel free on the platforms of passenger trains and on freight flat cars.

But the crusading efforts of our Pomona Weekly Times didn't end with viewing with alarm man's inhumanity to man. Definitely well in advance of its time, the abolishment of cruelty to animals was also one of its favorite causes. And so it is not surprising to find it pointing with pride to the fact that Congress had made the docking of a horse in the district of Columbia a crime punishable by a fine of not less than $100 or more than $250 or imprisonment not to exceed one year.

Story, photos by Joseph H. Firman

P-B staff writer

AVALON — At various times since the Portuguese explorer Don Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo discovered San Salvador Island 22 miles off the coast of what is now California, the wooded mountainous island has been a haven for Spanish caballeros, Indians, Yankee traders, Russian whalers, pirates, smugglers and the Chicago Cubs.

Renamed Santa Catalina Island 60 years later by another explorer, Don Sebastian Viscaino, the island today is a popular family resort, playing host for a day, a weekend or the summer to thousands of vacationers,

The island was acquired by Thomas Robbins in 1846 on a land grant from Pio Pico, the last Mexican governor of California. It changed hands several times until it became the property of the Banning brothers, who organized the Santa Catalina Island Co., present owners of 70 per cent of the island. The remainder is privately owned. Chewing gun magnate William Wrigley Jr. acquired a majority interest in the company through stock purchases in 1919, and he built a spring training camp on the island where his Chicago Cubs trained for many years.

Cross channel transportation is provided by three airlines, flying from various airports and three boat lines from San Pedro, Newport Beach and Long Beach. I recently made the trip to the island aboard the 700-passenger Long Beach King, of the Long Beach-Catalina Cruises, a triple-deck vessel complete with lunch counter and bar.

The Long Beach King, thronged with couples of all ages, families with small children, pets and young people laden with backpacks and scuba equipment, steamed past the Queen Mary on its way out of Long Beach Harbor for a smooth, two-hour run to Avalon, the principal city on the island (there are two). Avalon is on a picturesque curved harbor in the shelter of mountains on the easternside of the island. It is a conventional Southern California resort with a winter population of 1,600 that goes as high as 10,000 in the summer. It is serviced by the Los Angeles County sheriff's and fire departments. Children on the islands are under the Long Beach School District, which also handles the high school (graduating class: 33 members).

The other community is Two Harbors, a tiny town spreading up the slopes on either side of the northern isthmus. It is being developed into a year-round residential and boating resort and is the site of USC's Marine Science Center. Two Harbors is 13.4 miles north of Avalon by boat, 23 miles by road.

For the pleasure-seeking visitor, Avalon offers public beaches with bathhouses, nine-hole golf course, tennis courts, boats and fishing tackle, rental bicycles and autoettes, horses for hire, and picnic and camping facilities. The Santa Catalina Island Co. provides long and short tours of the island by bus and tram, visits to the undersea gardens in two glass-bottom boats (one a side-wheeler) a boat trip to the Seal Rookery, a tour of the world-famous Casino of the Big Band Era, and visits to El Escondido Ranch, Arabian horse ranch, and the Wrigley Memorial Botanical Gardens. Avalon also boasts an art gallery, a museum and a movie theater.

As exciting as the Avalon area is, the interior of the 21-mile-long island is richer in natural beauty and historical wealth. A bus tour takes visitors over winding mountain roads to Indian ruins, old mines (gold was discovered on the island 19 years before the California gold rush of 1849), to the "Airport in the Sky," to Old Eagle's Nest Stagecoach Stop and Descanso Bay. It is a ride of discovery of hidden coves and beaches, mountain peaks, canyons and all the flora and fauna of Southern California.

Unique to the island are the wild goats, believed to have been brought originally by the Spanish explorers, and a herd of buffalo brought to Catalina in 1925 for the filming of "The Vanishing American." The original 14 were left on the island and others added later. Today the herd numbers approximately 400, roaming free on the hills. The island also shelters wild boar, foxes, ground squirrels and a wide variety of birds.

Today, Santa Catalina is a flourishing island with shops, markets, hotels, night clubs and amusement parks, and new homes and condominiums under construction, but the mini-Hawaii across the channel will probably always remain the unique resort it is today.

ON THE COVER

World-famous Casino, where the big bands played during the 1930's and 1940's, is an eye-catching landmark for visitors to Santa Catalina Island. The harbor of Avalon, framed in royal palms, is shelter for thousands of boats each summer. Three airlines and three boatlines carry vacationers to the island from Southern California.

The 700-passenger Long Beach King travels from the mainland to Santa Catalina Island in two hours.

Critic finds 'treasure' in book of interviews

By SAMUEL I. BELLMAN

WORDS AND THEIR MASTERS. By Israel Shenker, Photographs by Kill Krementz. Doubleday. $12.50.

This is a treasure of a book, one of those rare occurrences between the boards that restore one's faith in something or other. It is 368 pages of delightful surprise, provocation — a potpourri of vignettes, interviews, and commentaries on the communication of ideas, and communicators.

(Samuel Bellman is Professor English at Cal Poly, Pomona.)

The 67 separate selections — three of them involving the inimitable and acerb wordswordsman S.J. Perelman — were written (or arranged by, when an interview was being conducted) New York Time's reporter Israel Shenker.

Most were written during the last five years, and for The Times. All of them have a peculiar flavor, reflecting (if a flavor can reflect — Shenker's got me worrying about word use, now!) the author's dedication, fixation, curiosity, where words are concerned. And, because of the author's special handling of his subject, it's contagious, magnetic, pulse-stirring.

Aside from the thrice-appearing Perelman (who, in all honesty, seems never to have learned anything or forgotten anything in the last four decades or more that he's been verbalizing at fever — and Sandy Koufax — pitch), these are some of the other illuminati who light up the pages of Shenker's traumatic book: Nabokov, Borges, Bellow, Groucho Marx, Peter De Vries, Simenon, Mark Van Doren, Ionesco, Beckett (of all people!), Malamud, E.B. White, Noam Chomsky, Rex Stout, Isaac Asimov, Gore Vidal, Kurt Vonnegut, and a glut of others.

And there are special, non-celebrity-focussed articles too, but more of them anon. Highlights (word-flashes, rather) from the first category of feature articles:

Issac B. Singer, the Yiddish fictionist who has been so heavily promoted in the popular press in the last 15 years, on the subject of other people's writing: " 'Often a writer hands me manuscript, and I'm shocked at how bad it is. I ask him "How do you make a living?" He says, ''I'm teaching literature." This is how the universities spit on literature.' "

Nevill Coghill (the famous British scholar and Chaucer-translator): Chaucer "was perfectly aware that sexual misbehavior is perhaps the most comic, but not the most important of our sins. Pride, envy, sloth, avarice — we don't even call them sins today. People are even proud of being proud."

One of the funniest and provokingest pieces in this book is the interview with that inveterate quipster and suburbia-nightmare fictionist (whose private tragedy was hinted at in the move, "Pete and Tillie"), Peter De Vries. De Vries, a wildly improbable descendent of Dutch Calvinists (De Vries' religious quips are like Calvinist pieties turned inside out and outside in), is commenting on dreams, and our Victorian dream censor. Our dreams, according to De Vries, " 'are not giving us much refreshment. Maybe we should domonstrate against them. After all, it's better to wake up screaming than yawning.' " De Vries later describes a dream of his in which he's in a cave in Crete, with a woman . . . his wife. What were they doing there? Committee work.

John Cheever, the religious delineator of sin and cocktail parties in Eastern suburbia (Cheever is really religious and mythopoeic, where De Vries, occupying the same turf, is generally raunchy and sleight-of-word): " 'Our hope (as writers) is that we can avoid the decline into reminiscence, which is the lust of arteriosclerosis. A good prose style depends on a good blood count."

But there is this other facet of Shenker's books of wonders: The treatment of special modes of communication. One interview, which spans the two aspects of the book, is the one with trasnformational linguist Noam Chomsky of M.I.T., who discourses at length, and boringly (to the non-linguist) on deep structures, transforms, and the like.

Shenker has a passel of articles on Yiddish geography, schoolroom howlers, British vs. American English, the language of Women's Lib, Congo Drum language, and other related and unrelated topics.

Most of them are eminently readable; even those not so eminent (the Congo Drum piece is a bit of a disappointment) are at least recommendable. But in a book like this, one or two near-misses don't even count.

New Armour book deals with whales

By JUNE DUGAN
P-B Staff Writer

SEA FULL OF WHALES, by Richard Armour. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

This is a whale of a book for painlessly educating youngsters all about whales. Richard Armour, the Claremont humorist, neatly wraps up all the whale facts in light verse.

He points out that they have no cave or nest, as most animals and fish, and that their home is the whole wide-open sea. He also extols the friendliness and the freedom of the whale, and the delightful illustrations by Paul Galdone play on these aspects. Some of his whales actually seem to be smiling.

All Armour's facts have been checked by whale experts, so this little volume is a nice addition to any child's library. These facts have been carefully interwoven to make learning and retaining them fun.

The book also is a plea for preservation of the whale, which is in danger of extinction since man learned of their commercial value. The closing lines of the book are:

"It's great," they must murmur,
"Just being alive."
And they'll thank us, I think,
If we let them survive.

Bullock novel deals with man's future

SOUL RETRIVERS, By George Bullock. Carlton Press, $4.95.

Soul Retrievers is a novel which examines the habits of human beings from the beginning of time. The leading character is a contemporary black scientist named Gabriel who through his own adversities was able to achieve the the ultimate of human conception.

The story matures in the future where man reaches the level of utopia, yet happiness still evades him and life becomes a meaningless bore. Gabriel and his colleagues manage to revitalize life in an atrophied world.

He says the two virtues people fear most are truth and change. Not enough so-called "important" people are initiating these virtues, and if society doesn't make a radical change, man will destroy himself.

The author foresees the human race propelled along a crash course, and it cannot be altered unless acted upon by an unbalanced force. Yet, he is optimistic about man's future and proves it through the revelation of his novel.

Dilemma of poor children recalls Swiftian proposal

By MURRAY PROJECTOR

"Although we are in some sense a child-centered country, a strain of hostility to children colors our attitudes and policies."

That's the conclusion of the editor, following seven contributed chapters on the welfare system for poor children, all of which verify that "the well-intentioned child welfare system has in fact functioned as a holding operation that has tended to perpetuate the status quo."

The evil effects described in ''Children and Decent People" are not ascribed to the success of bad guys over good guys, but to the system of child welfare that is structured for failure, despite the efforts of the decent people who operate the system.

The book's title is suggested by the words of a popular French song which followed an attempted jailbreak of young offenders: "The pack that hunts down children is composed of decent people."

The welfare system for poor children is an expensive piecemeal system, operating in a nation where for lack of public provision millions of children go poorly schooled, poorly nurtured, and poorly supervised. Mostly poor kids, of course.

Foster family care is more a myth than a reality, according to contributors Reiz, Nott & Weiss. "Foster care is the last resort for the non-poor; the only option for the poor. It is a class-bound system confusing agency resources with clients' needs."

''Children and Decent People" could be entitled "Oliver Twist Revisited." Remember that those whom we see as Oliver's persecutors identified themselves as his friends and benefactors. Fiction is often more factual than non-fiction.

This reviewer believes that if Jonathan Swift were writing today, he would update his "Modest Proposal for Alleviating Conditions" by making the adoption system economically more efficient. His proposal for planned breeding of poor children for sale to the non-poor is still applicable

The editor does not limit himself to a description of the current situation. He and his contributors are describing matters they have understood for some time. His "Poor Kids," published in 1966, is a classic on the subject, and is referred to by many of the contributors.

Schorr is also concerned with the why of the current failures with child welfare. "Those who are interested in children are not powerful politically because the nation is ambivalent about its children." Their political weakness contrasts with the potency of of national organizations that represent the aged, the veterans and the disabled.

What can be done to remedy the intolerable situation? We need universal programs (without sitigma) directed to cash needs of children to replace the current piecemeal non-system.

Schorr suggests a program of children's allowances to replace income tax exemptions. Also suggested is a mother's wage — to regard housework and child rearing as socially useful work and to pay a government wage for it. Essential too is a universal health care system, accessible for all children, rich and poor.

''Children and Decent People" is informative, not entertaining. If entertainment is your criterion, wait until it is made into a musical, like "Oliver." Otherwise, it is worth reading now.

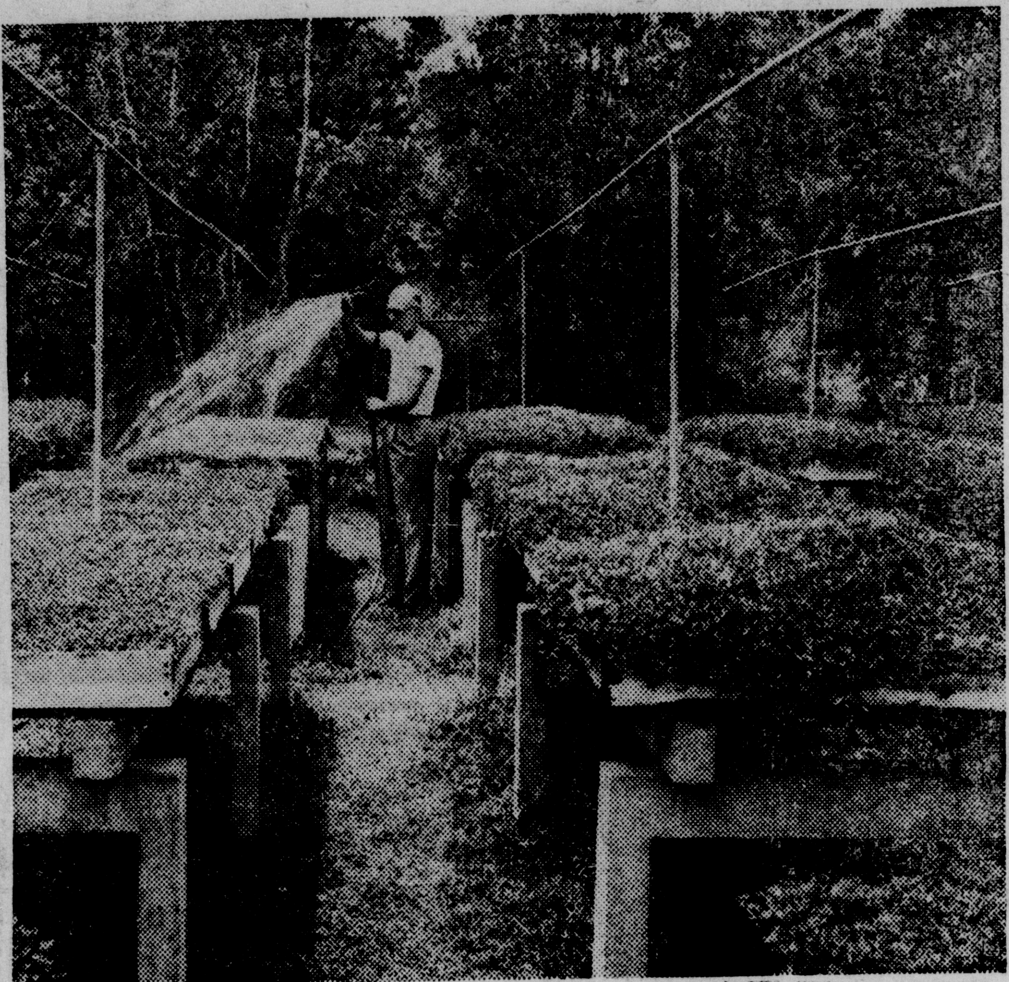
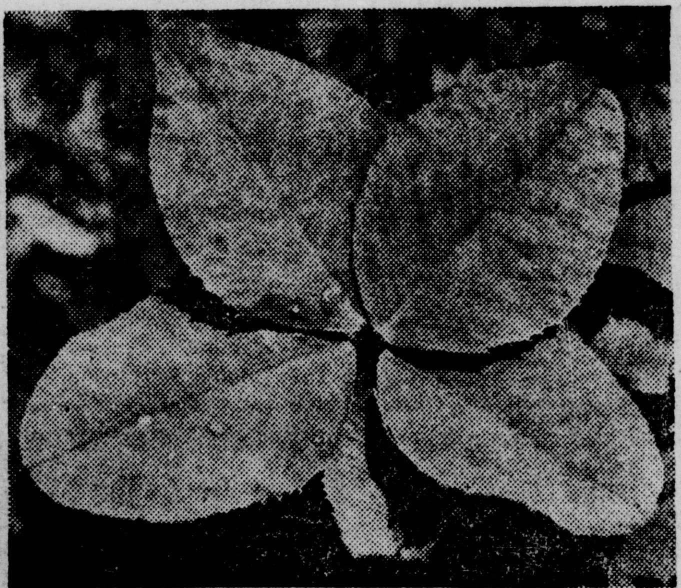
Four-leaf clover farm



CAREFULLY WATERING his pampered crop, Bill Daniels, co-owner and manager of the farm, starts the clover from specially-bred cuttings placed on concrete stands with electrified ultra-violet lamps near each stand. The lamps serve a dual purpose: to constantly bathe the delicate plants in light and to kill harmful insects.

It used to be considered quite a rarity, and a sign of good luck, when a person found a four-leaf clover but that's not the case these days in St. Petersburg, Fla. home of the world's only four-leaf clover farm.



AFTER HARVESTING, (left) millions of the four-leaf oddities are sold to greeting card companies and novelty houses. Only the most perfectly-formed clover, with petals measuring a minimum of 1 and 3/8 inches (above), are selected by Daniels and his employees.

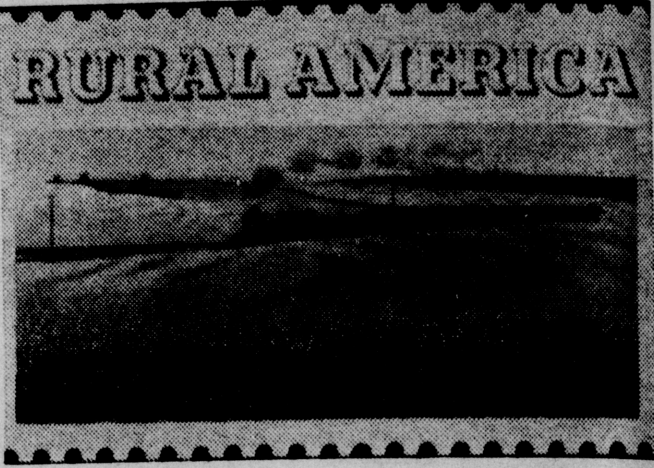
Rural America series

By Gustav Detjen, Jr.

The U.S. Postal Service has announced the third in the series of Rural America Stamps. The 10-cent commemorative to be issued August 16 marks the 100th anniversary of the introduction into Kansas of hard winter wheat, which was to make the state a major world granary.



It was in 1874 that Mennonite immigrants from Russia arrived in Marion County with small quantities of a red Turkish strain of hardy; drough-resistant and heavy-yielding wheat.

John Falter, who also designed the Chautaqua stamp to be issued on August 6th, did the design work for the hard winter wheat issue.

Seven colors will be used — yellow, red, blue and brown on the offset press and green, blue and black on the Giori press. There will, however, be only one plate number on the pane of 50 stamps. First day cancellation requests should be sent prior to August 16 addressed to "Kansas Wheat Stamp, Postmaster, Hillsboro, Kansas 60763." Include a self-addressed envelope with your remittance.

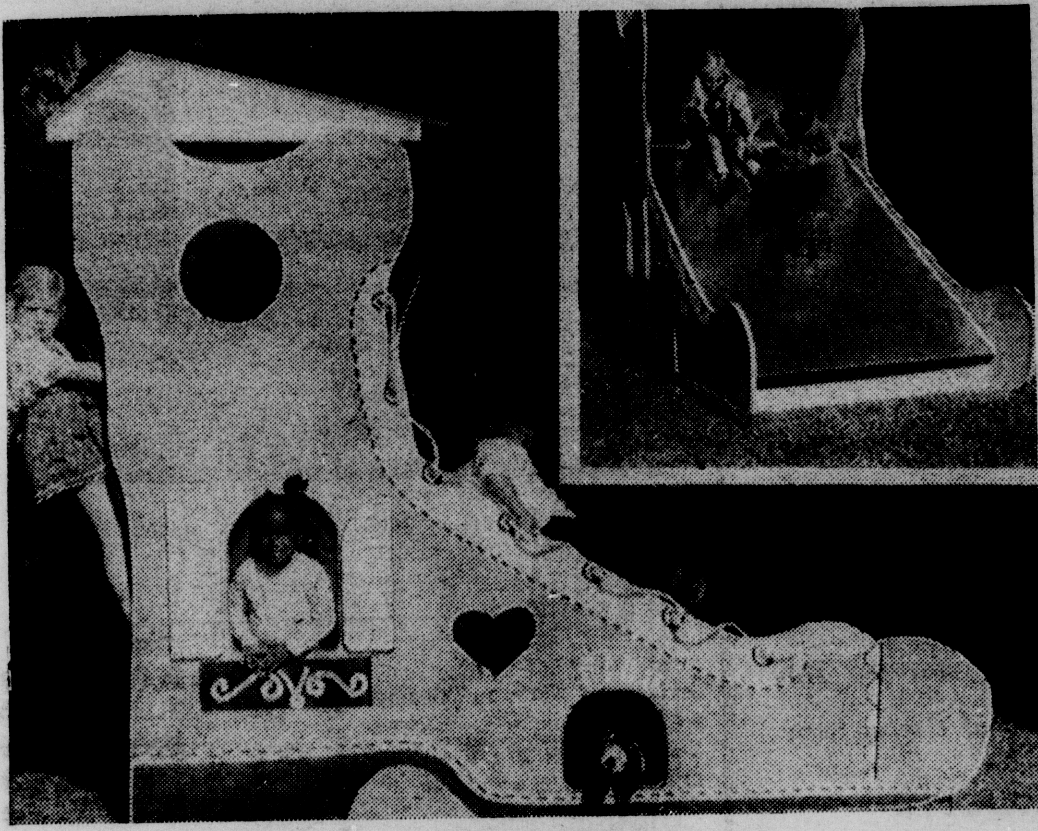
Build yourself a really big shoe

By STEVE ELLINGSON

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe" . . . we all remember the nursery rhyme. Didn't you feel as a child it would be great to live and play in a house like that? Well, the next best thing is to give your kids or grandkids the fun you missed. And you really have one leg up on the project with our easy-to-follow unique playhouse. One weekend should do it.

Here's a complete funhouse for the kids. A short ladder on the backside takes the child to a platform for launching that gentle slide down to the ground. The slide itself has protective sides to help prevent falls and is made of a smooth galvanized metal surface. The ½" rope "shoelaces" on the sides of the slide are optional. Inside the playhouse, there is enough room to have a tea party. There's a back entrance and plenty of pretty little windows to peek out from. Even the family dog can enjoy this as his home . . . . there's a compartment up front for Fido to call his own. The whole shoe measures approximately 7' high by 8' long by 4' wide. This shape gives it stability. It's built from plywood and painted in bright, cheerful colors. You will find it's the conversation piece of the neighborhood.



To obtain Plan No. 549 for "The Old Woman Who Lived In A Shoe" Playhouse, send $2.25 (includes postage and handling). If airmail is desired, send $2.50 by cash, check or money order to:

Michael Tal: youngest champion

By SHELBY LYMAN

Michael Tal was the youngest world champion ever. He beat Botvinnik in 1960 at age 23 to take the title. But he lost it back a year later. Afflicted with severe health problems, his results have since been erratic, though he managed in an apparently healthy period to set a record for the most consecutive games played by a grandmaster without a loss in 1972-73.

Brilliant as would have been the career of a healthy Tal, it is easy to forget that loss when replaying the marvelous production of games he has nevertheless managed.

Tal is the most insistent attacking player of our time and probably of all previous times. No one else has the ability to sense an attacking possibility, initiate it and carry it through as Michael Tal. No one has shown his ingenuity in finding new resources of attack, when apparently stymied. No one (except Bobby Fischer) so debilitates his opponets.

In this position, Tal sees a chance to precipitously press the attack. Vaganian falters, and is forced to resign after his opponent's 12th move. In the given diagram, Tal has just played his ninth move, the super-aggressive 9. N-N5. Against black's reasonable answer, 9. . . .B-K2, Tal's intention was probably to continue with 10. Q-R5 check which forces 10. . . .P-N3. He would then have almost irresistible play against the threatened black kingside with his queen, bishops, and the attacking maneuver, pawn to R4 and R5.

But shaken by the threatened attack, Vaganian blundered outrageously with 9. . .B-Q2. Tal's reply was the exchanging move 10. BxN and the still unsuspecting Vaganian answered with 10. . .PxB. (better was BxB).

Tal then surprised his opponent and wrapped things up with 11. Q-R5 check, P-N3; and 12. Q-B3!! (See diagram two).

Unusual though it is for a direct mating threat by the queen to be effective at this early stage of the game, black is summarily lost. Black must lose a piece by 12. . . .Q-K2; NxN! (13. . . .QxN allows 14. Q-B7 check and 15. Q-B6 check, picking up the black rook). The queen at K2 would block the vital defense of the knight at B4 by the black bishop.

Our third diagram shows the finale of another recent game by Tal. In this position, Tal has just played 1. Q-R6, which threatens mate by either QxR or QxB. Black is lost.

The only try, 1. . . .RxR, would have failed after 2. B-N6!! (Again threatening two mates). For 2. . .RxB would have yielded to the simple 3. PxR.

A beautiful though not unusual finish for Tal.

San Francisco tops in fatal drug overdoses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco is leading the nation in the number of deaths from narcotics overdoses.

Coroner's Administrator James R. Scannell said recently that so far this year there have been as many as 90 such deaths in the city and most of these were caused by heroin.

Scannell gave these reasons.

— The city's "permissiveness" of the use of drugs.

—And the prevalence of drug use among those who adopt "alternative" ways of life.

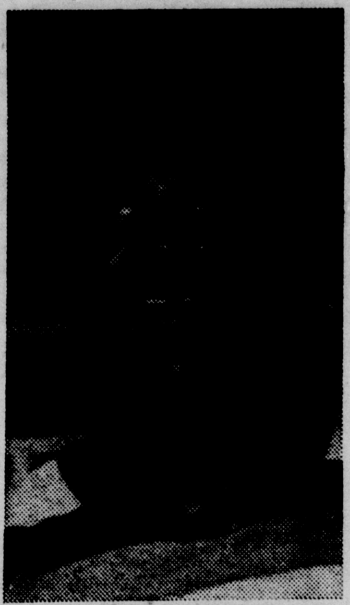
Jourdan named to military academy

Leland Thomas Jourdan, 17, a graduating senior at Rowland High School, has received an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

He was nominated by Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-25th Dist.

Jourdan was voted "favorite man on campus" and "most spirited senior" by his peers at Rowland. He was a CIF championship gymnastic, a four-year member of the school band, a letterman and campus government leader.



LELAND JOURDAN

He will report for training July 8, to begin a four-year course at the academy. He will be a member of the West Point graduating class of 1978. He plans to pursue studies in computer science or law. Upon graduation, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant.

His parents are Walter and Ruby Jourdan.

Actions do count

By KITTY WOODALL
Bonita Reporter

Menninger states that sin does not stem from defects in one's environment or education, and that the wrongdoer is not always the victim; but rather, sin is committed by an individual who is personally responsible for his actions.

According to Menninger, "belief in sin and personal responsibility for it is our only hope." Sin no longer carries the connotations that it once did, and it is no longer considered such a serious matter, he says.

Disregard

"The willful disregard or sacrifice of the welfare of others for the welfare or satisfaction of the self is an essential quality of the concept of sin. Sin is a refusal of the love of others," Menninger writes.

In the past, people have been punished severely and ridiculed for their crimes. An example of this is illustrated by Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter." Today a person is not faced with comparable scorn. The judgment of town magistrates and supposed "men of God" is not a continuous threat.

Middle Ages

In the middle ages, the concept that illness reflected sin prevailed. Psychiatric treatment brought embarrassment to the patient in earlier years and was regarded in a different light by society and the medical profession.

Violence was once considered a means of last resort, whereas it is now a method of communication.

Menninger feels that individuals must accept personal responsibility in all human acts, good or bad. By solving external moral problems, people will better understand external, social, legal and environmental complexities, he says.

"Success will be rewarded; failure must be punished. There is right and there is wrong. There can be no compromise," he writes.

Punishment

Punishment is not the business of judges, but rather of the individual. Self-punishment always involves severe conflict and a person needs to first acknowledge his sin and then to make atonement by restitution and revised tactics.

Some philosophers believe that man has no conscience but, according to the author, most human beings have a sense of right and wrong. The voluntary element is never as voluntary as it seems.

Menninger concludes that "If the concept of personal responsibility and answerability for ourselves and for others were to return to common acceptance, hope would return to the world with it."

In essence, the author expresses the opinion that society today has chosen to ignore the true cause and responsibility of sin by attributing it to the environment, etc. Menninger feels everyone should learn to accept sin, or otherwise it can never be corrected and until personal sin and conflicts are solved, we cannot begin to correct world disputes, wars and crime.

ENGINEER KEVIN

Kevin Dobson, who is featured as Det. Bobby Crocker on "Kojak," is not easily discouraged. If he were, he would have quit pursuing an acting career which has been very elusive—until recently. Things were so tough for Dobson, in fact, that he was flat broke only a few weeks before he was signed to a long-term contract with Universal Studios and cast in the continuing role of Crocker.

Dobson hadn't originally planned on being an actor. After military service, he went to work with the Long Island Railroad to earn money for college. However, his sister urged him to try acting in commercials.

"I wasn't really that interested," Dobson says, "but my sister and a friend of hers introduced me to an agent and suddenly I was going on interviews in my off-hours."

The interviews resulted in a few non-speaking roles in commercials—then Dobson went to audition for a play.

"I'd never read for a play in my life," he says. "I ended up reading with Tom Ewell and when we were finished, he gave the director a wink and I got the part. I'll never forget that look."

Dobson appeared in "The Impossible Years" with Ewell in summer stock then toured with the play performing 98 one-nighters in 44 states. By then, he knew that he preferred acting over railroading.

After a successful road tour, Dobson played some minor roles in the movies and between roles, sustained himself by driving a cab and working as a waiter and bartender. He also studied at New York's Neighborhood Playhouse under the direction of Sandy Meisner. On the spur of the moment, Dobson left New York for Hollywood and immediately found employment—washing dishes. He appeared in a "Mod Squad" episode, then was so steadily unemployed that he was forced to return to his original vocation—the railroad. After 18 months, he quit to understudy Jon Voight in the Los Angeles stage production of "Streetcar Named Desire."

Finally, Dobson auditioned for "Kojak." The night before the studio was to announce its decision, Dobson's car ran out of gas. His agent took him to a gas station. "I had 45 cents to my name," says Dobson. "A gallon cost 46 cents but the attendant let me forget the missing penny. I was flat broke."

The next day, Dobson was signed to a seven-year contract and became a regular in his first television series. Still a bit overwhelmed at the sudden good turn of events, Dobson says, "It's especially nice because it has been such a long time coming."

Kevin recently returned to the Santa Fe Failroad yard in Los Angeles where he was an engineer for 18 months.

'A SPECIAL STORY'

"The subject of youth gangs has probably not been dramatized to any extent on television because it cannot realistically have an upbeat ending." Writer Mark Rodgers, one of two executive story consultants for Screen Gems' Police Story, had just finished a script titled "Violent Homecoming," the drama repeating on NBC, Tuesday at 10PM. It's a poignant story that depicts the youth gang in the Mexican-American area of a large city.

One of the seeds for the story idea came from the recent headline of a major newspaper: "Youth Gangs and Their Crimes Growing Steadily." Executive producer David Gerber and producer Stanley Kallis read it, and came to Mark with the assignment. Rodgers, who'd previously worked in one such section of East Los Angeles for a number of years was familiar with the problem. He went about interviewing officers who'd worked the juvenile and gang details.

"The thing that hits you right in the face is the age of the kids involved," he relates. "They begin to take part in gang warfare at age nine or ten, serving as messengers or lookouts. By the time they're 14 they're carrying weapons — and using them. They're forced to join. If they don't, they become prey for the kids in their own area. And if they do, then other area members are after them." Much of this futility is reflected in Rodgers' sensitive and informative script. "Gang war murders occur with regularity in many of these areas," he says, "and we're hardly aware of them. But one such killing in Beverly Hills would make national headlines!"

"Violent Homecoming" does not attempt to answer any questions or present any solutions. "We wanted to illuminate the problem, not try to solve it," says the writer. "It's not that easy." Rodgers does, however, present a question most will hopefully be able to answer after watching the film, that being whether or not there should be an approach to the problem on the part of society, as WELL as on the part of the police department.

Approximately 30 actual East Los Angeles youth gang members, along with their girlfriends and parents, are used in various scenes of "Violent Homecoming." Scenes were filmed near their homes and many of the gang members have since taken an interest in acting, a primary result of conversations with guest-star Pedro Armendariz, Jr.

But the problem continues. Not long after the show was filmed, a young boy was shot under circumstances similar to those depicted in Rodgers' storyline. Maybe Police Story will create an awareness and that would be a beginning.

Pedro Armendariz Jr. portrays a Mexican-American cop who returns to the barrio and finds himself involved in a teenage gang war.

COVER CLOSE-UP

'ON THE MOVE'

Barnaby Jones, starring Buddy Ebsen as the low-key private detective who effectively employs folksy charm to get to the bottom of cases, moves to a different day and a new time (Tuesdays, at 10 PM) in the fall for its third season on CBS.

During the summer, the popular private eye series, co-starring Lee Meriwether as Jones' daughter-in-law and assistant, Betty Jones, will move to Saturdays (starting July 6 at 10PM), leaving its current Sunday (9:30PM) time period. Despite the destructive fire that destroyed much of Sam Goldwyn Studios, where interior scenes of Barnaby Jones are filmed, production has continued without interruption on episodes for the 1974-75 season, according to producer Philip Saltzman.

Two fortuitous circumstances balanced the loss of the Barnaby Jones office set on one of the burned sound stages. First, the show was shooting on location for six days following the fire. And, second, more than 40 still pictures had been taken of the destroyed office. Thus, working from the photographs on hand, the stage crews were able to reconstruct, section-by-section, Barnaby's office in exact detail. And Barnaby Jones is once again filming the desired interiors on another Goldwyn stage.

Extensive use of Los Angeles and Southern California locations, a familiar trademark of the show, again will be much in evidence on the screen. Already an episode has been filmed at the mushrooming Marina del Rey harbor area, where Ebsen in private life frequently sails one of the catamaran craft he owns.

Guest stars like Jessica Walter, Sheree North and Peter Mark Richman are set for early fall appearances, and one of the unusual storylines features a girl singer who lives in a center of country-western music not far from the metropolitan area. The character of Barnaby Jones continues to be a departure from the run-of-the-mill private detective in that he not only is an investigative expert, but he is equally knowledgable in the area of criminalistics—the vital work usually done in the police crime laboratory. Barnaby works out of his own thoroughly equipped lab.

Ebsen, as a matter of fact, did some personal research to properly prepare himself for the role of an erudite private eye who is armed with the most modern of scientific investigative tools. On his visits to the Los Angeles County Sheriff Department's Criminalistics Division, he learned, for instance, the correct method of vacuuming clothing and how the tiniest particle of lint is analyzed. He also was given a short course in the use of the stereoscopic microscope, a helpful instrument which produces a blown-up, three-dimensional image of an object as small as the head of a pin.

Both stars of Barnaby Jones occupied their time during the hiatus between seasons of the show with productive and rewarding projects. When not increasing his already considerable store of knowledge about the Civil War and the history of Scotland with additional reading, Ebsen found himself heavily involved as the president of Polynesian Concept Inc.

Polynesian Concept Inc. happens to be the boat company that constructs 37-foot 6-inch, fiberglass catamarans based on the prototype that the lanky actor sailed to victory in the 1968 Transpac Race to Honolulu. More recently, his company has designed a new version of the catamaran with refined sleeping quarters in the twin hulls, which even contain individual showers.

One of Miss Meriwether's great interests is involvement in the Girl Scouting activities of her two daughters, 14-year-old Kyle and 11-year-old Lesley, and she devoted much of her off-time to that avocation. But the highlight of her vacation came May 5 when, as an honored guest, she viewed Cannonade's victory in the centennial running of the Kentucky Derby after having appeared as a marshal in the pre-Derby Pegasus Parade in Louisville.

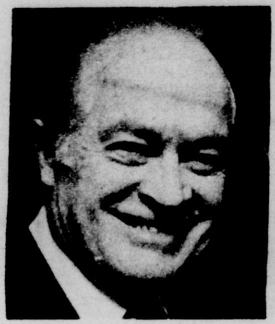
Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR MARGARET MEAD

You have said that man could solve his problems if he'd only use his brains. Do you mean most people have extra brainpower they don't use?—Mrs. Laurene Mills, Hobart, Ind.

● It's been estimated that the most brilliant human being uses only about a tenth of his potential brainpower. The use we make of our brains is dependent upon the state of our culture and the extent to which we devote ourselves to solutions to problems. People who live in simpler societies have as much brain potential as we do, but they have fewer opportunities to use their brains. Some people advocate some form of eugenics that would increase our brain potential. This hardly seems necessary if we aren't using what we already have.



FOR BOB HOPE

I heard that your nose is insured by Lloyds of London. Is this true?—Glenn Anton, Paramus, N.J.

● Back in the early '40's, some ambitious movie press agent whipped up that little story about Lloyd's of London and my nose. It might even have been true. But if they had a policy on my nose it has run out long since. But if you know a good buyer. . . .

FOR JEANE DIXON

I understand you've predicted that a planet inhabited by intelligent life will be discovered. When and who will discover it?—Don Swickrath, Ontario, Calif.

● I see a sister planet—previously hidden by the sun—being discovered by the end of this century. Scientists will land instruments on the planet Jupiter to gain a bird's-eye view of this as yet unknown planet, whose discovery will be for the ultimate good of mankind.

FOR DIAHANN CARROLL

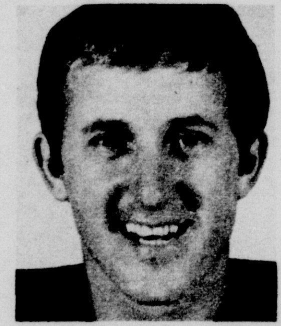
Are you ever going to get married again?—F. A., Cleveland, Ohio

● Yes, but probably not to someone in show business. There are too many strains and temptations. Also, if I got married again I would like it to be a mature union, and it takes two people to have that. People in show business usually aren't mature.

*FOR ALAN ALDA of "M*A*S*H"*

What does "M*A*S*H" stand for?—Joe Zeloof, Edison, N.J.

● Mobile*Army*Surgical*Hospital. They're small hospitals that can pack their tents on a moment's notice and move with the front, often setting up shop only a mile or two from the bullets and bombs. By being so close to the fighting, they're able to save the lives of people who wouldn't survive a trip to the rear.



FOR FRAN TARKENTON,
quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings

Why do you always sit on your helmet at the sidelines? Why not sit on the benches?—Kathy Dunn, Scio, Ohio

● I sit on my helmet because it gets me closer to the field than a seat on the team bench. It's important for a quarterback—any player in fact—to be completely involved in the action on the field.

FOR WENDY OVERTON,
women's professional tennis star

During the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs match, many women pros seemed to have a pathological hatred of Riggs. Now he and Billie Jean seem to be buddies. How do the other women pros feel about Riggs now?—David Smith, Austin, Texas

● Most of us think Bobby Riggs is the greatest thing that ever happened to women's professional tennis. Since he bigmouthed us into the limelight, our purses have ballooned.

FOR BEATRICE ARTHUR, TV's "Maude"

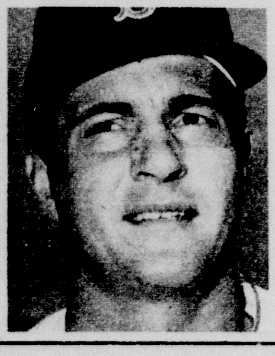
● It wasn't hate mail, really. It came from parents who couldn't buy the idea of abortion. The only thing that made me angry were the people who wrote and said we were making fun of abortion. I never felt we treated it that way, for laughs.



FOR CARL YASTRZEMSKI, Boston Red Sox star

Does it ever bother you when the fans in Boston boo you?—Dennis Griffin, Fairfield, Conn.

● It used to. But I realize now that baseball fans seem to boo only the better players. I guess they expect more from some of us, and if we don't produce to their satisfaction, they let us know it. I can't feel too bad. Ted Williams was booed in Boston, too, you know.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

I haven't heard about former Beatle John Lennon in a long time, although there are rumors that the Beatles will get together again for a big concert tour. What's going on?—M. O., Middletown, Ohio

● John Lennon is still in the U.S., fighting a legal battle with the Immigration Department because of a 1968 conviction for marijuana possession in England. Britain had demanded that he come home. Meanwhile, he has been having marital difficulties with his artist wife Yoko Ono, from whom he is reportedly separated. And he allegedly struck a photographer who tried to take his picture at a Los Angeles nightclub. The "tour" is supposed to take place this summer in New York's Catskills. Lennon has rounded up Ringo Starr and George Harrison, but couldn't get Paul McCartney. Nevertheless, they expect to gross $1 million.

Mason Reese: King of TV's Tiny Dynamos

“Just Your Average, All-American $100,000 Boy Next Door”

“My father and mother are lucky to have me. So are my brothers and my sister.”

“People expect him to have read The New York Times from cover to cover. They ask him questions like ‘What do you think about Watergate?’ and ‘What do you think about Vietnam?’ Those are invasion questions, and I resent people asking them.”

By Pamela Howard

Q: What is eight years old, has red hair, weighs 50 pounds, is 45 inches tall, sounds like Donald Duck and has a birthmark on its left shin?
A: MASON REESE!

Mason Mitchell Reese is all those things and more. He is a precocious little boy whose name is fast becoming as much of a household word as the brand-name products he sells on television. He is also a streaker.

And, aside from his funny voice, which has been described by “Time” and “Newsweek” as “preternaturally adenoidal,” aside from his “oddly pronounced” features and his puffy, bright-blue eyes, Mason has accomplished more in his eight years than most people do in a lifetime.

By the time the little man-child celebrated his eighth birthday on April 11, he had: written his memoirs; appeared in 25 television commercials; won a Clio award (the Academy Awards for commercials) for the best performance by a male actor; been a children's news correspondent; and saved more money than the average person makes in a quarter of a century.

To what does Mason owe this extraordinary success? Like a Mickey Rooney or a Shirley Temple, Mason seems to have an innate proclivity for Center Stage. Perhaps even more responsible are his devoted parents (and his greatest fans) Sonia and William Reese. The combination of their backgrounds has undoubtedly skyrocketed Mason's career since he first began at age four in a cereal ad. Sonia is a former stage and television actress who grew up in “show biz” in California. Bill, 43, a casual dresser and a former corporate executive, has a background in marketing, communications and advertising. Two years ago he decided to “reevaluate his life.” He dropped out of Madison Avenue and became a partner with a friend in a small Manhattan marketing-services company called Acorn. His new job also frees him to run “The Mason Reese Group” – the incorporated business he and Sonia head for the purpose of marketing and selling Mason. (“At present,” says Bill Reese, “it's just a name and some papers–but when we get into movies, it will be something!”)

Although Mason's a client of one of the biggest agencies in New York, the William Morris Agency, the Reeses run his life. “We don't want a personal manager for Mason,” adds his father. “Nobody knows better what is right for Mason than his parents.” Mason's father takes care of all the business. His mother handles the creative end.

“We are not easily star struck,” says attractive, red-haired Sonia. But her life has taken a “new direction” since Mason has joined the ranks of the mini-superstars along with Tatum O'Neal and Rodney Rippey. Sonia writes many of his scripts, is working on some songs (which Mason will “talk,” not sing), and is currently negotiating a television series, scheduled to be shot in New York this summer, starring, “who else but,” Mason. She also contributed heavily to author Lynn Haney, who wrote Mason's

“Does That Include Residuals, Dad?”

By Laura Marsh Henning

“I don't think this is a business. I think it's play. I think it's all fun! I like eating all those cookies after umpteen cups of Jello!”

The speaker is nine-year-old Cheryl Sprella of Montville, N.J., who, while not in the Mason Reese class, has made dozens of commercials for products ranging from Jello to Oreo Cookies to Fantastic spray cleaner.

Mason Reese is a phenomenon. While his parents are hesitant to discuss his income, it is probably close to six figures. But for every Mason Reese, there are hundreds of lesser known child models, hawking everything from candy bars to breakfast cereal.

The economics are simple: A nationwide prime-time commercial can earn a child $5,000 or $6,000. That's a pretty good boost toward college.

You might surmise that the children earning this kind of money —and some make much more— may hold blackmail power over their parents. And sometimes that's true—though it's the fault of the parents. “Parents should never, never, never tell the child what he is making,” insists Mrs. Rosemary Brian, a well-known New York agent, because then the child begins to think his acting is all-important. Children who become too difficult or ornery are eased out of the business. Directors don't want misbehaving brats on the set.

If the work has its potentially destructive side in the development of children, it also has its positive aspects. Kids in commercials gain tremendous self-confidence and poise. Bill Parrott, who directs the Crest commercials, describes it as a growing experience in which a child sees a coordinated team of cameramen, director, lighting men and actors cooperate to bring a project to fruition. Also, travels to new places are a pleasant bonus. Young model Shelley Bruce sparkled when she recounted her recent visit to Disney World, locale for a Stove Top Stuffing commercial.

Mother is perhaps the unsung hero in the career of her child. There's a lot of running around to auditions, and on the set Mother must stay with her budding superstar the whole day, which can drag on to 9 or 10 o'clock at night. Some mothers do it because they themselves are frustrated actresses. And there are some no doubt who are simply exploiting their children. But there's a definite positive side. Says Mrs. Joan Sprella: “I enjoy my daughter and I enjoy being with her. I steal these extra moments with her because kids grow up so fast.”

memoirs "in cahoots" with him. ("I can't type," replied Mason when asked if he had actually written his book.) Sonia also travels with Mason when he makes public-appearance tours around the country and accompanies him to the studios for his commercial tapings.

He is treated, insist the Reeses, like an everyday, ordinary kid. "The star gets balled out when he makes a mess. The star gets in trouble when he doesn't eat his vegetables, just like other kids do," says his father. Is he spoiled with money? The Reeses say no. In fact, he rarely sees his money. He is rewarded for his efforts with magic tricks because he wants to be a magician when he grows up. His earnings are invested in slow-growth bonds "so he'll be able to pay his way through college."

"Mason enjoys doing commercials, but there is a price to pay for everything," says Sonia. For example, when he is interviewed. "People expect him to have read The New York Times from cover to cover. They ask him things like 'What do you think about Watergate?' and 'What do you think about Vietnam?' Those are invasion questions, and I resent people asking them. He is not a mathematical genius or a 'Quiz Kid' or a child prodigy. Mason is an appealing little boy who is bright and likes to have a good time."

Home for Mason is a large nine-room apartment on Manhattan's West Side, a block from the Hudson River. His brothers are Lanny, 19, and Mark, 18. His sister is Suky, 16, who answers much of Mason's fan mail. The Reeses are a very close family. "We always ask for traveling expenses to cover all of us when we go on out of town trips with Mason. The other kids have to know they have an opportunity to participate in Mason's good fortune," says Bill.

When Mike Douglas talks to Mason on national television, it is one thing. For a reporter to try to interview him at home is something else. "After all, a child is a child," says his mother, "and we have to keep his home sacrosanct. He can do whatever he wants to do. If he wants to run around the house without any clothes on, he should feel free to do so."

About 20 minutes into our interview, and after a display of several magic tricks and one-word answers to my questions, Mason announced he was going to streak.

First he kicked a dirty sock in my face. "It smells," he said churlishly. I began feeling a little edgy. I could see what was coming. I asked him to autograph my copy of his memoirs, which he did with a great sweep of his hand. I asked him why the funny marks after the signature. "It's a short-cut for making exclamation marks," he said.

Soon the denim overalls were unhooked.

"Who is your favorite actor?" I asked.

"Robert Conrad and Bill Bixby," he said. "And now I'm going to streak."

Suddenly the overalls were off altogether and on the floor.

"What is your favorite TV program?" I asked.

" 'The Magician,' what else?"

Next the striped cowboy shirt was off, and without going any further, he decided to streak in his underpants.

Mason didn't feel like talking about himself. His girl friend is Erica, the daughter of his father's business partner. "I love her," he said. His favorite subjects are math and geography, and there is one boy in his third-grade class who is jealous of him, but he doesn't want to talk about him.

When not working or going to school, playing with his magic toys, reading comic books and watching television are Mason's favorite pastimes. "Television is really his acting school," says coauthor Lynn Haney. "He looks at television as though he were on it."

"Does Mason think he is a lucky boy," I asked, "to have such devoted parents?"

Without skipping a beat, Mason interrupted: "My father and mother are lucky to have me. So are my brothers and my sister."

How You Can Win Contests!

Discover 14 Secrets to Winning . . . and Cash In On Exciting Vacations — Luxury Cars — Money and Thousands of Other Fabulous Prizes to Be Given Away This Year

If you dream of having enough extra cash to spend any way you would like. If you have longed for a few of the luxuries in life before you are too old to enjoy them. If you receive a special thrill when you are named a winner. Then continue to read and learn how to make your dreams come true.

To be a winner, the first thing you must do is forget about being lucky.

Pure luck has very little to do with winning contests.

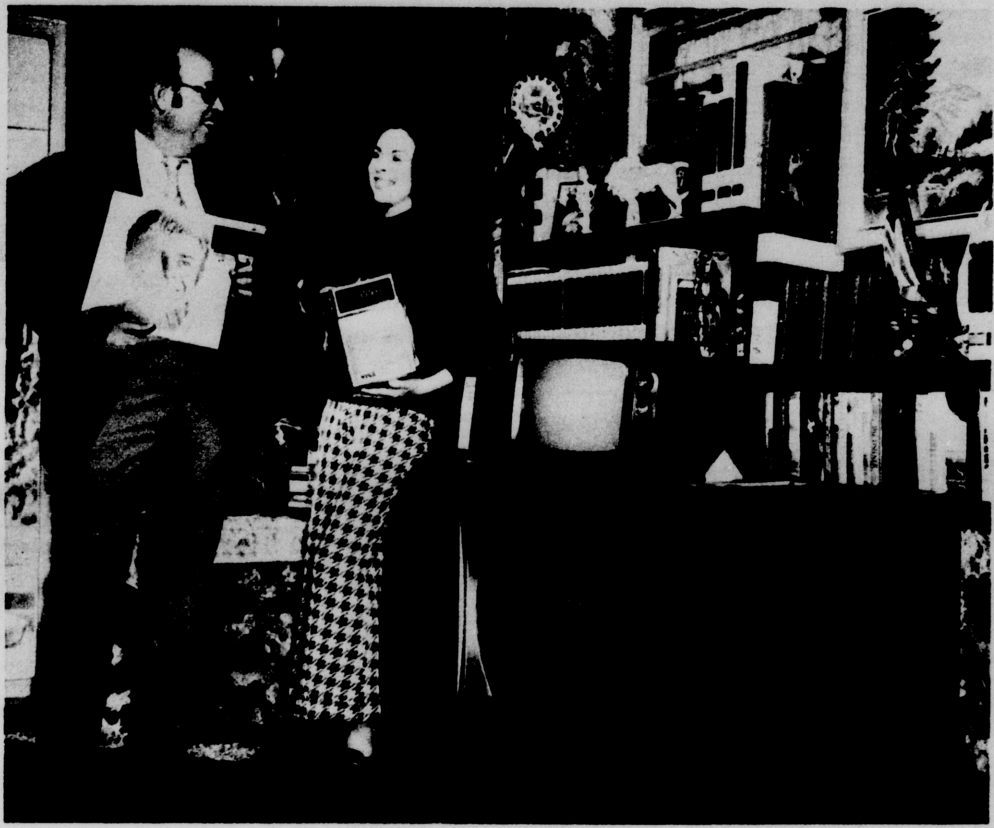
If you follow any kind of sports activity closely, you know the best prepared team wins. They don't leave anything to chance.

The same systematic approach can help you win contests. If you prepare—if you have the proper tools—if you know how to make the law of averages work for you . . . you will soon be winning such valuable prizes as color television sets—tape recorders — radios — appliances. Even cash and vacations to exotic places.

Why am I so confident you can win—and win big?

Because I am doing it. I know the thrill of winning. I know what it takes to be a contest winner. I know if you are determined you can win too.

But learning how to win didn't come easy.



My name is Haywood Kelly. My wife and I have won thousands of dollars in valuable prizes. You can be a big winner too—it's easy when you use the 14 simple steps I have discovered.

Until a few years ago, my wife and I were like the average person. We would occasionally enter a contest that caught our attention . . . with always the same results. Nothing. You may have experienced this same thing.

All my efforts left me frustrated. I knew I had to do something different to win. I decided to find out how I could improve my chances of winning. I started by interviewing the people who knew what it was all about. Contest judges.

I spent hours in writing letters and talking to judges. I studied carefully their advice and the techniques they suggested. With their help—and my own trial and error—I developed 14 simple—but effective rules—for entering and winning contests.

During the next three months my wife and I won valuable prizes in ten national contests . . . an average of winning one prize every 10 days.

Believe me, this is not luck.

To prove what I am saying is true, here are just a few of the letters I received announcing my winnings:

—You will be happy to know that your entry has been selected as one of the winners in the Purina Dog Chow $150,000 Triple Treasure Sweepstake Spectacular.

—Your entry has been selected as a winner in the Armour "Win a Wish from the Wizard" Sweepstakes.

—Congratulations . . . you are a winner in the "007 Colgate-Palmolive Sweepstakes." Please allow six weeks for delivery of your RCA Tape Recorder.

—Your Polaroid camera is being forwarded to you as a winner in the Libby's Fine Foods Contest.

Without contests and a systematical way of winning, these prizes were only a dream . . . but now a dream come true.

Now you can make your dreams come true and experience the thrill of winning. You can master in a few hours what it took me two full years to discover.

The secret of winning.

I have written down every successful technique I have used. Every proven secret I have learned. And have included each of them in a book I have written, entitled "How to Win Contests."

Even though this book could mean hundreds, perhaps thousands of dollars to you in valuable prizes, it is priced at only $3.00. Remember, winning contests is not luck. It is SYSTEMATICAL PREPARATION.

I will show you how to prepare.

I will teach you the fourteen rules you must follow to be successful.

I will teach you the "golden rule" of winning.

I will show you how to be selective and enter only the contests that provide the best chance to win.

I will tell you how to use the rules of the contest to your advantage.

I will give you the formula for a winning strategy.

I will show you how to beat the law of averages by entering more than once. The trick is in the timing of your entry.

I will show you how to keep posted on current contests so you won't accidentally miss out on the best opportunities to win.

I will show you a secret trick to make sure your entries aren't overlooked.

I will teach you how to use logic to take the "chance" out of winning.

I will show you how to hit the jackpot time and time again.

At first you will find your winnings hard to believe. Even your friends won't believe it—they will think you struck it rich.

So, forget about being lucky. Don't take as long as I did to find out what it takes to be a systematic winner.

Give in to that impulse. There's nothing to lose.

I'm not asking you to believe what I have said. Just try it. I guarantee you will be a winner. It's as simple as that.

The Arts Are NOT for The Privileged Few!

"A majority of Americans do not believe they can fulfill their cultural needs at home, despite TV and radio, records or tapes."

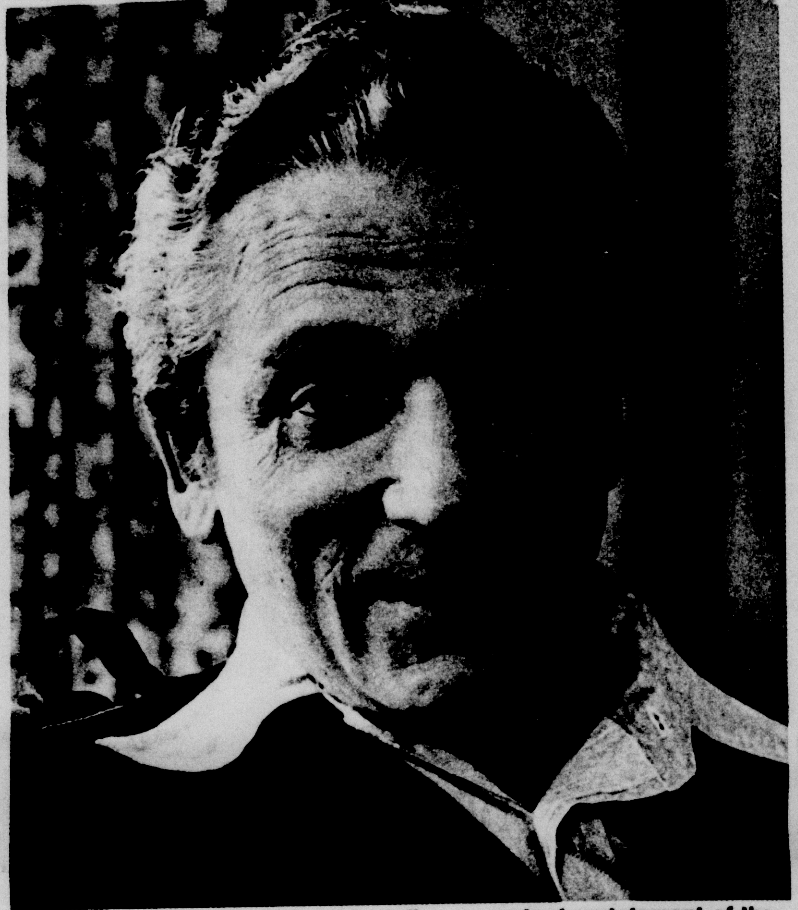
By Gerald A. Bartell

Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

"It has been believed for too long that Americans are cultural eunuchs; that spectator sports are their only significant leisure-time indulgence."

I spend every third or fourth week of my life in New York City. And since the theater, ballet and music are among my favorite recreational items, I always manage to spend an evening or two at Broadway shows or at Lincoln Center.

Lincoln Center (for those who have not seen it) is a complex of beautiful buildings interlaced by gardens, pools, fountains, walkways and outdoor table service—altogether incredibly lovely and practical for the performing arts. As I stroll about the Center before and after a performance—with the fountain playing, the lights on the pools, and thousands of people walking, chatting, eating and dallying at the outdoor café—I remember the dark, dismal, decaying semi-slum that was the Lincoln Center area some 15 years ago.



"The arts," says Gerald Bartell, "offer a constant restatement of the importance of the individual in our society."

Elizabeth Gee

Today, Lincoln Center is a world model for the performance and display of the arts. There, the power of the arts is expressed in architecture, in the creative design of building arrangements and landscaping, in interior decors of elegance and taste, in impressive examples of sculpture and painting, in imaginative theatrical productions of music and drama, in the assembled treasure of library and school. It is a never-ending exhibition of the power of the arts in ministering to the malaise of a city caught in computerism and facelessness.

America has many civic arts centers, most not as elaborate as Lincoln Center, but existing in response to a need. More than 70 million adult Americans experience and enjoy the arts in one form or another.

They go to arts and crafts shows, to galleries, historical museums and restorations. They go to the theater, movies, ballet, opera. They paint, sculpt, sketch, weave, carve. They attend performances of music, from opera to rock.

A majority of Americans do not believe they can fulfill their cultural needs at home, despite TV and radio, records or tapes. They go out to where the arts are for their enjoyment and appreciation.

It has been believed for too long that

Americans are cultural eunuchs; that spectator sports are their only significant leisure-time indulgence. This survey probes deeply into the activities of the average American household and demonstrates that a desire for the arts and what we may regard as arts activities is not alone in the minds and lifestyles of the most educated and the most affluent. The need to participate arises from something more basic than learning or wealth.

Henry James, the famous novelist, once said that Americans regarded the arts as only "for women, immigrants and other impractical people." Certainly an impressive case may be made for an almost instinctive, compelling affinity for beauty and the arts by women, who are, after all, believed to be the more sensitive sex.

As for immigrants, our country was enriched with the art and folk art of the world when we invited new citizens to these shores by the millions. The respective cultures and energies they brought with them changed the metabolism of America. The "foreign" names of painters, singers, composers, dancers, have now become American names, scattered like windblown seed across the land, and their bearers propagate cultural vitality and influence wherever they settle.

"Impractical"? Our pioneer forefathers, once security and sustenance were insured, satisfied other practical needs with homespun cloth, iron and pewter, leather and wood, in forms that survive as indigenous and highly respected art. Today, the design of every article we use is no less influenced by someone's artistic expression, good or bad. It is impossible to divorce art from everyday life. And that is why the results of the Harris survey can be projected as a valid American condition.

The Harris survey revealed that nearly two-thirds of adult Americans would be willing to pay an additional $5 per year in taxes to support the arts; 47 percent would be willing to pay $25 more annually "if the money were used to maintain and operate cultural facilities such as theater, music and art exhibitions"; and more than one out of three people–36 percent–would pay up to $50 for such purposes.

Here are a few other survey results worthy of note:

- 89 percent of the people consider a theater, concert hall and an art museum important to the quality of life in a community.
- 76 percent believe such arts facilities have a favorable effect on a community's business and economy.
- 71 percent regard arts facilities in a community as inducements to attract residents who would improve the community.
- 77 percent think it important for young people to have the experience of seeing live actors perform on a stage.
- 68 percent agreed that TV should broadcast more concerts, opera and serious drama than it does now.
- 79 percent asked that schools make more of an effort to hold concerts for students because they should be exposed to classical music.

We must get used to the idea that more and more Americans will be joining the arts community. We must reject that old shibboleth that the arts appeal only to an intellectual or economic elite. Twenty-two percent of all adult Americans now make at least four visits a year to two or more of the following: a museum or gallery, a concert of music or dance, a performance of drama, opera or ballet. That is more than 30 million people!

> "89 percent of the people consider a theater, concert hall and an art museum important to the quality of life in a community."

And I believe this is only the tip of the proverbial iceberg, for an additional 25 percent are actively participating nonprofessionally in the arts. They play a musical instrument, paint, draw, sculpt or pot; dance in ballet, sing in a choral group; act or work backstage in theater; do creative writing.

- Here is reason enough for political planners to embrace the arts as a proper social service with appropriate government funding.
- Here is reason enough for school boards and administrators to reverse regressive attitudes concerning arts instruction and encouragement in the schools.
- Here is reason enough to consider the arts as a populist (not elitist) activity that constitutes an open challenge to our public and private institutions for responsive action.

Underlying that response should be an awareness that the arts offer a constant restatement of the importance of the individual in our society and a significant role in the fuller development of the unknown potential within each human being. ■

Burger on a Bun:
Three Ways to Make It Taste Expensive

Elizabeth Gee

"You'd be surprised what toppings can do to a hamburger," says Food Editor Marilyn Hansen. "Just start with my basic burger recipe—then create one or all of these taste treats—the Copenhagen Burger, Amarillo Burger or Moscow Burger. It's an economical way to please husbands and kids alike!"

Marilyn's Menu
Burgers
Oven-Baked Frozen French Fries
Favorite Salad
Milk Shakes

BASIC BURGER

1 lb. lean ground chuck
2 tablespoons wheat germ
1 tablespoon ice water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¾ teaspoon salt
Few twists freshly ground black pepper

1. Combine all ingredients in medium bowl and blend with fork.

2. Shape into four burgers. Grill and garnish as desired.

Makes 4 burgers

Budget Tip: To stretch your ground chuck further, use one of the new textured soy-protein products. Make it up according to package directions, then proceed as above.

COPENHAGEN BURGER

4 basic burgers, uncooked
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
8 slices bacon
1 cup sliced onions
1 tablespoon bacon drippings
4 lightly toasted hamburger buns
4 ozs. Danish blue cheese, sliced

1. Sprinkle burgers lightly with allspice and grill as desired.

2. Fry bacon till soft-crisp and roll to "curl." Fry onions in bacon drippings till lightly browned.

3. Place each grilled burger on bun half. Top each with 2 tablespoons fried onions and 1 slice blue cheese. Garnish with 2 bacon curls; place top of bun on side. Makes 4 burgers

AMARILLO BURGER

4 basic burgers, uncooked
¼ teaspoon chili powder
1 cup chopped tomatoes
¼ cup finely chopped onion
3 jalapeño peppers, chopped, or 1 tablespoon chopped cherry peppers
¼ teaspoon salt
1 avocado
1 tablespoon lemon juice
4 lightly toasted hamburger buns

1. Sprinkle burgers with chili powder and grill as desired.

2. Make Salsa Fria: In small bowl combine tomatoes, onion, jalapeño peppers and salt. Refrigerate covered if not serving immediately.

3. Peel and slice avocado, sprinkle with lemon juice.

4. Place each grilled burger on bun half. Top each with 3 tablespoons Salsa Fria. Garnish with 2-3 avocado slices; place top of bun on side. Makes 4 burgers

MOSCOW BURGER

4 basic burgers, uncooked
½ teaspoon dillweed
1 cup sour cream or plain yogurt
1 can (4 ozs.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
Few twists freshly ground black pepper
4 lightly toasted hamburger buns
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

1. Sprinkle burgers with dillweed and grill as desired.

2. Make Stroganoff topping: In small bowl combine sour cream, mushrooms, mustard, salt and pepper. Refrigerate covered if not serving immediately.

3. Place each grilled burger on bun half. Top each with 4 tablespoons Stroganoff sauce. Sprinkle with parsley; place top of bun on side. Makes 4 burgers

ON NOVEMBER 4th 1963,
A STAR WAS BORN.

Introducing Lena Zavaroni . . . the 10 year old British Bombshell who belts out a song in the tradition of Garland and Midler but has a "rock 'em, sock 'em" style all her own.

Lena's version of "Ma! He's Making Eyes At Me" has sold over a million records in England and throughout Europe.

On her debut album for Stax Records, Lena sings 12 songs from the 30's to the 70's that audiences from 6 to 60 have responded to with wild acclaim.

A

4. Nothing is more endearing to others than a person who's always smiling.

5. The penalty for being a nonconformist is that you're likely to irritate people and make more enemies than friends.

6. If you gaze casually at someone, while keeping your face expressionless, it will intrigue him and make him want to become acquainted with you.

ANSWERS

1. False. As shown by a study sponsored by the National Science Foundation, which demonstrated that "attitude similarity was more important than personality similarity as a determiner of attraction." When it comes to making a favorable or unfavorable impression, your temperament and general character don't carry as much weight as your attitude – your likes and dislikes.

2. False. According to psychological tests conducted on more than 100 subjects of both sexes at the University of Alabama. It was found that, contrary to expectations, you will make a good impression on another person "merely by des-

This may be expressed simply in quiet resentment or, on occasion, in "bite the hand that feeds it" behavior. But interestingly, another study reveals that showing a person kindness often has the effect of increasing your liking for him!

4. False. Psychological studies show that a perpetual smile gives the impression of "a suppressed negative attitude."

5. False. Studies at the State University of New York have demonstrated that independent people who don't mind rocking the boat now and then are generally viewed as more sincere, trustworthy and likable.

6. False. Psychological tests at Stanford University show that looking at people in this manner usually has the opposite effect. Instead of intriguing them, it's likely to produce unpleasant tension coupled with either fear or hostility, causing them to wish to avoid you. The investigators point out that a gaze becomes a stare in a matter of seconds. Unless the gaze is quickly mitigated by a disarming change in facial expression, such as a smile, it is likely to be interpreted as a hostile action.

True or False: Nothing is more endearing to others than a person who's always smiling. (See number 4)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. The biggest factor in determining whether another person will find you attractive or unattractive is how much you have in common personality-wise.

2. The surest way to turn another person off is to describe yourself in glowing terms.

3. A foolproof formula for increasing another person's liking for you is to be kind and considerate, do him a favor occasionally, and go out of your way to help him.

4. Nothing is more endearing to others than a person who's always smiling.

5. The penalty for being a nonconformist is that you're likely to irritate people and make more enemies than friends.

6. If you gaze casually at someone, while keeping your face expressionless, it will intrigue him and make him want to become acquainted with you.

ANSWERS

1. False. As shown by a study sponsored by the National Science Foundation, which demonstrated that "attitude similarity was more important than personality similarity as a determiner of attraction." When it comes to making a favorable or unfavorable impression, your temperament and general character don't carry as much weight as your attitude – your likes and dislikes.

2. False. According to psychological tests conducted on more than 100 subjects of both sexes at the University of Alabama. It was found that, contrary to expectations, you will make a good impression on another person "merely by describing yourself as sincere, warm, optimistic and confident." The results, it's pointed out, suggest a simple technique for increasing one's popularity.

3. False. Psychological studies have shown that showering another person with kindness and consideration is as likely to place a strain on the relationship as it is to strengthen it. Many people react adversely to the feeling of obligation that accepting help or money from another person often engenders. This may be expressed simply in quiet resentment or, on occasion, in "bite the hand that feeds it" behavior. But interestingly, another study reveals that showing a person kindness often has the effect of increasing your liking for him!

4. False. Psychological studies show that a perpetual smile gives the impression of "a suppressed negative attitude."

5. False. Studies at the State University of New York have demonstrated that independent people who don't mind rocking the boat now and then are generally viewed as more sincere, trustworthy and likable.

6. False. Psychological tests at Stanford University show that looking at people in this manner usually has the opposite effect. Instead of intriguing them, it's likely to produce unpleasant tension coupled with either fear or hostility, causing them to wish to avoid you. The investigators point out that a gaze becomes a stare in a matter of seconds. Unless the gaze is quickly mitigated by a disarming change in facial expression, such as a smile, it is likely to be interpreted as a hostile action.

WILLIE STARGELL:

Is This His Year to Be MVP?

Willie Stargell may be a perennial No. 2 for Most Valuable Player, but he's No. 1 on the Pittsburgh Pirates. Stargell was forced into the spot when his friend Roberto Clemente died in a plane crash. Clemente had always been the Pirates' leader, but Stargell picked up the mantle and was the principal reason his team remained a strong contender. . . . Last year Stargell led the major leagues with 44 home runs and 119 runs-batted-in, and posted a .299 batting mark for the year. He expected to be named the league's MVP, but was nosed out by Cincinnati's Pete Rose. It was the third straight year he had been edged out. . . . Stargell admits being disappointed, but "I'm not the type who believes in bitterness," he says. He admires Rose and enlisted his help in plugging for research funds to fight sickle-cell anemia. He says his interest in helping others stems from the direction he got from his mother and stepfather. "They gave me love and affection and a feeling that I should not complain about my own troubles, because others were worse off," he says. . . . Stargell's weight is sometimes a drag on his speed, but what he lacks in natural speed he makes up for in hustle. . . . Stargell, 33, is a native of Earlsboro, Okla., and first demonstrated his slugging prowess in sandlot play. After playing on farm teams, he moved up to the big leagues in 1962.—By Barry Abramson

New Relief for Slipped Disk

CHEMONUCLEOLYSIS

There's new hope for slipped-disk sufferers. Slipped disk (or ruptured or herniated disk) means that the cartilage cushion between the vertebrae has developed a "leak." A protein substance called chondromucin leaks out and presses on a nerve. The pain can be excruciating. Heretofore surgery was the remedy: The disk and its leaked substance were removed and the two vertebrae that the disk separated were fused together.... Now there's a new procedure. Called chemonucleolysis, it's effective in about 80 percent of the cases. It consists of only one injection, right into the disk, of an enzyme called chymopapain that is derived from the papaya plant (it's very similar to meat tenderizer). The enzyme dissolves the leaked protein substance, and the pressure on the nerve is relieved. Is it safe? Yes, but in about one percent of the cases there can be an allergic reaction to the enzyme. That is the reason that chemonucleolysis is done in the operating room and not in the doctor's office.—By Erwin Di Cyan, Ph.D.

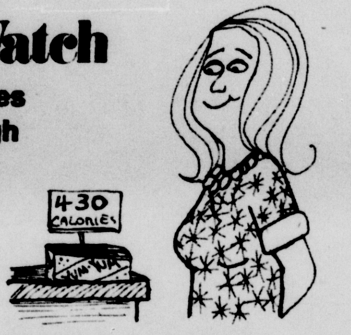
The Diet Watch

How to Keep Calories Low and Morale High



A dieter sails along more confidently on a new regimen when morale is high—so avoid pitfalls that make morale sag. For instance: When you've eaten salty food that makes you drink more liquid than usual, skip weighing yourself the next day—salt retains water and you'll get discouraged when you see your increased weight. . . . After you start a new diet, take more walks, get more fresh air; you'll feel the morale-boosting effects of increased blood circulation right away. . . . Turn your scales up two pounds so you'll know you're really two pounds lighter.... Keep a chocolate bar (or other fattening favorite) in the house on a table—right in plain sight. And don't eat it. Every day you don't eat it, you'll know you're saving yourself 430 calories.—By Harriet La Barre

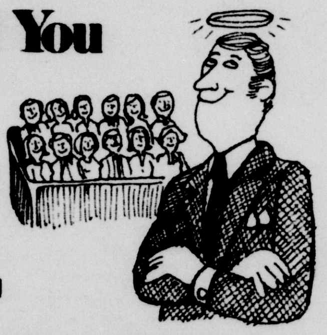
How to Look Honest In a Courtroom



Next time you watch a "Perry Mason" rerun, notice that all Perry's clients come to court conservatively dressed and combed, and scrubbed clean. That's because the fictional Perry Mason deduced what science has recently proved. When university researchers ran four different "trials" for defendants accused of killing a pedestrian while driving while intoxicated, they discovered the defendant's skin color made no difference. But his dress and grooming made considerable difference. The trials of two unattractive, untidy-looking defendants, one white and one black, both produced stiff sentences. The juries decided they were careless and heavy drinkers who deserved their punishment. The trials of the two neat, clean, conservatively dressed defendants, one white and one black, produced lighter sentences. As the juries saw it, the two attractive-looking defendants had probably suffered severe remorse and their accident was a one-time freak.

ROD McKUEN:

"Unpleasant Facts About Unwanted Animals"

"The public would be shocked if it knew how badly so many people treat animals. People will go on a vacation and leave their pet in the street, with the expectation of just getting another when they return. Thousands of animals are put to death every day by so-called humane methods, which are actually painful. I've seen living animals tossed on trucks with dead ones, and I've even seen guys take a cat not yet dead and bash it against a wall." The indignation was pouring from Rod McKuen, poet, author, composer and concert artist, who has established a foundation to help promote more concern. "Something has to be done about the widespread mistreatment, the understaffing of shelters and the inhumane ways of killing unwanted animals. I urge people to call the nearest humane society when they see cruelty to animals, to help stamp out such acts."

When Winds of Change Hit Your Office

"There are going to be changes made around here." When that word gets out in an office or factory, your first natural thought is, "How will it affect me?" Since you can't stop the change, learn some protective actions to make things easier for yourself. 1) Try to get some straight answers from your supervisor. If his reply is, "We're going to retain you to work the new machines. You won't have a problem learning"—you'll have saved yourself quantities of anxiety. If his answer is, "I don't know anything about it," go to someone who is in a position to know. When changes are planned in office procedure, don't just worry. Ask how the new methods will affect you. 2) Be careful whom you ask and to whom you listen. Learn to distinguish between facts from management and confusing rumors. 3) Guard against making change difficult for yourself because of negative thinking. Prejudging the new system or machine as bad only makes it harder for you to learn and adjust.

How to Look Honest In a Courtroom

Next time you watch a "Perry Mason" rerun, notice that all Perry's clients come to court conservatively dressed and combed, and scrubbed clean. That's because the fictional Perry Mason deduced what science has recently proved. When university researchers ran four different "trials" for defendants accused of killing a pedestrian while driving while intoxicated, they discovered the defendant's skin color made no difference. But his dress and grooming made considerable difference. The trials of two unattractive, untidy-looking defendants, one white and one black, both produced stiff sentences. The juries decided they were careless and heavy drinkers who deserved their punishment. The trials of the two neat, clean, conservatively dressed defendants, one white and one black, produced lighter sentences. As the juries saw it, the two attractive-looking defendants had probably suffered severe remorse and their accident was a one-time freak.

ROD McKUEN:

"Unpleasant Facts About Unwanted Animals"

"The public would be shocked if it knew how badly so many people treat animals. People will go on a vacation and leave their pet in the street, with the expectation of just getting another when they return. Thousands of animals are put to death every day by so-called humane methods, which are actually painful. I've seen living animals tossed on trucks with dead ones, and I've even seen guys take a cat not yet dead and bash it against a wall." The indignation was pouring from Rod McKuen, poet, author, composer and concert artist, who has established a foundation to help promote more concern. "Something has to be done about the widespread mistreatment, the understaffing of shelters and the inhumane ways of killing unwanted animals. I urge people to call the nearest humane society when they see cruelty to animals, to help stamp out such acts."

When Winds of Change Hit Your Office

"There are going to be changes made around here." When that word gets out in an office or factory, your first natural thought is, "How will it affect me?" Since you can't stop the change, learn some protective actions to make things easier for yourself. 1) Try to get some straight answers from your supervisor. If his reply is, "We're going to retain you to work the new machines. You won't have a problem learning"—you'll have saved yourself quantities of anxiety. If his answer is, "I don't know anything about it," go to someone who is in a position to know. When changes are planned in office procedure, don't just worry. Ask how the new methods will affect you. 2) Be careful whom you ask and to whom you listen. Learn to distinguish between facts from management and confusing rumors. 3) Guard against making change difficult for yourself because of negative thinking. Prejudging the new system or machine as bad only makes it harder for you to learn and adjust.

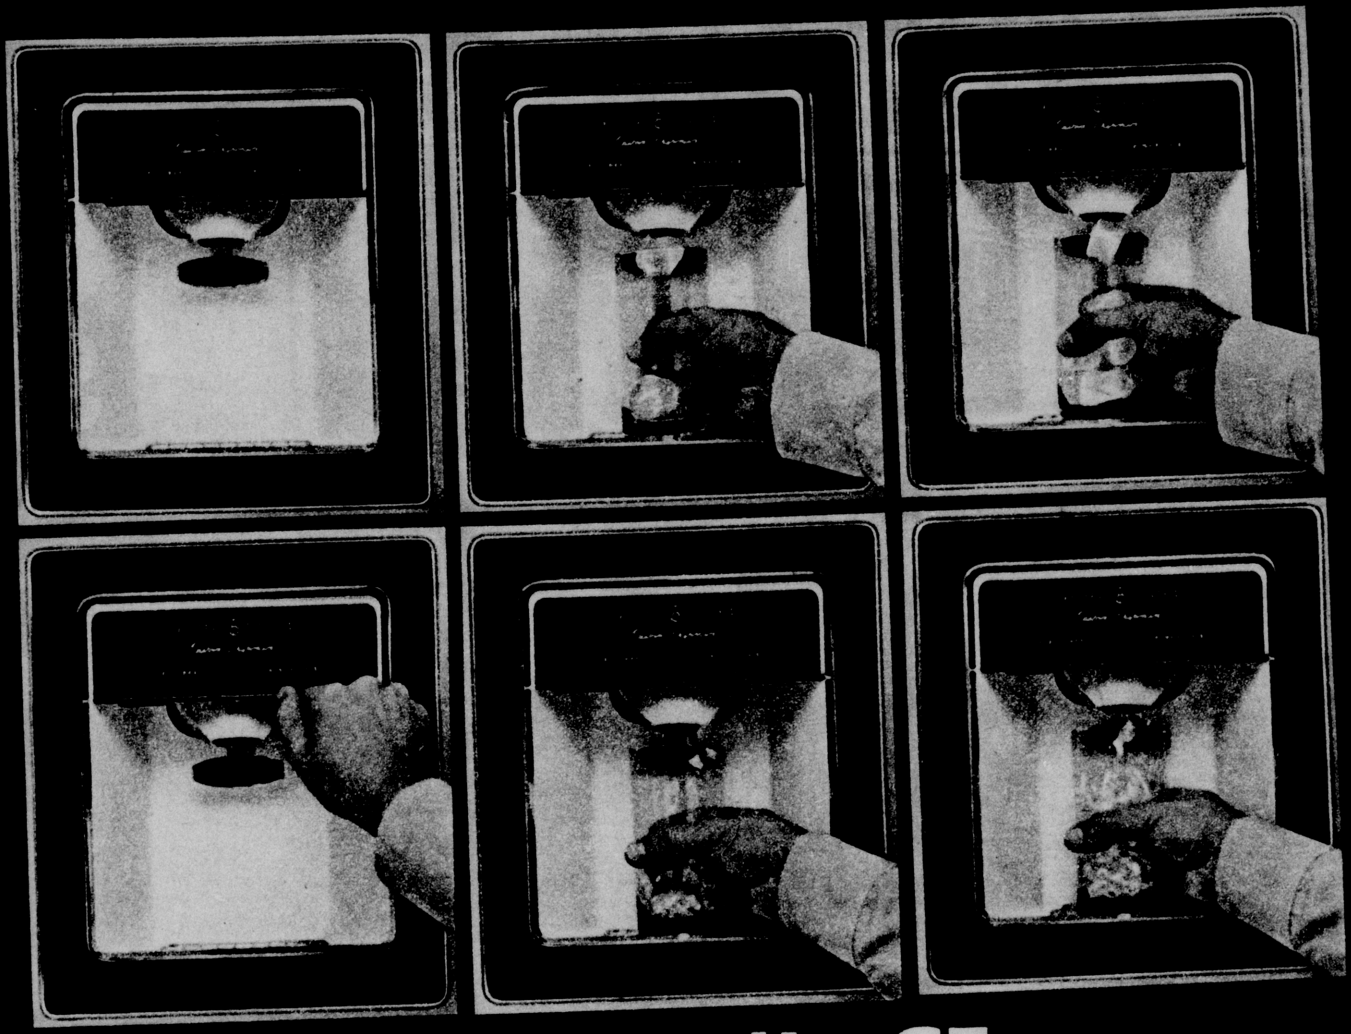
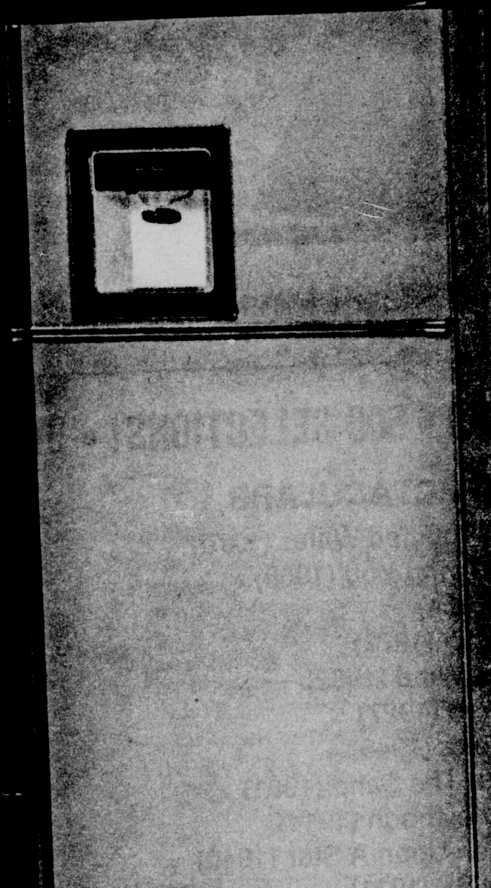
The greatest invention since the ice cube



is now on the GE Top Freezer Refrigerator.



You don't even have to open the door to get ice cubes or crushed ice. Just press your glass against the Custom Ice Dispenser Bar and out comes either ice cubes or crushed ice. And you also get these outstanding features:

Huge 6.82 cu. ft. freezer lets you stock up on bargains or convenience foods, so you make fewer trips to stores.

Provision for Rapid Electrical Diagnosis allows serviceman to check main electrical components in about 6 minutes.

Every GE major appliance is backed by General Electric Customer Care . . . Service Everywhere.” Which means that wherever you are or go in the continental U.S.A., there'll be a qualified GE serviceman nearby.

The Top Freezer Refrigerator with the Custom Ice Dispenser — another reason why GE is America's #1 major appliance value.

Instead of telling us not to smoke, maybe they should tell us what to smoke.

For years, a lot of people have been telling the smoking public not to smoke cigarettes, especially cigarettes with high 'tar' and nicotine.

But the simple fact is that now more Americans are smoking than ever before. Evidently many people like to smoke and will keep on liking to smoke no matter what anyone says or how many times they say it.

Since the cigarette critics are concerned about high 'tar' and nicotine, we would like to offer a constructive proposal.

Perhaps, instead of telling us not to smoke cigarettes, they can tell us what to smoke.

For instance, perhaps they ought to recommend that the American public smoke Vantage cigarettes.

Vantage has a unique filter that allows rich flavor to come through it yet substantially cuts down on 'tar' and nicotine.

We want to be straightforward. Vantage is not the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette.

But it well may be the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette a smoker will enjoy smoking. The truth is that smoke has to come through a filter if taste is to come through a filter. And where there is taste there has to be some 'tar.'

But what good is a low 'tar' cigarette if the smoker has to work so hard trying to pull the flavor through, he feels like he's sucking on a pencil?

Vantage gives the smoker flavor like a full-flavor cigarette. But it's the only cigarette that gives him so much flavor with so little 'tar' and nicotine.

A statement of simple fact we believe all of us can endorse. And that you can experience in your next pack of cigarettes.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They Suffer Pain And Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues?

Exclusive formula gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itch in many cases. Helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues due to inflammation.

News about a most effective medication comes from a recent survey of doctors. Asked what they, themselves, use to relieve such painful symptoms, many of the doctors reporting named one particular medication they either use themselves or in their office practice.

This medication gives prompt relief for hours in many cases from pain and itching of hemorrhoidal tissues. And it actually helps shrink swelling of such tissues caused by infection. Tests by doctors showed this to be true.

The medication used was Preparation H®—the same exclusive formula you can buy at any drug counter without a prescription. Just see if doctor tested Preparation H doesn't help you. There's no other formula like it. Ointment or suppositories.

How's Your Hearing?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

This is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 4600, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill., 60646.

If you order by mail,

Lynn Headley says:

"Please allow up to four weeks for delivery when you order by mail from Family Weekly. Family Weekly's ads are placed by reputable companies. The items and copy are checked for reliability. Yet, unintentional delays occur, because thousands of orders come in to our advertisers from all over the country. We at Family Weekly want to assist you as much as possible when these infrequent delays occur; so if they do, just send me a card or letter. I'll immediately look into it." Write:

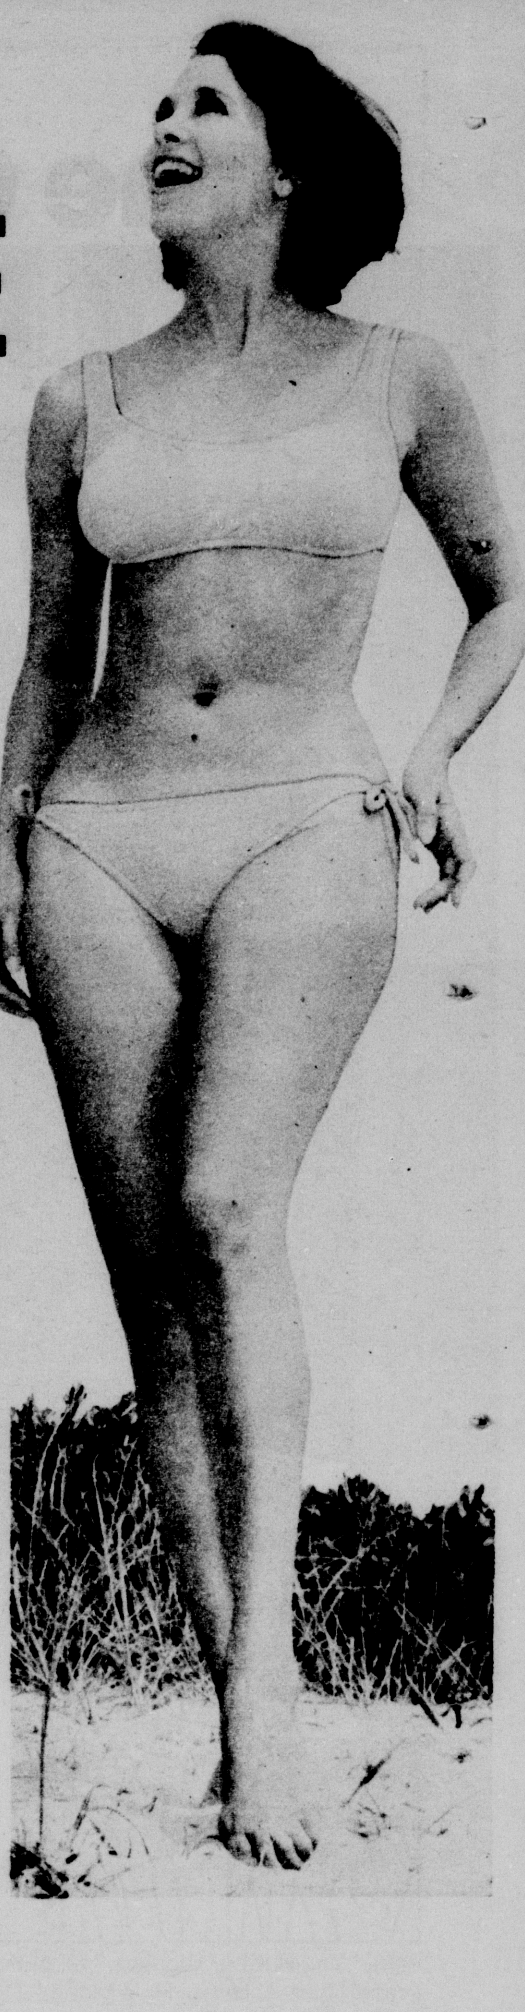
IS IT WORTH $2 TO YOU TO BANISH UGLY CELLULITE FOREVER?



Yes, for only $2 you can get the full low-down on A SPECIAL NEW WAY to rid yourself of ugly, figure-distorting cellulite—once and for all...THE SAME INCREDIBLE BREAK-THROUGH INFORMATION THAT THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE BEEN EAGERLY PAYING UP TO $13 FOR!

And, now it's all yours in one fact-packed little pamphlet, small enough to carry in your handbag, but big enough to now make it easy for you to help:

Banish, forever, those orange-peel thighs!

Bid "Farewell" to those saddlebag hips and buttocks that have been making you burn with shame every time you have to be seen in sports clothes, or a bathing suit, or even walk around in front of your husband or lover!

Because Now—For The First Time In Condensed Form—Here Is A PROVEN Way To Break Down Ugly Cellulite Fat And Speed It Right Out Of Your Body!

What exactly is cellulite? It's that doughy, flabby mass of flesh that afflicts almost 90% of the women in the world, distorting the feminine curves of ladies from 15 to 90. And the sad truth about cellulite is that most women don't even know that cellulite is completely different from ordinary fat! And, because they just don't know the facts about cellulite, they have classified themselves as hopeless "fatties."

So they just keep trying to lose cellulite the ordinary way. They experiment with every new fad diet that comes on the market—the water diet, the grapefruit diet, the drinking man's diet, the low-carbohydrate diet, the high-protein diet, and who-knows-how-many-more. They starve themselves, get pummeled and kneaded at health spas, pay countless visits (and countless dollars) to "fat" doctors, eagerly join in the "group therapy" at their local diet club.

And, although they sometimes lose pounds, and inches, they still have lumpy, bumpy, ripply fat clinging to their thighs, buttocks, hips, upper arms, stomachs, to the insides of their knees, and, in some cases, even to their backs!

No wonder these women have become discouraged! They try their very best—and yet they still recoil with disgust at the sight of their naked body in a mirror!

But, Now, From The Women Of Europe Comes New Hope In The Form Of A Tried And Proven Cure For This Heartbreaking Problem!

Yes, recently uncovered facts now confirm that these women are not "just fat!" They are the unwitting victims of the Cellulite Scourge! And cellulite is not ordinary fat. It's lumpy, bubbly globules of toxic material which has become trapped in small pockets just underneath the surface of what used to be flawlessly smooth skin. It's really a gel-like substance containing fat, water, and poisonous waste material, which attaches itself to the vulnerable connective muscle tissue and just can't be budged by any ordinary diet!

If you've taken the simple Cellulite Detection Test shown above, and you're now sure that you're one of the thousands afflicted with this figure-distorting mess, this is what you must do:

Right now, clip out the coupon and mail it with $2. When your copy of Say Goodbye to Cellulite arrives, you will have all the information you will need to break down this hardened toxin-packed ugly fat, and speed it on its way right out of your body. Literally push it out in a completely "natural" way, without the crutch of diuretics or synthetically-produced chemicals that might further unbalance your delicate eliminatory system!

Yes, You CAN Win The Cellulite War Quickly And Easily, Right In Your Own Home, By Using These THREE SPECIAL CELLULITE CHASERS!

Once again, let me state that you will not have to spend one cent over the purchase price of $2. You won't have to buy dangerous appetite depressant drugs, special exercise apparatus, or expensive diet foods. You won't have to attend "pep" rallies to keep from falling off the diet-wagon, visit doctors, or even buy any high-priced "special" cuts of meat. All you need to know about cellulite is contained right here—condensed into these three all-important methods of self-treatment:

First, how to break down the hardened masses of flab that have been making your curves into lumps with unique Anti-Cellulite Self-Massage Treatments. (You'll also discover how to detect any incipient cellulite formations long before they become hardened and "marbleized" into fat!)

Second, the wonderfully simple and satisfying Anti-Cellulite Food Program. Once again, you will have to buy no special foods, prepare no special dishes, cope with no agonizing hunger pangs. You simply pick your meal from the complete listing of perfectly "normal" and delicious foods (including between-meal snacks) that you can reward yourself with, day after day—all the while knowing that they are actually helping your body to "wash" cellulite poisons right out of your system!

And third, you will be shown a few simple Anti-Cellulite Relaxers—a new type of condensed, effortless exercise, that will also bring a youthful glow to your complexion, increase your circulation, and promote an over-all general feeling of health and strength that you may have never experienced before in your lifetime!

Yes, Within Weeks After Beginning This Cellulite Elimination Program, Your Body Will Take On A New Shape! Bumps And Bulges Will Seem To Smooth Out, And Your Skin Will Be Softer And More Supple Than Ever Before!

You will actually feel more vibrant and alive than ever before because this special three-step Cellulite Elimination Program has a dual effect: Not only does it help give you the slim figure you've always wanted, free of ugly and distorting lumps and bulges; but it also acts as a natural booster, to accelerate the functioning of your body's normal elimination system so that harmful toxins are continually flushed out of your body!

You can tell the difference between cellulite fat and ordinary flab in two ways:

First, examine the surface of your skin under a strong lamp. If little shadows appear on the surface of what should be smooth skin, you've got it!

OR

Press or squeeze the suspect flesh between your thumb and index finger. If it's cellulite, the skin will ripple and look like an orange peel. (In the more advanced stages, the ripples are all too noticeable without applying any pressure at all!)

But that's not all! For once you regularly practice this simple anti-cellulite routine, you will actually help:

Revitalize weary, neglected and abused muscle tissue by throwing off the wastes that are now weakening it!

Practice the one simple trick that will prevent you from diluting your stomach's natural digestive juices, thus, unwittingly, slowing down normal digestion.

Stop relying on drugs to bolster your lagging self-control, and discover how to use nature's own appetite depressant to keep you from overindulging in foods that are harmful to your cellulite battle.

Discover how to identify and avoid the "food combinations" that actually impede your progress in eliminating cellulite.

All this valuable information is now yours. Yours for the unbelievable low price of $2! Once again, let us point out that this is the very same information that is being snapped up by women all over the country for as much as $13! (That's a saving of $11 to you!) Return the coupon and begin to look forward to a cellulite-free future.

Night at the Carnival. And almost everybody has a gimmick. Pick the one who doesn't. 1-2. No and no. It's the former tattooed man and his wife, "The Rubber Woman." Gimmick: They've embraced so much, she's erased him. 3. Nope. He's Moe M. Downe. Gimmick: Pitching show-off. His curve never breaks . . . only his extra-long cigarette. Not too bright. Thinks a manila folder is the Filipino contortionist. 4. Nope. He's Jack Knife. Gimmick: Dives 185 feet into a full-color photograph of Lake Erie. 5. No, he's Hugh Mann Kanonbawl, recently fired. (They wanted a man of higher caliber.) Either still has black powder on his face . . . or his charcoal filter cigarette is attacking his nose. 6. No, but it's a pretty good ms. 7. Right. He thinks there's enough fun here without extra gimmicks and fancy frills. Likes his smoking pleasure honest, too. Camel Filters. Great tobacco taste without the nonsense. 8. Not Noah Refund, the barker. Gimmick: Fast sales pitch. He could talk the Wolf Man into wearing a flea collar. 9. "The Bird Man" (not shown). BOB & CAROL
She wonders how they've made it

Carol Lawrence tries hard to make her marriage work, though she admits it is difficult—particularly for husbands and wives who work together. Looking back on the crises she and Robert Goulet have surmounted, she wonders how they've managed to stay together for nearly 11 years. Show-business marriages "take a real effort to make them work. And if they're not the source of tremendous gratification, the tensions and the pressures make it appealing simply to walk out." The reason they've stayed together, undoubtedly, has something to do with the way Carol feels about her husband: "That man of mine makes living a challenge. He can be darling, he's got a wild sense of humor. But he is stubborn! And what a temper!"

When you're taking that auto trip this summer and your spouse, sitting beside you with a road map, tells you to "turn left—I mean right," count to ten. Then imagine what it would be like trying to drive if you didn't have any road map at all. Back in 1909, a company called Rand McNally got the idea of taking pictures of the roads and drawing arrows on the pictures to show which way to turn. Four pictures and 60-some words got you through about three miles of driving. The first photograph in each set marked a starting point at which the driver set the car odometer at zero and then began looking for landmarks. "Turn left at the red-brick school," or "Turn south and leave the wires," were typical instructions. When the little red schoolhouse was replaced, or the telephone company strung some new wires, imagine the number of lost travelers who turned up at the friendly neighborhood farmhouse!

JUSTICE DOUGLAS
The waiter saw double

QUOTE: Justice William O. Douglas: "A gentleman stopped me on 56th Street near Park Avenue, called me by name, and said he had admired me for years because once as a waiter he had served me at a restaurant where I drank in rapid succession four double vodkas. 'What a man,' he said. 'If it had happened to me, I'd have been under the table.' I never told him it must have been Casey Stengel or Spencer Tracy (for whom I'm often mistaken), because it probably was not. There doubtless is still another understudy for me in Manhattan on the alcoholic side." From "Go East, Young Man," by Justice William O. Douglas (Random House, $10). UNQUOTE.

FLESH POT

I've seen my wife put on her girdle,
A sight that makes my bloodstream
curdle.
She tugs, she twists, she strains, she
wiggles;
Absurd it is, but gets no giggles.
At last it's on—that is, she's in it.
So tight it fits, no need to pin it.
Her shape, there can be little doubt
of it,
Is better when she's in than out of it.
And yet beneath, although unwanted,
The bulgy flesh remains undaunted.
Yes, though it's squeezed and lowered,
lifted,
It's all still there, just slightly shifted.

Nixon off on new peace trip

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon headed today for his third Summit meeting in a little over two years with Soviet leaders, expressing hope his new "journey for peace" would help avoid a runaway arms race and a danger of world war.

Nixon flew first to Brussels for meetings with some of the top leaders of NATO countries —with the aim of giving "new purpose and direction" to the alliance —before going to Moscow Thursday.

In a brief departure ceremony at Andrews Air Force Base, just outside Washington, Nixon said that "as we take off on another journey for peace," his aim at the Moscow Summit was threefold:

— "First, we expect to strengthen the bilateral relations between the two strongest nations in the world.

—"Second, we hope to develop areas of cooperation to displace confrontation in other critical areas of the world that might be those places where conflict could develop between the two great powers.

—"And third, we hope to make more progress on a goal that we began to achieve and move forward toward in 1972 of limiting both the burden and also the threat of nuclear arms over our two nations and over the world generally."

The President seemed in good spirits, having apparently recovered strength from the fatiguing Mideast trip. He also showed no sign, in his public appearances on leaving the White House and at the airbase, of the limp resulting from an attack of phlebitis in the leg that occurred while he was on his way to the Mideast.

He expressed confidence, in his departure statement, that most Americans "are united behind the efforts we are making to attempt to resolve differences that otherwise would lead to a runaway arms race and otherwise would lead to confrontation not only between two great powers but all over the world."

Nixon leaves behind, as he did when he went to the Mideast for the first meeting by a President with leaders of three Arab countries in their own capitals, the multifaceted Watergate scandals, with Congress in the process of an impeachment inquiry.

He made no reference to his domestic problems as he outlined his hopes for the Moscow summit, including further steps to limit the arms race.

"These are very great goals and like all great goals, they are difficult to achieve just as was the case of the goals we sought to achieve on our first trip to the Mideast," he said. "But we are confident that when we look at these goals not only must we seek to achieve them but we believe that we can achieve them."

The President added, "And we know that (with) American strength, American resolve and, above all, American determination and dedication, that we will be able to make progress on this long but vitally important journey for peace, not only for America but for all mankind."

This third Nixon Summit with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev follows previous Nixon-Brezhnev meetings in Moscow in May, 1972 —when they signed the first phase of nuclear arms control agreements —and a Brezhnev visit to the United States last June.

Slight break in record heat expected

A slight cooling trend is expected Wednesday in the current heat wave that sent temperatures to 97 degrees Monday and made it the hottest June 24 ever recorded in Pomona.

Today the forecast was for 96 degree heat accompanied by heavy smog. Air Pollution Control District officials in both Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties called health advisories in both valley areas today. Advisories are called when the ozone level reaches .20 parts per million.

The APCD asks that the public limit unnecessary driving and curtail strenuous physical activity in the affected areas.

Monday's hot weather broke a previous record of 94 degrees that was set June 24, 1957. The smog was also heavy in some areas.

In San Bernardino County Monday, Fontana reported a peak of .51 ppm, Upland, .45 ppm and Chino, .25 ppm.

Los Angeles County APCD reported a peak of .23 ppm and Azusa .21 ppm.

The overnight low was 59 degrees and is expected to be a warmer 61 degrees.

But the weatherman said temperatures may "cool down" to the low 90s Wednesday and for the remainder of the week, because of a low pressure area that is moving along the coast.

Sam Howe of Southern California Edison Co. said a survey of valley substations revealed that the use of power is down by about five per cent over this time last year.

Howe said this may be an indication that residents are making an effort ho conserve energy and are responding to appeals to save power.

"We will know more if this is the case today after another hot day." Officials say that air conditioning is the biggest culprit of energy.

Bonelli Swim Park in San Dimas had another busy day Monday, reporting 3,622 visitors to the swim park and 3,850 visitors to the fishing, boating and picnic facilities at the North Shore of Puddingstone Lake.

DEMONSTRATORS GET THE GATE

Two female demonstrators are forcibly removed from the Normandy Motor Inn Monday as they tried to get in to see Vice President Gerald Ford, who was addressing a Republican fund-raising event. Minneapolis police and Hennepin County sheriff's officers removed 25 demonstrators, seven by force.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today unanimously struck down a Florida law granting political candidates the right to free reply space in newspapers in which they are criticized.

Mississippi is the only other state with such a law but it was believed other states might enact one if Florida's had been found valid. Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., has suggested Congress consider a federal right-to-reply law.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, writing for the Court, said "compelling editors or publishers to publish that which 'reason tells them should not be published' is what is at issue in this case."

He said the "statute operates as a command in the same sense as a statute or regulation forbidding" a paper to publish something. The law violates the First Amendment guarantee of a free press, he said.

The Miami Herald brought the Florida case to the high court after the state Supreme Court upheld the 1913 law on July 18, 1973.

The statute called for fines and jail terms for violation of the requirement to allow a candidate to reply to any publication which "assails personal character;" charges "malfeasance or misfeasance" in office, or "otherwise attacks his official record."

The Herald was sued by Pat L. Tornillo, a Democratic candidate in 1972 for a seat in the Florida House of Representatives. As head of the Classroom Teachers Association, he was a well-known figure in the community.

Tornillo invoked the law after the Herald rejected his demand to print replies to editorials against his candidacy.

Dade County Judge Francis J. Christie dismissed the case but was reversed by the state Supreme Court.

Burger said the law exacted a penalty on the basis of the content of a newspaper by imposing additional printing, composing and materials costs and by taking up space that could be devoted to other material the newspaper may have preferred to print.

Even if this were not so, the opinion said, the law still failed to clear First Amendment barriers because of its "intrusion into the function of editors."

"A newspaper is more than a passive receptacle or conduit for news, comment and advertising," Burger said. "The choice of material to go into a newspaper and the decisions made as to limitations on the size of the paper, and content, and treatment of public issues and public officials —whether fair or unfair —constitutes the exercise of editorial control and judgment."

Revenue sharing funds

$2.2 million OK'd for city golf course

POMONA — County supervisors Monday agreed to spend $2.2 million in revenue sharing funds to reconstruct the Mountain Meadows Golf Course.

Supervisor Peter Schabarum made the motion to use federal funds to complete the reconstruction project at the close of a day-long budget session. The vote was 4-1 with Supervisor Kenneth Hahn voting against the action.

The money will provide for renovation of the 18-hole course, but will not be used to construct a proposed clubhouse. Supervisors plan for a private concessionaire to build and operate the clubhouse. The concessionaire will be picked following routine bidding.

Supervisors in May couldn't agree on a plan proposed by M & M Golf Co., comprising associates of golf pros Billy Casper and David Rainville. The company wanted to rebuild and improve the course with a 32-year lease agreement with the county. The county would have received $18,000 a year, or percentages from the gross receipts of the fees and concessions.

But Supervisor Baxter Ward and Hahn balked at the negotiations to complete the project and it never received approval from the board.

The first step in the project will be the revamping of plans and specifications for the course.

D.B. girl, 12, killed in tumble from horse

The victim, Victoria Markman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Markman, 1047 Twin Canyon Lane, suffered a head injury in a fall at the Les Jones Stables, 2850 S. Diamond Bar Blvd.

She was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital, but died a few minutes after arrival there.

Sheriffs deputies said Victoria was riding her own horse in an arena at the stable when she fell off. Her head struck a corral post.

The victim attended Diamond Point Elementary School.

She was born on March 29, 1962. She is survived by three sisters, Becka, Patty, and Cindy, and two brothers, Steve and Chris.

Rosary will be recited Wednesday at St. Elizabeth Church in Altadena, and a Mass will be celebrated on Thursday morning. Burial will be in the Resurrection Cemetery in South San Gabriel. Funeral arrangements are being handled by Cabot and Son Mortuary, Pasadena.

He'd rather go on trial than down the aisle

Miss Slatcher was ready. The caterers stood by, the presents were on display. And 100 guests were arriving for the reception.

But Eaton, a store manager, was in the prisoner's dock at Reading Magistrate's court, defiantly resisting pleas from the bench, his mother, his father and his waiting to accept bail and go through with the ceremony.

Police said even though they charged Eaton with attempting to enter a store with intent to steal they had no objection to letting him out to get married.

"I definitely don't want bail. I want to go to prison," Eaton said. The judge reluctantly sent him to jail to await trial in about seven weeks.

The bride said she'd wait until he got out.

7 killed in Arab guerrilla attack on Israeli resort

By United Press International

Three Arab guerrillas in a rubber landing craft disembarked at the Israeli resort of Nahariyya, blasted into an apartment house and killed four persons today before Israeli soldiers gunned them down. Israel hinted at a retaliatory strike into Lebanon.

Seven persons were killed in the 2 ½ hour battle at Nahariyya —the three guerrillas, an Israeli soldier and a mother and her two children, the Israeli military command said. Six other soldiers and a civilian were wounded.

In Damascus, the military command of the Palestinian guerrillas assumed responsibility for the attack and called it a reprisal for Israeli air raids on Palestinian refugee camps in Lebanon.

In Cairo, the Arab League was poised to call an urgent meeting of its defense council to discuss concerted action to halt Israeli attacks on Palestinian camps in Lebanon, an Arab League spokesman said.

Violent political clashes erupt in Chinese cities

HONG KONG (UPI) — Violent clashes between opposing political factions have erupted in at least a dozen major cities and provincial areas of China this month, diplomatic sources specializing in Chinese affairs said today.

Wall posters put up in Peking during the past few days claimed some deaths occurred in at least one area, Kiangsi Province in East Central China. One series of posters reported 200 deaths but was vague on details.

China specialists in both Peking and Hong Kong indicated they have not been able to confirm the reports of fatal clashes.

But they said the claims should not be discounted since they were contained in posters put up in the capital with the support of at least some members of the central leadership.

Despite the claims of deaths in Kiangsi, most available information from diplomatic and intelligence sources indicated have been on a relatively small scale.

So far they appear to have involved small factional groups fighting with sticks, stones, iron bars and other nonlethal weapons.

The Peking posters about violence in Kiangsi have been the most sensational and detailed.

They were put up by a group from the province calling itself the "Sons and Daughters of Chingkangshan." Chingkangshan is the mountain where Communist Party Chairman Mao Tse-tung formed his first guerrilla base in 1927.

Governor defends use of new bullets

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill Monday defended state police use of hollow-point bullets, saying "those who prefer the police shoot lollypops at gunmen will just have to go elsewhere."

Connecticut state police are switching from .38-caliber handguns to the more powerful .357 magnums and are issued bullets that are banned in warfare as brutal and inhumane.

"We like it here in Connecticut," Meskill said of the new guns and ammunition.

"The real issue is when the guns are used —not the ammunition. Troopers use great restraint in the use of their weapons."

Owner kills 30,000 turkeys over costs

WAKINSVILLE, Ga. (UPI)—The owner of Georgia's only commercial turkey hatchery said Monday he slaughtered about 30,000 baby turkeys because production costs have exceeded the price producers can get for the birds.

James E. Thaxton, president of Thaxton Turkeys, Inc., said he could lose $250,000 or more by the end of the year if the trend continues.

Priest gets last laugh in contest

DETROIT (UPI) — The winner of a contest for a week's vacation for two at the Playboy Club at Lake Geneva, Wis., was the Rev. Malcolm Carron, president of the University of Detroit. But Carron, a Jesuit priest, said he did not enter the contest.

He was named winner of the drawing Monday, beating odds of 6,000 to 1. An investigation showed that someone else submitted the priest's name as an entrant. The prankster remained unknown.

Contest entrants wrote their names on coupons and dropped them in boxes at men's clothing stores in the Midwest.

When Playboy learned of the Carron mix-up, it offered an alternative prize and he accepted —a trip to a Port St. Lucie Fla., Country Club. The priest is an avid golfer.

County workers get pay increase

County supervisors Monday approved new salary schedules which gives most of the county's 7,000 employes 7.5 per cent pay raises each year for the next three years.

Clerical workers, however, will receive only a six per cent hike this year, based on a two-year study on clerical reclassifications just completed.

The pay hike will cost an additional $8.2 million for the new fiscal year which starts July 1. The new budget has $75 million allocated for salaries.

For the first time, supervisors adopted a salary schedule for a three-year period. The 1976-77 pay hike, however, will come in divided increments of 5 per cent and 2.5 per cent.

The three-year agreement provides that employes can reopen negotiations if the cost of living increase goes over 10 per cent and the management can reopen negotiations if it falls below seven per cent.

County employes had received an average of five per cent pay hikes last fiscal year.

Burglars take snake and parrot

ONTARIO — Police this morning were searching for a Pied half moon parrot and a python snake taken Monday night by burglars who forced their way into Gladson's Pet Shop at 154 N. San Antonio Ave.

Police said the burglars, possibly youths, broke a window and crawled inside of the pet store. The parrot and the snake were taken from their cages by the burglars who exited through the rear door. Officers said the burglars made no attempt to take some small change left in the cash register.

Impeachment not relevant to state campaign--Flournoy

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Houston I. Flournoy said Sunday Edmund G. Brown Jr. "seems to think impeachment is the most important issue in the campaign."

Brown, Flournoy's Democratic opponent in the November election, "does not seem to realize the governor of California does not have a vote on the question," Flournoy said.

Flournoy made his remarks at a meeting of the California Republican Assembly, who voted unanimously to support Flournoy and all Republican candidates in the election.

"If we refuse to get sidetracked into irrelevant discussion," Flournoy said, "I think we can win and show that the Republican Party is not going the way of the Whigs."

Firemen from three cities rescue boy

POMONA — Firemen from Pomona, Montclair and Chino joined efforts Sunday afternoon to rescue a young boy from the San Antonio Wash.

Pomona Firemen Ron Gomez was lowered into the wash on special equipment to pull out Glen Martin at East End Avenue. Martin had gone into a culvert pipe in order to get out of the fast moving water which had carried him several blocks from the point where he entered the wash behind the Sears store.

Firemen from the Montclair and Chino departments were stationed at other points of the wash to assist if Gomez was unsuccessful at the East End Avenue junction with the wash.

Height rule killed for men, not women

STOCKTON (UPI) — A man can be 4-foot tall and still be a city policeman, but women have to be 5-foot-4.

The Stockton Civil Service Commission dropped a 5-foot-7 requirement for policemen but refused to change the woman's height requirement.

City Attorney Monreo Langdon said he could not find a good defense for retention of the 5-foot-7 requirement for men.

Helicopter crash kills two firemen in training flight

LA CANADA, Calif. (UPI) — Two occupants on a training flight of a fire department helicopter were killed Sunday when the craft crashed and burned in the Los Angeles National Forest near Big Tujunga Reservoir.

A fire department spokesman said Hill was apparently flying the two-seat Bell 47 helicopter and was training Radcliffe in the use of the aircraft.

It was the second crash of a city chopper in the three weeks. On May 29, a police department craft crashed in Lopez Canyon in the San Fernando Valley. Cmdr. Paul Gillen, a 25-year-old veteran of the force, was killed instantly.

Health's first woman

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Dr. Joanne E. Finley of Philadelphia is the first woman to serve as commissioner of the New Jersey Department of Health. She was sworn in Monday.

Dr. Finley, 50, is the former public health director for the city of New Haven, Conn. She received her medical degree from Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland in 1962, going back to school after having raised four children.

From 1968 to 1972 Dr. Finlay was director of health planning for the department of Public Health in Philadelphia.

City, police to work with Mex-Am youths

POMONA — Members of the City Council indicated Monday night they would work informally with Police-Chief F. P. Wallick, neighborhood groups and city staff in an effort to improve relations between the city's Mexican-Americans, youths and the police department.

The indications were given after a lengthy meeting during which the department was criticized for its handling of an incident June 16 at the Eagles Lodge and nearby Taco Lita stand that resulted in the arrest of 11 .

About a dozen persons spoke on the matter.

Speakers alleged police brutality and harassment of Mexican-Americans but a youth said such allegations were aimed at only a few of the department's police officers.

The speakers spoke of a desire to improve the understanding between the department and the city's Mexican-American community, adding that a number of meetings already had been held with city officials and police personnel.

"This will not be resolved overnight. It's going to take time," Councilman Ben Ochoa told the audience.

He encouraged the Mexican-Americans to continue their efforts to promote a better understanding between minority groups, youths and the police.

Major fire averted in downtown Ontario

ONTARIO — An Ontario police officer investigating the smell of smoke in the area of S. Pleasant Street and the quick action of Ontario firemen Monday night may have prevented a major conflagration in the downtown Ontario area.

Police Officer Terry Callison said he smelled smoke while on patrol in the area and went to investigate. Callison said he had some difficulty in locating its source but finally noticed smoke pouring up from underneath the loading dock of Sam's Auto Wrecking at 115 S. Pleasant Ave. Callison called the fire department which arrived in less than a minute.

Ontario fire Inspector Rick Lebell said this morning, "If they hadn't stopped the fire when they (firemen on the scene) did, we would have had a real ripper.' Lebell said that a major fire in the area could have resulted with the huge old wooden building housing the auto wrecking company, the Hoyt Lumber Co. on the south, and numerous business on the west, becoming involved.

Employes of the auto wrecking firm told firemen later that they had had a small fire Monday afternoon involving a cardboard box, but believed they had completely extinguished it. No fire report was made. Lebell said the cardboard box may have continued smouldering and finally ignited the old wooden timbers under the loading dock.

Magic or not it's against the law to desecrate tombs in cemetery

LONDON (UPI) — A pretty girl dancing naked at midnight over exhumed coffins in a cemetery. A headless body dumped in a parked car.

Farrant went on trial recently on charges of desecrating tombs in Highgate cemetery, the north London graveyard where Karl Marx is buried.

"Whatever bizarre activities this young man may wish to indulge in in his private life...He is not entitled to damage property or to disturb the dead," said prosecutor Richard du Cann.

Farrant was said to have styled himself the high priest of the British Occult Society, partly dedicated to revealing the future by communicating with the dead.

Testimony said he and his groups held monthly meetings in Highgate cemetery "if the weather was fine." The prosecution charged that the meetings involved breaking into family vaults and stealing bodies from their coffins.

On one occasion, a young French girl danced naked at midnight over desecrated coffins and graveyard tombs, the court was told. In another case a headless body snatched from a grave was dumped in a parked car when the group was disturbed, the prosecution charged. The motorist who owned the car found the corpse in the front seat the following morning.

St. Bernard, police car tangle; dog wins

POMONA — A St. Bernard dog and a police radio car collided early this morning with the patrol car apparently coming off the worse for the crash.

The mishap occurred shortly after 1 a.m. at Vanama Street north of Harrison Avenue. Officer Boyd Ellerbeck, 31, said he was northbound when a cat ran across the street in front of his car. The cat was followed by Baron, the St. Bernard, in hot pursuit. Baron slammed into the side of the car, scratching it, and then left the scene.

Ellerbeck said he was unable to examine the dog closely because the accident had made the animal "Irritable." It didn't appear hurt, though, he reported.

The dog belongs to Laura M. Lindskog who lives at 2913 Vanama St. He got out of the backyard through an unlatched gate.

A Montclair woman was injured slightly in a collision at Indian Hill Boulevard south of Kingsley Avenue Monday evening. Rachel S. Arnold, 26, of 10372 Ramona Ave., was released after treatment at Doctors Hospital in Montclair.

Police said the driver of the other car abandoned his car at the scene and drove away in a second vehicle. They impounded the car he was driving, which had been loaned to him by friends, officers said.

The victim said she ws southbound when the other driver turned abruptly in front of the car.

Ford follows Agnew act on golf course

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Vice President Gerald Ford, on the stump for the Nixon administration Monday, accidentally hit a spectator on his first drive in a benefit golf tournament.

Ford's drive off the tee at Rolling Green Country Club soared almost straight up, grazing the head of Tom Gerard when it came down.

"I'm deeply sorry about that," Ford said.

163rd to get new airplane type, mission

ONTARIO — The California Air National Guard's 163rd Fighter Group here may soon have a new mission and a new type of airplane.

The fighter group, based at Ontario International Airport, has a present assignment of intercepting and identifying any unknown aircraft in Southern California.

For the job, it has some 20 F-102 jets which are manned on a 24-hour alert status.

The Air Force announced Monday the fighter group would be redesigned as the 163rd Tactical air Support Group.

"This would be an entirely different mission," said Lt. Col. Lloyd A. Hutton, base commander. "If we go to a tactical air support group, I'm certain this will involve a change of aircraft.

"I'm not sure of the aircraft we will be assigned, but the aircraft associated with this mission is the 0 2, a twin engine propeller airplane. This is built by Cessna as an executive aircraft."

Hutton said he hasn't received official notification yet of the Air Force action. Thus, he was reluctant to discuss if this would cause a reduction in personnel. But, he noted, every mission carries its own special "manning."

The fighter group had been designated last February to be phased out and replaced by an Air Force detachment now assigned to Castle Air Force Base near Merced.

The proposed phase out was based on a study by the U.S. Defense Department to improve air surveillance and long range warning capability.

The Air National Guard, which occupies 49 acres on the south part of the airport, has 900 assigned here, including 200 full time employes. The annual payroll is about $3.1 million.

The fighter group has been assigned to the airport since 1952 when it returned from the Korean Conflict.

Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., however reported today the Air Force plans to provide the guard with 24 Cessna 0-2A twin engine light planes used primarily for forward fire control.

These planes were designed for use in counter-insurgency warfare and were used heavily in Vietnam. The aircraft operates from a short landing strip with minimal noise factors.

Phasing out the F 102 jets will mean a loss of 171 authorized positions, of which 111 are full time air technicians, said Veysey. The new unit will have an authorized strength of 467 guardsmen, 159 air technicians and three active duty personnel. Air technccians displaced will retain job rights with the state and go to other guard units.

CLAREMONT — A woman motorist escaped injury early Monday afternoon when her car crossed the center divider of Foothill Boulevard and slammed into the Republic Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Stephanie M. Adams, 35, of 146 E. 11th St., told police she had to swerve to avoid a car which made a sudden turn in front of her as she was eastbound. The wall of the building at 1001 W. Foothill Blvd. was damaged by the impact.

Contract given G. Dynamics

POMONA — The General Dynamics plant here has received an Air Force contract of $1.4 million for replacement of F111 aircraft electronic countermeasure systems.

The awarding was announced by Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist. Work will be done at the Pomona plant with funds coming from the current budget.

House of Pies burglars fail

ONTARIO — Burglars who crawled through a trap door on the roof of the House of Pies, 1141 N. Mountain Ave. tried unsuccessfully to pry open a cash register, chisel a safe, and break open a pay telephone box, were being sought by police this morning.

The burglars, who police said may have been in the building several hours, made off with only two $1 bills left on a desk in the manager's office.

Australians reject showing of 'Throat'

CANBERRA (UPI) — The Film Board of Review has recently unanimously rejected an appeal to permit the American movie "Deep Throat" to be shown in Australia.

Last week., The Film Censorship Board rejected "Deep Throat" on the grounds of indecency.

In its official report Wednesday, the four-man review committee declared the film was hardcore pornography, and ruled against its distribution in Australia.

Police search for burglars

ONTARIO — Police this morning continued their search for burglars who broke into a karate studio in a residential home at 1821 E. Princeton Ave. Saturday and made off with several handguns, karate sticks, more than 2,100 rounds of ammunition and numerous karate cards.

Police said the burglar forced open a sliding glass door of the Kung Fu Studio sometime during the day Saturday. Richard W. Lasiter, 36, owner of the studio, said the burglar took numerous cards given to karate students with the name Jimmie H. Woo Associates on them.

Total value of the stolen items was listed at $267.

A WHALE OF A FLOAT

Students at Sycamore Elementary School in Claremont have joined the 'Save the Whales' drive in the U.S. and have constructed a 26-foot-long sperm whale named Jonah, which they have entered in the Claremont Fourth of July parade. Jonah is black on top, and white on the bottom, and has a mouth in front, of course, into which you can crawl and count his 26 ribs. The students have written letters to Soviet Premier Alexsei Kosygin and Japanese Premier Kakvei Tanaka in protest of the wholesale slaughter of whales off Japan and Russia.

Sex film, book purveyors menaced by ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday gave juries more leeway to find books and movies obscene, and some lawyers for booksellers, libraries and film distributors are worried.

"It's a very, very menacing thing," said Maxwell J. Lillienstein of New York, who represents American Booksellers Association and other publishing interests.

Both Lillienstein and William D. North of Chicago, who represents the American Library Association, saw serious danger that alleged obscenity will be used as a screen for continuing the attack on books which are socially, economically or politically distasteful to a particular group. North cited "Down These Mean Streets" by Priri Thomas and Eldridge Cleaver's "Soul on Ice" as examples.

Lilleinstein recalled that Claude Brown's "Manchild in the Promised Land" has been banned in Macon, Ga. North said inter-library loans could be seriously curtailed, since a librarian sending a book into another area would not know whether it might be found obscene there.

Publishing and film interests had urged the high court to refine its 1973 rule by declaring that "community standards for determining obscenity must be state-wide and not those in a particular locality. But the justices refused in their 5-4 decision to do so.

The majority ruling by Justice William H. Rehnquist said last year's opinion means juries may "rely on the understanding of the community from which they came" but that if states wish to express the standards" in more precise geographic terms" they may do so.

In the process, the justices viewed the film "Carnal Knowledge" and unanimously found it not to be obscene.

President Jack Valenti of the Motion Picture Association hailed this result as leaving the filmmaker "free to tell an honest story without hard-core pornography."

Hollywood attorney Stanley Freishman, who represents the Adult Film Association, saw the matter in a different light. He said the decision permits "whatever a jury doesn't like" to be found obscene.

Cost of market basket rises again; increasing profit margins blamed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department's statistical "food market basket" is higher again and the figures back up administration claims that increasing profit margins of stores and wholesalers are behind the high price of food.

The annual retail cost of a typical food market basket went up to $1,733 in May —an increase of 0.3 per cent or $5 from the April rate. The figure released Monday is a statistical one —a selection of U.S. farm-produced food needed to feed a household of 3.2 persons for a year. While it does not match average family food costs, changes in the statistic indicate changes in grocery bills..

According to the report, the farm value of foods in the basket declined for the fifth consecutive month to an annual rate of $690 in May, down $34 from April. But middlemen's margins —costs and profits in processing and selling foods — rose for the fifth consecutive month and reached $1,043 in May, up $39 from April.

Don Paarlberg, director of the department's economics section, told Congress that the margin between what the farmer receives and the consumer pays will continue to increase "substantially" for the remainder of the year.

Paarlberg said that the faroretail price spread would "continue the upward push" as a result of rising wages, energy and material costs and transportation charges.

The market basket cost rose steadily from last November to a record $1,748 in March before going back to $1,728 in April. The $1,733 rate in May was 19 per cent, or $240, above May 1973, and the report said most of that increase was due to higher middlemen's margins, 25.6 per cent higher than last year. Farm returns were 4.2 per cent higher.

Compared with January of this year, the retail market basket cost went up $53. In that period, farm returns for market basket foods declined $84, but middlemen's costs and profits rose about $137.

Betty Hutton comes back, but it's only for a one-nighter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Betty Hutton, the famed Hollywood star of the 1940s and 1950s who fell on hard times in the 1960s, was back in the spotlight Monday night.

But at a $100-a-plate dinner in the Riverboat nightclub, in the Empire State Building, the 53-year-old former actress denied that her appearance was the beginning of a comeback.

"I'm not going back. I've been there before, and I'm not going back," the moist-eyed Miss Hutton, once known as the "blonde bombshell," said.

She was the guest of honor at a benefit for St. Anthony's parish in Portsmouth, R.I., where she has been living and working as a cook since last February after a long downward spiral in her career.

Once the owner of a Hollywood mansion and a $10 million fortune who commanded $25,000 a week for performances, she found herself early this year in a Boston hospital, broke and friendless —but the Portsmouth parish took her in.

There, Miss Hutton says, she converted to Roman Catholicism and found peace for the first time in her life.

Although she says she has no intention of abandoning her new way of life, for a moment last night, it was like old times.

The affair, organized by columnists Earl Wilson and Arthur Riback, reportedly netted more than $15,000 for the parish.

GOODBYE FOR A WHILE

President Nixon waves to staff members on the White House lawn today just before he took off for Andrews Air Force Base to board a plane for Brussels to confer with NATO leaders in advance of his third summit meeting with Russian leaders.

Top brass influenced case?

Dramatic ruling on Calley trial

COLUMBUS, Ga. (UPI) — A federal judge said today that the issue whether President Nixon and top military leaders improperly influenced the conviction of former Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. in the My Lai massacre "cannot be brushed off lightly."

U.S. District Judge J. Robert Elliott, in a lengthy exchange with government attorney Capt. David Schulingkamp, appeared to disagree with the government's contention that the issue of command influence is outside the scope of review of his court.

"It (the issue of command influence) is apparently a situation that is new, a situation that is different, one that cannot be brushed off lightly," Elliott said.

Schulingkamp said the thrust of the government's argument was that the issue of command influence was outside the scope of the federal court and was a matter that should have been left for the military judge to decide during the court-martial.

Earlier, Calley' attorney charged that Calley was denied a fair trial by "command control" which was exercised by President Nixon and top military leaders.

"I believe that we have the perfect case of circumstantial evidence to show that from beginning to end that command control was involved in this case," said Attorney George Latimer.

Latimer quoted statements by President Nixon, Secretary of State William Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird and Gen. William Westmoreland in support of his claim that Calley's court-martial board was influenced by higher-ranking officials.

The 31-year-old Calley is seeking to have his conviction and 10-year prison sentence for the murder of at least 22 South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai six years ago overturned in federal court.

Latimer quoted President Nixon as characterizing the My Lai incident as a "massacre," and saying that appropriate action would be taken to insure that that was read by court members," Latimer said. "Command influence. When a commander-in-chief speaks, you can't go higher than that."

He also quoted Laird as saying he was "sickened and shocked by the allegations that had been made."

He said that the military decided to charge Calley with murder instead of war crimes so that higher ranking military officials would not be brought into the case.

The Salt Lake City attorney reviewed another argument that Calley's conviction should be overturned because he was not taught that he could disobey an unlawful order. He said on the night before the My Lai incident, the final instruction given to Calley by Capt. Ernest Medina, his company commander, was to "kill every living thing."

"Thirty men in that unit fired at civilians and every one of them interpreted that to be Captain Medina's instructions," Latimer said.

Committee kills campaign gifts subpoena move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a 21-17 party line vote, the House Judiciary Committee today killed a motion to subpoena House records on campaign contributions given members of Congress by milk producers in 1970-71.

The committee subsequently voted to go into closed session to debate making public some of the 7,000 pages of evidence it has examined during its inquiry into impeachment of President Nixon and to discuss what witnesses, if any, it will call.

The vote against subpoenaing the secret milk records came before newsmen were ordered to leave the room. All 21 Democrats opposed the motion of Rep. Wiley Mayne, R-Iowa, and all 17 Republicans supported it.

One of the allegations against Nixon in the impeachment inquiry is that he was influenced in raising dairy price supports by a $2 million campaign pledge from milk producers. Nixon argued he was under congressional pressure to meet dairymen's demands.

Mayne said 154 members of Congress co-sponsored legislation to force higher price supports. But Committee Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said the committee has no authority to investigate what motivates congressmen to back legislation.

Drunk driver names will be published

TOKYO (UPI) — Police in the state of Ibaraki east of Tokyo have decided to publish the names of drunken drivers in an effort to reduce auto accidents.

"There were 14,010 auto accidents in Ibaraki prefecture last year and 7.1 per cent of them were caused by the drivers in a state of intoxication," a spokesman said.

He said authorities hoped the new measure would help to keep drunken drivers off the highways in Ibaraki.

Dempsey celebrates

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jack Dempsey celebrated his 79th birthday at a restaurant here Monday, and among the celebrants was Gene Tunney —the Manasssa Mauler's most noted ring foe and the man who took his championship away in 1926.

"God Bless you, Jack, I love you," Tunney said upon entering the birthday celebration. "You're the greatest man ever in American sports."

Dempsey, who lost his title to Tunney on Sept. 22, 1926, and then lost a rematch a year later, beamed as a birthday cake was brought in shaped in his fighting image of 50 years ago.

"Thank you, thank you very much," Dempsey said. And then, glancing toward his most famous ring opponent he added, "and thank you Gene for taking the time to be here with me and my wife on this occasion."

Sacrifice OK, but . . .

CHICAGO (UPI) — Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., Monday called for better gas mileage and cleaner industrial production, saying that appeals for individual sacrifices such as less air conditioning and summer car trips would not solve the energy problem.

"Those personal sacrifices that President Nixon called for represent the least important kind of energy conservation," he said. "They may be a step in the right direction, but they have given energy conservation a bad name."

Stevenson, keynote speaker at the Illinois Energy Conference, said, "At least through the mid-1980s, energy conservation will be our major tool for dealing with the energy crisis."

Brando hospitalized

A hospital spokesman said Monday that Brando, 50, was admitted last Friday and was expected to stay in for several more days.

The actor's secretary, Alice Marshak, said Brando tore his throat vomiting after apparently eating spoiled fish in Tahiti two weeks ago.

Death threat probe

BOSTON (UPI) — The FBI chief in Boston Monday confirmed that his office has investigated death threats against Peter Fuller, a millionaire sportsman. Fuller said the threats forced him to withdraw as a candidate for governor.

Special Agent James O. Newpher said that Fuller, who dropped out of the race in March, had told the FBI about the alleged threats. "I wouldn't really want to comment at this time," Newpher said. "Fuller has given us information which we looked into. No immediate action is expected."

Fuller, who owns a Cadillac agency, said a masked gunman jumped into his car near his home March 26 and threatened to kill him and other members of his family if he didn't withdraw.

"I was frightened," said the Harvard educated ex-boxer. "He was a messenger —and a pro. I'm not a sissy, but I'm not going to tell you that my reaction was not a traumatic one."

Chavez campaign

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Cesar Chavez Monday said he is starting a national campaign to help the "terrible problem of 60,000-70,000 illegal Mexican and Filipino workers" competing with American farm workers on the West Coast.

Chavez, the head of the United Farm Workers, charged the Department of Justice is "completely lax in enforcing the regulations preventing the entry of illegals and to prevent them from breaking our strike."

"We don't know why the Justice Department is not enforcing the law," he said, "But we do know it's a total breakdown. We go to the Immigration Service and they say they can't do anything."

Scientists who made first atom bomb say Nixon unwise in sale of reactors

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI) — Four scientists, including the man who was in charge of the explosives division of the Manhattan Project, which designed America's first atomic bomb, said today the Nixon administration's decision to sell nuclear reactors to Egypt was "imprudent and unwise, and possibly reckless."

The criticism was made in a report by Daniel F. Ford, executive director of the Union of Concerned Scientists; Henry W. Kendall, professor of physics at MIT; George B. Kistiakowsky, professor of physical chemistry emeritus at Harvard University, and George Rathjens, professor of political science at MIT.

Kistiakowsky was in charge of the Manhattan Project's explosives division during World War II. All three have served as consultants or advisors to the federal government on nuclear and scientific matters.

The introduction of nuclear power reactors into Egypt under the proposed U.S.-Egyptian agreement will substantially enhance the capacity of that nation to move directly to the possession of nuclear arms," the scientists warned.

"Egypt would acquire much of the critical technology and persons trained to implement it. The necessary fissionable material would be a part of the reactor program.

"The consequences of the proposed ... agreement would be to convert the costly economic and difficult technical obstacles of a nuclear weapons program into a purely political decision. In view of these consequences we regard the proposed agreement as imprudent and unwise, and possibly reckless."

They warned, "A simple implosion nuclear weapon requires from 4 to 8 kilograms of plutonium, depending on the weapon design. A reactor of the size of those contemplated for sale to Egypt produces in excess of 200 kilograms plutonium per year. Accordingly, a few months operation of the reactor would produce enough material for a number of (nuclear) weapons."

The report also said that as in the case of Egypt, the installation of U.S. reactors in Israel, also announced by the President, "would bring with it fissionable, and thus potentially, weapons material and radioactivity."

However, they said the situation in Israel is different from that in Egypt. "Israel is an advanced technological nation and with an established nuclear program would not gain important technical skills as would Egypt through a nuclear power program."

French composer Milhaud dies at 81

GENEVA (UPI) — Darius Milhaud, a rebel composer and a titan of 20th century music, has died in Geneva at the age of 81.

Milhaud, who produced more than 400 compositions in a career of more than 50 years, had suffered from heart trouble for several years and his condition had increasingly worsened in the past few months. He died Saturday.

Milhaud's unusual work, from South American folk music to American jazz, at first stunned critics and audiences accustomed to the classical style but later influenced many modern composers, including George Gershwin.

His operas and ballets included the renowned "Creation of the World," composed in 1923, and the monumental "L'Oresteia," a trilogy of operas based on the Greek tragedies of Aeschylus, on which he worked for 12 years.

His work also included 18 string quartets, four quintets, nine sonatas, 12 symphonies and 36 concertos, the musical score for a film, "The Beloved Vagabond," and a 1963 musical version of the papal encyclical, "Pacem in Terris."

He also wrote a brief composition mourning the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of President John F. Kennedy, "Murder of a Great Chief of State," in two days following the murder.

"The important thing in a musical work is the vital element —the melody —which should be easily retained, hummed and whistled in the street," Milhaud once said. "Without this fundamental element, all the technique in the world can only be a dead letter."

Milhaud was born in Aix-en-Provence, France, on Sept. 4, 1892, and studied music there and in Paris, publishing his first work in 1912.

In 1916, he went to Brazil for two years and came in contact with the South American folk music which he incorporated into his own work.

Upon the death of Ravel in 1937, Milhaud was considered by many authorities as France's foremost living composer.

When World War II broke out, Milhaud came to the United States and joined the faculty at Mills College in California. Although seriously crippled by arthritis, he made many appearances as guest conductor with major American orchestras over the years.

In recent years he had lived in a villa in the Geneva suburb of Chene-Bourg with his wife Madeleine, whom he married in 1925.

Could mean 5-cent drop in tax rate

$6.7 million Walnut school budget OK'd

WALNUT — A $6.7 million tentative budget, still promising a reduction in the tax rate, was approved by school trustees Monday night.

In two earlier budget presentations, school officials had indicated there would be a slight tax reduction—and they did not sway from that in the $6,742,448 tentative plan for 1974-75.

A 5-cent drop in the general purpose tax rate, from $4.01 to $3.96 per $100 assessed valuation, was predicted by George Hartnett, assistant superintendent for fiscal and facilities management.

Hartnett did not have figures available, however, for the total tax rate which would include permissive overrides—so whether an actual tax savings for residents will be realized is uncertain.

Figures are still tentative, officials said, as a final budget is not due for adoption until the first week of August.

Trustees spent nearly four hours in a study session before approving the budget Monday, and while they made no changes in the tentative plan, indications were there would be modifications before a publication budget is approved next month.

The tentative budget is up about $200,000 compared to earlier figures presented to the board, and is $600,000 higher than last year's $6,-45,204 budget.

Reason for the increase next year lies in total cost of salaries including cost of living raises and addition of 22 new employe positions.

Ray McMullen, district personnel director, said salaries and benefits, which take up 83 per cent of the budget, are up 1 per cent over last year. Also, 15 new certificated and seven classified positions are being added.

Positions will be added to handle an expected six per cent boost in the student population next year, McMullen added. Average daily attendance figures are predicted to jump 12 per cent on the secondary level as compared to 3 per cent on the elementary level.

The budget includes a six per cent salary increase granted teachers last month, and a six per cent boost recently given administrators. A 6½ per cent increase for 130 classified employes, costing $70,000, was approved by trustees Monday.

When comparing total income and expenditure figures, a $111,000 deficit shows up, but the budget is balanced when reserves are included. Expenditures are at $6,456,323, compared to income at $6,345,-130.

Income from all sources is up 11 per cent over 1973-74, but expenditures are up 12 per cent, accounting for the deficit.

Reserves are there, however, making a balanced budget. A total of $231,625 in contingency reserves has been appropriated, with $54,500 in restricted balance.

Contingencies are down by $114,000 compared to earlier figures, however.

Power cut off by falling tree

ROLLING HILLS (UPI) — A tree fell on power lines here Monday night, cutting off power to more than 500 residents for about an hour.

Officials said the blackout occurred at 9:47 p.m. Power was restored to almost all of the homes by 10:38 p.m.

Russ launch laboratory into space

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union successfully launched an unmanned Salyut space laboratory today, the Tass news agency said.

The station, Salyut 3, went into orbit 14 months after the unsuccessful mission of Salyut 2.

Western space experts said if all goes well, the Soviets will probably soon launch one or more manned Soyuz spacecraft to dock with Salyut 3.

The first Salyut laboratory experiment ended in tragedy in 1971. Three cosmonauts aboard Soyuz-11 docked with the station but died on their return to earth due to a leaky hatch on their spacecraft.

The Salyut-2 station, launched April 3, 1973, was badly damaged 11 days later by an unexplained accident which cut loose four solar panels supplying electricity, according to Western monitors.

The station eventually disintegrated in space without any attempt being made to send a manned spacecraft up to dock with it.

The Soviets never confirmed the accident and said the Salyut was never meant to be anything more than an unmanned test of the space station.

At the time, Western experts said the accident raised serious doubts about the Soviet manned space program. There was particular concern about the Soviets' ability to carry out the 1975 Soyuz-Apollo docking mission.

Nine U.S. astronauts who arrived here Sunday have resumed joint training with the Soviets for the mission.

Obituaries

Joseph I. Likins

LONG BEACH — Joseph Irving Likins, 81, of 1880 Dawson Ave. died Sunday at a convalescent hospital here.

Mr Likins was born Feb. 10, 1893, in Illinois. He lived in Oregon from 1919 to 1971 when he moved to California.

He is survived by his widow, Addie, a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Annon of Long Beach and four grandsons.

Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday at Pomona Cemetery.

Pollock Mortuary, Pomona, is in charge of arrangements.

Ralph B. Rendon

POMONA — Ralph B. Rendon of 2519 Aston Ave. died at Pomona Valley Community Hospital Sunday evening.

Mr. Rendon was born in Los Angeles Jan. 17, 1918. He was raised in Chino and had lived in Pomona for 22 years. He was a driver-salesman for Shell Oil Co. for 10 years. An Army veteran of World War II, he was a past commander of Father Benedict Horrell Memorial Post 1820 of the Catholic War Veterans.

He is survived by his widow, Elma; three sons, Paul and Robert, both of Ontario, and Frederick A. of Pomona; two daughters, Mrs. Elaine Heredia and Mrs. Gloria Locke, both of Ontario; a stepson, George M. Barnes of The Netherlands; his father, Raphael Rendon of Pomona; a cousin, Mrs. Helen Gutierrez of Azusa; and 13 grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited at Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona at 7:30 tonight. Mass will be celebrated at St. Joseph Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Friends may make contributions to the Flying Samaritan, Inc., Balboa Park, San Diego, for the Bradleys Clinic in Punta Colnett, Baja California, Mexico.

Victor Shepard

CHINO — Services will be held at Speers Family Mission Chapel Mortuary for Victor Shepard at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Mr. Shepard died on Sunday. He was born in Oklahoma on May 20, 1896. He has been a resident of Covina at 409 Italia St.

Burial will be at the Oakdale Cemetery in Glendora.

Paul Monroy

CHINO — Paul Monroy of 12228 Monte Vista Ave. died Sunday in the Casa De Vida Nursing and Convalescent Home, Pomona.

Mr. Monroy was born in Walnut on Aug. 13, 1892, and had been a Chino resident for one year. He had been a valley resident for 81 years.

Surviving are his widow, Lupe Eleanor; four daughters, Mrs. Grace Estrada of Chino, Mrs. Delores Leinin and Mrs. Ruby Davenport, both of Montclair, and Mrs. Margaret Dezarn of Ontario; six sons, John, Paul and Ralph, all of Farmersville, Gilbert of Montclair and Charles and Jerry, both of Pomona; a brother, Phillip of Fresno; three sisters, Mrs. Anna Cabllero and Mrs. Charlotte Labrado, both of Pomona, and Mrs. Vincenta Santa Cruz of Long Beach; 30 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Rosary will be recited Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Pomona. Mass will be celebrated Thursday at 9 a.m. at the church. Burial will be made in Forest Lawn Covina Hills.

Phony crab

The horseshoe crag has remained unchanged for at least 175 million years; not a crab at all, its closest living relations are the scorpion and the spider.

Vandals hit auditorium

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Red paint was splashed on walls of the Shrine Auditorium Monday night, where a Soviet dance company is appearing this weekend. An anonymous caller later told UPI the action was taken to protest the treatment of Jews in Russia.

Police found that the building was streaked with paint on the south and west sides. There was no other damage to the building.

The Soviet dance companies are scheduled to return to the Shrine in August after their appearance this weekend.

Burglary victim found slain

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The body of a 67-year-old man, apparently slain during a burglary, was discovered Sunday in his living room by neighbors who became suspicious when they saw a window screen lying on the ground in front of the home.

The man was identified as Louis Martella.

Police said his pockets had been turned inside out and a television set was missing.

Brush fire started by firecrackers

PERRIS (UPI) — A brush fire started by illegal use of firecrackers Monday afternoon burned 1,500 acres in the Gavilan hills area before it was contained.

Six conservation camp hand crews, 14 engine companies, three bulldozers and five air tankers took five hours to contain the blaze and expected to have it controlled today.

Although the flames came to within six feet of several homes in the area, no structures burned, the state Division of Forestry said. A spokesman said investigators had determined the blaze "was caused by illegal use of fireworks, but we have no suspects."

Thief kills vendor; 20 loot truck

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A 55-year-old Southgate truck vendor collapsed and died Monday after being beaten by a thief in a housing project in south Los Angeles, police said.

Victorino A. Parades was beaten by one man and then another before collapsing on the floor of his truck. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

Police said the truck was looted of the remaining merchandise by more than 20 other persons following the incident in the Jordan Downs housing project.

Disappeared from campground year ago

Parents of missing girl feel she's still alive

FARMINGTON, Michigan (UPI) — It has been one year since 7-year-old Susan Jaeger disappeared from her family's tent at a Montana campground.

Her parents, who live in this Detroit suburb, still believe their daughter is alive and will be returned to them.

"We're still just taking it one day at a time," Marietta Jaeger, said. She, together with her husband, William, coordinated the establishment of a $14,000 reward fund for information leading to the return of their daughter.

Susie was asleep in a tent with her sister and two brothers in the early morning hours of last June 25 at a camp ground near Three Forks, Mont.

Thirteen-year-old Heidi awoke at 4 a.m. to find Susie's sleeping bag empty. A jagged slash was ripped across the tent directly above where Susie had slept. Her stuffed animals were strewn on the ground nearby.

The Jaeger family, who planned the summer vacation to what they called their "land of milk and honey" for almost a year, remained at the campsite for a month while FBI investigators and local police searched for the brown-haired child.

One ransom call was received, in which a man described Susie to her parents' satisfaction and demanded an undisclosed amount of money. But he did not call back.

Now, the family is clinging to one last thread of hope —a phone call made to their Farmington home last September by a man who appeared to have knowledge of Susie's whereabouts.

"We were reluctant to say anything about the phone call up to this time," Mrs. Jaeger said, "because we didn't want to scare him off. He said he needed time to work out a plan and would contact us again, but he never called back."

The Jaegers arranged for the printing and distribution of posters bearing Susie's picture throughout the Western states. They have received donations from all over the nation to boost the reward fund to $14,000.

"It's been such a long time since she disappeared," Mrs. Jaeger said. "She could have been taken almost anywhere in the Western region.

"Just look at how long the search for Patricia Hearst has taken. We really do believe that she could still be alive."

As your family grows, so does your need for life insurance.

$10,000 of Life Insurance for $3.60 a month at ages 21-29.

$3.90 at 30-34 / $5.70 at 40-44

Apply by mail, no physical needed!

Let's face it: you need the most life insurance when you can least afford it. When you're young. During the years when you're raising a family — and your wife and children are most dependent on you.

Well, now you can get the extra life insurance you need. When you need it. At a price you can afford. This plan from Physicians Life gives you $10,000 of pure term life insurance for as long as you keep the policy in force. From the very first day of coverage, it pays full benefits for death due to any cause from illness or accident — except suicide — which is fully covered after two years. In the event of suicide within the first two years, all premiums paid in are returned to the beneficiary.

High protection, moderate cost.

To provide this economical coverage, we have returned to the original purpose of life insurance: protection. This is term insurance. It offers you pure protection. It's the most amount of level insurance we can sell you for the least amount of premium. In return for your monthly premium we guarantee to pay your beneficiary $10,000 should you die, regardless of your age when you die, as long as your policy remains in force. Nothing could be simpler.

$10,000 of protection when you need it most.

This plan covers you to age 65 for $10,000. If you should die prematurely, this policy can help your family adjust to their new situation without the added burden of money worries. It can clear up bills. Help pay off your mortgage. Send your children to college.

Protection you can't lose if you change jobs or if your health turns bad.

You can enjoy the security of knowing that once you get this Physicians Life protection, it's yours for as long as you want it, right up to age 65. Unlike some group policies through employers, you can't lose it if you change jobs.

In fact, you can't be cancelled even if your health suddenly goes bad. That's because this policy is "guaranteed renewable" till age 65. So you can carry this protection with you wherever your career takes you. And regardless of what happens to your health.

With your term insurance, you can also get coverage for your wife. And your children. You can insure your wife for $3,000 of term insurance for as little as 65¢ a month more, if you are under 30 years old. And if you're under 55, you can insure all your eligible children for $1,500, for just $1.00 a month more.

Every child in your family — including future additions — is eligible when he's 15 days through 17 years old. And that $1,500 coverage lasts on each child until he reaches 25, as long as your policy remains in force.

This coverage for your wife and children carries a special guarantee designed to give you peace of mind, and to make your policy one of the most thorough protection plans available today.

It's the ideal way to protect all your valuable personal papers in one place.

We'll take care of their insurance if you die.

Yes, if you die before you reach 65, your wife's insurance will be paid for until she's 65. In addition, the protection you give your chidren will continue in force until they're 25 — at no cost to your wife or children! This promise holds true even if your wife is in her early twenties — and even if your children are still in the cradle, in the event you're not there to take care of them.

You can change to a whole life policy any time up to age 60. Regardless of your health.

When you buy this term insurance plan, you are guaranteed the right to convert it into a whole life policy. That is, insurance with a level face amount and a level monthly premium—insurance that builds cash value after a few years. You can do this any time you wish up to age 60, without a physical. The coverage of your whole life policy will be the same—$10,000.

Once you convert, you can keep your $10,000 of protection for life—even if you live to be a 100. Even if an accident or illness leaves you unable to get insurance elsewhere. We guarantee it!

Your wife enjoys exactly the same opportunity: she can convert to a whole life insurance policy as long as she's under 60 —even if you have died and we are paying her premiums for her.

And each of your children can convert at age 25—or when you're 65—whichever birthday comes first. Of course, if you are no longer alive, this opportunity to switch to whole life insurance will come when he reaches age 25.

Apply today. No physical needed. And, you're protected by a money-back guarantee.

Just fill out and mail the Application along with your first month's premium (see table on this page). It's as simple as that.

As soon as we receive your Application, we'll evaluate your qualifications on the basis of the health information you give us. If you qualify—and we've found that most people in average good health do qualify—we will issue your $10,000 term life policy (Form 702) and mail it to you.

When you receive your policy, look it over carefully. If it is not everything we say it is, mail it back to us within 10 days after you receive it, and we will refund your money promptly!

You can buy with confidence by mail.

Most insurance policies call for the advice and counsel of an experienced, professional agent. However, since this is simple term insurance, there are no complex provisions and involved options that need explanation or clarification. Just about all you might want to know about this plan is here on this page. And when you get your policy, you'll be pleasantly surprised by how clear and easy to understand it is.

Your policy is issued by the Physicians Life Insurance Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of Physicians Mutual Insurance Company —founded by doctors in 1902. Physicians Life is governed by the same Board of Directors that guides Physicians Mutual . . . respected men of the medical and insurance professions . . . and is dedicated to the same traditions of integrity and service that characterize the parent company. Physicians Life currently has over $65 million of life insurance in force.

Tugboat can't make up mind

MORRO BAY, Calif. (UPI) — When the tugboat Blue Eagle goes back in service, it could be rechristened the Good Ship Uncooperative. When it was supposed to float, it sank. When it was supposed to stay sunk, it floated.

The tug was capsized by a big wave April 24 just outside the entrance to the bay of this fishing town.

Earnest and Carson Porter, a father and son abalone diving team from Atascadero who won the salvage rights from the insurance company, figured they still had a fair amount of work ahead of them recently as they labored underwater, when suddenly the boat began to stir under them.

The Porters said they weren't ready to handle the refloated boat, so they did the only thing they could under the circumstances —sank it again.

$18,299,174 city budget calls for no tax increase

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — An $18,299,174 city budget for the new fiscal year that reflects no increase in the present city tax rate of $2.495 per $100 of assessed valuation was adopted by the City Council Monday night.

However, the question over employe salaries, which account for the largest single expenditure, apparently remains to be completely resolved.

Following an executive session that ended after 1:30 this morning, the council announced a "memo of understanding" had been reached in principle with the City Employes Association, the largest of the three employe groups.

The memo calls for an eight per cent, across-the-board pay raise and 100 per cent payment by the city for dependent health benefits.

City Administrator Jerrold Gonce said this morning negotiations were continuing with the Pomona Fireman's Association.

The Pomona Police Officers Relief Association is under a two-year contract adopted last year that calls for a salary survey of six cities and is not involved in salary negotiations this year.

Adoption of the budget came by 4-0 vote after the council invited comments from citizens inasmuch as the formal public hearing was held last week.

Retired Fire Capt. Abbot Engelhardt urged the council to reconsider its decision against a five per cent increase in retirement pay.

"The time has come when the retired city employes should be given some due respect with regard to their loyalty," said Engelhardt.

Vice Mayor Charles W. Bader, who presided at the meeting in the absence of Mayor Ray J. Lepire, said he found it difficult to discuss the subject because the council was still involved in salary negotiations.

Lepire was in San Diego attending a meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

E. J. Gaulding, a planning commissioner, said he resented general revenue sharing funds used to balance the budget and took issue with comments made at a council meeting last week that other funds used to balance the budget were "reserves".

Those funds, said Gaulding, clearly had been set aside for a northside library branch.

Gaulding said it also appeared to him that city employe salaries were higher than comparable positions in private industry.

Bader requested Gonce "at the earliest opportunity" to draw up recommendations where the city might contract the city services.

CRACKDOWN ON ILLEGAL FIREWORKS

Pomona Fire Inspectors John Gomez, left, and Vernon Johnson display an assortment of confiscated fireworks as Pomona Fire Department prepares to crack down on use of cherry bombs, firecrackers, Roman candles and other illegal pyrotechnic devices during the July 4 season. Sale or discharge of fireworks is illegal in Pomona. Fire Chief John M. Fowlkes said the local crackdown was part of a statewide effort to reduce injuries and fires caused by illegal fireworks. Fowlkes is asking parents to assist by reporting violations, particularly on the sale of fireworks, to the fire department.

'Get tough' policy adopted

Owners of area nuisance land rapped in San Dimas

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

SAN DIMAS — The City Council Monday gave notice that it intends to get tough with owners of land declared a public nuisance.

Richard Kumer, superintendent of building and safety, told the council that the county and the city had been trying to get one property owner to clean up his land for more than 20 years.

Lough said he felt "more than 20 years is ample time to clean up any property." But the council later in the meeting did show leniency and granted Prehn another 30-day extension when Kumer reported that the property owner had lost a finger while trying to clean up debris on his land.

But Lough and other members of the council agreed that the council is going to initiate a firmer policy against land owners who have been ordered to clean up their land and in some cases bring the properties up to code.

Lough directed Kumer to inform Prehn that the council would not look favorably upon another request for a time extension saying "these endless time extensions are beginning to be a joke in the community."

Prehn was given until July 22 to abate the nuisance.

In other action, the council agreed to amend a city ordinance to permit auto sales business in a commercial neighborhood zone.

The council agreed to the amendment after William Ryan, spokesman for the Canyon Shopping Center Merchant's Association, said merchants in the center were 100 per cent in favor of the establishment of an auto parts store in the center.

Planning Director Mark Goldberg said the shop would not be a machine shop for auto repairs and would be a very clean operation.

Storm drain and street contracts are awarded

POMONA — Los Angeles County has awarded a $2,371,773 contract to Steve P. Rados Inc. of Santa Ana for construction of a storm drain complex here and a $1,366,429 contract to Laird Construction Co. of Claremont for the improvement of a section of Valley Boulevard.

Rados will start work within 30 days and completion is set some 14 months later, according to Supervisor Peter Schabarum.

The section of Valley to be improved is between Grand Avenue and Pomona Boulevard through the cities of Pomona, Industry and Walnut.

The storm drain project consists of about 1½ miles of open channel and underground storm drain to run from the existing channel upstream of Temple Avenue to Pomona Boulevard near the Corona Freeway.

It will also include a lateral drain along Roselawn Avenue, extending from the main line conduit to a point near Mission Boulevard.

The total drain varies in size from a 30-foot wide by eight-foot high open channel to a 12-by 9-foot box conduit.

Six bids were received from the Valley project, ranging from a high of $1,633,687 to the Laird low bid.

The work includes reconstructing and widening the roadway on an improved alignment to provide for a four-lane divided highway with curb, gutter, sidewalk, and driveway aprons including the widening of the existing bridge over San Jose Creek.

Schabarum pointed out that this is a Federal-Aid Secondary Urban Extension (FASUE) project and under terms of a five-party agreement with the cities and the state. The work will be jointly financed.

The improvement is another phase in the development of the Master Plan highway connecting metropolitan Los Angeles with the San Gabriel Valley cities.

During the work, which is scheduled for completion next February, access to adjacent properties will be provided by the contractor.

Policemen praise new radio units

LOS ANGELES — New small radio units resembling the common handi-talkies previously used by the sheriff's department are really much more effective devices, Sheriff Peter J. Pitchess said.

The new communications instrument is the Mobile Radio Extender. The unit allows a deputy, who is out of his car, the full transmission and receiving capabilities of the patrol car's radio.

This added capability gives greater latitude for field investigations, allowing the deputy to be away from his car for extended periods of time without being out of radio contact, Pitchess said.

"This new device, which we are acquiring, is consistent with our policy of providing the highest level of service possible to citizens, and the highest level of safety for the officer," Pitchess said.

Tai chai and kung fu instruction offered in classes in Montclair

MONTCLAIR — Tai chi, the ancient Chinese exercise for health, and kung fu, the Chinese art of self-defense, are offered for the first time in the activities sponsored this summer by the Montclair Recreation Department.

Tim Tackett, English and drama teacher at Montclair High School, instructs these classes. He has developed the kung fu course from the various martial arts he has taught and studied for the past 13 years in both Taiwan and the United States.

He has taken techniques from over 12 styles of kung fu, Japanese karate, kenpo, judo and aikido and simplified them into an easy-to-learn, but practical form of self-defense.

Tackett is a third-degree black belt from the Kuo Shu (kung fu) association of America, a second-degree black belt from the Taiwan Juo Shu (Kung Fu) Association in Taipei, Taiwan, and a first-degree black belt in Japanese karate. He also holds an instructor's certificate from the Free China Kuo Shu Association, the only non-Chinese ever to achieve this honor.

Tackett will be assisted by Bob Chapman who was his first student and has a first-degree black belt from the Kuo Shu Association of America and a first-degree black belt in Tai Karate.

Tai chi has been widely practiced as a daily exercise in China since the T'ang dynasty, 618 to 906 A.D.

These classes are offered to both boys and girls 12 and over and men and women on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. There is a registration fee of $20 for the seven-week course.

Tai Chi will be offered from 11 a.m. to noon and Kung Fu from 1 to 2 p.m. for women and 2 to 3 p.m. for men. All classes are held in the activity room at Montclair High School.

Classes conclude on Friday, Aug. 2.

Playgrounds will be operated at Lehigh, Margarita, Monte Vista, Kingsley and Vernon Elementary schools. Two activity centers will be at Montclair High and the recreation building. Craft and shop activities go at Serrano Junior High School.

Programs for adults are archery, basketball, fencing, tennis, volleyball, weight training, ceramics, folk guitar, cake decorating, knitting and crocheting, belly dancing, yoga and macrame. Special activities include "Check-A-Child," Bicycle Club, family swim, free movies, Starlite Symphonette and senior citizens shuffleboard club.

Those wishing additional information should contact the recreation department, 5111 Benito Ave.

Pomona youth hurt when car hits pole

POMONA — Steve V. Williams, 17, 2255 Canterbury Ave., suffered facial injuries Sunday morning when his car hit a utility pole along Orange Grove Avenue east of Gilbert Street. He was released after treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Tiny tot swim classes to begin

POMONA — Swim classes will begin next week for mothers and their babies, 3 months to 3 years, and for Tiny Tots 3 to 5 at the Pomona Valley YMCA.

An evening class for Tiny Tots will be held Mondays and Wednesdays for five weeks from 7 to 7:30 p.m., beginning July 1.

A morning Tiny Tot swim session Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 10 a.m. for five weeks will start July 2.

Mothers will learn how to teach their babies to swin in a class held Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 to 7 p.m., beginning July 1.

Classes are held in the Y indoor pool where the temperature is maintained at 82 degrees throughout the winter months.

More information about the classes, which carry a $15 fee, may be obtained by calling 623-6433.

Dedication booklet helps in fund-raising campaign

MONTCLAIR — A dedication booklet has been published to kick off a fund-raising drive for the new Montclair High School Stadium.

Members of the high school's Key Club will be calling on businessmen and service organizations for their assistance in the fund-raising.

Proceeds will be used for the installation of a flag pole, score board, public address system and snack bar accessories.

Bleachers in the stadium are complete with construction under way for the rest room facilities and storage buildings.

The dedication booklet and ads in it will be used throughout the year at all home football games.

Special tax assistance offered for senior citizen property

POMONA — Special assistance is being offered to senior citizens who have not yet filed their claims for Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance.

A representative of the Franchise Tax Board will open a temporary office on Monday, July 8, and Monday, July 15, at the Palomares Community Center, Arrow Highway and Orange Grove Avenue. Office hours will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The assistance is a reimbursement of a portion of the 1973-74 property taxes paid. The average payment in 1973 was $201, according to State Controller Houston I. Flournoy.

To be eligible for property tax assistance, claimants must be 62 or older as of Jan. 1, 1974, must own and occupy their own home, must have paid the property taxes on the home, and must have an income of $10,000 or less.

Qualified homeowners can obtain forms from the temporary office or by writing to Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, Post Office Box 1588, Sacramento, Calif. 95807.

Wrong number

An article published Sunday about the Avenue of the Flags Committee incorrectly listed the telphone number of John Rogan. The correct number is 622-3084. Rogan is chairman of the committee.

TEEN CENTERS TO OPEN

Three youths pass the time away by playing pool at Westmont Community Center, one of three Teen Drop-In Centers the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department will operate during the summer starting this week. Around the pool table are, background, Arthur Sanchez, left, and Andy Esquivel, and Leroy Mason, in foreground. The other two Teen Centers will be at Palomares and Washington parks.

3 attend youth leadership center

CLAREMONT — Claremont High School students Eric Neuhaus, Moni Law and Roxanne Rota are attending the youth leadership involvement center at UC San Diego this week in preparation for their work as American Red Cross volunteers.

Also at UC San Diego is Claremont High junior Jeffe Kean, who is a counselor this week at the center and will serve as local Red Cross summer youth director.

Helium crisis not a lot of hot air

The Department of Interior has announced that holders of oil and gas leases on the Outer Continental Shelf must pay royalty fees to the department on natural gas that is vented to the atmosphere or is flared (burned) as well as on oil and gas lost in spills, blowouts and fires.

While oil losses have been minimal in recent years, the department estimates that some 60-billion cubic feet of natural gas was vented or flared from continental shelf wells during 1973. This would have amounted to about $2 million in royalty revenues to the department.

With its other hand, however, the government is permitting the wasting of another resources which, while not figuring prominently in the present energy crisis is considered irreplaceable in scientifiic research — helium.

So charges an article in "Transmission," published by the Northern Natural Gas Co., headquartered in Omaha, Neb.

Although helium is found in the atmosphere, the most economical recoverably source is natural gas, and not all natural gas contains helium. The richest proven source in the United States is the Hugoton Field, underlying parts of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

But natural gas from the Hugoton Field, like gas from other fields in the area, is being used to satisfy current demands. As natural gas reserves decline so does the future supply of economical helium. When natural gas is consumed as fuel, the nonburning helium goes up the smokestack to be lost forever.

In 1960, Congress passed the Helium Act Amendments, designed to conserve some 62-billion cubic feet of helium over a 22-year period. Northern Helex, a subsidiary of Northern Natural Gas, was the first of four private companies to be awarded a contract to extract and sell helium to the government for storage and resale.

Administered by the Department of Interior's Bureau of Mines, the helium conservation program worked as planned for the first eight years, with nearly 3.6 billion cubic feet of helium annually going into storage for the future. Then in late 1969, the program started running into trouble.

Unlike most other government conservation programs, the helium program was to be self-supporting. But with the phasing out of the space and missile projects, helium consumption began tapering off.

In 1971, the helium conservation program became a victim of economics. Because it was losing money, the government issued contract termination notices. Since then the matter has been entangled in litigation, with Northern Helex claiming breach of contract and seeking damages.

In the meantime, helium once destined for conservation is being vented to the Kansas air.

Scientists warn that helium will be vital in meeting the nation's energy needs in the next century Without helium, things like the production of energy from thermonuclear fusions, the transmissions of electricity by superconducting powerlines and the conversion of coal to gas in environmentally clean plants using magnetohydroynamic generators will be unlikely, if not impossible.

The helium that has been wasted is gone, says "Transmission." Only future generations will be able to look back on this period in history and decide whether our continued waste of this gas was a costly error in judgment.

Heat from cold

The nation's energy crisis is very real and its longevity is certain, according to all but dreamers and wishful thinkers. There are two great needs now being faced:

We must conserve our present energy-producing resources, especially those we ourselves control. We must seek out and learn how to exploit new resources, exotic though they may seem now.

The energy industry is making every effort to accomplish all of these things, even the exotic future sources. One of these latter — really far-out for the layman — is being explored under auspices of the National Science Foundation.

The concept is that substantial amounts of energy could be derived at low cost and with no pollution by harnessing temperature differences within the oceans. According to a New York Times dispatch, it has been estimated that the heat being carried by the Gulf Stream through the Florida Straits between Miami and the Bahamas could be harnessed to produce the equivalent of all the electricity now used by the United States.

The harnessing would be done by plants moored 25 miles off Miami. Warm surface water would be used to vaporize propane or ammonia, the vapor driving power plant turbines. It would then be condensed back into a fluid by frigid deep water, and recycled.

Several test plants are being planned. And if the hypothesis proves practically applicable, there certainly should be no shortage of the basic element, water.

U.S. target of new guerrilla attacks?

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's triumphant tour of the Middle East has already produced a backlash, which could upset the peace Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has labored so hard to fashion.

Secret intelligence reports warn that the Palestinians are deeply disgruntled over the President's failure to come to grips with the Palestinian problem. This is almost certain to encourage the extremists to step up their terrorist activities.

Isreael can be expected to respond by retaliating against guerrilla bases in Lebanon and Syria. Indeed, President Nixon had scarcely left Israel before Israeli warplanes hit back at Palestinian raiders by pounding the Lebanese border villages where they hole up.

Command strikes against Israel and Israeli retaliation raids would only polarize Arab opinion and prevent a peaceful settlement. This plea was made to the President, according to diplomatic reports, by both Egypt's President Sadat and Saudi Arabi's King Feisal.

Emotionally, Sadat pleaded with the President to bring the Palestinians to the peace table in Geneva. The Egyptian leader promised to use his influence to persuade them to negotiate their future borders and relationships with Israel.

If the Palestine problem isn't settled by negotiation, he warned urgently, the extremists would seek their own solutions through violence and terrorism. The President received similar warnings at every stop in the Arab world.

Yet in Israel, he joined Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin in a joint statement condemning "armed bands" and "mercenaries" who invade "the territory of another state." The emotional Palestinians took this to mean that President Nixon was siding with the Israelis against the Palestinians. Even moderate Palestinians leaders joined in the angry denunciation of the President.

The extremists are expected to express their displeasure more emphatically by launching new guerrilla attacks upon Israel. But Israel security is getting so tough to crack, intelligence analysts predict, that the terrorists will have to seek other targets.

High on their list, intelligence reports warn, will be U.S. targets, including airliners, embassies and consulates around the world. "It just doesn't look good for the United States," one analyst told us bluntly.

Ominously, Palestinian extremists are armed with sophisticated Soviet-made Katyusha and Strella rockets. These have been furnished to the terrorists, according to intelligent reports, by Libya's strongman, Col. Muammar el-Quaddafi.

At least one commercial plane already has been destroyed by Arab terrorists using Strella rockets. And Israeli police discovered three Katyusha rockets, one of them aimed at the sacred Wailing Wall in Jerusalem. The rockets wre found moments before they were to be exploded by automatic timing devices.

Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., during a trip to the Middle East learned from intelligence sources that Arab terrorists have also adapted a new arsenal of makeshift, terrorist weapons from everyday American products. These weapons, Murphy told us, include the following:

—"Pig Bomb": This is a cardboard tube usually a toilet paper tube or kitchen-towel tube, packed with black powder and .22 caliber bullets. It contains a fuse which is actuated when the hand releases its grip on the tube. This nasty device can be gift-wrapped and delivered to an assassination victim. The time fuse gives the messenger time to get away before it explodes.

—Aerosol Flame Thrower: This is a simple, lacquer-base aerosol can with a zippo or butane lighter taped to its side. The lighter is ignited, the spray button pushed and a spurt of flame shoots out 12 to 13 feet.

—Refrigerator Bomb: Narcotics or other valuables are stashed in a refrigerator, which is wired with a gigantic explosive charge. A detonator blasting cap is inserted in the refrigerator's light socket. The terrorists simply unplug the refrigerator when they want access to the stash. Police or soldiers, raiding their hideout, would be blown to bits.

—Pen Gun: This is an Italian-made weapon, which looks exactly like a chrome ballpoint pen or pencil. But it fires a .22 caliber shell and is exceedingly difficult to detect at airports.

Murphy points out that these weapons are already known to the terrorists, who are expected to use them for hijackings, assassinations and sabotage. A victim marked for assassination, for example, could have his refrigerator turned into a bomb, or the aerosol flame thrower could be used to set off a sabotage charge from a safe distance, suggests the congressman.

Intelligence reports warn that the terrorists might provoke incidents against Egypt, Jordan and Saudi Arabia, because of their pro-American policies.

The Egyptians stressed to President Nixon that a Palestinian solution would end most of the terrorism and put the Palestinians to work building their own nation. President Sadat, however, didn't define the borders of the proposed Palestine state. He preferred to leave the specifics to be negotiated at Geneva.

Our sources say that Kissinger, in his secret talks, promised U.S. support to the moderate Palestinians. Presumably, this would include CIA backing. But the moderates, angry over the President's statement in Israel, are now in no mood to deal with the United States.

Nursing homes come a long way

Horrifying accounts have been crossing my desk. An individual writes, "This is a smuggled letter; I am living in a retirement jail!" A University of Chicago psychologist, Robert Kahn, says, "Nursing homes are the worst institutions ever devised by man."

The Illinois State Senate hears testimony of "slavelike conditions" in some nursing homes, of "thousands barely surviving in dark, rat-infested rooms . . ."

And then—like a fresh breeze across the clover patch—I hear that nursing homes don't have to be like that. It is deep-rooted Jewish tradition to respect one's kin and to venerate the elderly.

In Rogers Park, suburban Chicago, Jewish elderly are allowed to remain in their own homes. Housekeepers are provided, where necessary. Buses are provided so they can get around.

Those requiring more care live in an apartment house where they remain free to come and go and visit storefront coffee shops and otherwise "function, fuss and get around."

In Overland Park, suburban Kansas City, there is a new Indian Meadows Nursing Center which offers the elderly health care in a country club environment. And at a cost that's very little more than the so-called warehouses.

Rooms are as lovely as a resort hotel. There are resort-type social areas for dining, lounging, sunning, television. There are resort-type planned activities—movies, handcraft, cruise-ship accommodations.

Residents are admitted under care of their own physicians if they prefer. Their own doctors' orders are followed precisely by hospital-trained professionals.

So here we can have a scientific facility in the healing arts—not a "nursing home" so much as a "nursing center," with clinical excellence plus compassionate concern for individuals. And it does not have to look like a barracks.

The gentle man with the dynamic vision in this instance is Robert W. Rieger, whose concern for the elderly reflects a compulsion to "do unto others."

He has established similar facilities elsewhere in the Kansas City area and in Colorado Springs, Denver, Omaha and St. Louis.

But his newest, Indian Meadows, enhances the elements which allow the ailing elderly a life of beauty and dignity, with opportunities for privacy, where preferred, and self-assertion with a peer group according to each individual's capability and preference.

When we are young we know we will be young always. So easily the schoolager may dismiss the thought of aging from his mind and callously wish to dismiss any evidence of it from his sight.

Meanwhile, on the other hand, the young will revere an artist or a teacher, a lawmaker or a clown, who is 80-plus — forgetting that each of his elders is equally unequal in some degree.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

As others see it . . . letters

Hear both sides

Recently, your publication and others have presented articles, editorials, or letters (usually generated by conservationist groups) which claim that Japan is "slaughtering the world's whale populations to extinction.

With little regard for balanced discussion (and sometimes containing factual errors, oversights, omissions), certain of these presentations have even demanded a complete economic boycott of Japan to force a 10-year blanket moratorium on all commercial whaling.

To date, only the conservationist view of this subject has been reported in the U.S.

In the interest of presenting some of the facts which have been little heard in this controversy, the Japan Whaling Information Center has been established in New York by The Japan Whaling Association.

Through the American tradition of fair-mindedness and willingness to listen to both sides of the story, it is our hope to establish reasonable balance in what has become a one-sided issue.

For the people of Japan, conservation of the world's whale populations is not only an ecological priority, but also a nutritional necessity. Whale meat has long occupied an important part in the protein-poor Japanese diet. — Ray Josephs, David Levy, Japan Whaling Information Center.

Gossip for today

I see where a minister claims there is no longer such a thing as "original sin." His contention is, all the sin possible have been around since time began. However the interesting thing is, with all that backlog to choose from, day by day in every way it is getting increasingly difficult to sin in the good old fashioned manner.

As a case in point, a Long Island Appeals court has ruled there is nothing wrong with sunbathing in the nude on New York beaches.

Or remember how in great grandpa's day belly dancing (according to great grandma at least) was considered a cardinal sin? Well, today in Decatur, Ga., a preacher's wife is teaching this fine art, and you can even signup for a course in belly dancing at the Pomona Y.

Consider also how far we've come in our ability to detect and punish the sin of inebriation. Only 70 years ago no less an authority than the world heavyweight champion, John L. Sullivan, stated: "A man ain't drunk unless he lies down in the gutter."

So it is not at all surprising that these days one gets the impression the time will eventually arrive when, thanks to our courts and our modern disposition to believe there is nothing either right or wrong but thinking makes it so, sin will disappear entirely. But unfortunately even when things look brightest something always happens to prove that sin will inevitably raise its ugly head. —Did you know that even at this very moment the Food and Drug Administration is investigating the possibility that the practice of artificially coloring bread is sinful?

VIEWPOINT

Lawyers and the public interest

By CHESTERFIELD SMITH
President
American Bar Assn.

The organized bar has become increasingly sensitive to the fact that historically the poor have been under-represented as far as the legal system is concerned. They have not had either equal access to courts as plaintiffs or equal representation as defendants.

Our hearts traditionally have gone out to the poor because, economically, poor individuals can do little to obtain adequate legal assistance. But it seems to me that the lack of adequate legal representation embraces far more Americans than the poor.

There are both individuals and groups who are, for practical purposes, barred from the courts and from the legal process generally because they lack sufficient commitment to a particular issue pending in the courts to support litigation on the same scale as their adversaries. Environmental and consumer concerns are two immediate and obvious examples. There are many, many more.

One device which has evolved to remedy part of this imbalance is the so-called public interest law firm. This type of law firm offers the best possibility of enhancing truly equal legal resources for all those groups who have been largely unrepresented.

Unless and until a better mechanism than the public interest law firms is found, all lawyers should support and help fund those firms. One possibility is the funding of public interest firms directly by bar associations. A portion of each member's dues could be allocated to the bar association's firm. This procedure is now under way in Beverly Hills, Boston and perhaps other cities.

The imposition of a tax directly on the individual lawyer for the use of the public interest type law firm is another alternative. Perhaps each lawyer should tithe for "public good" activities in either money or services.

The American Bar Association has been interested for several years in the program by which large law firms are encouraged to create a public interest department or to fund a separate public interest firm. This has worked with notable success in some instances, but it alone can never be the whole answer.

It may be possible at least partially to staff public interest offices with lawyers donating a portion of their time, but who are otherwise employed elsewhere.

I am convinced that the best way of supporting public interest law firms will vary from area to area. There may even be devices other than public interest firms which are better suited to accomplish the goal for both society and the legal profession. Further examination of public interest law firms and all other possibilities by the organized bar clearly is warranted before substantial restructuring of the profession should be undertaken.

What is immediately important as I see it is the recognition by lawyers generally of the proposition that every lawyer owes a substantial portion of his time — or its monetary equivalent — to the perfection of the adversary proceedings in our courts.

That obligation is of course not in lieu of our obligation to serve our own clients. In my judgment it is, however, as important as any of the other traditionally recognized professional obligations of lawyers and, to now, one which in the main has been sadly neglected.

Signal job contract let

MONTCLAIR — A contract to install traffic signals and lights at Mission Boulevard and Central Avenue has been awarded to Steiny and Co. which submitted a low bid of $56,477.

The project includes installation of a modern, eight-phase traffic actuator signal which will provide a separate left turn phase for all directions and result in a significant increase in efficiency and reduction of accidents, said San Bernardino County Supervisor Robert O. Townsend.

The county Board of Supervisors awarded the contract at their Monday session. Construction is expected to take six months to complete. Work will begin when necessary electrical equipment is received.

Claremont okays remodeling plans

CLAREMONT — The Architectural Commission has approved exterior remodeling plans for the Beef 'N' Barrel Restaurant at 860 S. Indian Hill Blvd., but is requiring that the applicant furnish a $15,000 six-month bond to cover landscaping plans and the parking lot.

The commission did not approve proposed redwood planter boxes nor landscaping plans submitted for the front of the building.

Issuance of the building permit is contingent on posting of the bond.

Housing Officer Don Luxembourg recently explained to the commission that the city staff is concerned about the inadequate off-street parking, and that 12 to 14 more spaces are needed.

Dwight Thompson, representing the applicant, O'Meara - Chandler reported that three more tennis courts will be added this summer to ths new Valley Racquet Club development which is part of the Rodeway Inn Beef 'N' Barrel complex, and that the firm will be studying the whole development from a landscaping point of view within the next 60 days.

He requested that approval be given for the remodeling and that within 60 days plans for landscaping and parking will be submitted for the entire site.

Commission members said they felt landscaping could improve the project appearance.

Topic for legion: "Prison Reform"

ONTARIO — "Prison Reform" will be the subject of a presentation by Dr. Vera Dreiser at the American Legion Lucnheon Club meeting Wednesday at noon in the auditorium of the Legion Post, 310 W. Emporia St.

Dr. Dreiser earned her doctorate at New York University and was in private practice as a consulting psychologist in New York City for 15 years before serving at the California Institution for Women as administrator of the psychiatric treatment unit for 10 years.

She recently terminated her public service to devote full time to the writing of a biography of her late uncle, the distinguished American author-journalist Theodore Dreiser.

The public is invited to attend the program which will begin at 12:30. Reservations for the luncheon and program may be made by calling 984-3811.

Dr. Singer named chief at hospital

GLENDORA — Dr. E. Richard Singer of Glendora has been elected chief of staff for the Glendora Community Hospital. He succeeds Dr. David G. Haney.

Dr. Singer came to the area in 1968 following four years with the U.S. Air Force. He is a member of the American Board of Surgery and the American College of Surgeons.

Serving with him on the executive committee are Dr. Roberta Armstrong, president-elect; Dr. Jack R. Bostwick, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Haney, chairman of the joint conference committee; Dr. I. Paul Geleris, chairman of the medical audit committee; Dr. Donald D. Davis, chairman of the surgical committee; and Dr. Melvyn H. Krause, chairman of the medical committee.

WILLIAM J. CONDON of Upland has been appointed superintendent of cold rolled and coated products maintenance at the Kaiser Steel Corp.'s plant in Fontana. He joined Kaiser in 1959 as a senior industrialist engineer and became assistant superintendent of the tin mill in 1971. He and his wife, Eleanor, have two daughters.

CARACAS (UPI) — The Venezuelan government has decided to get out of the hotel business. The government tourist agency says it will sell its nine hotels if its price is met. The hotels represent the biggest chain in Venezeula.

Primary economic impact of Kaiser Steel... $270 million a year.

We asked Urbanomics Research Associates to put a dollar and cents figure on what our Fontana plants mean to the local economy. They looked at such things as Kaiser Steel's payroll, expenditures for raw materials, fuel, supplies, equipment, transportation, taxes and charitable contributions.

The study shows that Kaiser Steel, Fontana, spent nearly $270 million in 1971—money that went directly into the area's economy. And the level of spending is even higher today.

It's an economic fact of life that the money we spend helps provide jobs and income for people living in the area. Every job at our steel mill creates two additional jobs in local communities—more than 25,000 jobs in all. Here's how the $270 million which we spent in 1971 adds up:

Kaiser Steel Fontana Plants and the local economy (1971)*

Total Annual Payroll	$ 92,583,200
Total Annual Expenditures (for raw materials, fuel and operating supplies)	$113,987,000
Investment in New Plant and Equipment	$ 18,030,400
Transportation Costs (paid or caused to be paid)	$ 33,000,000
Property Tax Payments to San Bernardino County Local Government	$ 7,846,000
State Sales Tax (paid or caused to be paid)	$ 3,000,000
State Unemployment Insurance	$ 994,600
Community Contributions
Associate In-group Donors (AID)	$ 207,000
Kaiser Steel Corporation	$ 128,000
Total	$269,776,200

Ford to halt ads on unproven claims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ford Motor Co. has agreed to stop running commercials claiming that its Galaxie and LTD cars have steel reinforcements as strong as highway guard rails, or that the LTD runs quieter than a glider in flight, the Federal Trade Commission says.

Under a consent order tentatively accepted by the FTC, both Ford and its advertising agency, the J. Walter Thompson Co., will no longer make claims in the future involving strength, quietness or performance for any Ford product unless they have reliable evidence to support it.

The guard rail commercial featured workmen removing the front doors of a 1971 LTD, exposing the rails. Chains were attached to the rails and the car was lifted vertically while an announcer intoned: "Steel guard rails. They're strong and durable ... like the rest of the car." The whole shot was framed by a highway guard rail.

The FTC, however, said:

"In truth and in fact the steel guard rails in the side doors of the Ford LTD and Ford Galaxie automobiles aren't as strong as a typical highway guard rail in that, among other reasons, they do not have the same lateral strength as a typical highway guard rail."

Lifting the car vertically by the rails, the commission said, offers no proof that the rails would resist an impact from the side the way a highway guard rail does.

The glider commercial, in both print and on television, showed a sound meter placed inside an LTD and an engineless glider in flight.

"Nobody has to convince you how quiet a glider is," says the announcer. "Airborne. With no engine at all. Can an LTD be as quiet as a glider?"

In truth, the FTC said, the 82 decibel readig in the plane is really rather noisy, not "quiet" at all. Ford and J. Walter Thompson, it added, had thus "established a misleading standard of quietness of the 1973 Ford LTD ... "

The complaint contended that both commercials represented false, misleading and deceptive advertising.

A staff analysis released along with the settlement noted, however, that the commission was not challenging whether an LTD is really quiet —only its comparison to a glider.

2nd largest bank raises prime rate

NEW YORK (UPI) — First National City Bank of New York, the nation's second largest, recently raised its prime rate back to a record high 11 ½ per cent.

The much awaited decision of First National to hike the amount of interest it charges key corporate customers dampened trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.08 at 820.79 shortly after the opening. Declines led advances, 154 to 56, among the 115 issues crossing the tape. Volume amounted to more than 300,000 shares.

Wall street for the past few sessions had focused its attention on Citibank which had lowered its rate to 11¼ per cent two weeks ago. Few major banks followed suit.

First National Bank of Miami, one of those that did follow, Thursday hiked its prime to 11½ per cent.

A further discouraging note for investors who have worried over rising interest rates, was a report late the commercial and industrial demands at New York's 12 top banks rose to $719 million in the latest week.

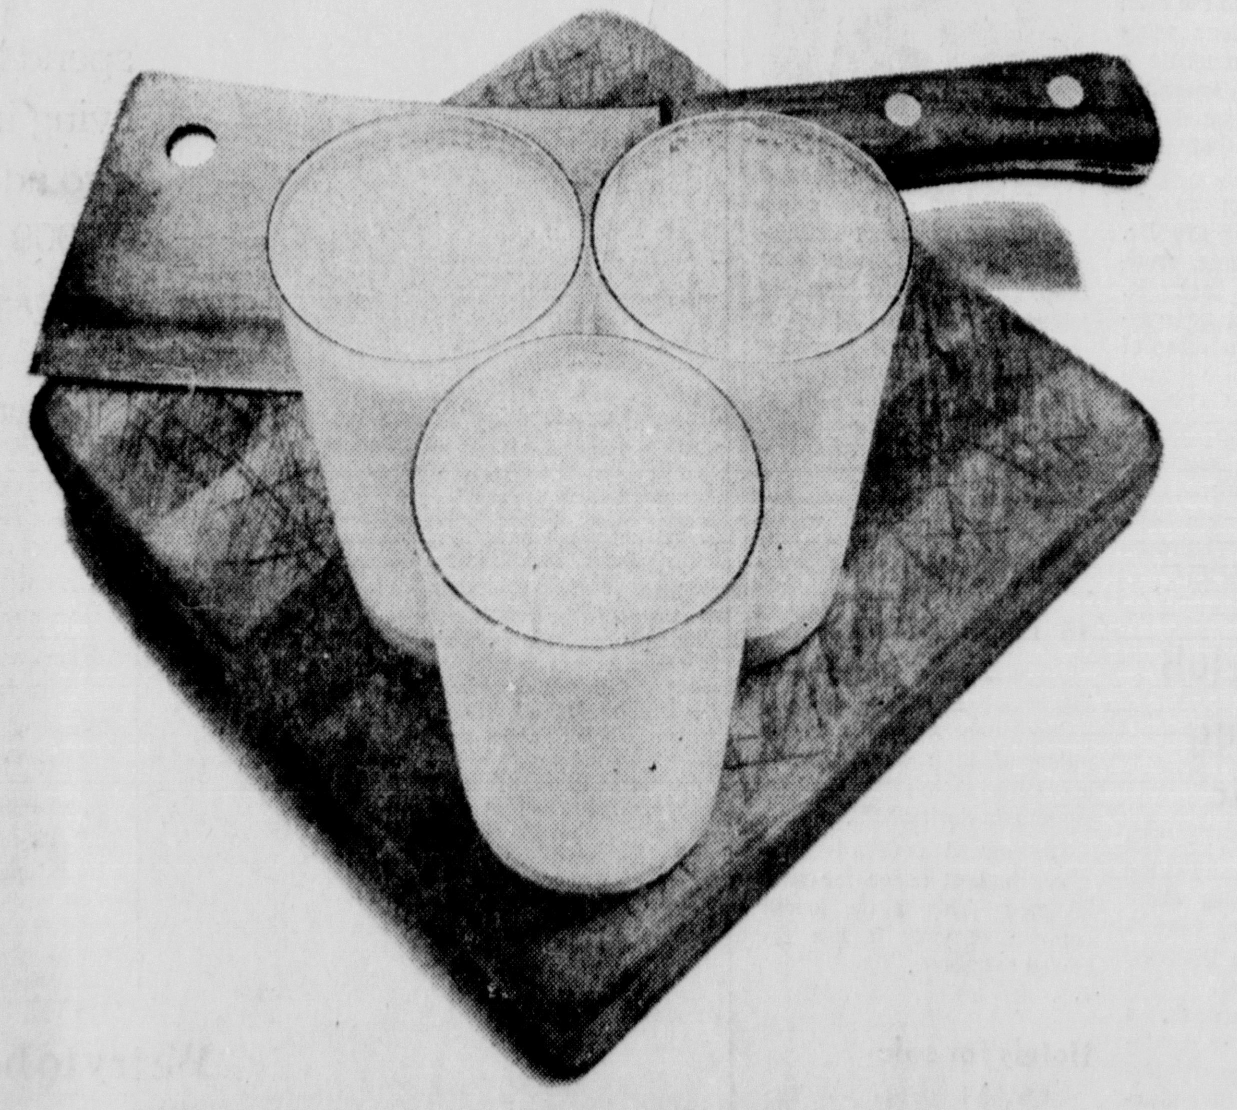
How to cut the price of protein.

All it takes is three 8-oz. glasses of milk: half the protein you should have each day. And all they cost is 28¢ — so cut yourself in on the bargain!



Milk has something for every body.

Cost of three 8-oz. glasses of milk is based on the average price of a half-gallon of milk in California stores. The U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance of protein per person is 45 grams as endorsed by the Food and Drug Administration; three 8-oz. glasses of milk provide 25.5 grams.

PRESIDENTS

Q. "Among our presidents who drove cars, who was the best driver?"

A. Too tricky a query, that. Can only report that Lyndon Johnson was the fastest. He sometimes tooled along at speeds far inexcess of the limit. Slowest no doubt was Calvin Coolidge. He never exceeded 16 m.p.h., and didn't drive at all while in office. First president to drive a car was Warren G. Harding.

WHAT DO YOU mean when you say something is fabulous? Surprisingly few folk realize that word is not just a synonym for wondrous. If it's fabulous. it's like something in a fable. Take the unicorn, for instance. Now that's fabulous. Incidentally, surprisingly few folk, too, realize it's not just a horse with a horn on its head. A true unicorn of good breeding has not only the head of a horse, but the hind legs of a stag and the tail of a lion.

VA hospital director must retire or be transferred

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The director of a Veterans Administration hospital, as discipline for influencing VA officials to give jobs to his daughter and son-in-law, has been given his choice of retirement or a transfer to Pennsylvania.

John Cox, director of the West Los Angeles VA hospital, used "undue influence" to pressure officials to hire his daughter at the Brentwood hospital, also in Los Angeles, and to have his son-in-law transferred from the VA hospital in New York to the West Los Angeles hospital without proper authorization, a VA spokesman said recently.

The daughter and son-in-law were removed from their positions by a VA investigating panel, said the spokesman, Laul Mills.

He overlooks safety play

"Why did you take me all the way to six?" complained South. "Don't you know I may open a fifteen-point notrump on occasion?"

"I don't really mind your fifteen-point notrump," replied North. "What I do object to is the way you misplay them."

South won the diamond lead with his ace and led his four of clubs. West played the seven and South went right up with dummy's king. East showed out and try as he might South had no way to avoid the loss of two club tricks.

Where had South gone wrong? There was a perfect safety play available to him.

He should simply have covered West's seven of clubs with dummy's nine spot. This would have cost him a trick if East had started with exactly two clubs. But all the trick would have cost him, would have been a 30-point overtrick. As North pointed out you can afford that loss when insuring a slam.

Suppose clubs had broken 3-1. South would lose a club trick and could not lose two. Suppose East held all four clubs. West would have shown out and South would have known about the bad break. The only way to lose the slam was for West to hold all four and South to misplay the suit.

Supreme Court ruling

'Carnal Knowledge' not obscene

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, ruling the film "Carnal Knowledge" was not obscene, said today that juries may be instructed to apply their own "community standards" rather than broader standards in dealing with obscenity cases.

The court had been urged to tailor its obscenity standards to the laws of the 50 states on the ground that movie makers and book publishers could not cope with possible suits in thousands of separate political subdivisions in the country.

But in an opinion by Justice William H. Rehnquist the court said the standards it laid down last term approve such an instruction but do not require it.

"The Constitution does not require that juries be instructed in state obscenity cases to apply the standards of a hypothetical statewide community," Rehnquist said.

As for "Carnal Knowledge" —the subject of a Georgia case which tried to have the award winning movie declared obscene —Rehnquist said the court's "own view" of the film satisfied it that sexual conduct was not depicted "in a patently offensive way."

"While the subject matter of the picture is, in a broader sense, sex, and there are scenes in which sexual conduct including 'ultimate sexual acts' is to be understood to be taking place, the camera does not focus on the bodies of the actors at such times," the opinion said.

"There is no exhibition whatever of the actors' genitals, lewd or otherwise, during these scenes. There are occasional scenes of nudity, but nudity alone is not enough to make material legally obscene under (our) standards."

At the same time in a separate 5 to 4 decision the court said the federal law barring the mailing of obscene material does not offend constitutional safeguards when "applied according to the proper standard for judging obscenity."

The decision affirmed six convictions in Los Angeles for the mailing of a brochure advertising the report of the President's Commission on Obscenity. The brochure carried illustrations of the sexual material dealt with in the report.

Rehnquist said the brochure is a form of hard-core pornography well within the limits forbidden in its test case last term.

The "Carnal Knowledge" decision unanimously reversed the conviction of Billy Jenkins, Albany, Ga., theater manager who was fined $750 and sentenced to 12 months probation for showing the movie, which was held by some critics to be among the "10 Best" of 1971.

Jenkins was convicted under a law making it a crime to depict conduct that would violate Georgia's indecency statute if engaged in publicly.

All the justices did not go along with Rehnquist's reasoning. Justice William O. Douglas has always felt that any restrictions on obscenity violate the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall said they are as convinced as they were last term that the court's new standards do not extricate it from the "mire of case-by-case determinations of obsenity."

Two grass fires deliberately set

EL SERENO (UPI) — A total of 17 acres of grass were burned Sunday in two separate fires which authorities believed were deliberately set.

Firemen said the first fire, which charred two acres, was apparently set to decoy authorities so the second blaze, which burned 15 acres, could be ignited.

Seven engine companies and three helicopters fought the fires which caused $150 damage to one home.

Dodgers 'robbed' by Murrell

HOLD THAT BRAVE!

Atlanta's Dave Johnson holds onto the feet of teammate Johnny Oates. Oates, the Braves' catcher, flipped over the fence into the stands chasing Bill Buckner's foul.

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

LOS' ANGELES — Billy Buckner doesn't have exclusive rights to sensational catches in leftfield at Dodger Stadium.

Seldom does a great catch turn around a baseball game but Ivan Murrell's sensational grab of a Jimmy Wynn 'home run' inspired the Atlanta Braves to rally for a 4-3 victory over the Dodgers Monday night behind Buzz Capra's pitching.

Murrell's diving catch into the third row of the leftfield stands in the third inning robbed Wynn of a three-run homer which would have given the Dodgers a comfortable 6-0 lead.

It was such a great catch that the large Monday crowd of 30,261 gave the Atlanta leftfielder, who is mainly Henry Aaron's caddy when the home run king rests, a big ovation.

"I know that corner pretty well," Murrell explained. "A couple of years ago I caught one just like that in the same spot that Jim Lefebvre hit."

Murrell was picked up by the Braves after being let go by the San Diego Padres. A former teammate of Wynn's at Houston, the native of Panama had a good idea of where the ball was going.

"I also know Jimmy hits the ball high. When he hit it, I ran back to the corner and waited," Murrell said. "There were fans all around me when I jumped but they didn't bother me."

Murrell's great catch kept Capra in the game and the right-hander immediately got tough in recording his eighth consecutive victory, an Atlanta club record.

Capra, who was a castoff from the New York Mets, retired the next 16 Dodgers in order and earned the victory when his teammates rallied for four runs in the seventh inning.

"Murrell's catch was the play of the game," Capra said. "When he got it, I said, by golly, if I can hold them to three runs, I think we'll get a couple. It turned the game around."

Capra also drove in the winning run in the seventh when he laid down a perfect bunt on Mike Marshall's 2-2 pitch to score Craig Robinson on a suicide squeeze.

"I just barely fouled off a couple of pitches as Marshall nearly struck me out," Carpa explained. "Then Eddie (Mathews) put the squeeze on. It was a straight high pitch, inside, but I got it down."

Marshall had no chance to get Robinson at the plate.

Lefthander Doug Rau was working on a three-hit shutout entering the seventh when his usual problem of tiring in late innings developed.

Dave Johnson opened the frame with a bloop single and Murrell drew a walk. Darrell Evans ripped a double to score Johnson. Johnny Oates' ground out brought Murrell in and Robinson tied it with a single to send Evans home.

Dodger manager Walt Alston then sent for workhorse Marshall, who had just won three consecutive games over the Giants in relief.

But Robinson got a good jump on Marshall and easily stole second, advancing to third on catcher Joe Ferguson's throwing error. Capra's bunt did the rest.

"We're playing Dodger type baseball," Murrell grinned.

The Dodgers scored quickly against Capra.

They tallied an unearned run in the first inning when Davey Lopes beat out an infield single, stole second and went on to third on Oates' throwing error. Wynn got his 57th run batted in with a ground out.

The Dodgers got a bad break in the eighth. After Lopes singled, Buckner followed with a line drive which first baseman Johnson speared at the bag for an easy double play.

DODGER DATA — Andy Messersmith (7-2) will face Ron Reed (5-3), making his first start since being struck by a line drive on May 15, in tonight's middle game of the series . . .

Both Aaron and the injured Ralph Garr (sprained ankle) are expected back in the Braves' lineup tonight . . .

Don Sutton (6-6) will oppose Carl Morton (9-2) in Wednesday's special 1:15 p.m. contest which is the Dodgers' annual Businessmen's Special . . .

Marshall was selected the National League Player of the Week for his three victories over the weekend. He is 11 games ahead of his record race for appearances by a pitcher set last year in Montreal . . .

The Dodgers have belted 65 home runs to Atlanta's 53. The Braves are way off their HR pace of last year when they hit 206. But Atlanta's pitching staff has compiled an impressive 2.96 earned run average compared to last year's infamous 4.25 figure . . .

Considering Atlanta is in second place 6½ games behind the Dodgers compared to its fifth place in 1973, it's easy to say pitching is the name of the game.

Angels in cellar; walloped by A's

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland A's got a grand slam from Sal Bando, a scare from Reggie Jackson, clutch hitting from Angel Mangual and promises of pending deals from owner Charles O. Finley as they crushed California, 11-3.

They also got a 2 ½ game lead in the American League West from their lopsided Monday night win.

All the Angels plucked from the evening was a quick drop to the division cellar.

Bando's sixth grand slam of his career came in the eighth inning off rookie reliever Barry Raziano, but the loss went to Angel starter Dick Lange (2-3). Bando suggested his big blow "wasn't too important because of when it came"—Oakland already had a 7-3 lead——and credited Mangual with wield ing the big bat of the night.

Mangual, Oakland's designated-hitter, singled in two runs to tie the game in the second and an inning later put the A's in the lead with a sacrifice fly to give him 22 rbis this season. He had only 13 last year and says that Manager Alvin Dark has made him a more confident hitter. Mangual said that ex-skipper Dick Williams "scared me and made me worry when I came to bat."

The A's all were scared when Reggie Jackson doubled up while beating out an infield single in the second. He complained of a pain in his lower back and was taken immediately to Merritt Hospital for observation. A muscle pull was at first feared, but doctors later reported it was only a spasm.

Jackson is expected to play here tonight as the A's send Jim Hunter (9-8) against California's young Frank Tanana (4-10). Vida Blue went eight innings Monday night to even his mark at 7-7.

Regular racing back on schedule

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Abbreviated race distances to curb fuel consumption will be abandoned NASCAR President Bill France, Jr., said Monday.

France said the remaining auto races on NASCAR's 1974 Winston Cup schedule will be conducted at regular distances, beginning with the July 4th Firecracker 400 at Daytona International Speedway.

All Grand National event distances were reduced by 10 per cent during the first half of this year as part of a campaign to reduce fuel consumption 25 per cent during the energy crisis.

"We have complied with all conservation requests and are meeting our target on fuel savings. NASCAR will continue to be prepared to meet any adverse changes in the national energy situation.

Easy win for Billie Jean

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Billie Jean King, playing with the guile and venom that helped her win five Wimbledon titles, today destroyed Kathy May, 6-1, 6-1, as she started defense of her women's crown at the All England Tennis championships.

Mrs. King, one of the brains behind World Team Tennis and the no-nonsense player-coach of Philadelphia, treated the capacity center court crowd to all that is good in tennis—the drop shot, the sliced second service, the top spin lob hit on the run and sound serving and volleying.

Miss May, of Los Angeles, tried to out-hit the champion and paid the penalty. She was repeatedly long over the baseline and was caught flat-footed at the net when Mrs. King, of Long Beach, Calif. used the drop shot.

Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. was inactive today, having drawn a first round bye in the draw of 96 ladies.

Third seeded Evonne Goolagong, the 1971 champion, needed only 29 minutes to defeat Mariejka Schaar of Holland, 6-1, 6-1.

Third-seeded Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill, kept his sweater on in the cool, cloudy afternoon to win the fourth set of his duel with Ove Bengtson of Sweden—it was postponed until today when the light failed last night—and the match, 6-1, 7-9, 6-2, 6-4.

The tall Swede, who much prefers indoor surfaces, couldn't match the American's consistency. The double faults that troubled him in the first three sets Monday were again in evidence and gave Connors the winning service break. With the score 2-2 Bengtson double-faulted to 30-all and again at game point.

"All I can say is that I'm glad to be playing again," Connors said. "I couldn't play in the Italian and French championships" — he was banned for his membership in WTT. "I'm quite satisfied with my game at this point," he said.

Goolagong simply had too many shots for her less experienced opponent—one of the few players around who has no backhand, hitting forehands from either side. It was the Australian's deep probing backhand that gave Mrs. Schaar the most trouble, although Goolagong won several key points with slippery drop shots that had no answer.

The 88th Wimbledon championships began Monday with the men's singles and Jan Kodes, Stan Smith and John Newcombe, each claiming to be the defending champion, scored first round victories.

The prestigious tradition-bound tournament on Wimbledon's famed grass courts — and at $234,480 the richest as well —finds itself with a full complement of the world's top men players after two years of bans and boycotts, which explains the abundance of defending champions.

Newcombe, victor in 1970 and 1971, claimed he was prevented by the boycotts and bans from competing again until this year. "And so I consider myself still the champion and defending my title," he said.

Newcombe, playing with a wood racquet instead of his customary steel to meet the terms of a commercial contract, had some trouble adjusting, but dispatched France's Georges Goven in straight sets 6-3, 6-2, 8-6.

The top seed, who is the strong betting favorite and the players own choice to win, Newcombe said, "I hit so much wood today the strings at the top of the racquet are more frayed than in the middle."

Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., who won here in 1972 and didn't play in 1973 made the same claim of being the defending titleholder after handily beating Grover Reid of Greenville, S.C. 6-3, 6-3, 6-2.

And this only added to the bitterness of last year's champion Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, who was chagrined to discover that he was seeded only sixth, the lowest seeding for a defending titleholder in the history of the tournament. Kodes defeated Sherwood Stewart of Houston, Tex., 6-3, 6-4, 9-7.

Mitzi McMillen holds on to win AAU Pentathlon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Mitzi McMillen of Seattle held off Marilyn King of the Millbrae (Calif.) Lions Monday to capture the National AAU women's pentathlon championship.

Miss McMillen led Miss King by 57 points Sunday after the first day of the two-day meet, but saw her lead dwindle to only 17 points after Miss King won the long jump with a wind-aided leap of 19-feet, 5-inches.

They tied for second, however, behind Laurie Stephens, of the Sweetheart Track Club, Brockport, N.Y., in the final event, the 200-meters, giving Miss McMillen first place in the overall competition with 4,051 points to Miss King's 4,034.

Miss McMillen won the 100-meter hurdles and the high jump Sunday, while Canada's Debbie Van Kiekebelt captured the shotput.

Following the meet, the AAU's International Selection committee named four representatives for upcoming meets against the Russians.

Miss McMillen, 18, and Miss King, 25, were named to the senior pentathlon team which will face Russia at Durham, N.C., July 5-6.

Lisa Kinamaka, 15, of the San Jose (Calif.) Cindergals, and Jeanine Shepherd, 17, of the Gazelle Track Club of Seattle, who finished fourth and fifth, respectively, in the AAU meet were named to the team for the junior meet against the Russians in Austin, Tex. next Friday and Saturday.

The third place finisher in the AAU meet was Lisa Chiavario of the Albuquerque, N.M. Olympettes.

NFL strike appears likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NFL players and owners went back to the bargaining table with a federal mediator today, but a strike next Monday seemed more likely than any chance of a settlement of the dispute.

The 1 p.m. EDT session was the first held by negotiators for the two sides since talks broke off in an angry mood 12 days ago.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said before the meeting he was adamantly opposed to postponing the strike deadline if a new contract is not signed.

"Even if some progress is made this week, I don't think we can play the carrot and stick game and put off strike action," Garvey commented.

He was pessimistic that a strike —the second in the last three seasons —could be averted, particularly since none of the major issues presented by NFLPA had been met to its satisfaction.

The agenda for the first day of renewed bargaining listed insurance, pensions, union security and player safety as issues for discussion. But they were only four of 90 demands Garvey and the players have served on the owners' Management Council.

Federal mediator James Scearce was hopeful that he could keep the talks going through Thursday and possibly into the weekend as well.

At issue are a series of contract changes which the players deem to be "freedom issues" as well as minimum wage and contract provisions. John Thompson, executive director of the Management Council, has declared that in the owners' view the "freedom" demands, including elimination of the reserve clause, would create "anarchy" in the National Football League's operations.

A strike call by the players on Monday would have no immediate impact until the first NFL team pre-season camp opening on July 3 when San Diego's rookies have been summoned for workouts.

But the Players' Association has conducted a strenuous campaign to persuade rookies and free agents to boycott the training camps, although they aren't eligible to join the NFLPA until the regular season begins.

If a strike should be called, the first public event to feel the brunt of the action would be the nationally televised College All-Star game agains the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins in Chicago on July 26.

World Cup field down to eight, no favorites

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI) —The World Cup field was pared down from 16 to eight teams by the past two week's play, but it also stripped the competition of a clear-cut favorite.

"The going will be rough," said Pele from a spectator's vantage point.

Reports from the West German camp forecast sweeping changes in the home team, which entered play two weeks ago as the favorite. Italy, a strong second choice, even failed to survive the preliminaries.

Dutch captain Johan Cruyff said the first confrontation in group A could decide who will be the group finalist in Munich July 7.

Eight teams fought their way to the second final round and faced a mini-league competition to decide the two finalists. "There are no outsiders in this party," said Dutch manager Rinus Michels.

The eight were divided into two groups of four with their first matches Wednesday — East Germany vs. Brazil and Holland vs. Argentina in Group A, with West Germany vs. Yugoslavia and Sweden vs. Poland in Group B.

Cruyff, who has replaced Pele as soccer's superstar, said the opening matches would be crucial. "Our game against Argentina could be dangerous," he said. "They .... have improved with every game. This match and East Germany's with Brazil probably will decide who finishes first in Group A."

Holland has played splendid football so far and was favored to beat Argentina, but the Argentines have tremendous reservoirs of skill and could spring a surprise.

East Germany provided one of the major shocks of the tournament by defeating West Germany, the favorite, 1-0 Saturday and Brazil has been unimpressive, drawing two games 0-0 and scoring only three goals in a feeble display against Zaire, the tournament's weakest team.

Sources in the West German camp said the team's defeat would have "consequences" and four or five changes might be made for the Yugoslavia match in Group B. Yugoslavia has shown both ruthlessness and skill against Scotland, Brazil and Zaire.

Sweden was generally accounted the weakest of the last eight and faces Poland, the only team to win its first three games.

But Swedish Manager Georg "Aaby" Ericsson was unperturbed. "We are riding so high we will beat the Poles as well," he said.

Competition is Marshall's thing

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Michael Grant Marshall is earning $87,500 with the Los Angeles Dodgers to take time out from his kinesiology courses at Michigan State University.

The money, the East Lansing, Mich., resident said, is not all that important. The competition is.

At 31, Marshall is baseball's premier relief pitcher. With the righthanded screwball artist in their bullpen, the Dodgers are confident they can dethrone the Cincinnati Reds in the National League West.

In the middle of the Dodgers' three-game series with the Atlanta Braves this week, Marshall has appeared in 46 of this club's 71 games. Since Dodger starters had 19 complete games, that meant the man from Michigan with the big words had appeared in all but six of LA's contests requiring a reliever.

Marshall is studying for his doctorate and lecturing on kinesiology at Michigan State. Kinesiology is the study of the principles of mechanics and anatomy in relation to human movement.

"Competition is the key to this game," Marshall said. "If it weren't for the strong competition, it wouldn't be any fun. That's what this game's all about."

And, he continued, not just competition with the other teams in the league.

"You can't let the fact that maybe a pitch isn't working well for you sway you from using it," he said. "You have to force yourself to use it even though it's difficult to throw that pitch.

"Now that's where the competition within yourself comes in. Besides the competition between teams, there's an awful lot of competition in yourself. You have to accept and meet challenges. Once you can meet them, then you're ready to go."

In a weekend series with the San Francisco Giants, Marshall pitched seven innings of scoreless relief and came up with three victories in three days to run his record to 7-3.

"My individual record means absolutely nothing," he said and he didn't sound like he had just delivered one of baseball's better age-worn cliches. "All that counts is the game goes under the Dodger win column."

Traded to the Dodgers during the offseason, Marshall pitched in 92 games for the Montreal Expos last year. That was a major league record.

Now it appears that he will break that record with ease. Asked if he thought he would appear in 120 this season, he replied stoically, "I hope they (the Dodgers) need me in that many."

Marshall says the thing that might separate him from the other relief pitchers in the big leagues is superior conditioning.

"What I say is if you want to play during the season, you work during the offseason," he noted. "During the season, I use the game as my conditioning.

"Usually, if I go two days without pitching, I'll throw some batting practice. Unless I throw quite a bit prior to that. Then I'll go three days. But I'll never go longer than that without throwing to a hitter."

The articulate and learned professor has a way of expressing himself that puts him in another world from other baseball players.

"The particular situation that I'm in doesn't make any difference when I pitch," he said. "I like to think I'm going to pitch to the guy the same way, regardless whether there's anybody on or not.

"I sit and watch the game closely for three innings in the dugout. I don't try to determine if a pitcher is tiring. That's up to the manager. I'm just ready any time the manager calls me. Any night."

Top draft choice signed by Astros

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Astros have signed Kevin Drake, their No. 1 selection in the June free agent draft.

Drake, a 6-3, 195-pound outfielder from Lompoc, Calif., batted .400 this season as a high school senior. He had signed a letter of intent to play football with UCLA.

Drake, 18, will report to Cedar Rapids, the Astros' Class A farm club in the Midwest League.

Ollie Brown is sold to Phillies

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Houston Astros Monday purchased the contract of American Association scoring leader Wilbur Howard from the Denver farm team and waived Ollie Brown to Philadelphia.

Brown collected 15 hits including three home runs, but only hit .217 in 27 games with the Astros this season.

National League roundup

By United Press International

Bob Gibson may be nearing his 39th birthday, but it's still too early to blow out the candles on the famed St. Louis Cardinals' righthander.

Gibson, who many thought was washed up after losing eight of his first 11 decisions this year, Monday night demonstrated the form that has made him baseball's winningest active pitcher when he tossed a four-hitter and struck out 11 in leading the Cardinals to an 11-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the second game of a doubleheader.

St. Louis also took the opener 3-1 and moved to within one game of the first place Philadelphia Phillies in the NL East.

Gibson, who had not won a game since May 19 and was rumored headed for the bullpen, won his 241st career game to break a tie with Boston's Juan Marichal as the winningest active pitcher. His 11 strikeouts also moved him to within 12 of becoming only the second pitcher, next to Walter Johnson, to pass the 3,000 career strikeout mark.

Gibson said he had felt good for the last two or three starts but just couldn't get it together.

"Anyone can know he's doing something wrong, but not know how to correct it. It's like that in pitching, hitting or writing," he said. "There's nothing you can do about it. It just happens."

Tim McCarver, who caught Gibson during the Cardinals' pennant-winning years in the 1960s, was behind the plate Monday night and said Gibson was hitting the right spots.

"For a guy who's been throwing as hard as Bob has for as long as he has, you've got to throw to spots to be successful," McCarver said. "Thats the big difference tonight."

A three-run homer by Ted Simmons and a solo shot by Jim Dwyer provided Gibson with the only runs he needed to post his 56th career shutout. Simmons' homer was a three-run blast in the third inning.

In the opener, the Cardinals scored all their runs on four straight singles bunched around a throwing error by Richie Zisk in the second inning. Ken Reitz delivered the key single, driving in Luis Melendez, and Bake McBride also scored on the play when Zisk's throw went into the Pittsburgh dugout. Mike Tyson singled home Reitz with the final run of the inning.

Philadelphia topped Montreal 8-2 in a nationally-televised game, Atlanta edged Los Angeles 4-3, Houston beat Cincinnati 6-1, San Diego nipped San Francisco 2-1 and New York defeated Chicago 4-2 in other NL games.

Phillies 8, Expos 2

Jim Lonborg pitched a six-hitter for his 10th victory and also hit a grand-slam homer to keep the Phillies in first place in the NL East. It was only the third major league homer for Lonborg, who boosted his record to 10-5. Larry Lintz collected three hits for Montreal.

Astros 6, Reds 1

Doug Rader and Cesar Cedeno hit homers to support the five-hit pitching of Tom Griffin and lead the Astros to victory over the Reds. Rader's homer was a three-run blast while Cedeno's was a two-run shot as the Astros pinned Don Gullett with his fifth loss in 12 decisions. Griffin struck out eight in picking up his eighth win in 11 decisions.

Padres 2, Giants 1

Reliever Vicente Romo halted a Giant rally in the ninth by retiring two batters with the bases loaded as the Padres handed San Francisco its 12th loss in 15 games. Romo preserved Dan Spillner's fourth victory in five decisions while Ron Bryant, a 24-game winner last season, suffered his ninth loss against only two wins.

Mets 4, Cubs 2

Successive errors by Dave Rosello and Jose Cardenal enabled the Mets to score the tying and winning runs in the ninth inning and defeat the Cubs. Rosello let a potential double play ball go through his legs, permitting Jerry Grote to score, and Cardenal threw wildly to third on the same play, allowing Cleon Jones to score the winning run.

Chaffey places two on All-CIF team

Chaffey High, which placed second in the Citrus Belt League standings this past baseball season, placed two of its players on the All-CIF 4-A teams, it was announced today by the Citizens Savings Athletic Foundation.

Pitcher Larry Garcia, only a junior, and senior outfielder Rod Weigand were placed on the second team by the All-Southern California Board of Baseball.

Garcia went into Chaffey's CIF game with Eisenhower with an unbeaten 12-0 record on the mound, but suffered the loss in the game and ended the year with a 12-1 slate and a 0.58 earned run average.

The Tiger lefthander went into the playoffs with a 10-0 record, hurled a five-hit 5-2 victory over Mater Dei in the first round and then picked up the victory in Chaffey's 16-3 win over Newport Harbor in the second round.

Weigand had a batting average of .424 for the Tigers this past season. The Tiger outfilder drove in the first Chaffey run against Eisenhower to tie the score at 1-1, but the Eagles went on to knock the Tigers out of the playoffs, 4-2.

Tim O'Neill, senior righthanded pitcher for North Torrance High who, in his first season of varsity baseball, led the Saxons to the 4-A division title by pitching all five playoff victories, has been named the 4-A Player of the Year.

The 6-foot-1, 170 pound mound star was a unanimous selection, as he accounted for 21 of North's 26 season wins (15-2 record and six saves).

O'Neill won his last 11 starts of the 1974 season.

Errant shots cause tie in state golf meet

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — If it hadn't been for a couple of errant golf balls, U.S. Amateur Champion Craig Stadler would be leading the California Amateur Golf Championship all by himself going into today's second round.

Instead, the two lost balls cost the 21-year-old University of Southern California junior four penalty strokes and shoved him into a four-way tie for the lead, despite his four birdies and an eagle on the 10th hole at Cypress Point.

On a day when two-thirds of the field of 202 starters couldn't break 80, the low score at Pebble Beach was a 74 turned in by Simpson's younger brother, Dave, who is 17.

Also scoring 74 but over the easier Cypress Point layout were Stanford's Conrad Nilmeier, San Jose State's Mark Lye and Kim Cater, a 16-year-old high scholer from Pebble Beach.

Stadler turned the first nine Monday three-under-par, then dropped a 10-foot putt for an eagle on the 10th to go five under par.

However, Craig bogied the 11th and then disaster struck at the 12th when he pushed his second shot into the sand and was unable to find the ball. On the next hole the U.S. Amateur Champion hooked his T-shot into a jungle of wire grass, again losing the ball, and took his second straight double bogey.

After today's second round the field will be cut to the low 64 scorers for a third round of stroke play to decide the low 16 who will enter match play Thursday.

Youngest slugger

DETROIT (UPI) — The youngest man ever to win a batting title was Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers, who was 21 years old when he batted .340 in 1955. Kaline never won another batting title.

American League roundup

No-hit bid stymied; Busby, K.C. lose

By United Press International

For 5 1-3 innings Monday night, a crowd of 16,193 in Kansas City watched Steve Busby of the Royals try to match a miracle.

Then it all fell apart and the Chicago White Sox scored a 3-1 victory over the Royals after spoiling Busby's gallant bid to be the second man in the history of baseball to pitch consecutive no-hit games.

Busby, who pitched the second no-hitter of his career against the Milwaukee Brewers, June 19, carried his no-hit pitching forward for 5 1-3 innings before Pat Kelly singled in the sixth inning. Kelly's hit snapped a string of 33 consecutive batters Busby had retired over a two-game span. Former Yankees' pitchers Vic Raschi and Lindy McDaniel shared the previous American League record of retiring 32 straight batters over spans of several games.

Once having broken the spell, the White Sox scored three runs in the seventh inning and went on to a 3-1 victory behind the combined four-hit pitching of Wilbur Wood and Terry Forster. Wood allowed four hits in 8 1-3 innings, picking up his 12th victory with the relief help of Forster.

"I began to think that Busby might pitch a no-hitter again," admitted White Sox manager Chuck Tanner after the game. "But I figured I've got Wilbur and I felt pretty good about it. I thought Busby might pitch nine or 10 hitless innings but Wilbur might still pitch runless ball even though he gave up several hits."

Wood, still working on a three-day pitching schedule, said he understood why Tanner brought in Forster in the ninth.

It's common sense to do that," said Wilbur. "I had been goosing the ball up there for eight innings and the difference in the velocity between us is like night and day. As for the possibility of a second no-hitter —well, the law of averages was just against him."

The Oakland A's defeated the California Angels, 11-1, the Boston Red Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers, 9-0, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Detroit Tigers, 3-1, the Cleveland Indians topped the New York Yankees, 10-3, and the Minnesota Twins tipped the Texas Rangers, 8-4, in other AL games.

Ron Santo's two-run homer started a three-run seventh-inning rally which brought Wood his 12th victory against eight losses. Carlos May started the seventh with a single, Santo homered and then the White Sox added a run on Bill Sharp's double and Bucky Dent's single. Busby had pitched 22½ consecutive scoreless innings.

Red Sox 9 Brewers 0

Rico Petrocelli hit his ninth grand slam and Luis Tiant pitched an eight-hitter for his 10th win to give the Red Sox their victory over the Brewers. Petrocelli's grand slam came in the fifth inning after Dick McAuliffe's single, a double by Carl Yastrzemski and a walk to Carlton Fisk. Jim Colborn was the loser.

Orioles 3 Tigers 1

Bobby Grich's two-run homer in the second inning was the big blow for the Orioles as Doyle Alexander, who went the distance with a five-hitter, won his third game. Lerrin LaGrow lost his seventh decision against five losses for the Tigers.

Indians 10 Yankees 3

Fritz Peterson, making his first start against his former teammates, pitched seven innings of five-hit ball and John Lowenstein hit a grand slam homer to pace the Indians to their victory over the Yankees. Fred Beene, another former Yankee, finished up for the Indians, who collected 15 hits, including three by Oscar Gamble. Bill Sudakis had two doubles for the Yankees.

Twins 8 Rangers 4

Danny Thompson singled twice, doubled and drove in two runs with an inside-the-park homer in leading the Twins to their victory over the Rangers. Bert Blyleven went six innings for the Twins to win his sixth game while David Clyde suffered his fourth loss of the season for Texas.

Utagawa arrives in L.A.

INGLEWOOD — Oriental featherweight champion Zensuke Utagawa arrives in Los Angeles Tuesday from Tokyo and will start local training drills Wednesday for his July 9 bout with Ruben Olivares at The Forum.

The Utagawa-Olivares contest is scheduled for 15 rounds and will be for the World Boxing Association featherweight championship.

Utagawa will be accompanied by Shintaro Uchiyama, the Japanese bantamweight titleholder. Uchiyama is paired with unbeaten Mexican sensation, Carlos Zarate, in a 10-rounder which will open the title card at 8 o'clock.

The 24-year-old Utagawa, a native of Fukushima City, has a 34-2 record. He is rated as the No. 2 contender by the WBA.

Felix Millan is hospitalized

CHICAGO (UPI) — The New York Mets, already short of infielders, lost another Monday when Felix Millan was hospitalized with a nose infection.

Millan became aware of the infection Sunday, and Monday morning his face was so swollen he would have been unable to play. He visited the Chicago Cubs' team doctors and was hospitalized for a minimum of two days.

Phillies option rookie outfielder

no withdrawal pains

Commercial Credit Thrift Certificate Accounts let you have your money when you want it. And still earn 6 to 6½% interest.

Now you can take advantage of high interest Thrift Certificates without tying up your cash.

Invest your money when you have it. Any amount. At any time. And take it out when you need it.

You'll get 6% return on accounts up to $5,000. And 6½% on more. And money invested by the 11th of the month earns interest from the first.

Of course, quarterly compounding increases the interest rate over a full year. So your 6% is really 6.13%. And 6½% yields 6.66%. Or, if you prefer, we'll mail you your quarterly interest.

Either way, your money won't be tied up by withdrawal rules or penalties. It'll be available when you need it. As soon as you need it. And that's important.

Helen Miller of Pomona successfully defended her title as women's club champion at Red Hill Country Club recently, while Judy Johnston of Ontario was the runnerup.

Other flight winners were Mrs. Raleigh Kinker, Mrs. Raymond Hunt, Mrs. Jack Firestone and Mrs. Philip Shepherd.

Mrs. Robert McCullah was chairman of the event.

Disabled list for Mel Stottlemyre

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Yankees anounced Monday that pitcher Mel Stottlemyre, after having been examined by orthopedic specialist Dr. Robert Kerlan in Los Angeles, will be placed on the 21-day disabled list.

Stottlemyre's injury was diagnosed as a pulled muscle in his right shoulder. He will be unable to throw a ball for two to four weeks. He is 6-7 for the season with a 3.49 ERA. The club did not announce who they will bring up to replace Stottlemyre on the roster.

Busby, Orta tie for honors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chicago White Sox second baseman Jorge Orta, who belted out 16 hits and a .903 slugging average last week, earned a tie with Kansas City Royals' no-hit pitcher Steve Busby as the American League player of the week.

Orta, benched earlier this season, bounced back last week with his first four home runs of the season bunched into the 16 hits. One of the homers beat Minnesota in the 10th inning on Saturday—the third such time this season Orta has won an extra inning game for the Chisox.

Busby, of course, made history on Wednesday at Milwaukee when he no-hitted the Brewers to become the first man ever to twirl no-hitters in his first two seasons in the majors. In the game, Busby retired the last 24 batters in succession after walking Milwaukee's George Scott on a 3-2 pitch in the second.

Odds look even for Muntz, Lloyd

Muniz is rated no. 8 in the world and Lloyd no. 10.

Montclair builds streak to seven wins

MONTCLAIR — Montclair Post 616 captured its seventh straight win Monday night, en route to a 13-6 rout of Claremont Post 78.

Coach Bob Lastoskie's club scored all its runs in the first four frames in support of southpaw Don Pierce (3-0), who went the distance despite issuing eight walks and hitting a batter.

Dale Biggs went three-for-three and drove in four runs to pace 616, now 10-3 on the summer. Pierce added a pair of hits and Mike Medeiros continued his torrid pace by chiming in with two more hits, one of them a bases loaded triple in the third to break the game wide open. Montclair led 5-4 when Medeiros added the timely hit.

The southpaw pitcher-outfielder has now collected 11 hits in his last 16 at-bats over a four-game span and driven in six runs during that streak.

"We've really started playing good ball," said Lastoskie. "But it may be too late. We're 8-2 in league (District 25) but Redlands hasn't lost yet and you have to win the title to make the playoffs."

Montclair visits Tri-City Wednesday at 5:15 p.m. in a league crucial. A loss could eliminate it from any playoff activity. Bruce Richardson (4-2), who threw a no-hitter his last time out, will be on the mound.

Claremont fell to 12-11-1.

Sports news in brief

HUBIE BROWN Monday became the fifth head coach of the ABA Kentucky Colonels in the past four years. Brown, an assistant coach with the Milwaukee Bucks in the NBA the last two years, will be taking on his first head coaching job.

THE ABA KENTUCKY COLONELS Monday announced the acquisition of guard "Bird" Averitt from the San Antonio Spurs and 6-8 forward Wilbert Jones from the Memphis Tams.

THE WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE now will be able to try to sign members of the NFL Dallas Cowboys. The 5th Texas Court of Civil Appeals Monday said a lower court had abused its discretion in deciding the WFL could not sign Dallas players.

JAPAN won its first game after two losses today to edge the United States 4-3 in the third game of their College "World Series" at Maruyama Stadium in Sapporo, Japan.

WBA FLYWEIGHT CHAMPION CHARTCHAI CHIONOI of Thailand said Monday night he was postponing his championship flight with Susumu Hanagata of Japan. Chartchai said the fight, scheduled for July 19, would be postponed to sometime in August because of his weight problems and a bad back.

Muir High's hurdler voted top track athlete

Fred Shaw, Muir High's premier high and low hurdler who was a double California State Meet winner in his pet events, has been named Athlete of the Year in CIF Southern Section Track and Field for 1974.

The selection of Shaw as the CIF, Southern Section MVP was unanimous. He was not only a double California State Meet winner (13.7 and 18.9), but coach Walt Opp's ace anchored the Mustang mile relay team to a 3:13.8 clocking (47.7 leg), the fastest time in the nation this year. Shaw was only defeated twice in the hurdles all year, bothtimes by teammate Jim Austin and both in the highs.

In unprecedented action, the All-Southern California Board of Athletics, meeting to determine the annual all-star teams in baseball and track, saw fit to honor Southern California High School girls in track and field for the first time.

The board honored those girls who specifically had distinguished themselves in the California State Meet competition.

Quickie diets cause variety of problems

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am a 17-year-old girl and have a weight problem. A year ago I weighed less than 100 pounds. Now I weigh 138 pounds. To get under 100 pounds I went on a diet which my parents thought was a sensible diet, lots of protein, no desserts, lots of vegetables and fruits, and the good things for me, I thought. Three months later I was slim, but had developed a foot drop. To make a long story short, I was in and out of doctor's offices and hospitals several times before they decided it was caused by a sudden weight loss.

After that I started eating normally, plus started taking vitamins to correct the foot drop. I also got a job after school. Right now my foot drop has been corrected, but I am overweight. My grandparents seem to think that my job has something to do with this problem. The place wher I work is a quick food take-out establishment and 75 per cent of the food prepared is fried. My grandparents calim that being around all that cooking oil has caused it to penetrate my body, causing me to be overweight. I am trying to diet again and cut down on my eating, but have had no success. Your help will be greatly appreciated.

DEAR READER — No, you won't get fat from cooking oil penetrating the body. The only way calories penetrate the body is by way of the mouth on their way to the stomach. You can't inhale calories either.

If your foot drop was because of weight loss it must have been associated with lack of thiamine (vitamin B1) or from pressure on nerves to the leg in some mechanical way. The latter seems unlikely. Thiamine does help in such problems. A number of overly restricted diets are deficient in thiamine. A young, active girl, often still growing and developing, should never be on a diet that causes her more than a steady weight loss of two pounds a week — and a loss of only one pound a week is much better. It's slow but safe and trains you how to eat so it doesn't come back.

Try again, but be sure you are still getting enough calories to lose weight only gradually and that your diet contains enough vitamins and minerals. For more information on losing weight, write to me in care of this newspaper, PO. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for the booklet on losing weight. Send 50 cents to cover costs.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have read that certain vitamins can make your hair return to its original color. Can you tell me what this vitamin is and how much to take to obtain the desired result, or even some improvement in the color? I have also seen a doctor on T.V. who said that his brown hair was a result of his taking vitamins, otherwise, it would have been white.

DEAR READER — This idea is completely without scientific foundation. There is nothing in any vitamin that will return your hair to its natural color. About the only way the man on T.V. could have brown hair because of taking vitamins would be if he was wearing a wig after having lost all of his hair from taking toxic doses of vitamin A.

Dr. Lamb welcomes questions from his readers, but because of the volume of mail he cannot answer personally. Questions of general interest will be discussed in future columns. White to Dr. Lamb in care of The Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

Cast on canary's leg could stay two weeks

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: My sister's canary with its leg in a cast? I couldn't believe it. How long does a bird have to kee pone on?—P.H.

Dear P.H.: Most, but not all, leg splints can be removed in about two weeks.

DEAR DR. MILLER: What's the best way to keep grass awns out of my dog's coat? They get all matted up in his hair and get underneath and work into his skin and cause abscesses sometimes. He's even gotten them into his ears and eyes. These weed seeds are really terrible—there should be some way to prevent them. I hope you can tell me what it is. — S.O.

Dear S.O.: Grass awns, foxtails or whatever they may be called, should be a great concern to every dog or cat owner whose pet might be exposed to them. They may work their way into any opening in the body or even through the intact skin, through the mucus membranes of the mouth and throat' or stomach, causing great misery and occasionally death. Unfortunately, in some areas these dangerous weeds are so common there's no practical way to clean up and eliminate them all. In this case, the best answer is to completely avoid such an area when exercising your dog. If this isn't possible, continual vigilance is the next best approach.

Examine your dog carefully immediately after he has been in an area where these foxtails occur. Search for them first in the nostrils, mouth and ear canals.

Then go to feet and other parts of the body to comb out or pick off any of the awns found. The longer you wait before inspecting the animal, the greater the chance the foxtail will already have worked out of sight and down into the ear canal, into the throat or some other area. Sudden, continual sneezing, cocking of the head, or pawing at one ear, coughing, pawing at the mouth, or continual licking of one spot of the body may all be signs that a missed foxtail is causing damage and the poor patient needs immediate veterinary attention.

'Mack & Mabel'

New show to open at Music Center

LOS ANGELES — David Merrick's new musical, "Mack & Mabel," starring Robert Preston and Bernadette Peters, opens an eight-week pre-Broadway engagement at the Pavilion of the Los Angeles Music Center at 8:30 tonight.

The show will also play St. Louis and Washington, D.C., before opening in New York in October.

Michael Stewart has written the book and Jerry Herman the music and lyrics for the musical, directed and choreographed by Gower Champion. The trio of Stewart, Herman and Champion first collaborated on Merrick's biggest Broadway hit, "Hello, Dolly!"

Brownsville Station

Detroit rock group scores with single

By BRUCE MEYERS

It took the three members of Brownsville Station several years of hard work to stay in one place musically so the world could catch up to them. They were always one of the best, most straightforward rock bands to ever come out of Detroit — but until their single of a few months back, "Smokin' In the Boys Room," their track record on the charts had been less than impressive.

"Smokin'" finally isolated Brownsville's audience — high school-age boys — and started what could be the band's steady rise into the big time.

One of the best things about Brownsville Station is their sense of humor. At least two-thirds of their shows slop over from humor into farce, on a basic teen-age level. Best of all, they have excellent memories for the way things really are for most high school kids.

Brownsville's new ablum, "School Punks" (Big Tree BT-89500), is — like their manic stage performances — nonstop from the start to finish. Most of the songs revolve around various forms of American male teen-age lust, but this is rock, and the lyrics really aren't that important anyway.

"Punks" is a uniformly tight album, combining new tunes one,"Kings of the Party," an obvious follow-up to "Smokin'" with some well-selected oldies "Hey Little Girl," and "I'm A King Bee; it's unquestionably their best album so far.

On the other hand, the band has yet to catpure on vinly anything like the natural spontaneous power of their driving stage act, sparked by bespectacled Cub Koda on guitar and lead vocals. If they ever pull it off, Brownsville Station could turn into one of the really big rock bands of the 1970's.

Meanwhile, unwilling to remain mere musicians, the trio has moved into movies. They've finished work on a screenplay called "Brownsville Station Join the Army." In the flick, members of a rock band are drafted and sent to the front lines — at the White House. With a plot like that, it could turn into one of the great Z-movies ever made.

Lake Elsinore pumps broken

LAKE ELSINORE (UPI) — Pumps that supply fresh water to Lake Elsinore still are not working.

Maintenance crews Wednesday were not able to restart the pumps that brown down June 12 after an electrical malfunction.

State park Ranger Bert Frizzell said the water level is dropping, but marine life has not been affected. The water level of Lake Elsinore, a dead lake which has no natural source of water, has been maintained by pumps on three wells that yield 7,000 gallons of fresh water a minute.

Wild and wooly and full of fun. That's Knott's Berry Farm in Buena Park. The rip-roarin' wild west brought back to life for the whole family to enjoy.

You walk the streets of ghost town. Gunshots! The sheriff shoots it out with two badmen. Duck into the Calico Saloon and belly-up to an 1880's bar.

Back into the streets. A pretty girl plays a steam calliope. A barker hustles you into the Birdcage Theater for an old time melodrama. Later, you watch glassblowers. Gunsmiths. Blacksmiths. Visit the livery stable. Candy store. General store...with its pot-bellied stove and old time merchandise.

Woosh down Timber Mountain on a log.

The wildest rides in the west.

Clamber aboard an old stagecoach. "Reach for the sky." It's a hold-up! Over to Timber Mountain. Ride a log through sawmills and logging camps. Woosh...you're plummeting down a mountainside. Next minute you're aboard a small train, clattering and creaking your way into the depths of a gold mine. Look out! Dynamite blasting...and you just missed being trapped!

Thrill to Wild Animal Follies.

Entertainment Knott's style.

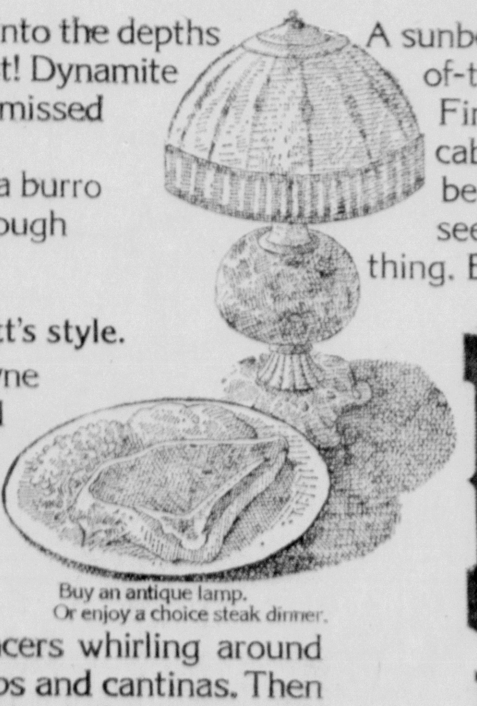
Fiesta Village is next. Mariachis playing. Dancers whirling around the plaza. Teeming shops and cantinas. Then to Gypsy Camp to see Zoltan's Gypsy Puppets. Or back to the Knott's John Wayne Theater to catch the Lennon Sisters, Flash Cadillac, Rick Nelson or another headline act.

Dusk. Amble over to the covered wagon camp. Country music around the campfire. Minutes later, Knott's Incredible Fireworks Machine blazes into action.



Buy an antique lamp.
Or enjoy a choice steak dinner.

Enjoy turn-of-the-century nickelodeons.

Dinner time. A big, old-fashioned chicken dinner at Mrs. Knott's restaurant. Or a sizzling steak. Or maybe just hot pretzels and boysenberry juice from a street vendor.

A full day...and just enough time to pick some unusual gifts at one of Knott's stores. A sunbonnet or home-made pickles. A turn-of-the-century toy, or an antique lamp.

Finally, you hop a genuine San Francisco cable car for a ride to the parking lot. It's been a wild day...full of fun. You haven't seen everything. You haven't done everything. But, then, there's always another day.

Critic critical

All the world's a stage to the wandering actor

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Actors are fine — in their place — on a stage, and there, I love them, good, bad or indifferent. I even love some of them as persons outside the theater.

I don't love them — and I'm sure this goes for 99 per cent of audiences — when some director's whim to do something different has them:

1—Running up and down the aisles as an unnecessary part of the action, possibly tripping over a relaxed aisle-sitter with a protruding foot to the injury of actor and-or customer;

2—Crawling over members of the audience who, to make this inconvenience possible, have paid $10 to $15 musicals to sit in bleacher or other unorthodox type of seats, instead of comfortable orchestra chairs;

3—Engaging in general fraternizing with the audience during the performance as part of the director's "inspired" interpretation of the show;

4—Ganging up at the exits after a performance to handshake or embrace the paying customers in a mistaken gesture of camaraderie. What the customers want is to get out of there and find a taxi.

The recent examples of such misdemeanors are nothing new. We've had these things before, and we'll have them again, but they will be no more enjoyable in the future than in the past.

Such directorial conceits usually are associated with revivals of old plays or musicals that some misguided genius feels need a blood transfusion to be effective, but this is not always the case. Now and then there is a brand new work that is made difficult to accept by one or more of the foregoing prejudices.

Imaginative directors are always welcome, of course. But they can be so without embarrassing or harassing the paying customers. Or the unpaying ones such as myself, a critic.

I love the proscenium stage that keeps the players confined to their rightful area. I don't mind the thrust or arena stage, but only when the directors keep the actors out of my lap.

And I doubt very much that the manipulated actors enjoy such contact with the "civilians."

Just relax, fellows. The audience wants to be entertained, not annoyed.

3 students named for jazz fete

LA VERNE — Bill Snyder, Kevin Mason and Joe Movich of the Bonita Jazz Ensemble have been named top instrumentalists to perform in the California All-Star High School Band at the Monterey Jazz Festival in September.

Snyder, trombonist; Mason, trumpeter, and Movich, guitarist in the Bonita High School group will join professional jazz musicians at the 17th annual festival Sept. 20, 21 and 22. They will be featured in the afternoon concert, Sept. 22.

Snyder performed in the all-star band in 1973 and was named the top high school trombonist in the state. He recaptured the honor this year, and Movich was named top guitarist.

The local trio will perform with such jazz greats as Dizzy Gillespie, Gerry Mulligan, Ladd McIntosh and Chuck Mangione.

Robin Snyder, director of the Bonita Jazz Ensemble, reported that the group took fourth place in the fourth annual California High School Jazz Band Competition earlier this month.

Eagle Rock High School of Los Angeles was awarded first place honors by the panel of professional musicians and educators while Mira Loma High of Sacramento and Corona High won second and third place respectively.

The high school jazz band competition is sponsored each year by the Monterey Jazz Festival in cooperation with Monterey Peninsula College.

23rd Annual

REDLANDS — Six winners of the 23rd annual Young Artists' Auditions of the Redlands Bowl Association will present a recital in the bowl at 8 p.m. Friday. Admission is by free will offering.

Senior winners won $100 each, junior winners $50. The awards will be presesnted at the concert.

Soprano Rosemary Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scott of Claremont, won the junior vocal division. Winner of the senior division was Elizabeth Van Gelder of Colton. They will sing operatic arias and lighter selections.

Miss Scott, who attended the University of Redlands studying under Walter Martin, has had considerable experience in public appearances. Her activities include writing and performing her own guitar-vocal folk music, directing a junior church choir, theater and television appearances, writing a play, and studying operatic roles. Besides the young Artists' Auditions, she won a scholarship this year by placing first in the Gladys Turk Foundation vocal competition at UCLA. Her accompanist is Lois Darr.

Miss Van Gelder, now a student of Gwendolyn Roberts of San Bernardino, has done most of her public singing in churches and women's clubs, in the area. Ruth Wilkerson will play her accompaniment.

The two senior piano winners, Ernestine Walker, a University of Redlands student from Pasadena, and Geoffrey Merrill, Redlands, will play works by Rachmaninoff, Mozart, Kerr and Haydn.

Miss Walker is studying with Dr. Alexandra Pierce.

Merrill, after graduating from the University of Redlands, spent four years in U.S. Air Force bands where he was frequently the soloist. He regularly played percussion instruments in bands. His teacher is Aube Tzerko of Los Angeles.

Instrumental winner Roger Caldwell of Rolling Hills, a University of Redlands student, will play Concerto No. 1 for Trumpet ("Mystical") composed for him by Susan E. Herman, who will play the accompaniment. Caldwell has been a member of the Redlands University-Community Symphony and the Riverside Symphony. He is head of the Redlands Brass Quintet. He studies with Dr. Lester Remsen of the Los Angeles Philharmonic.

Another instrumental winner, horn player James D. Avery, has been playing the horn since the age of 13, and has appeared in the symphonies of College of the Desert, Palm Spring, Redlands and San Bernardino. He played in Army bands from 1969 to 1971. He is a student of Ralph Pyle of the Los Angeles Philharmonic. He will be accompanied by Steven Bergens.

Still far off

If the solar system was scaled down so that the sun was the size of a beach ball, Pluto would orbit approximately 10,000 feet away.

Clubwomen!

Special forms are due

Valley Women, a supplement of the Progress-Bulletin highlighting activities off all women's clubs in the valley, will be published July 23.

Madame President will your club be included?

Fact sheets, sent out May 16 to club presidents or publicity chairmeen, are due by the end of this week if they are to be included in the special edition.

If any club has not received the form to be filled out, an officer of the organization should contact the Progress-Bulletin women's editor, Mrs. Mary Remillard, at the newspaper, 622-1201, this week.

The annual edition will carry interviews with the four Woman Achievers for the valley who were selected rently by a panel of judges, in addition to the stories of almost 200 women's clubs.

TODAY'S Women

Yolanda Grisham wed to Gilbert Ascencio

The courtyard at Griswold's Inn, Claremont, was the setting for the marriage of Miss Yolanda Grisham and Gilbert Ascencio.

The Rev. Rodney Parrot officiated at the double-ring rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Grisham of San Dimas and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Ascencio of La Verne.

The bride is a graduate of Bonita High School and Mt. San Antonio College. Mr. Ascencio graduated from Bonita High School and is employed by Gainey Ceramics.

Secretaries will meet Thursday

In keeping with its basic principles of learning as much as possible about each of its member firms, the spotlight will center on the firm of Security Pacific National Bank of San Bernardino when Executives' Secretaries, Inc., holds its meeting Thursday.

Members and guests will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the upstairs main lobby at 402 N. D St., Ontario, for the hospitality hour and a tour of the new bank's facilities. A buffet dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Speaker for the evening will be Carl E. Hartnack, vice chairman of the corporation's board and president and chief operating officer of Security Pacific Bank.

Sorority meeting set

Tau Gamma Kappa sorority members will visit a reading center when the group meets at 8 p.m. Thursday at Sultana School in Upland.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Edward Barnes.

Winter wheat is moving

By DEAN C. MILLER
UPI Business Editor

Plains states are throbbing with a massive and finely-tuned movement of winter wheat to ports and grain elevators.

It's a multi-billion dollar operation that literally means life and death for millions of underprivileged people, especially in Africa and Asia, and economic well-being for farmers, grain companies and haulers.

Towns and cities such as Enid, Hutchinson, Dodge City, Kansas City, Wichita, Omaha, Chicago and ports like Corpus Christi, Houston and New Orleans are some of the hubs. Railroads, trucks and barges move into and through them on their way from the farms to country elevators, the larger terminal elevators, river ports for barging and Gulf ports for exporting. This orchestration of movement eventually extends through the Great Lakes to cities like Buffalo and by rail to Chattanooga and Portland, Ore. which handles much of the exports to Japan.

Unlike 1973, when large and unexpected foreign sales caused some shipping bottlenecks, this year's movement is going well, according to a UPI survey of elevator, railroad and board of trade executives.

The first of an estimated 1.5 billion bushels of winter wheat started moving in late May and early June when the Texas cuttings began. That golden stream will continue to flow northward through America's bread-basket states of Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and South Dakota until combines cut the last stand of North Dakota wheat sometime in late July.

Despite drought, tornadoes, winds, rain and some wheat fungus which delayed and hurt the yield in some states, the total wheat harvest, counting the 560 million bushels estimated for the spring crop, will hit a record 2.1 billion bushels. That's 24 per cent higher than last year's record.

About 800 millions of those bushels will go into domestic breads, cereals and other foods; 1.15 billion bushels will be exported; and some 232 million bushels will be added to the nation's reserves thinned by the Russian wheat deal.

Last year at this time, when the railroads were asked to carry what amounted to a two-year harvest because of Russian exports, there were some transportation problems. Aside from the massive tonnage to be hauled, floods in the Mississippi and Missouri valleys forced railroads to carry what normally would have been handled by barges. There was a shortage of freight cars. Ships were late or bunched at the ports. Some grain had to be dumped at sidings or placed under makeshift shelters because there were not enough grain hoppers or elevator storage space.

Elevators have more room because the heavy foreign sales cut grain reserves to 217 million bushels, the lowest since 1953. That stockpile is expected to go up to 449 million bushels by mid-1975.

Some farmers, stung last year when they rushed wheat to market and sold below the $5.85 top bushel price generated by the Russian deal, are holding crops, waiting and gambling on a better price. Wheat futures currently are above the $3.75 per bushel level, about $2.00 lower than last year's top but $1.00 higher than this season's low.

Railroads last year invested $1.4 billion in capital improvements in plant and equipment, including thousands of grain hoppers, and added $500 million in new equipment through leasing. Railroad employment during the first quarter of 1974 was up an average of 10,000 per month over 1973. A lot of that money went into 26,000 covered car hoppers, 100-ton monsters which now carry about two-thirds of all rail-hauled grain.

"I think we have a good chance of getting by better than we have in a long, long time," said J. B. Gregg Sr., first vice president of the Kansas City Board of Trade and a rail expert. "We probably have more empty space than we've had in the last 10 years. There has been a large increase in covered hopper cars from the railroad, and the farmers have more savvy about marketing."

Creek Brock, administrator of the Kansas Wheat Commission at Hutchinson, a big grain hub, says "farmers are studying the market more closely since the Soviet sales. I think they are marketing in an orderly manner and will not sell it all at once."

Leonard Edwards of Union Equity, a huge elevator complex at Enid, Okla., says "the car supply is good so far although there always is the chance of a pinch."

Robert Lounsberry, the Iowa agricultural secretary, says he sees "no problem" in getting enough grain cars.

"Freight car availability is in better shape today than at any time in the last 17 months," said Stephen Ailes, president of the Association of American Railroads. "With the current backlog of car orders at its highest level in almost 20 years and with new orders running 43 per cent ahead of last year's high pace, the outlook is very good."

The Santa Fe, Rock Island, Frisco, Missouri Pacific and Katy railroads are major haulers of Texas-Oklahoma wheat. The Union Pacific, Chicago and North Western, the Burlington Northern and the Milwaukee are major rail haulers in Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado and South Dakota.

"Everything is moving beautifully so far," said a spokesman for the Santa Fe. "Oh, sure, at the peak, when everyone's hollering for space at the same time, we may have a tight fit. But right now we're in the best shape in years."

"We have no problems at the moment," said Tim Hogan of the Missouri Pacific. "We're happy and think the farmers are, too."

So are the nations depending on American wheat to fend off malnutrition and starvation.

United Nations officials estimate that up to 500 million children in the world suffer from severe malnutrition. Millions are starving to death, and they depend heavily on American wheat.

Investors frustrated over climbing interest rates

By FRANK W. SLUSSER
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Investors, frustrated over a resumption of the interest rate climb, stayed on the sidelines most of the week while prices dropped on the New York Stock Exchange.

Most of them waited to see what First National City Bank of New York, second largest in the nation, would do about the prime rate, that charged key corporate customers.

They got their answer Friday when Citibank raised its lending rate to the prevailing 11 ½ per cent from 11 ¼ per cent. Citibank had lowered the rate recently, touching off the best market gain of the year. The market turned down, however, when it became clear other banks would not follow at this time.

Further indications interest rates would not ease in the near future came when the Federal Reserve Bank of New York reported commercial and industrial loan demand soared by $719 million in the latest reporting week. And the Fed has said it intends to maintain a tight credit policy to combat inflation.

There were predictions the prime would go to 13 per cent before peaking, but other observers said they expected to see the rate fall by year-end to around 7 or 8 per cent.

Investor disinterest showed up in the lack of volume for the week. Sales totaled 54,164,170 shares, compared with 58,648,986 the week before and 65,125,449 the year before.

Another disquieting factor was the government report Friday the cost of living index rose 1.1 per cent, indicating inflation still is rampant.

With investors on the sidelines pondering the interest rate situation and inflation, the little activity which occurred was in the blue chips, glamors and special situations.

Texaco was the most active issue, off ¾ to 25 ¼ on 611,200 shares. Virginia Electric & Power was second, off ½ at 9 ½ on 606,900 shares. The utility reported lower earnings recently.

Citicorp, parent company of First National City Bank, was third, off 4 ⅜ to 34 ½ on 576,000 shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 27.70 for the week. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index lost 3.84 to 87.46, and the NYSE common stock index declined 2.16 to 45.82.

Declines widely outnumbered advances, 1,574 to 213, among the 1,960 issues crossing the tape.

Superior Oil took the worst beating of the week, plunging 19 ¼. Halliburton, an oil service issue, dropped 6 ¼.

IBM fell 9 ¾ in the generally weaker electronics and computer group. Honeywell gave up 8 ⅜, Digital Equipment 7 ⅞, Burroughs 7 and Fairchild Camera 6 ½.

Transportation issues were soft. Norfolk & Western lost 4 ¼, Burlington Northern 2 ⅝, UAL Inc. 3 ⅜ and Delta Airlines 2 ⅝. KLM, National, Northwest Orient and United Aircraft were point-sized losers.

Among the glamors, Xerox lost 7, Corning Glass 6 ⅜, McDonald's 6 ¼ and Upjohn 5 ½.

Chemicals and motors were lower. Eastman Kodak fell 6 ¼, DuPont 3 ⅛, and Ford and General Motors 1 ½ apiece. U.S. Steel added 3 ¼.

Stalking foolproof investment

By CARLTON SMITH

Is there a magic formula, known as "dollar cost-averaging," that enables an investor to come out ahead no matter whether the market goes up or down?

There would appear to be, if you look uncritically at some of the "explanatons" currently being circulated as to how DCA works. They emanate, needless to say, from organizations trying to stir individual investors out of their doldrums, and get that money coming into the market again.

One promotional piece "proves," with charts and figures, that you can turn a profit while the price of your shares is down: "25 per cent gain for dollar cost-averaging investor during a 50 per cent decline!" it exclaims.

And that's mathematically possible — if the price curve is shaped right, with ups and downs in just the right places. Price curves are seldom that obliging.

Watch out for people trying to sell you snake oil. More modest claims for DCA can properly be made, however, and for certain investors it can be a useful guiding hand.

The principle is simple. You invest, at regular intervals, a fixed dollar amount in the shares of your choice.

Let us say, for example, that you decide to begin cost-averaging with shares at $20. You're going to invest $100 every three months, over a two-year period.

For the first six months the price edges up $2 or $3. Then a market decline sets in, and over the next 12 months the price falls 20 per cent. In the last six months, an uptrend carries the price back up to $22.

Make up your own price history, figure out how many shares your periodic investments would have acquired, and their value. Now figure the average price over the two-year period and see how many shares your $800 would have bought at this average price.

You'll frequently find that using the DCA formula would have given you something of an edge over the investor who bought at the averare price — which may seem, to the non-mathematician, a way of getting something for nothing. If you rig the figures just right, you can make DCA look like magic, indeed.

But note, first, that DCA won't add anything to profits in a period when prices are steadily rising. If you knew that was going to happen, your strategy would be to buy as early, as fast and as much as you could.

The trouble is that nobody — but nobody — can tell whether the market is going to go up, or down, or sideways. Many investors have trouble getting this through their heads. They wait for "the right time" to buy, and far more often than not, this turns out to be the wrong time.

A DCA program can be a cure for this, by insuring that the investor plods along through the declines, buying at least some of his shares at low prices, rather than most of them at high prices. But you have to be aware of a couple of large "if"s.

You'll be able to accept and stick with the idea of dollar averaging IF you believe that the long-term, historical upward trend of the market is going to continue, and will resume in the reasonably near future.

And DCA will work IF, and only if, the shares you're buying are the kind that will rise in price when prices generally are rising. That again is something the investor can't really know. Many a solid seeming stock has gone into a dying swan act while the market was booming ahead.

Latch onto one of these losers, and hang on grimly in the belief that DCA will eventually take care of you, and in the words of one broker, "You can dollar-average yourself right out the window."

Thus it can be risky to apply dollar averaging to investing in individual stocks. A DCA plan is based on faith that, while the market does go down, it eventually goes up again. Whatever you're investing in has to move with the market.

For most investors, that means shares in a mutual fund with a broad portfolio of stable stocks, spread well across the market.

There DCA has a good chance of working to your benefit. But magic it's not.

What do you think the President should do?

What the President should do about gas shortage is not use gas. Tell people if they got horses use them instead of cars. If they don't got horses and got bikes ride them. If you don't have a horse or a bike trade their car for them. Make it so cars are not aloud in the U.S.A. But sometimes I don't think that should be against the law. Because when you need to go to places like a different state you need a car. Because if you ride a bike you will get tired. If you ride a horse your horse will get tired. I think the president is doing pretty good right now.

What do you think the President should do?

I think he should tell the truth about Water Gate and if he is I think he should do a better job of it. I think he should resign to get rite at all the problems of Water Gate. He should lower the price of everything or rise our salarys. The price of food is shooting up like a rocket. He should do something about it.

He should do something about taxes that are shooting up too. They are going up everytime turn around or practically everytime you turn around taxes are going up just like a rocket too. Everytime you go to the market you get less food for higher prices. That what I think a President should do.

What do you think the President should do?

I think the President should give all evidence necessary to the congressional committees and the courts. If he doesn't, they will be forced to look for evidence elsewhere, perhaps from less reliable sources. The President should try to restore the confidence of the people by opening himself and his office to the people. The people want to know, and have the right to know what goes on in the government.

The president should present more of a friendly and trustworthy image to the people, so that they can trust him. They want to trust him, but it is awfully difficult with the present atmosphere of Watergate.

President Nixon should know exactly what is going on inside his office at all times, and run it himself, so we can prevent another Watergate from occuring. Watergate is an unfortunate mess, but it is not as important as some other things, like peace!

What do you think the President should do?

I think they should give all the President a chance to be President.

Karey Newman

Chino

What do you think the President should do?

I think that a President should do good things not bad and if they are running for President and what they said what they would do something they should do it if they don't they are no good. I think a president should try to stop the war and to stop the fighting thats going on and try to stop all the people and high school kids to stop smoken marijuana and drugs this is whats going on in are country. I think a president should try to make people and kides love each other and what I think a president should do.

Evangeline Rouleau

What do you think the President should do?

We all know that Nixon tries to do good stuff but he does some bad stuff. Lincoln was a good man every thing he did every body liked and Washington he fought the Revolutionary War and Kennedy he was a good man. Lets go back to Nixon he should lower the prices or higher the salary of the people who are working and that's my story.

Chautauqua summer festival shines on

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
UPI Senior Editor

Chautauqua—a word that once meant summer fun mixed with cultural uplift for millions of Americans—lives on at Chautauqua, N.Y., where the granddaddy of summer festivals is celebrating its first 100 years as a pioneer in adult education.

The original Chautauqua has survived its namesakes that once spread across the nation and is bigger and better than ever. It has an annual budget of $2.5 million, a summer staff of 500, and a program schedule of nearly 300 events.

Chautauqua's two-month season, which opens June 27, is expected to draw 8,000 resident participants, including 2,000 students enrolled in classes, and a total of 300,000 visitors. A commemorative 10-cent stamp will mark the centennial nationally and a history of Chautauqua has just been published by the University of Chicago Press.

Born as a training camp for Methodist Sunday School teachers on Lake Chautauqua in southwestern New York, Chautauqua opens each weekday with a devotional hour and its Sunday worship service in the 7,000-seat amphitheater is reputedly the largest in the nation.

But faith walks hand in hand with reason and the arts on the 700-acre Chautauqua grounds, which boast both a Hall of Christ and a Hall of Philosophy. A voluminous schedule of popular price symphony, opera and theater presentations, university-credited undergraduate and graduate courses in music, art, dance, theater and the humanities, and a broad sports progrum are the main attractions for Chautauquans.

Platform speakers

Platform speakers, always the meat and potatoes of the Chautauqua movement, include such diverse personalities as psychiatrist Karl Menninger (who also is enrolled as an art student), President Kingman Brewster Jr., of Yale, NAACP leader Roy Wilkins, and Communist theoretician Herbert Aptheker. A well-known lecturer usually draws an audience of 3,000, even at 9:45 a.m.

The centennial's entertainment stars will be opera's Marilyn Horne, Joanna Meier, Richard Tucker, and Robert Merrill, ballet's Allegra Kent, Patricia McBride, and Jacques d'Amboise, instrumentalists Leonard Rose, Earl Wild, George Shearing, and Virgil Fox, and popular musicians Melba Moore, Stan Kenton, Dave Brubeck, Victor Borge, and Peter Nero.

In addition to opera classics— all in English—Chautauquans will hear Hanson's "Merry Mount", Bernstein's "West Side Story," and the world premier of Seymour Barab's "Philip Marshall". Theater offerings range from O'Neill's "A Touch of the Poet" to "6 Rooms Riv Vu" of recent Broadway vintage.

Audiences and students at Chautauqua are an unusual blend of youth and maturity.

Dr. Oscar E. Remick, 41, a right-on theologian and former minister who is president of the institution, believes jeans-clad, guitar-strumming young people flock to the Chautauqua community of Victorian gingerbread houses and hotels because of the very trends in American society that doomed most Chautauquas in the 1930s. One such trend, he said, was secularization, which made biblical faith and contemporary culture mutually exclusive.

Religious awareness

"We now have a reversal of the trend—a new desire to put together in a living way all our values in the arts and other areas of life," Remick said. "Chautauqua doesn't show art for art's sake or provide education for education's sake, but for the sake of the good life. Through culture we are embracing a deep religious awareness of the significance of man's creativity."

He added that the chance of experiencing education and the arts as a community of all ages "where conversation is very open and outspoken" is especially attractive to young people who are used to being segregated by age and relegated to the isolation of television entertainment. In view of this, he said, he is not surprised that there is growing interest in certain areas of the United States in reviving defunct Chautauquas.

"Chautauqua remains an idea whose time has come," Remick is fond of repeating to anyone who will listen.

They listened by the millions —some say nearly 40 million each summer—to that concept in the early part of this century. Imbued with the Chautauqua idea, Americans filled the open-air pavilions and tents that served as forums for national debate to hear the likes of William Jennings Bryan, Booker T. Washington and Billy Sunday, as well as Swiss yodelers, British bellringers, and Russian Cossack choruses.

Booking agents, notably the Redpath Bureau in Chicago, cashed in by supplying 9,597 communities with packaged Chautauquas by means of 100 circuit companies. These companies had a "morally we roll along" cachet and were helped in drumming up audiences by the press and pulpit. Local volunteers formed work crews to spruce up a town before Chautauqua caravans arrived by train, later by truck and auto.

Historical footnotes

Chautauqua had its roots in the widespread Lyceum movement, which pioneered adult off-campus education in America as early as 1826. New York Chautauqua's most important contribution to this education concept was the nation's first book club, sponsored by the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle in 1878.

By 1900, this project was giving a chance to some 10,000 reading circles to acquire college-level learning in the home through a four year course that led to a diploma and even graduation at Chautauqua if desired. The reading list included such serious tomes as "The Strength and Weakness of Socialism" and "Animal and Vegetable Biology."

Chautauqua is rich in historical footnotes. The first extensive use of electricity for lighting was on the Chautauqua grounds by inventor Thomas A. Edison, son-in-law of a Chautauqua founder.

Art exhibit being held at library

POMONA — The seventh annual exhibition of art work by Pomona city employes and their families is now on view at the Pomona Public Library. The show continues through July 15

The exhibit includes painting, dimensional media, mixed media, crafts and photography.

The judges, basing their decisions on originality, composition and ingenuity, will ccomplete the judging before the last week of the show.

A $5 cash prize will go to the best in each category, with ribbons going to those placing second and third. A $10 prize will be presented to the best individual piece in the show.

Entries cover the range of oil paintings, crochet and knit items, seed painting, metal sculpture, original wall plaques of various materials, pottery, stitchery and photography. Many of the items will be offered for sale following the show.

Japanese sword art to go on exhibition

LOS ANGELES — An exhibition of more than 70 masterpieces of Japanese swords and their fittings will go on view at the county Museum of Art July 2.

The swords, tsuba (guards) and mitokoromono (fittings) included in the exhibition range from the 6th to the 19th century.

Japanese swords are universally admired for their artistry and unexcelled craftsmanship. The blade of the Japanese sword consists of a hard cutting edge, flexible sides and a tough resilient core. Its superior metallurgical qualities result from various steels which are forged, folded and reforged many times to produce a combination of steels in thousands of laminated layers. The period of political unrest and constant warfare that followed the end of the Heian period and the rise of the warrior samurai in the Kamakura period (1185-1384) led to radical developments in the Japanese sword. Many excellent examples from this period are included in the exhibition.

Tsuba and other sword fittings will also be on display. Originating with the practical need to protect the hand during combat, tsuba acquired great ornamental importance reflecting the status, personality and aesthetic preferences of the owner. Made of iron, copper, gold, silver and a rich variety of metal alloys, they are embellished with abstract or pictorial designs created by engraved, openwork, relief or inlay methods. To be seen in the exhibition are important examples of openwork designs by early Katsushi masters of the Muromachi period (1392-1573), as well as fine examples of pictorial decoration by such legendary tsuba masters as Kane-ie. From the early Edo period (17th century) tsuba by masters of the Higo school may be seen, as well as important works from the late Edo period by such masters as Goto Ichijo and Otsuki Mitsuoki.

A free brochure prepared by George Kuwayama, senior curator of Far Eastern art, will be available, and free guided tours will be offered Thursdays at 12:30 p.m. "The Art of the Japanese Sword" exhibition can be seen Tuesday through Friday 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and weekends 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. through Aug. 18. Admission is free.

150th birthday

Exhibit celebrates anniversary of England's National Gallery

GREGORY JENSEN

LONDON (UPI) — Britain's National Gallery of Art is celebrating its 150th anniversary this spring with a kind of intellectual striptease.

A birthday exhibition, a special book and frank public statements by Director Michael Levey are ensuring that Britain's premiere art gallery has hardly any secrets left.

The exhibition moves behind the masterpiece-hung scenes to illustrate the work of departments most museums keep hidden—the process of restoration, painstaking scientific detective work, scholarly research and cataloguing.

The companion book unveils many secrets of today's high-finance infighting over high-priced masterpieces. "Failures and Successes" shows not only paintings the gallery gained but those it lost, mostly to the United States.

Frankness traditional

"Our French 18th Century pictures are a thin bunch," he said in a typical comment. "We are surprisingly weak in Dutch still lifes...We lack anything at all by certain very rare great artists."

Such frankness has a long tradition at the National—a 1945 catalogue set a museum trend by openly discussing paintings' flaws.

It is the only major gallery in Europe not based upon a royal collection. It bought its first paintings, and in 1824 began showing them in a borrowed house.

"We opened with only 38 pictures," said Levey, the gallery's top official. "Today there are just about 2,040. That's still a remarkably small holding compared with leading foreign galleries like the Louvre, which owns something like ten times that amount.",

Yet as these birthday celebrations show, the gallery has many pluses to balance the minuses.

"Despite our small numbers, ours is usually agreed to be one of the most balanced of all picture collections in the world," Levey said.

The gallery's building, with its stately colonaded facade filling the north side of Trafalgar Square, is pressed for space. But unlike most museums its attics and cellars don't bulge with unshown works.

"What we have is on show," Levey said. "It's a collection where masterpieces mingle with good, if less sheerly important, other pictures."

The current exhibition, running through June, concentrates less on pictures than on the unseen work of the gallery's 272 staff members.

It shows what's being done to save a large alterpiece by Cima which, "in Venice in 1820," says the catalogue, "fell accidentally into the Grand Canal and has not been the same since."

Pleasure house

It demonstrates the multiple uses of specialized photography, X-ray, ultraviolet, infrared and raking light photography, each keyed to reveal something different about the painting under study.

Levey bubbles ambitiously about educational schemes, special shows and exciting events he wants for the gallery's next few decades.

"I want people to look on the gallery as a pleasure house, not a treasure house," he said. In that sense, not even gaps in the collection matter much. "We are not collecting postage stamps," Levey said.

Two artists to exhibit clothing

CLAREMONT — Fabric artists Jean Ray Laury and Joyce Aiken, co-authors of the book, "Creating Body Coverings," will exhibit their garments and autograph books at the Hidden Village, 215 Yale Ave., from 4 to 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

They have been documenting the current trend of personalizing clothing by embroidering, dyeing, drawing , and printing, and the recycling of garments, making lace tablescloths, neckties, and salvage store treasures into shirts, skirts, tunics and caftans. The book shows people from many parts of the contry in body coverings they have made, ranging from elaborate and dramatic cloaks to a total tattoo job.

Several artists from this area are represented. Ruth Law of Claremont stuffed a pair of opera length kid gloves and clasped the fingers to form a belt. Mark Law crocheted an umbrella, which he calls "a sunbrella not a rainbrella," and a full length sleeping bag with a hood, which he calls a "napsack." Joanna Gray, who teaches art at Claremont High School, made hats, belts and neckties of peanuts. Her students painted their old tennis shoes into lively op art, taking canvas painting into new paths. Linda Allen, also a teacher in the Claremont High School art department, is represented by a full length macrame dress. Elizabeth Fuller's batik on organdie is also shown.

Miss Laury and Miss Aiken, co-owners and teachers at Everywoman's Studio in Fresno, are also authors of "Handmade Rugs," "Applique Stitchery," "Quilts and Coverlets," and "Dollmaking."

Art club to install officers

CHINO — Alberta Cook will be installed as president of the Chino Art Association at a meeting at the Chino Community Building at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Also taking office will be Mary Royce, first vice president; Carol Joy, second vice president; Ethel Sweet, recording secretary; Mrs. Courtney Hermann, corresponding secretary; Ann Stone, treasurer; Sandra Berger, publicity chairman, and Joyce Wassikchalk, gallery chairman.

Artist-teacher Berniece Kelley, president of the Southern California Community Artists, will give a demonstration of portrait painting at the meeting. The public is invited.

Mrs. Kelley attended the Bistram School of Fine Arts and the Otis Art Institute and studied under several prominent artists. She has had several one-man shows and taken part in numerous group exhibits throughout Southern California. Among her various awards was first prize in the genre category in the 10th annual open show of the San Gabriel Fine Arts Association recently. She teaches portraiture, still life and floral paining.

Knott's Wild Animal Follies, produced and hosted by Ralph Helfer of "Daktari" and "Gentle Ben" fame, features wild animals live and uncaged on stage.

The wildest shows in the west.
Every day at Knott's.

Walk into Knott's Ghost Town and you're in the middle of a shoot 'em up showdown between a sheriff and two "funfighters".

See Ghost Town "Funfighters".

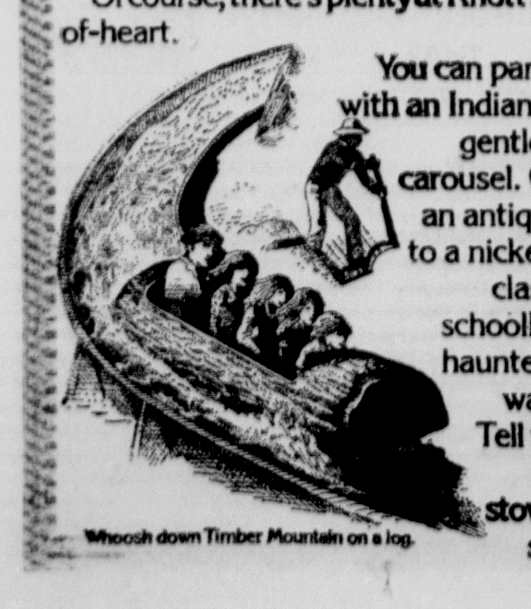
Or sit timidly in your seat during Knott's Wild Animal Follies—while steps away panthers, brahma bulls and other beasts prowl the stage live and uncaged! A lion leaps toward you. A husky man wrestles a 500 lb. bear.

You shoot the rapids on Knott's Timber Mountain log ride—plummeting through darkened underground caverns and plunging down a rocky spillway.

Then you board a mine train to creak and clatter your way deep into the earth, making a run for the tunnel mouth as dynamite goes off behind you.

Taming of the west.

Of course, there's plenty at Knott's for the tamer-of-heart.



Whoosh down Timber Mountain on a log.

You can pan for gold. Chat with an Indian chief. Ride the gentle beasts on the carousel. Go for a spin in an antique auto. Listen to a nickelodian. Attend class in a little red schoolhouse. Visit the haunted shack, where water flows uphill. Tell tall tales around the pot-bellied stove in the general store. Pet a goat or llama in Knott's animal farm. Watch the Mexican folk dancers and tap your toe to the rhythm of the "guitaron".

Looking at Knott's.

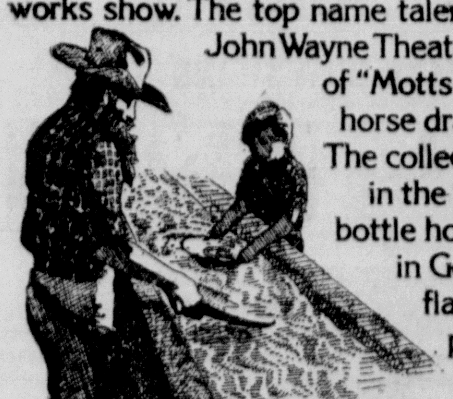
Like the covered wagon shows. The mighty fireworks show. The top name talent in the Knott's John Wayne Theater. The tiny world of "Motts Miniatures". The horse drawn fire engines. The collection of carriages in the livery stable. The bottle house and the girls in Goldie's Place. The flamingoes and the peacocks and the roosters running loose. The glass blower with his bubbles and the blacksmith with his sparks and steel.



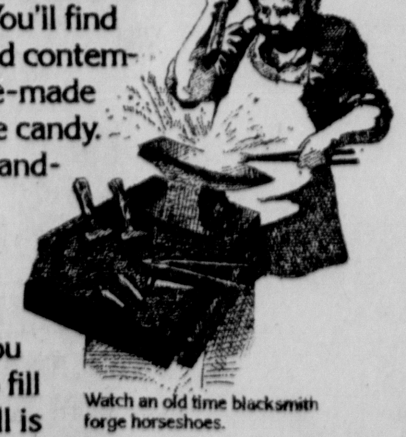
Pan for real gold.

Shop talk.

If you love the unusual, Knott's is a great place to shop. You'll find antique fire engines and contemporary cut glass. Home-made pickles and hand-made candy. Imported gowns and hand-carved leathergoods.

Eat your fill.

If you're famished at Knott's Berry Farm, you have a dozen places to fill your tummy. Best of all is Mrs. Knott's own chicken dinner restaurant. (Been bringing folks back to Knott's for 40 years.) Then there's the steak house, the cable-car kitchen and a host of snack shops. Old-fashioned hot pretzel and popcorn stands are everywhere at Knott's.



Watch an old time blacksmith forge horseshoes.

Show up at Knott's. Any day or night. You'll enjoy the wildest shows in the west...and then some.

Television actors seek pay raise

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "The very center of the storm" is not a new television soap opera. It is the phrase used by the actor's union to describe what they get paid for television reruns.

The Screen Actor's Guild—representing movie and television actors and actresses from the poor and obscure to millionaire stars—began mailing out strike authorization ballots Wednesday to its 27,000 members.

The union is currently in negotiations with the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers and the three major television networks — ABC, NBC and CBS— for a new contract, with a July 1 deadline.

The union wants a 25 per cent increase in minimum pay—currently $483 a week—plus a payment of 100 per cent of the original salary every time a show is rerun on television in prime time.

The current contract calls for 50 per cent of the minimum scale, plus 15 per cent of salary above the minimum, for the first rerun, with lower payments for each subsequent showing, down to 15 per cent of the minimum.

Union leaders said that in 1966, its members earned $40.5 million, but last year, despite the inflation of the past eight years, they made only $37.3 million.

At the same time, television network profits have increased 244 per cent in the past three years as the number of original programs decreases and the amount of prime time reruns increase, said Chester Migden, the union's national executive secretary.

The union went on strike four years ago.

Migden said that despite the image of wealthy Hollywood stars, 85 per cent of SAG's members make less than $3,500 a year as actors. Only 3 per cent make more than $25,000 a year, he said, and only .5 per cent—143 members—are in the star class of more than $100,000 a year.

Billy Hunt, executive vice president of the producers association and chief management negotiator, said talks had been cordial so far, "with no bareknuckle bargaining or acrimony" and he expected settlement without a strike.

The union said it is urging members of the public to complain to the Federal Communications Commission about the number of television reruns, encouraging the FCC to limit reruns to 25 per cent of prime time programming.

Covina band to present first concert

COVINA — The Covina Concert Band, under the direction of founder-conductor Charles L. King, will present its first concert of the summer in the bandshell of the Covina city park at 8 p.m. Thursday. Admission is free.

The band will present a free concert every Thursday evening throughout the summer. The Covina Festival of Music will start July 18 and will run for 13 consecutive evenings closing July 30. The 60-piece band, in its 19th year, is sponsored by the City of Covina and is part of the Tri-Community Adult Education program.

The first Covina Concert Band was formed in 1890 and after a number of years of activity was disbanded. When King arrived from Canada he proposed that the band be revived. This was done in 1957, and the band has been steadily growing in quality.

More than 1,500 people attend each of the evening concerts throughout the summer. The highlight of the season is the Covina Festival of Music when orchestras and bands from other cities may be heard.

Financial support of this program is by the City of Covina and friends or patrons of the band. Any one wishing to become active in its administrative activities or wishing to support by becoming a patron may call the Covina Band office at (213) 331-8113 or may write to the Covina Concert Band, College Street, City Hall, Covina.

Find mummified body of woman on hotel roof

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The mummified body of a woman has been found on the roof of a downtown hotel, according to the police.

Detectives said the woman, whose body had been stuffed into a military duffel bag, apparently had been murdered.

A tenant of the hotel in the city's Tenderloin section discovered the body while looking for used bottles.

Shortened streets

No street name in Salt Lake City may be longer than eight letters.

ON HER TOES — Violette Verdy will be one of the principal dancers during the Greek Theater engagement of the New York City Ballet Aug. 12-24. The company will present four different programs, including the West Coast premieres of nine ballets.

Tickets now on sale for N.Y. ballet

LOS ANGELES — Tickets are now on sale at the box office of the Greek Theater for all attractions of the summer season.

The season will open July 9 with Harry Belafonte and his International Company, playing nightly through July 15.

Barry White, Love Unlimited and the Love Unlimited Orchestra perform July 16 through 21, followed by the Smothers Brothers for three performances on July 25, 26 and 27. July 29 through Aug. 4 the O'Jays and guest star, Bobby Womack, will appear.

Aug. 5 through 10, the Greek Theater Association will present the National Theater of Great Britain's production of Shakespeare's "As You Like It" coming direct to the West Coast from London.

Making its 10th appearance in the Greek Theater, the New York City Ballet with its full complement of stars, will be seen in four different programs, including West Coast premieres of nine ballets, Aug. 12 through 24.

The box office will be open every day, Monday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., and on Sunday, noon to 7 p.m. Mail orders for all performances are being accepted at the theater.

British musician to perform at Bowl

HOLLYWOOD — British conductor Raymond Leppard, principal conductor of the BBC Northern Symphony Orchestra, will direct the Los Angeles Philharmonic and perform as harpsichordist in a "Festival of 17th and 18th Century Music" in the Hollywood Bowl at 8 p.m. July 3, 5 and 6.

July 3 will be devoted to concertos for one, two, three and four harpsichords with orchestra by J.S. Bach, and to music by John Dowland. Leppard will be at the first harpsichord with William Tim Read, John Steele Ritter and Susanne Shapiro collaborating on the other keyboards.

On July 6, Leppard will conduct the Philharmonic and the Roger Wagner Chorale in the first American performance of Cavalli's "Messa Concertata," and American mezzo-soprano Frederica von Stade will sing arias by Cavalli and Monteverdi on a program that will begin with brass music by Gabrieli.

The concert on July 5 will be devoted to music by Mozart Symphony No. 25 in G Minor and Symphony No. 38 in D, arias from "Le Nozze di Figaro" and "La Clemenza di Tito" sung by Miss von Stade, and the Concerto in C Minor, with Los Angeles-born pianist Stephen Bishop as soloist.

Jazz classics finding new life with country-western treatment

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Careless Love" and "Muskrat Ramble" rightfully are associated with the jazz music that began in New Orleans but like all good tunes they can fit neatly into other styles.

They are easily adaptable, for instance, to country music.

"Careless Love" is one of the songs in a blue grass album, "Glen Neaves & The Virginia Mountain Boys" (Folkways FA 3830). It is played by Neaves on fiddle, Cullen Galyean on banjo and Bobby Harrison on guitar. Neaves, who has a fine nasal twang, also doubles on vocals.

If you like the real blue grass sound, Neaves and his musicians can offer more than half an hour of music that is down to earth.

Needs No Frills

Since the banjo is the heart of blue grass, Galyean is called on to perform some finger gymnastics. Although Galyean does not profess to be a virtuoso, he plays the banjo in a clod kicking style that needs no frills.

Ivor Melton, the fourth man in the quartet, is featured on the mandolin and he adds a light ingredient to the music.

At the time this recording was made, the Virginia Mountain Boys were not fulltime musicians so this session has a feeling of spontaneity about it.

Among the tunes in addition to "Careless Love" are "Poor Ellen Smith," a classic blue grass song; "What a Friend We Have in Mother," a sligttly different version from the religious song; "Nigger Trader," a lament which refers to the plight of a black man who is separated from his family in a slave trade deal, and "Barbara Allen."

Happy Ending

"Muskrat Ramble" was written as a jazz tune by one of the earlier practitioners of New Orleans jazz, Kid Ory. It has probably been played more than any jazz classic during the past 50 or so years. Even so, it is not alien in a country setting.

It is one of the selections in "The Atkins and Travis Traveling Show" (RCA APL1-0479). Co-starring Chet Atkins and Merle Travis, the album is a fine endeavor by two of the best known guitarists in the country.

Hats are 'in' for fall

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — The always optimistic millinery industry says hats off to a hats-on fall and winter.

"Business is booming," reported the Millinery Institute of America, the trade and promotion organization. "Ladies' hats capped a triumphant year of renewed popularity ... and moved into the fall season with a range of completely new moods and silhouettes."

New moods include the soft, crushable knit types with big matching mufflers, scarves, and boas, and the return of brims in all shapes and widths.

Number one among the brims is the snap, pulled down so far over the face that walking will be hazardous unless a woman holds her head high. By contrast, there is the off-face brim, still wide, and the soft brim, rippled instead of stiff-looking.

The institute, using a floor show type of musical presentation, previewed the new styles Wednesday afternoon for fashion editors visiting New York for a rundown of all the next winter's ready-to-wear trends.

Its heady forecast followed several years in which sales were in the doldrums while women went bareheaded. Hats go it alone or in combination with coordinated jacket, scarf, bag or muff. Here, fake furs, felts and feather treatments predominate.

The designer Adolfo combined simulated white mink in a cape and turban. The firm of Veaumont featured cable-stitch knits in crushable caps with long, bulky scarves. Some fitted down to the forehead, other shapes were off the face. Albrizio showed a brimmed, fedora type hat with boa falling to the hemline plus a big muff, all done in beige feathers.

Casual was the word for many of the hats —easy to pack, crushable and aimed for the girl on the go. Among the handsomer numbers were the ruby red velvet snood from Mr. Martin and Adolfo's eyecovering snap brim with crocheted crown in white.

Casual and sporty looking too were the fedoras, copied from the men's wear classic, but softened and done mostly in felt for women. Shapes varied from Mr. John's giant fedora with stiffened brim in moss green to Jack McConnell's small brimmed fedora in white felt with rhinestone-studded band.

The big fur hats were not so plentiful as they have been in previous seasons. But for the woman determined to have one there was Mr. Laurence's outsize beret in natural sable.

Daytime colors tended to the muted tones —rust and soft green —and all white. There were a few blacks for day but many for evening, usually jewelled.

Coming back: the face-covering veil. It showed in daytime hats, like Jack McConnell's gray felt fedora with gray veil.

BOOMING BUSINESS, predicted by milliners this fall, includes these fashions, from left, red jersey turban, white cloche, snood in ruby red velvet and washable, and cable-stitch knits.

Hypertension can be controlled—doctor

Dr. Marvin Moser, addressing doctors attending the symposium on high blood pressure, did the urging. He is assistant clinical professor of medicine, Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Bronx, N.Y.

He said high blood pressure can be controlled in most patients, and complications such as kidney and heart failure and stroke prevented — if patients can be encouraged to seek treatment and stay on medications.

To reach this goal, he stressed the need for a simple, practical approach to treatment.

Dr. Moser further recommended that physicians follow-up hypertensive patients, including those who do not require medication.

Patients sometimes discontinue treatment because they are unaware of the risks involved, or they have no symptoms, or there is inadequate followup by the physician, or treatment is too expensive, or drugs produce unpleasant side effects, it was noted.

Side effects are not a problem in the majority of patients, according to the doctor.

He described situations in which the drug treatment is tailored to the individual patient. In mild cases, when there is no organ of the body involved, and in early treatment of some other cases, an oral diuretic and rauwolfia or both of these drugs and hydralazine are the "treatment of choice," the physician noted.

Most patients have to be kept on some medication for the rest of their lives to keep the blood pressure under control.

The symposium was co-sponsored by the New York Medical College; Westchester Academy of Medicine; Westchester County Medical Society; Westchester Heart Association; and CIBA Pharmaceutical Co., as part of its Medical Horizons Postgraduate Education Series.

Dr. Moser stated that the average patient with untreated elevated blood pressure has a life expectancy that is nine years less than the one with normal blood pressure.

Insomniac victims offered sleep suggestions

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rattling around the house at three in the morning, looking for something to read that might lull me to sleep, I came across a magazine that offered a myriad of solutions.

A bit bleary-eyed but cheerfully may I pass them along to the insomniac victims of this mysterious malady. Ones I know include the woman artist who says she's up at three just popping with ideas and the news executive who says he's awake at 1:30 and 2:00 every morning and would go on to work if there were a commuter train at the time.

At any rate, the current "Modern Maturity" offers a variety of "recipes for sleep."

Nice to know they call us "clever, creative people who simply cannot—or will not—let their minds stop working."

But, it adds, "There are ways to retrain the too-active mind."

Sample: Before going to bed, do a little exercise, some stretching at least. Get into a full warm tub, or take a cold foot bath...pop into bed, drink herb tea.

Once horizontal, breath deeply three or four times, holding the last breath as long as you can; repeat several times. Lying on your back, slowly and precisely concentrate on your feet. Say to yourself, "My feet are heavy." Think of each part of your body in the same way— legs, stomach, chest, arms, neck and so on.

"If you have thoroughly concentrated, you can fall asleep immediately."

No counting sheep in the magazine's recipes but it says "if you are still resisting, mentally write the number three—as slowly as you can— three times. You should be fast asleep seconds later."

In the food intake recommendations, "Modern Maturity" says that calcium and Vitamin D are nature's most readily available nightcaps. Warm a glass of whole or skim milk, add a tablespoon of honey. The calcium tranquilizes; the honey helps the body retain fluids "thus keeping the kidneys from alerting you during the night."

"Many herbs are used as nightcap teas," says the author, Dian Dincin Buchman. "...Peppermint tea is delicate and aromatic. Chamomile tea is a traditional tranquilizer.

"Aromatic woodruff can greatly improve, even prolong, one's sleep. To make the tea, use hot—not boiling water. Sage tea plus honey brings on a sense of calm.

"We had a 'sleep jar' when I was a child that contained a teaspoon of sage and rosemary to every two tablespoons of peppermint; use one teaspoon of the combined herbs for a cup of tea....

"The Germans use ground anise with honey in warm milk as their bedtime drink. The Dutch use a tablet of aniseed in a glass of hot milk. Grated nutmeg, lemon and boiling water can be used.

"Did your grandmother have a sleep pillow — a tiny herb cushion covered with gay fabric? These are good for invalids and anyone in need of extra help in sleeping.

"Crush the dried leaves of lavender, rosebuds, or any pleasant smelling herbs. Add a fixative and enclose it all in two (big) handkerchiefs...Make a washable pillowcase of colorful fabric. Pin to the bed pillow ticking."

The chronic insomniac is willing to try any cure, I find, including the mental attitude that "Well, if I really needed the sleep, I'd get it."

But whatever the solution or solutions, all are preferable to the habituating sleeping pill. On with the chamomile!

Clubwomen!

Valley Women, a supplement of the Progress-Bulletin highlighting activities off all women's clubs in the valley, will be published July 23.

Madame President will your club be included?

Fact sheets, sent out May 16 to club presidents or publicity chairmeen, are due by the end of this week if they are to be included in the special edition.

If any club has not received the form to be filled out, an officer of the organization should contact the Progress-Bulletin women's editor, Mrs. Mary Remillard, at the newspaper, 622-1201, this week.

The annual edition will carry interviews with the four Woman Achievers for the valley who were selected rently by a panel of judges, in addition to the stories of almost 200 women's clubs.

WIC chapter books talk by mayor

A 6:30 p.m. social hour will precede the 7 p.m. dinner at Griswold's Inn, Claremont.

Employers are welcome to the program which will feature Pomona Mayor Ray Lepire discussing the HUD housing project.

The nominating committee will offer the slate of officers for ensuring year. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Bruce Allyn, 622-9961.

MR. AND MRS. ELMER LEE RICH

Elmer Riches mark golden anniversary

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Lee Rich is being celebrated today with a reception and buffet.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich were married on June 20, 1924, in Bentonville, Ark., and moved to the Pomona area in November of 1955.

Their children are Johnny L. Rich of Pomona, Mary L. Jackson of San Dimas, Billy L. Rich of Fort Smith, Ark., Shirley Broyles of Muldrow, Okla., Elmer L. Rich of Brea and Clifford L. Rich of Ontario. They also have 28 grandchildren and 24 great-grandchildren.

Out-of-state guests included Maude Boley and Vila Pickney of Oklahoma City and Mr. and Mrs. Birdstrand of Tucson, Ariz.

Before his retirement, Mr. Rich worked at Taylor Fiber in La Verne. The couple attends the First Baptist Church of La Verne.

PRINTED PATTERN

Day-night pyjamas

SLITHER INTO the newest fashion for day or evening — soft, silky party pyjamas plus a bare-back halter. The Original of Printed Pattern A512 by Rona is a thin, langorous nylon jersey that weighs only a few ounces, and falls beautifully against the body. The trio is great in one brilliant print, or solid plus stripe combination. There's no draping to that halter top — it's shaped to fall beautifully into folds at the top when you put it on. For a more casual look, consider also polyester knit or denim-look cotton.

Printed Pattern A512 is available in Misses' Sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 12 (bust 34) jacket, pants, halter require 7/8 yards 60-inch fabric.

Please send $1.25 for Printed Pattern A512 to The Progress-Bulletin, Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York, N.Y. 10011. (Add 25c for each pattern for First Class Mail and Special Handling.) Please Print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZIP, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

Becker-Miller rites solemnized in church

Miss Sharon Lynn Miller and John Vincent Becker exchanged wedding vows in afternoon nuptials at Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church in Montclair.

The Rev. Joseph O'Carroll performed the double-ring rites uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Miller of Montclair and the son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Becker of Upland.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of eyelet lace designed with a ruffled high neckline, yoke and long sleeves. A ruffle trimmed the hemline. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink baby tea roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Mrs. Brenda Gray was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Laura Becker, sister of the groom, and Miss Lora Lundberg.

Suzanne Bray was flower girl. Mrs. Flo Webster handled the guest book and Mrs. Janet Sullivan assisted with gifts.

The newlyweds greeted guests during a reception at the Elks Club. They honeymooned at Laguna Beach.

Special guests included Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Trgzinski and John Babinec, aunt and uncles of the bride, from New Jersey and Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Todd from Lake Tahoe.

New market service will aid builders with impact reports

POMONA — The Southern California Gas Co. has initiated a new market service to provide builders with information needed to prepare environmental impact reports required by city, county and state agencies.

F.B. Wilson, district manager, said the Environmental Planning Information Service was created to help a builder and his staff to become better acquainted with a community before starting a project there. The service is offered to builders at no cost.

The program involves collecting a variety of data and information requested by a builder on any given community within the gas company's Southern and Central California service area.

Material is supplied in the form of an environmental planning information book. It includes items on the city structure, list of incumbent officials, city and county maps, city organization chart, lists of the city's cultural amenities and a community activities report by the chamber of commerce.

In addition, an economic profile of the community and copies of the city's general plan, redevelopment plans, zoning maps and zoning ordinances are included.

A majority of the information provided, however, is directed at assisting the builder in preparing his environmental impact report, said Wilson.

Included is specific information for the mandatory elements of the general plan required by state law, such as circulation, conservation, land use, noise abatement, open space and seismic safety.

Additonal information is given for the permissive elements, such as community design, public service facilities, recreation and transportation.

The book also has a special section which details the gas company's CONCERN energy conservation program and its computerized cost study program.

"These are included to help the builder assure the most efficient energy uses in his proposed project," he noted.

The gas company has already prepared information files on 120 communities, extending from Buttonwillow near Bakersifield to the larger cities within Los Angeles and Orange counties.

The utility met 80 builder requests for information, said Wilson. Builders wanting information should contact their gas company representative.

Catalog features home improvements

POMONA — The renewed interest in do-it yourself home improvements is reflected in Sears, Roebuck and Co.'s fall and winter catalog now being distributed to 16 million families in the U.S.

Due to the energy crunch and current inflationary economic trends, more people are seeking to save gas and money by spending more of their leisure time within their homes, said company officials. As a result, they are placing more importance on creating a home that accommodates their person tastes as well as shelter needs while enhancing their property values.

And since many homes are sprcuting anti-inflationary gardens, it includes a number of products for preparing and preserving produce, such as canning supplies, "Meals-in-Minutes" boilable storage bags and compact freezers for additional storage space.

It also has nine pages of ready-to-finish furniture that can be antiqued, stained or painted to fit any decor.

Origin of brandy

Orchard Lane planned for the family

UPLAND — Homes in the Orchard Lane condominium development here were planned for families. It includes a heated swimming pool, therapy pool, cabana and children's playground.

And the home interiors feature wall-to-wall carpeting, tailored draperies, luminous kitchen ceilings and built-in kitchen appliances such as ranges, continuous cleaning ovens, dishwashers and disposals.

All laundry facilities are located within the homes. In addition, some homes have wood burning fireplaces. Wood shake roofs are standard and patios have electrical outlets and exterior lighting installed.

The development is having a close-out phase of its two bedroom units, priced from $19,990. These include air conditioning. The sales information center and furnished model homes are open daily.

To reach the project, persons may take the San Bernardino Freeway to Mountain Avenue, go north to Seventh Street and then west to the homes.

Dusty uniforms

Khaki is a Hindustani word meaning "dust." British troops during the Indian Mutiny of 1857-8, dyed their white drill uniforms with curry powder or the mud and dust (khak) available, for camouflage. A permanent khaki dye was later developed for the drill uniforms, and its name was adopted by other armies.

House plan centers on modern comfort

Here is a home which is packed with about every conceivable item and feature that will contribute toward modern ease and comfort and will assure delightful living for every member of the family.

The handsome Contemporary exterior has wooden frames surrounding the windows in the front elevation and vertical columns of stone veneer.

To the left of the entry is the living room which faces the street but from which there is access to the rear patio and yard through the sliding glass doors in the dining ell. To the right of the entry is a huge family room which has a view toward both the front and rear of the house. This room is completely open to the kitchen so as to form one spacious area where informal living can really be appreciated.

Highlights of the kitchen are an eating nook for family meals and an abundant amount of storage space including broom and pantry closets. Another closet opens to the family room.

This design requires only a small amount of hall space. A washer and dryer closet open to the hall. This feature eliminates the necessity of carrying both dirty and clean clothes from one end of the house to another. Both baths have twin pullman lavatories.

This same exterior, plus a Spanish exterior, are also available in a four bedroom floor plan, at a different price structure, and are illustrated in the book. Town & Country Homes.

Complete working drawings for plan 31156 can be purchased for only $12.67 for the first set and $6.36 for each additional set ordered at the same time. Additions, repairs top construction

MONTCLAIR — Residents here continued last month repairing and adding on to their existing homes.

For May, a total of 104 permits were issued for a combined valuation of $109,731. This boosted the totals so far sidential structures, six, $3,586; and signs, 10, no valuation.

Other permits and valuations include:

Single family home, one, $22,000; industrial building, $16,200; structures other than buildings, six, $3,103; swimming pools, three, $15,600; additions and alterations to nonresidntial structures, six, $3,586; and signs, 10, no valuation.

The single family home, with an attached garage, is located at 9995 Ramona Ave. It is owned by the Acoustics, Inc., of Alhambra.

The industrial building with office is located at 10625 Monte Vista Ave. Sloan Rentals is the owner.

3 young dope addicts slain in gunbattle

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police shot and killed three young heroin addicts recently and arrested a 16-year-old student in a running gunbattle and chase through a suburban banana plantation.

A police spokesman said a police lieutenant was hit in the abdomen by a .22 caliber bullet during the gunbattle with the addicts. He was reported in serious condition following emergency surgery in a hospital.

Police said the battle in the residential Phrakhanong area erupted when patrolmen were told that five youths had been seen smoking heroin in the plantation.

One of the youths escaped, police said.

Hawkins has franchise director

ORANGE — Rush Williams of Herbert Hawkins Realtors has been appointed director of franchise and will direct the firm's expansion into Colorado and other states.

He recently accompanied Herbert Hawkins, firm president, to Denver where they completed a franchise agreement with First American Realty of Colorado which has six sales offices.

Williams said the realty firm has developed a new concept in real estate franchising and he plans to promote this in Colorado with later expansion planned for other western states.

Broker-affiliates receive training, recruiting facilities, regional headquarters, supply center, advertising, national and local marketing programs and all full services of the Hawkins firm, he added.

The Colorado expansion will open up a new area of recreational, retirement and resport properties to California residents, said Williams.

Prior to his new position, Williams had served as regional director. His office will continue to be located at the Hawkins regional headquarters at The City Financial Center in Orange.

Firm reports shock hazard 'possibility'

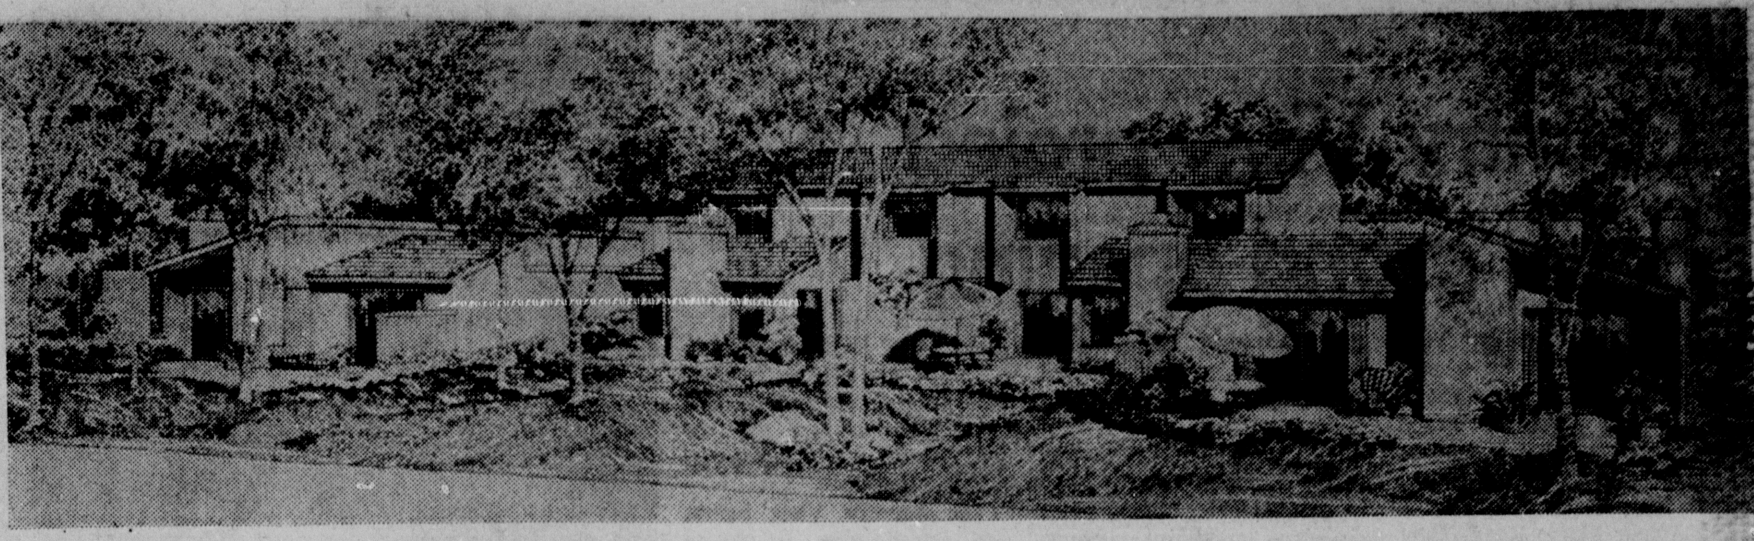
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Whirlpool Corp. has notified the government that some of its trash compactors might pose a shock hazard because of an improperly assembled power cord.

The company warned the Consumer Product Safety Commission of what it called a possible problem. It said it did not know how many of the units are on the market or in possession of consumers.

The Benton Harbor, Mich., firm said that 619 of the units with the potential problem were turned out at its plant in Danville, Ky.

The model number on the units is SAC301P, but the serial numbers were not available.

Whirlpool said it discovered the problem during an assembly line inspection. The units involved retail for about $230 each. The commission has not yet determined whether the problem represents a substantial hazard under its rules.



MOUNTAIN GATE — A rustic approach is used to establish an Early California atmosphere at the Mountain Gate condominiums at 13th and Mountain avenues in Upland. The townhomes feature shake roofs to enhance the development's overall appeal. Prices start at $34,995.

In Walnut:

Country View project holds grand opening

WALNUT — Country View Homes, described as a new "community within a community," will hold its grand opening here today.

The 70 single family homes are located on La Puente Road near Pierre Road. They feature large hillside lots with views of the Pomona and Walnut valleys.

Buyers have a choice of four floor plans and 12 exterior elevations, three or four bedrooms and two or three bathrooms. Many two story homes have spiral staircases. The homes have from 1,478 to [illegible],332 square feet of living area.

Features include kitchens with gas ranges and continuous cleaning ovens, luminous with gas ranges and minious ceilings, disposals, dishwashers, custom cabienets, ceramic tile kitchen countertops and a special pass-through window to the patio area.

Other amenities are formal dining areas, fireplaces, family rooms, dens, sliding glass doors, cathedral ceilings, wall-to-wall shag carpeting and two-car garages.

Some plans include special bonsus rooms which can be used as extra family recreation areas or additional bedrooms. Wet bars are also offered as options.

Use of high quality insulation in walls and ceilings along with gas appliances for cooking, water and comfort heating helped qualify the La Solana Corp. development for Southern California Gas Co.'s "Concern" award.

This is awarded to builders who incorporate energy saving insulation and gas appliances in new residential construction.

The Country View homes are priced from $37,000 to $46,500 with conventional financing available. Sales are being handled by the Herbert Hawkins Co.

During the grand opening, four model homes will on display until dusk.

Zoroastrians diminishing; only 25,000 left in Iran

By JOHN ARDAGH
London Financial Times-UPI

YAZD, Iran —This dusty town on the edge of the great central desert is today the remaining stronghold of Iran's dwindling minority of 25,000 Zoroastrians. Here, 6,000 of them co-exist with some 60,000 Muslims.

The Muslims have their splendid mosques with brightly colored ceramic; the Zoroastrians, a gentle and civilized people, have their simple fire-temple where they worship Ahuramazda, the all-wise spirit of light —as they did in the days of Cyrus the Great when theirs was the national religion of the mighty Persian Empire.

Just outside the town are two lonely towers with ancient brick walls against a backdrop of bleak mountains. These are two of the famous "dakmes" or "towers of silence" where Zoroastrians traditionally put their dead.

Their belief has always been that the dead human body must not defile the sacred elements of earth, fire and water, and so must neither be buried, cremated, nor put in the sea. So it is cleansed, wrapped in a shroud and left on the open roof of an isolated tower to gradually decompose.

No non-believer is ever allowed inside the towers. Some of them, in rural parts of Iran, are still in use. But these two at Yazd, like others in the big cities of Tehran and Isfahan, are empty save for bleaching bones.

The leader of the local Zoroastrians, a kindly man who works in a sugar factory, was happy to explain why the towers are no longer used. First, he said, some Muslim fanatics violated their secrecy by flying over them in helicopters and taking ghoulish photos which Tehran newspapers then published to discredit the Zoroastrians. Then some medical students climbed into the towers at night and removed some of the bones to use for their studies —a prank in doubtful taste.

In face of this, the Zoroastrians of Iran gracefully conceded that their custom was untenable in the modern world. They agreed to bury their dead. At the foot of the Yazd towers is a new cemetery with rows of neatly tended graves.

Most of the time, the Zoroastrians co-exist very easily with Iran's Islamic majority. The Shah himself supports and protects them since, among other things, theirs is the true original religion of his country.

Zoroaster, its founder, lived in Persia about 1,000 years before Christ. He saw the universe as a battleground of the two great opposing forces of good and evil. Fire, the divine purity, was the symbol of good. For many centuries his religion held sway in Persia.

The Three Wise Men who came to Bethlehem were three of its high priests or hagi. Then in the 7th century A.D., when the Arab invasions converted most of Persia to Islam, some Zoroastrians fled to India where they survive today, around Bombay.

Others managed to hold out inside Persia, or Iran is it is now called. Today they form a tight-knit community that in its gentleness and strong belief in simple goodness is mindful of Quakers in Britain or North America. The religion embraces the minimum of ritual and the maximum of common sense. Its precepts: Good thoughts, good words, good deeds.

The Zoroastrian community today is respected in Iran, but very much on the defensive. Its numbers are dwindling, yet members still are not interested in making converts.

Travelers must learn currency restrictions

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

Americans planning to travel abroad would do well to learn something about the regulations concerning the import and export of currencies in the countries on their itinerary.

Ignorance is no legal excuse and violations could result in confiscation of funds, fines and, in some cases, imprisonment.

Regulations vary almost from country to country and include provisions for written or oral declarations, limitation on funds brought in or taken out, and outright prohibition on the import or export of national currency.

The recently enacted Foreign Transactions Reporting Act, for instance, requires all persons entering or leaving the United States to report to Customs officials if they are carrying more than $5,000 in money or monetary instruments. The latter includes travelers checks, money orders and investment securities in bearer form.

Italy Sets Limits

The U.S. Customs Service emphasizes, however, that there is no limit on the amount of such funds the traveler can take out or bring in, unlike the restrictions imposed by other countries.

The latest country to impose limitations is Italy. Beginning in April, travelers may enter or leave with no more than 20,000 lire. The move is designed to build up Italy's badly depleted foreign exchange reserves.

There is no limitation on the amount of other currencies which may be brought into Italy or most other countries in Europe, Asia or elsewhere.

Countries which have limitations on their money include Bangladesh (20 taka), Israel (200 pounds), Peru (1,000 soles), Japan (100,000 yen) and Iran (200,000 rials).

Deposit Required

Hungary allows visitors to bring in or take out up to 200 forints. But the Soviet Union and other Communist countries prohibt both the import and export of Russian rubles, Bulgarian leva, Czech koruny, East German marks, Polish zlotys and Romanian lei as the case may be.

It's against the law, too, to bring in or take out Albanian leks, Burmese kyata, Egyptian pounds, Indian rupees, and Indonesian rupiahs.

Incidentally, if the itinerary includes Poland any zlotys that are not spent must be deposited at border points on departure and can be collected only on the next visit within a year at any custom office upon presentation of the receipt.

Yugoslavia allows travelers to bring in up to 500 dinars but in notes no larger than 50 dinars. On the other side of the world, New Zealand has no limitations on the import of its currency but bills must be no bigger than $5 while Fiji will not exchange more than $12 in Fijian currency for departing visitors.

Check Total

Visitors to China are forbidden to bring in Chinese or U.S. currency. There are no restrictions on the amounts of other foreign currencies brought in but all must be declared on the official form on entry.

The Taiwan government has no limitations on national or foreign monies but requires that visitors possessing more than $200 in U.S. funds make a declaration on arrival.

If written or oral declarations are required, make sure the total is accurate. You could be in trouble if you declare you are taking out more money than you brought in.

Veteran country - hoppers usually convert most of their U.S. dollars before departure (keeping some small bills for possible emergencies) into U.S. or foreign currency travelers checks. Overseas, do your converting at banks and licensed money changers for the best rates of exchange. Don't cash more than necessary for immediate needs since converting the surplus back into dollars will cost money again. And save all records of such transactions to show authorities on departing.

If there are no restrictions, buy a small packet of foreign currency before leaving the States to cover tips, transportation and other small expenses at your destination. Such packets are available from American Express, Deak-Perera Co. and some

Uniform base rate set for natural gas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Power Commission has established a national, uniform base rate for natural gas, pricing it at 42 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for interstate sales by producers.

The rate applies to the 48 contiguous states and will be applied to gas produced from fields tapped after Jan. 1, 1973.

The rate structure had been a quilt-like pricing system with prices ranging from 19.9 cents to 34 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

The FPC is considering requests for price increases for gas produced from old fields.

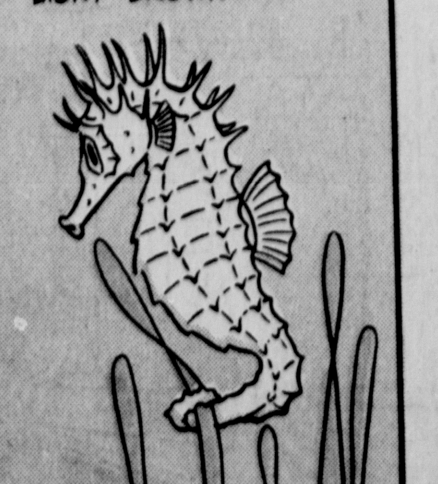
COLOR THE SEAHORSE LIGHT BROWN

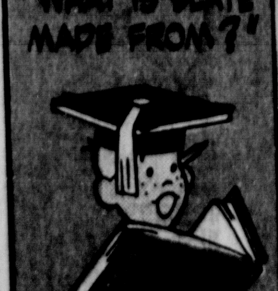
SEAHORSES...

A SEAHORSE IS A TINY, ODD-SHAPED FISH THAT LIVES IN THE SEA. IT GETS ITS NAME BECAUSE ITS HEAD AND ARCHED NECK LOOK VERY MUCH LIKE THAT OF A TINY HORSE.



THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

VICKIE JAKUBOWSKI, OF GRAND ISLAND, NE, ASKS: "WHAT IS SLATE MADE FROM?"



THE ROCK WE CALL SLATE IS REALLY MADE-OVER SHALE– IT IS A METAMORPHIC ROCK. THAT IS, IT BEGAN AS ONE KIND OF ROCK AND WAS CHANGED INTO ANOTHER KIND OF ROCK BY HEAT AND PRESSURE DEEP WITHIN THE EARTH. THE TINY BITS OF MINERALS IN SHALE ROCK WERE REARRANGED INTO HARD, THIN LAYERS. THESE CAN BE SPLIT INTO SMOOTH, FLAT SHEETS AS THIN AS PAPER. THE FINEST BLACKBOARDS ARE MADE OF SLATE THAT HAS BEEN SPLIT INTO THIN SHEETS. MOST SLATE IS GRAY IN COLOR, BUT IT CAN BE BROWN, BLUE, OR EVEN RED.

Bicentennial designs

By MORT REED

On March 6, 1974, the secretary of the Treasury and director of the Mint made the final selections of three winning designs from the National Bicentennial Coin Design Competition for the reverses of the dollar, half dollar and quarter. The Treasury awarded $5,000 to each winning designer.

His own company, Jack Ahr Designs and Sales, opened two years ago, specializes in custom-product designs, such as sales and employe incentives awards. For 16 years, Ahr was employed as an artist, art director and director of creative services for companies serving the high school, college and industrial markets, designing such items as class rings, medals and special awards.

He studied for two years at Bowling Green, Ohio State University and continued his art studies at John Herron Institute of Art and the Academy of Art in Chicago.

Seth G. Huntington's design of Independence Hall was selected for the reverse of the half dollar. Huntington, of Minneapolis, is manager and art director of the Custom Art Department of Brown and Bigelow, the largest calendar and advertising specialty house in the world. He is a graduate of Minneapolis College of Art and Design and served on the faculty of the St. Paul Arts and Science Center.

His experience as an artist and designer has been in corporate design, educational materials. book illustrations and advertising display. He has received numerous citations and awards including two "Printing Industries of America" annual graphic arts awards.

Dennis R. Williams, whose design of the Liberty Bell and Moon has been chosen for the back of the dollar is 21 and a junior at the Columbus, Ohio, College of Art and Design, majoring in sculpture. His instructor assigned him the National Bicentennial Coin Design Competition as a design problem. He plans to teach sculpture at the college level after graduation.

Trip tips

Riding rails is a bargain in Europe

By Marie Mattson

European trains will take you from the Arctic Circle to the Mediterranean — sometimes at speeds over 100 miles an hour. Riding the rails is perhaps the most convenient and inexpensive way to get about the continent.

If you'll be traveling first class to Amsterdam, Vienna, Rome and Paris, a 21-day Eurailpass, at $150, will save you money over regular fare. Eurailpasses also are sold for one month ($190), two months (260) and three months ($300).

Students under 26 years of age will find the Student-Railpass a bargain if they're traveling as far as Scandinavia, Germany, Austria, Italy and France. With it, one can roam around for two months for only $165.

A Eurailpass is for first-class travel, a Student-Railpass, for second class. You must purchase your pass from a travel agent or European rail representative before you leave North America — they're not available in Europe.

Youths between 10 and 20 years of age also can use Inter Rail, a season ticket sold only in Europe. The pass is valid for second class rail travel for one month up until Oct. 31, costs $105. The big attraction is that in addition to the 13 countries honoring the Student-Railpass, Inter Rail also is valid in Great Britain, Ireland, Finland, Greece, Hungary and Yugoslavia. Student status is not necessary. You pay 50 per cent of regular fare on trains in the country of purchase and travel free elsewhere.

Inter Rail can be a top value for youths flying Icelandic Air Lines to Luxembourg. The half-fare train ticket to get you to Luxembourg's border costs next to nothing (Luxembourg is only 62 miles long, 37 miles wide) — from then on you're traveling free.

If you'll be spending most of your time in one country or doing a minimum of rail travel, other discounts may be better values than the above passes. Many countries issue their own season tickets that provide unlimited travel within their borders — sometimes they offer other discounts, too.

Most rail specials are available for both first and second class travel and for periods of one, two, three and four weeks.

In northern Europe, second class rail is satisfactory; in southern Europe, where second class can be very crowded, it's worth the extra money to go first class. (Some second class trains in northern Europe are comparable to first class in the south.)

Many concessions can be obtained only after you arrive in the country. Prices may vary some what because of currency fluctuations.

AUSTRIA From Austria's train windows you can see some of Europe's most spectacular scenery. A two-week pass for second class rail travel costs about $50. Each province, too, offers a regional ticket. You'd pay $11, for instance, for a seven-day pass good in the Tyrol.

BELGIUM. Trains run frequently, distances are short and Belgium offers many rail discounts. A regular season ticket for five days costs $18 second class; a special season ticket good any five days within two weeks during summer, $22 second class. A half-rate card ($7 second class, $11 first) entitles you to travel anywhere on Belgian railways for half price for one month.

FINLAND. Trains go almost to the Arctic Circle. A Finnrail Pass lets you wander as you please; $40 for two weeks, second class.

It Happened in Pomona

By Doc Peirsol

Modern worries not new

Some things began a long time ago! — As a case in point, I can assure you that eighty-two years ago Pomona's newspaper editors were definitely ecology minded. A quotation from the August 20, 1892, Pomona Weekly Times should easily substantiate that statement.

"On next Wednesday," the news item read "The San Antonio Light and Power Company will turn the water into the tunnel and pipe at Hog's Back, according to Engineer Sanders. — THEN GOOD-BYE FALLS!"

What's more, those early day Pomona newspaper editors were also campaigning with laudable vim and vigor for civic improvement and urban redevelopment. For proof I call your attention to another Weekly Times article which pointed out:

"Every thinking man concedes now that two things must be done by the City Trustees this year — pave Second Street and give our people a sewer system."

And when it came to racial discrimination, that same Pomona Weekly Times was right in there doing its level best to champion the rights of at least one minority race. — When, in 1892, the Southern Pacific Company issued orders forbidding Indians from riding free on its trains, The Times editor bemoaned such discriminatory action, pointing out that for years prior to the issuance of that order Indians had been allowed to travel free on the platforms of passenger trains and on freight flat cars.

But the crusading efforts of our Pomona Weekly Times didn't end with viewing with alarm man's inhumanity to man. Definitely well in advance of its time, the abolishment of cruelty to animals was also one of its favorite causes. And so it is not surprising to find it pointing with pride to the fact that Congress had made the docking of a horse in the district of Columbia a crime punishable by a fine of not less than $100 or more than $250 or imprisonment not to exceed one year.

AVALON — At various times since the Portuguese explorer Don Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo discovered San Salvador Island 22 miles off the coast of what is now California, the wooded mountainous island has been a haven for Spanish caballeros, Indians, Yankee traders, Russian whalers, pirates, smugglers and the Chicago Cubs.

Story, photos by Joseph H. Firman

P-B staff writer

Renamed Santa Catalina Island 60 years later by another explorer, Don Sebastian Viscaino, the island today is a popular family resort, playing host for a day, a weekend or the summer to thousands of vacationers,

The island was acquired by Thomas Robbins in 1846 on a land grant from Pio Pico, the last Mexican governor of California. It changed hands several times until it became the property of the Banning brothers, who organized the Santa Catalina Island Co., present owners of 70 per cent of the island. The remainder is privately owned. Chewing gun magnate William Wrigley Jr. acquired a majority interest in the company through stock purchases in 1919, and he built a spring training camp on the island where his Chicago Cubs trained for many years.

Crosschannel transportation is provided by three airlines, flying from various airports and three boat lines from San Pedro, Newport Beach and Long Beach. I recently made the trip to the island aboard the 700-passenger Long Beach King, of the Long Beach-Catalina Cruises, a triple-deck vessel complete with lunch counter and bar.

The Long Beach King, thronged with couples of all ages, families with small children, pets and young people laden with backpacks and scuba equipment, steamed past the Queen Mary on its way out of Long Beach Harbor for a smooth, two-hour run to Avalon, the principal city on the island (there are two). Avalon is on a picturesque curved harbor in the shelter of mountains on the easternside of the island. It is a conventional Southern California resort with a winter population of 1,600 that goes as high as 10,000 in the summer. It is serviced by the Los Angeles County sheriff's and fire departments. Children on the islands are under the Long Beach School District, which also handles the high school (graduating class: 33 members).

The other community is Two Harbors, a tiny town spreading up the slopes on either side of the northern isthmus. It is being developed into a year-round residential and boating resort and is the site of USC's Marine Science Center. Two Harbors is 13.4 miles north of Avalon by boat, 23 miles by road.

For the pleasure-seeking visitor, Avalon offers public beaches with bathhouses, nine-hole golf course, tennis courts, boats and fishing tackle, rental bicycles and autoettes, horses for hire, and picnic and camping facilities. The Santa Catalina Island Co. provides long and short tours of the island by bus and tram, visits to the undersea gardens in two glass-bottom boats (one a side-wheeler) a boat trip to the Seal Rookery, a tour of the world-famous Casino of the Big Band Era, and visits to El Escondido Ranch, Arabian horse ranch, and the Wrigley Memorial Botanical Gardens. Avalon also boasts an art gallery, a museum and a movie theater.

As exciting as the Avalon area is, the interior of the 21-mile-long island is richer in natural beauty and historical wealth. A bus tour takes visitors over winding mountain roads to Indian ruins, old mines (gold was discovered on the island 19 years before the California gold rush of 1849), to the "Airport in the Sky," to Old Eagle's Nest Stagecoach Stop and Descanso Bay. It is a ride of discovery of hidden coves and beaches, mountain peaks, canyons and all the flora and fauna of Southern California.

Unique to the island are the wild goats, believed to have been brought originally by the Spanish explorers, and a herd of buffalo brought to Catalina in 1925 for the filming of "The Vanishing American." The original 14 were left on the island and others added later. Today the herd numbers approximately 400, roaming free on the hills. The island also shelters wild boar, foxes, ground squirrels and a wide variety of birds.

Today, Santa Catalina is a flourishing island with shops, markets, hotels, night clubs and amusement parks, and new homes and condominiums under construction, but the mini-Hawaii across the channel will probably always remain the unique resort it is today.

ON THE COVER

World-famous Casino, where the big bands played during the 1930's and 1940's, is an eye-catching landmark for visitors to Santa Catalina Island. The harbor of Avalon, framed in royal palms, is shelter for thousands of boats each summer. Three airlines and three boatlines carry vacationers to the island from Southern California.

LONG BEACH KING

The 700-passenger Long Beach King travels from the mainland to Santa Catalina Island in two hours.

Critic finds 'treasure' in book of interviews

By SAMUEL I. BELLMAN

WORDS AND THEIR MASTERS. By Israel Shenker, Photographs by Kill Krementz. Doubleday. $12.50.

This is a treasure of a book, one of those rare occurrences between the boards that restore one's faith in something or other. It is 368 pages of delightful surprise, provocation — a potpourri of vignettes, interviews, and commentaries on the communication of ideas, and communicators.

(Samuel Bellman is Professor English at Cal Poly, Pomona.)

The 67 separate selections — three of them involving the inimitable and acerb wordswordsman S.J. Perelman — were written (or arranged by, when an interview was being conducted) New York Time's reporter Israel Shenker.

Most were written during the last five years, and for The Times. All of them have a peculiar flavor, reflecting (if a flavor can reflect — Shenker's got me worrying about word use, now!) the author's dedication, fixation, curiosity, where words are concerned. And, because of the author's special handling of his subject, it's contagious, magnetic, pulse-stirring.

Aside from the thrice-appearing Perelman (who, in all honesty, seems never to have learned anything or forgotten anything in the last four decades or more that he's been verbalizing at fever — and Sandy Koufax — pitch), these are some of the other illuminati who light up the pages of Shenker's traumatic book: Nabokov, Borges, Bellow, Groucho Marx, Peter De Vries, Simenon, Mark Van Doren, Ionesco, Beckett (of all people!), Malamud, E.B. White, Noam Chomsky, Rex Stout, Isaac Asimov, Gore Vidal, Kurt Vonnegut, and a glut of others.

And there are special, non-celebrity-focussed articles too, but more of them anon. Highlights (word-flashes, rather) from the first category of feature articles:

Issac B. Singer, the Yiddish fictionist who has been so heavily promoted in the popular press in the last 15 years, on the subject of other people's writing: " 'Often a writer hands me manuscript, and I'm shocked at how bad it is. I ask him "How do you make a living?" He says, ''I'm teaching literature." This is how the universities spit on literature.' "

Nevill Coghill (the famous British scholar and Chaucer-translator): Chaucer "was perfectly aware that sexual misbehavior is perhaps the most comic, but not the most important of our sins. Pride, envy, sloth, avarice — we don't even call them sins today. People are even proud of being proud."

One of the funniest and provokingest pieces in this book is the interview with that inveterate quipster and suburbia-nightmare fictionist (whose private tragedy was hinted at in the move, "Pete and Tillie"), Peter De Vries. De Vries, a wildly improbable descendent of Dutch Calvinists (De Vries' religious quips are like Calvinist pieties turned inside out and outside in), is commenting on dreams, and our Victorian dream censor. Our dreams, according to De Vries, " 'are not giving us much refreshment. Maybe we should domonstrate against them. After all, it's better to wake up screaming than yawning.' " De Vries later describes a dream of his in which he's in a cave in Crete, with a woman . . . his wife. What were they doing there? Committee work.

John Cheever, the religious delineator of sin and cocktail parties in Eastern suburbia (Cheever is really religious and mythopoeic, where De Vries, occupying the same turf, is generally raunchy and sleight-of-word): " 'Our hope (as writers) is that we can avoid the decline into reminiscence, which is the lust of arteriosclerosis. A good prose style depends on a good blood count."

But there is this other facet of Shenker's books of wonders: The treatment of special modes of communication. One interview, which spans the two aspects of the book, is the one with trasnformational linguist Noam Chomsky of M.I.T., who discourses at length, and boringly (to the non-linguist) on deep structures, transforms, and the like.

Shenker has a passel of articles on Yiddish geography, schoolroom howlers, British vs. American English, the language of Women's Lib, Congo Drum language, and other related and unrelated topics.

Most of them are eminently readable; even those not so eminent (the Congo Drum piece is a bit of a disappointment) are at least recommendable. But in a book like this, one or two near-misses don't even count.

New Armour book deals with whales

By JUNE DUGAN
P-B Staff Writer

SEA FULL OF WHALES, by Richard Armour. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

This is a whale of a book for painlessly educating youngsters all about whales. Richard Armour, the Claremont humorist, neatly wraps up all the whale facts in light verse.

He points out that they have no cave or nest, as most animals and fish, and that their home is the whole wide-open sea. He also extols the friendliness and the freedom of the whale, and the delightful illustrations by Paul Galdone play on these aspects. Some of his whales actually seem to be smiling.

All Armour's facts have been checked by whale experts, so this little volume is a nice addition to any child's library. These facts have been carefully interwoven to make learning and retaining them fun.

The book also is a plea for preservation of the whale, which is in danger of extinction since man learned of their commercial value. The closing lines of the book are:

"It's great," they must murmur,

"Just being alive."

And they'll thank us, I think,

If we let them survive.

Bullock novel deals with man's future

SOUL RETRIVERS, By George Bullock. Carlton Press, $4.95.

George Bullock, a Pomona school teacher, has created a novel that draws a thought provoking picture of mankind's future.

Soul Retrievers is a novel which examines the habits of human beings from the beginning of time. The leading character is a contemporary black scientist named Gabriel who through his own adversities was able to achieve the the ultimate of human conception.

The story matures in the future where man reaches the level of utopia, yet happiness still evades him and life becomes a meaningless bore. Gabriel and his colleagues manage to revitalize life in an atrophied world.

He says the two virtues people fear most are truth and change. Not enough so-called "important" people are initiating these virtues, and if society doesn't make a radical change, man will destroy himself.

The author foresees the human race propelled along a crash course, and it cannot be altered unless acted upon by an unbalanced force. Yet, he is optimistic about man's future and proves it through the revelation of his novel.

Dilemma of poor children recalls Swiftian proposal

By MURRAY PROJECTOR

CHILDREN AND DECENT PEOPLE. Edited by Alvin L. Schorr, Basic Books, Inc., $7.95.

"Although we are in some sense a child-centered country, a strain of hostility to children colors our attitudes and policies."

That's the conclusion of the editor, following seven contributed chapters on the welfare system for poor children, all of which verify that "the well-intentioned child welfare system has in fact functioned as a holding operation that has tended to perpetuate the status quo."

The evil effects described in ''Children and Decent People" are not ascribed to the success of bad guys over good guys, but to the system of child welfare that is structured for failure, despite the efforts of the decent people who operate the system.

The book's title is suggested by the words of a popular French song which followed an attempted jailbreak of young offenders: "The pack that hunts down children is composed of decent people."

The welfare system for poor children is an expensive piecemeal system, operating in a nation where for lack of public provision millions of children go poorly schooled, poorly nurtured, and poorly supervised. Mostly poor kids, of course.

Foster family care is more a myth than a reality, according to contributors Reiz, Nott & Weiss. "Foster care is the last resort for the non-poor; the only option for the poor. It is a class-bound system confusing agency resources with clients' needs."

''Children and Decent People" could be entitled "Oliver Twist Revisited." Remember that those whom we see as Oliver's persecutors identified themselves as his friends and benefactors. Fiction is often more factual than non-fiction.

Schorr writes that "adoption agencies are a system for redistributing children from the poor to the middle classes."

This reviewer believes that if Jonathan Swift were writing today, he would update his "Modest Proposal for Alleviating Conditions" by making the adoption system economically more efficient. His proposal for planned breeding of poor children for sale to the non-poor is still applicable

The editor does not limit himself to a description of the current situation. He and his contributors are describing matters they have understood for some time. His "Poor Kids," published in 1966, is a classic on the subject, and is referred to by many of the contributors.

Schorr is also concerned with the why of the current failures with child welfare. "Those who are interested in children are not powerful politically because the nation is ambivalent about its children." Their political weakness contrasts with the potency of of national organizations that represent the aged, the veterans and the disabled.

What can be done to remedy the intolerable situation? We need universal programs (without sitigma) directed to cash needs of children to replace the current piecemeal non-system.

Schorr suggests a program of children's allowances to replace income tax exemptions. Also suggested is a mother's wage — to regard housework and child rearing as socially useful work and to pay a government wage for it. Essential too is a universal health care system, accessible for all children, rich and poor.

''Children and Decent People" is informative, not entertaining. If entertainment is your criterion, wait until it is made into a musical, like "Oliver." Otherwise, it is worth reading now.

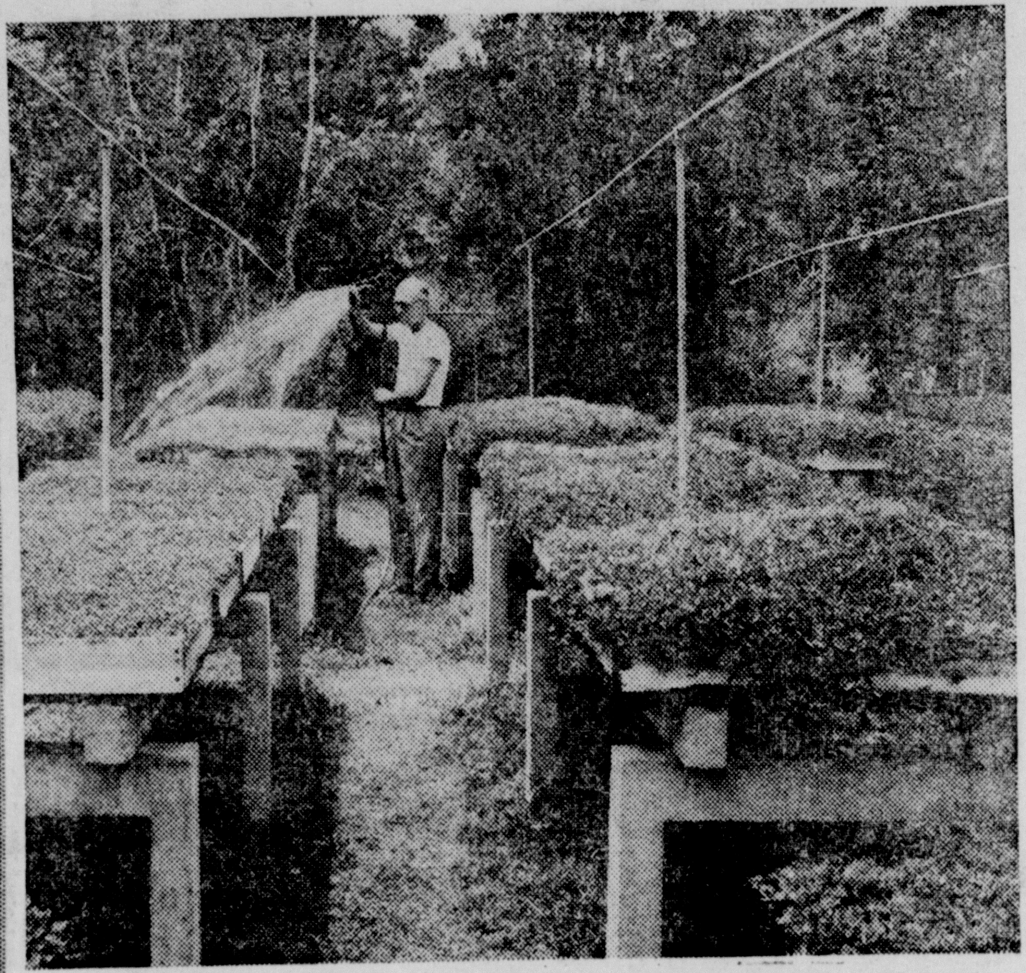
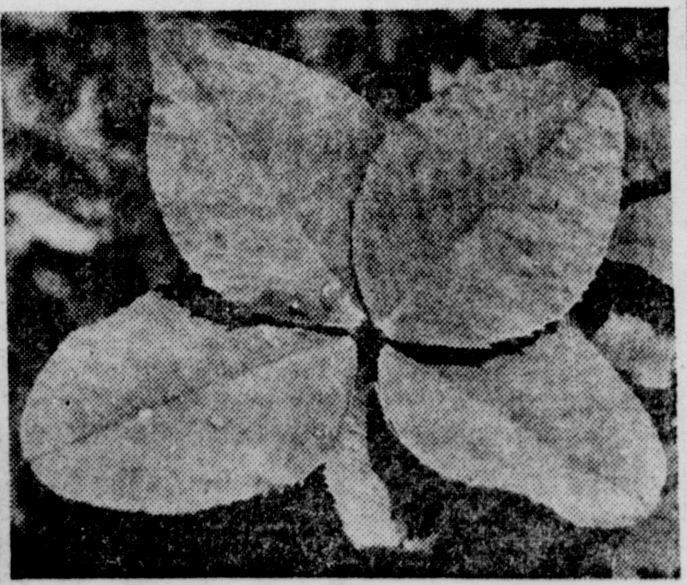
Four-leaf clover farm



It used to be considered quite a rarity, and a sign of good luck, when a person found a four-leaf clover but that's not the case these days in St. Petersburg, Fla. home of the world's only four-leaf clover farm.

CAREFULLY WATERING his pampered crop, Bill Daniels, co-owner and manager of the farm, starts the clover from specially-bred cuttings placed on concrete stands with electrified ultra-violet lamps near each stand. The lamps serve a dual purpose: to constantly bathe the delicate plants in light and to kill harmful insects.



AFTER HARVESTING, (left) millions of the four-leaf oddities are sold to greeting card companies and novelty houses. Only the most perfectly-formed clover, with petals measuring a minimum of 1 and 3/8 inches (above), are selected by Daniels and his employees.

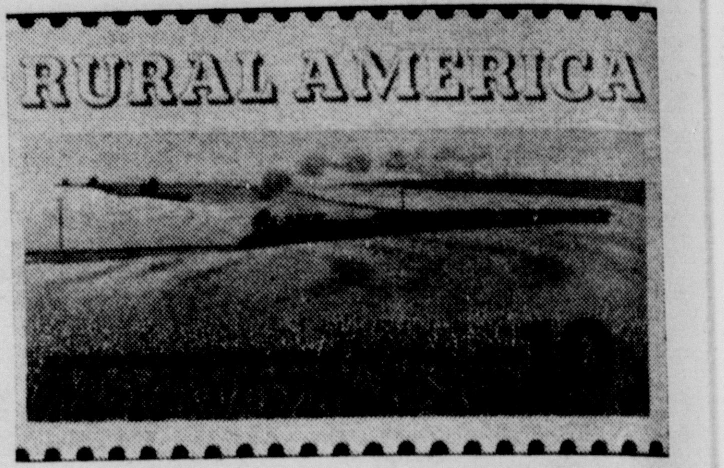
Rural America series

By Gustav Detjen, Jr.



The U.S. Postal Service has announced the third in the series of Rural America Stamps. The 10-cent commemorative to be issued August 16 marks the 100th anniversary of the introduction into Kansas of hard winter wheat, which was to make the state a major world granary.

It was in 1874 that Mennonite immigrants from Russia arrived in Marion County with small quantities of a red Turkish strain of hardy; drough-resistant and heavy-yielding wheat.

John Falter, who also designed the Chautaqua stamp to be issued on August 6th, did the design work for the hard winter wheat issue.

Seven colors will be used — yellow, red, blue and brown on the offset press and green, blue and black on the Giori press. There will, however, be only one plate number on the pane of 50 stamps. First day cancellation requests should be sent prior to August 16 addressed to "Kansas Wheat Stamp, Postmaster, Hillsboro, Kansas 60763." Include a self-addressed envelope with your remittance.

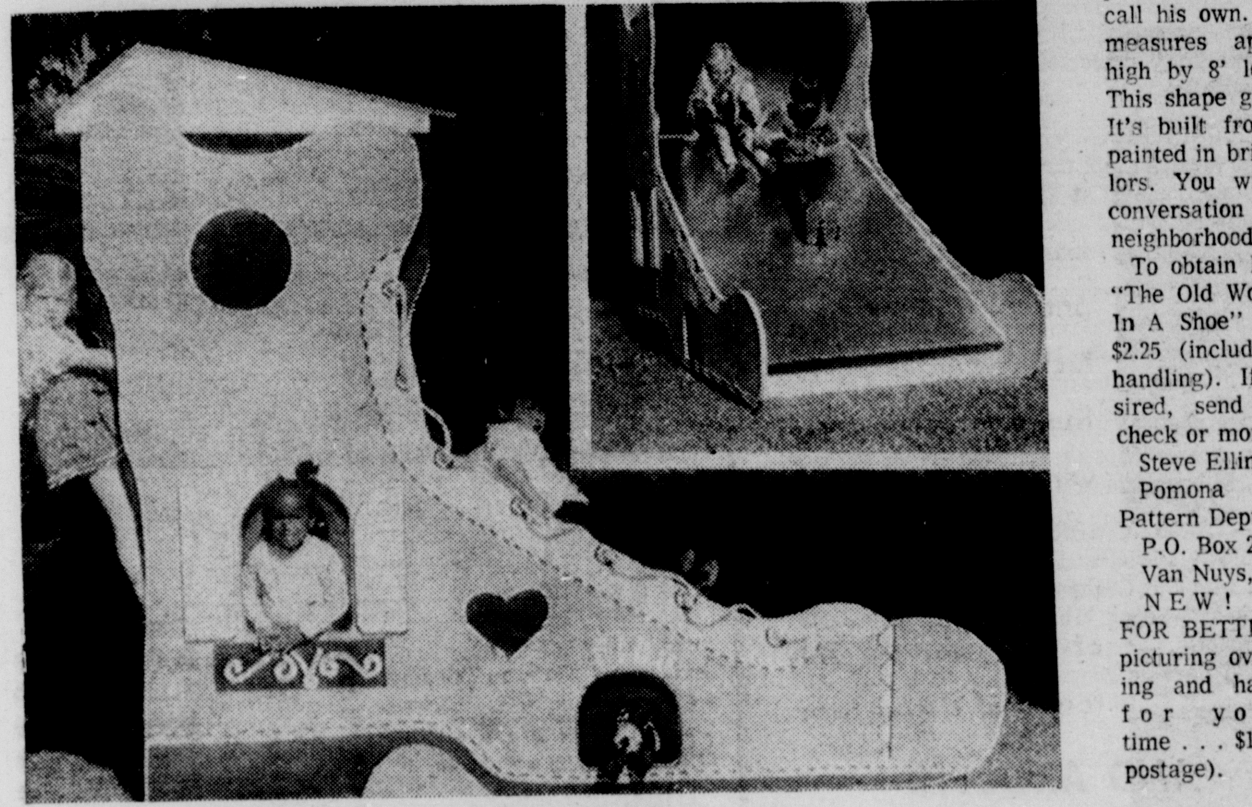
Build yourself a really big shoe

By STEVE ELLINGSON

"There was an old woman who lived in a shoe" . . . we all remember the nursery rhyme. Didn't you feel as a child it would be great to live and play in a house like that? Well, the next best thing is to give your kids or grandkids the fun you missed. And you really have one leg up on the project with our easy-to-follow unique playhouse. One weekend should do it.

Here's a complete funhouse for the kids. A short ladder on the backside takes the child to a platform for launching that gentle slide down to the ground. The slide itself has protective sides to help prevent falls and is made of a smooth galvanized metal surface. The ½" rope "shoelaces" on the sides of the slide are optional. Inside the playhouse, there is enough room to have a tea party. There's a back entrance and plenty of pretty little windows to peek out from. Even the family dog can enjoy this as his home . . . . there's a compartment up front for Fido to call his own. The whole shoe measures approximately 7' high by 8' long by 4' wide. This shape gives it stability. It's built from plywood and painted in bright, cheerful colors. You will find it's the conversation piece of the neighborhood.



To obtain Plan No. 549 for "The Old Woman Who Lived In A Shoe" Playhouse, send $2.25 (includes postage and handling). If airmail is desired, send $2.50 by cash, check or money order to:

Michael Tal: youngest champion

By SHELBY LYMAN

Michael Tal was the youngest world champion ever. He beat Botvinnik in 1960 at age 23 to take the title. But he lost it back a year later. Afflicted with severe health problems, his results have since been erratic, though he managed in an apparently healthy period to set a record for the most consecutive games played by a grandmaster without a loss in 1972-73.

Brilliant as would have been the career of a healthy Tal, it is easy to forget that loss when replaying the marvelous production of games he has nevertheless managed.

Tal is the most insistent attacking player of our time and probably of all previous times. No one else has the ability to sense an attacking possibility, initiate it and carry it through as Michael Tal. No one has shown his ingenuity in finding new resources of attack, when apparently stymied. No one (except Bobby Fischer) so debilitates his opponets.

The position in diagram one shows the setting for the climax of the game Tal-Vaganian. Tal's young and gifted Soviet opponent succumbs in one of the shortest games on record.

In this position, Tal sees a chance to precipitously press the attack. Vaganian falters, and is forced to resign after his opponent's 12th move. In the given diagram, Tal has just played his ninth move, the super-aggressive 9. N-N5. Against black's reasonable answer, 9. . . .B-K2, Tal's intention was probably to continue with 10. Q-R5 check which forces 10. . . .P-N3. He would then have almost irresistible play against the threatened black kingside with his queen, bishops, and the attacking maneuver, pawn to R4 and R5.

But shaken by the threatened attack, Vaganian blundered outrageously with 9. . .B-Q2. Tal's reply was the exchanging move 10. BxN and the still unsuspecting Vaganian answered with 10. . .PxB. (better was BxB).

Tal then surprised his opponent and wrapped things up with 11. Q-R5 check, P-N3; and 12. Q-B3!! (See diagram two).

Unusual though it is for a direct mating threat by the queen to be effective at this early stage of the game, black is summarily lost. Black must lose a piece by 12. . . .Q-K2; NxN! (13. . . .QxN allows 14. Q-B7 check and 15. Q-B6 check, picking up the black rook). The queen at K2 would block the vital defense of the knight at B4 by the black bishop.

Our third diagram shows the finale of another recent game by Tal. In this position, Tal has just played 1. Q-R6, which threatens mate by either QxR or QxB. Black is lost.

The only try, 1. . . .RxR, would have failed after 2. B-N6!! (Again threatening two mates). For 2. . .RxB would have yielded to the simple 3. PxR.

A beautiful though not unusual finish for Tal.

San Francisco tops in fatal drug overdoses

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco is leading the nation in the number of deaths from narcotics overdoses.

Coroner's Administrator James R. Scannell said recently that so far this year there have been as many as 90 such deaths in the city and most of these were caused by heroin.

Scannell gave these reasons.

—Small dealers are not diluting the drugs as they did before.

— The city's "permissiveness" of the use of drugs.

—And the prevalence of drug use among those who adopt "alternative" ways of life.

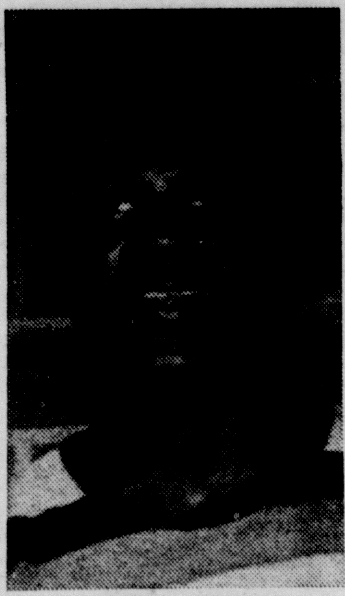
Jourdan named to military academy

Leland Thomas Jourdan, 17, a graduating senior at Rowland High School, has received an appointment to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point.

He was nominated by Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-25th Dist.

Jourdan was voted "favorite man on campus" and "most spirited senior" by his peers at Rowland. He was a CIF championship gymnastic, a four-year member of the school band, a letterman and campus government leader.



LELAND JOURDAN

He will report for training July 8, to begin a four-year course at the academy. He will be a member of the West Point graduating class of 1978. He plans to pursue studies in computer science or law. Upon graduation, he will be commissioned a second lieutenant.

His parents are Walter and Ruby Jourdan.

Freshmen will elect their officers next fall.

New yearbook staff picked

By REGINA DE PAOLA
Pomona Catholic

As the 1973-74 school year came to a close at Pomona Catholic many positions were filled. These positions included the new staff members for the Fidelian, the yearbook.

Paula Jackson handed over her position as the editor-in-chief to Annette Arkells. The other positions that were filled are as follows:

Section editors: for the activities section Julie Josten was selected; girls chosen for the album section are Angela Duits, Kathy Kramhaur and Laurie Sherwood; in charge of classes is Dorothy Radacinski; Cathy Adamic will be working on the faculty section; Jenny Pulver and Annette Radaich are the editors for the organization section; and Michele Marin was chosen to be the editor for the sports section.

The business staff members are Thelma Diaz, Mary Douglas, Carla Droogh, Lorna Finn, Bernie Mendiondo, Esther Padilla, Mary Remely, Tara Silva and Cheryl Tully. The ads and business managers are Carla Droogh and Tara Silva.

The photographers are Leslie Finn with the assistance of Elaine Dourley, Jolene Mello and Julie Tancredi. Melinda Gaul, Helen Newman, Dianne Salvato and Wilma Waasdrop are the typists. The general staff consists of the following girls: Paulette Barela, Valerie Borges, Regina De Paola, Lisa Holzinger, Kathy Jackman, Jeri Minnehan and Cindy Murphy. Chris Tenold was chosen as artist for the Fidelian, with the assistance of Ann O'Brien and Mary Woore.

Students at workshop

Two juniors at Chaffey High School in Ontario have been selected to attend the USC summer journalism workshop June 24-July 5.

They are Rudy Fuentes, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Fuentes of Cucamonga, and Dave Gonzales, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Gonzales of Upland.

Actions do count

By KITTY WOODALL
Bonita Reporter

Menninger states that sin does not stem from defects in one's environment or education, and that the wrongdoer is not always the victim; but rather, sin is committed by an individual who is personally responsible for his actions.

According to Menninger, "belief in sin and personal responsibility for it is our only hope." Sin no longer carries the connotations that it once did, and it is no longer considered such a serious matter, he says.

Disregard

"The willful disregard or sacrifice of the welfare of others for the welfare or satisfaction of the self is an essential quality of the concept of sin. Sin is a refusal of the love of others," Menninger writes.

In the past, people have been punished severely and ridiculed for their crimes. An example of this is illustrated by Nathaniel Hawthorne's "The Scarlet Letter." Today a person is not faced with comparable scorn. The judgment of town magistrates and supposed "men of God" is not a continuous threat.

Middle Ages

In the middle ages, the concept that illness reflected sin prevailed. Psychiatric treatment brought embarrassment to the patient in earlier years and was regarded in a different light by society and the medical profession.

Violence was once considered a means of last resort, whereas it is now a method of communication.

Menninger feels that individuals must accept personal responsibility in all human acts, good or bad. By solving external moral problems, people will better understand external, social, legal and environmental complexities, he says.

"Success will be rewarded; failure must be punished. There is right and there is wrong. There can be no compromise," he writes.

Punishment

Punishment is not the business of judges, but rather of the individual. Self-punishment always involves severe conflict and a person needs to first acknowledge his sin and then to make atonement by restitution and revised tactics.

Some philosophers believe that man has no conscience but, according to the author, most human beings have a sense of right and wrong. The voluntary element is never as voluntary as it seems.

Menninger concludes that "If the concept of personal responsibility and answerability for ourselves and for others were to return to common acceptance, hope would return to the world with it."

In essence, the author expresses the opinion that society today has chosen to ignore the true cause and responsibility of sin by attributing it to the environment, etc. Menninger feels everyone should learn to accept sin, or otherwise it can never be corrected and until personal sin and conflicts are solved, we cannot begin to correct world disputes, wars and crime.

ENGINEER KEVIN

Kevin Dobson, who is featured as Det. Bobby Crocker on "Kojak," is not easily discouraged. If he were, he would have quit pursuing an acting career which has been very elusive—until recently. Things were so tough for Dobson, in fact, that he was flat broke only a few weeks before he was signed to a long-term contract with Universal Studios and cast in the continuing role of Crocker.

Dobson hadn't originally planned on being an actor. After military service, he went to work with the Long Island Railroad to earn money for college. However, his sister urged him to try acting in commercials.

"I wasn't really that interested," Dobson says, "but my sister and a friend of hers introduced me to an agent and suddenly I was going on interviews in my off-hours."

The interviews resulted in a few non-speaking roles in commercials—then Dobson went to audition for a play.

"I'd never read for a play in my life," he says. "I ended up reading with Tom Ewell and when we were finished, he gave the director a wink and I got the part. I'll never forget that look."

Dobson appeared in "The Impossible Years" with Ewell in summer stock then toured with the play performing 98 one-nighters in 44 states. By then, he knew that he preferred acting over railroading.

After a successful road tour, Dobson played some minor roles in the movies and between roles, sustained himself by driving a cab and working as a waiter and bartender. He also studied at New York's Neighborhood Playhouse under the direction of Sandy Meisner. On the spur of the moment, Dobson left New York for Hollywood and immediately found employment—washing dishes. He appeared in a "Mod Squad" episode, then was so steadily unemployed that he was forced to return to his original vocation—the railroad. After 18 months, he quit to understudy Jon Voight in the Los Angeles stage production of "Streetcar Named Desire."

Finally, Dobson auditioned for "Kojak." The night before the studio was to announce its decision, Dobson's car ran out of gas. His agent took him to a gas station. "I had 45 cents to my name," says Dobson. "A gallon cost 46 cents but the attendant let me forget the missing penny. I was flat broke."

The next day, Dobson was signed to a seven-year contract and became a regular in his first television series. Still a bit overwhelmed at the sudde good turn of events, Dobson says "It's especially nice because it ha been such a long time coming."

Kevin recently returned to th Santa Fe Failroad yard in Los Angele where he was an engineer for 1 months.

'A SPECIAL STORY'

"The subject of youth gangs has probably not been dramatized to any extent on television because it cannot realistically have an upbeat ending." Writer Mark Rodgers, one of two executive story consultants for Screen Gems' Police Story, had just finished a script titled "Violent Homecoming," the drama repeating on NBC, Tuesday at 10PM. It's a poignant story that depicts the youth gang in the Mexican-American area of a large city.

One of the seeds for the story idea came from the recent headline of a major newspaper: "Youth Gangs and Their Crimes Growing Steadily." Executive producer David Gerber and producer Stanley Kallis read it, and came to Mark with the assignment. Rodgers, who'd previously worked in one such section of East Los Angeles for a number of years was familiar with the problem. He went about interviewing officers who'd worked the juvenile and gang details.

"The thing that hits you right in the face is the age of the kids involved," he relates. "They begin to take part in gang warfare at age nine or ten, serving as messengers or lookouts. By the time they're 14 they're carrying weapons — and using them. They're forced to join. If they don't, they become prey for the kids in their own area. And if they do, then other area members are after them." Much of this futility is reflected in Rodgers' sensitive and informative script. "Gang war murders occur with regularity in many of these areas," he says, "and we're hardly aware of them. But one such killing in Beverly Hills would make national headlines!"

"Violent Homecoming" does not attempt to answer any questions or present any solutions. "We wanted to illuminate the problem, not try to solve it," says the writer. "It's not that easy." Rodgers does, however, present a question most will hopefully be able to answer after watching the film, that being whether or not there should be an approach to the problem on the part of society, as WELL as on the part of the police department.

Approximately 30 actual East Los Angeles youth gang members, along with their girlfriends and parents, are used in various scenes of "Violent Homecoming." Scenes were filmed near their homes and many of the gang members have since taken an interest in acting, a primary result of conversations with guest-star Pedro Armendariz, Jr.

But the problem continues. Not long after the show was filmed, a young boy was shot under circumstances similar to those depicted in Rodgers' storyline. Maybe Police Story will create an awareness and that would be a beginning.

Pedro Armendariz Jr. portrays a Mexican-American cop who returns to the barrio and finds himself involved in a teenage gang war.

'ON THE MOVE'

Barnaby Jones, starring Buddy Ebsen as the low-key private detective who effectively employs folksy charm to get to the bottom of cases, moves to a different day and a new time (Tuesdays, at 10 PM) in the fall for its third season on CBS.

During the summer, the popular private eye series, co-starring Lee Meriwether as Jones' daughter-in-law and assistant, Betty Jones, will move to Saturdays (starting July 6 at 10PM), leaving its current Sunday (9:30PM) time period. Despite the destructive fire that destroyed much of Sam Goldwyn Studios, where interior scenes of Barnaby Jones are filmed, production has continued without interruption on episodes for the 1974-75 season, according to producer Philip Saltzman.

Two fortuitous circumstances balanced the loss of the Barnaby Jones office set on one of the burned sound stages. First, the show was shooting on location for six days following the fire. And, second, more than 40 still pictures had been taken of the destroyed office. Thus, working from the photographs on hand, the stage crews were able to reconstruct, section-by-section, Barnaby's office in exact detail. And Barnaby Jones is once again filming the desired interiors on another Goldwyn stage.

Extensive use of Los Angeles and Southern California locations, a familiar trademark of the show, again will be much in evidence on the screen. Already an episode has been filmed at the mushrooming Marina del Rey harbor area, where Ebsen in private life frequently sails one of the catamaran craft he owns.

Guest stars like Jessica Walter, Sheree North and Peter Mark Richman are set for early fall appearances, and one of the unusual storylines features a girl singer who lives in a center of country-western music not far from the metropolitan area. The character of Barnaby Jones continues to be a departure from the run-of-the-mill private detective in that he not only is an investigative expert, but he is equally knowledgable in the area of criminalistics—the vital work usually done in the police crime laboratory. Barnaby works out of his own thoroughly equipped lab.

Ebsen, as a matter of fact, did some personal research to properly prepare himself for the role of an erudite private eye who is armed with the most modern of scientific investigative tools. On his visits to the Los Angeles County Sheriff Department's Criminalistics Division, he learned, for instance, the correct method of vacuuming clothing and how the tiniest particle of lint is analyzed. He also was given a short course in the use of the stereoscopic microscope, a helpful instrument which produces a blown-up, three-dimensional image of an object as small as the head of a pin.

Both stars of Barnaby Jones occupied their time during the hiatus between seasons of the show with productive and rewarding projects. When not increasing his already considerable store of knowledge about the Civil War and the history of Scotland with additional reading, Ebsen found himself heavily involved as the president of Polynesian Concept Inc.

Polynesian Concept Inc. happens to be the boat company that constructs 37-foot 6-inch, fiberglass catamarans based on the prototype that the lanky actor sailed to victory in the 1968 Transpac Race to Honolulu. More recently, his company has designed a new version of the catamaran with refined sleeping quarters in the twin hulls, which even contain individual showers.

One of Miss Meriwether's great interests is involvement in the Girl Scouting activities of her two daughters, 14-year-old Kyle and 11-year-old Lesley, and she devoted much of her off-time to that avocation. But the highlight of her vacation came May 5 when, as an honored guest, she viewed Cannonade's victory in the centennial running of the Kentucky Derby after having appeared as a marshal in the pre-Derby Pegasus Parade in Louisville.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

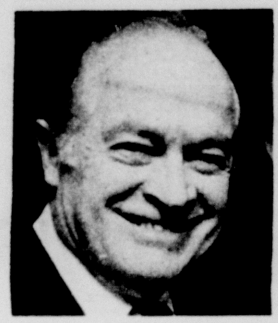
FOR MARGARET MEAD

You have said that man could solve his problems if he'd only use his brains. Do you mean most people have extra brainpower they don't use?—Mrs. Laurene Mills, Hobart, Ind.

● It's been estimated that the most brilliant human being uses only about a tenth of his potential brainpower. The use we make of our brains is dependent upon the state of our culture and the extent to which we devote ourselves to solutions to problems. People who live in simpler societies have as much brain potential as we do, but they have fewer opportunities to use their brains. Some people advocate some form of eugenics that would increase our brain potential. This hardly seems necessary if we aren't using what we already have.



FOR BOB HOPE

I heard that your nose is insured by Lloyds of London. Is this true?—Glenn Anton, Paramus, N.J.

● Back in the early '40's, some ambitious movie press agent whipped up that little story about Lloyd's of London and my nose. It might even have been true. But if they had a policy on my nose it has run out long since. But if you know a good buyer. . . .

FOR JEANE DIXON

I understand you've predicted that a planet inhabited by intelligent life will be discovered. When and who will discover it?—Don Swickrath, Ontario, Calif.

● I see a sister planet—previously hidden by the sun—being discovered by the end of this century. Scientists will land instruments on the planet Jupiter to gain a bird's-eye view of this as yet unknown planet, whose discovery will be for the ultimate good of mankind.

FOR DIAHANN CARROLL

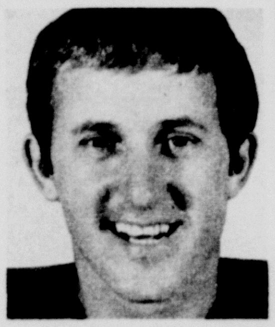
Are you ever going to get married again?—F. A., Cleveland, Ohio

● Yes, but probably not to someone in show business. There are too many strains and temptations. Also, if I got married again I would like it to be a mature union, and it takes two people to have that. People in show business usually aren't mature.

FOR ALAN ALDA *of "M*A*S*H"*

What does "M*A*S*H" stand for?—Joe Zeloof, Edison, N.J.

● Mobile*Army*Surgical*Hospital. They're small hospitals that can pack their tents on a moment's notice and move with the front, often setting up shop only a mile or two from the bullets and bombs. By being so close to the fighting, they're able to save the lives of people who wouldn't survive a trip to the rear.



FOR FRAN TARKENTON,

quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings

Why do you always sit on your helmet at the sidelines? Why not sit on the benches?—Kathy Dunn, Scio, Ohio

● I sit on my helmet because it gets me closer to the field than a seat on the team bench. It's important for a quarterback—any player in fact—to be completely involved in the action on the field.

FOR WENDY OVERTON,

women's professional tennis star

During the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs match, many women pros seemed to have a pathological hatred of Riggs. Now he and Billie Jean seem to be buddies. How do the other women pros feel about Riggs now?—David Smith, Austin, Texas

● Most of us think Bobby Riggs is the greatest thing that ever happened to women's professional tennis. Since he bigmouthed us into the limelight, our purses have ballooned.

FOR BEATRICE ARTHUR, TV's "Maude"

Did you receive much hate mail after your famous "abortion" episode?—M. L. K., Atlantic City, N.J.

● It wasn't hate mail, really. It came from parents who couldn't buy the idea of abortion. The only thing that made me angry were the people who wrote and said we were making fun of abortion. I never felt we treated it that way, for laughs.

FOR CARL YASTRZEMSKI, Boston Red Sox star

Does it ever bother you when the fans in Boston boo you?—Dennis Griffin, Fairfield, Conn.

● It used to. But I realize now that baseball fans seem to boo only the better players. I guess they expect more from some of us, and if we don't produce to their satisfaction, they let us know it. I can't feel too bad. Ted Williams was booed in Boston, too, you know.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

I haven't heard about former Beatle John Lennon in a long time, although there are rumors that the Beatles will get together again for a big concert tour. What's going on?—M. O., Middletown, Ohio

● John Lennon is still in the U.S., fighting a legal battle with the Immigration Department because of a 1968 conviction for marijuana possession in England. Britain had demanded that he come home. Meanwhile, he has been having marital difficulties with his artist wife Yoko Ono, from whom he is reportedly separated. And he allegedly struck a photographer who tried to take his picture at a Los Angeles nightclub. The "tour" is supposed to take place this summer in New York's Catskills. Lennon has rounded up Ringo Starr and George Harrison, but couldn't get Paul McCartney. Nevertheless, they expect to gross $1 million.

Mason Reese: King of TV's Tiny Dynamos

"Just Your Average, All-American $100,000 Boy Next Door"

"People expect him to have read The New York Times from cover to cover. They ask him questions like 'What do you think about Watergate?' and 'What do you think about Vietnam?' Those are invasion questions, and I resent people asking them."

By Pamela Howard

"My father and mother are lucky to have me. So are my brothers and my sister."

Q: What is eight years old, has red hair, weighs 50 pounds, is 45 inches tall, sounds like Donald Duck and has a birthmark on its left shin?
A: MASON REESE!

Mason Mitchell Reese is all those things and more. He is a precocious little boy whose name is fast becoming as much of a household word as the brand-name products he sells on television. He is also a streaker.

And, aside from his funny voice, which has been described by "Time" and "Newsweek" as "preternaturally adenoidal," aside from his "oddly pronounced" features and his puffy, bright-blue eyes, Mason has accomplished more in his eight years than most people do in a lifetime.

By the time the little man-child celebrated his eighth birthday on April 11, he had: written his memoirs; appeared in 25 television commercials; won a Clio award (the Academy Awards for commercials) for the best performance by a male actor; been a children's news correspondent; and saved more money than the average person makes in a quarter of a century.

To what does Mason owe this extraordinary success? Like a Mickey Rooney or a Shirley Temple, Mason seems to have an innate proclivity for Center Stage. Perhaps even more responsible are his devoted parents (and his greatest fans) Sonia and William Reese. The combination of their backgrounds has undoubtedly sky-rocketed Mason's career since he first began at age four in a cereal ad. Sonia is a former stage and television actress who grew up in "show biz" in California. Bill, 43, a casual dresser and a former corporate executive, has a background in marketing, communications and advertising. Two years ago he decided to "reevaluate his life." He dropped out of Madison Avenue and became a partner with a friend in a small Manhattan marketing-services company called Acorn. His new job also frees him to run "The Mason Reese Group" – the incorporated business he and Sonia head for the purpose of marketing and selling Mason. ("At present," says Bill Reese, "it's just a name and some papers–but when we get into movies, it will be something!")

Although Mason's a client of one of the biggest agencies in New York, the William Morris Agency, the Reeses run his life. "We don't want a personal manager for Mason," adds his father. "Nobody knows better what is right for Mason than his parents." Mason's father takes care of all the business. His mother handles the creative end.

"We are not easily star struck," says attractive, red-haired Sonia. But her life has taken a "new direction" since Mason has joined the ranks of the mini-superstars along with Tatum O'Neal and Rodney Rippey. Sonia writes many of his scripts, is working on some songs (which Mason will "talk," not sing), and is currently negotiating a television series, scheduled to be shot in New York this summer, starring, "who else but," Mason. She also contributed heavily to author Lynn Haney, who wrote Mason's

"Here's Your Allowance—$6,000. . . . " "Does That Include Residuals, Dad?"

By Laura Marsh Henning

"I don't think this is a business. I think it's play. I think it's all fun! I like eating all those cookies after umpteen cups of Jello!"

The speaker is nine-year-old Cheryl Sprella of Montville, N.J., who, while not in the Mason Reese class, has made dozens of commercials for products ranging from Jello to Oreo Cookies to Fantastic spray cleaner.

Mason Reese is a phenomenon. While his parents are hesitant to discuss his income, it is probably close to six figures. But for every Mason Reese, there are hundreds of lesser known child models, hawking everything from candy bars to breakfast cereal.

The economics are simple: A nationwide prime-time commercial can earn a child $5,000 or $6,000. That's a pretty good boost toward college.

You might surmise that the children earning this kind of money—and some make much more—may hold blackmail power over their parents. And sometimes that's true—though it's the fault of the parents. "Parents should never, never, never tell the child what he is making," insists Mrs. Rosemary Brian, a well-known New York agent, because then the child begins to think his acting is all-important. Children who become too difficult or ornery are eased out of the business. Directors don't want misbehaving brats on the set.

If the work has its potentially destructive side in the development of children, it also has its positive aspects. Kids in commercials gain tremendous self-confidence and poise. Bill Parrott, who directs the Crest commercials, describes it as a growing experience in which a child sees a coordinated team of cameramen, director, lighting men and actors cooperate to bring a project to fruition. Also, travels to new places are a pleasant bonus. Young model Shelley Bruce sparkled when she recounted her recent visit to Disney World, locale for a Stove Top Stuffing commercial.

Mother is perhaps the unsung hero in the career of her child. There's a lot of running around to auditions, and on the set Mother must stay with her budding superstar the whole day, which can drag on to 9 or 10 o'clock at night. Some mothers do it because they themselves are frustrated actresses. And there are some no doubt who are simply exploiting their children. But there's a definite positive side. Says Mrs. Joan Sprella: "I enjoy my daughter and I enjoy being with her. I steal these extra moments with her because kids grow up so fast."

memoirs "in cahoots" with him. ("I can't type," replied Mason when asked if he had actually written his book.) Sonia also travels with Mason when he makes public-appearance tours around the country and accompanies him to the studios for his commercial tapings.

He is treated, insist the Reeses, like an everyday, ordinary kid. "The star gets balled out when he makes a mess. The star gets in trouble when he doesn't eat his vegetables, just like other kids do," says his father. Is he spoiled with money? The Reeses say no. In fact, he rarely sees his money. He is rewarded for his efforts with magic tricks because he wants to be a magician when he grows up. His earnings are invested in slow-growth bonds "so he'll be able to pay his way through college."

"Mason enjoys doing commercials, but there is a price to pay for everything," says Sonia. For example, when he is interviewed. "People expect him to have read The New York Times from cover to cover. They ask him things like 'What do you think about Watergate?' and 'What do you think about Vietnam?' Those are invasion questions, and I resent people asking them. He is not a mathematical genius or a 'Quiz Kid' or a child prodigy. Mason is an appealing little boy who is bright and likes to have a good time."

Home for Mason is a large nine-room apartment on Manhattan's West Side, a block from the Hudson River. His brothers are Lanny, 19, and Mark, 18. His sister is Suky, 16, who answers much of Mason's fan mail. The Reeses are a very close family. "We always ask for traveling expenses to cover all of us when we go on out of town trips with Mason. The other kids have to know they have an opportunity to participate in Mason's good fortune," says Bill.

When Mike Douglas talks to Mason on national television, it is one thing. For a reporter to try to interview him at home is something else. "After all, a child is a child," says his mother, "and we have to keep his home sacrosanct. He can do whatever he wants to do. If he wants to run around the house without any clothes on, he should feel free to do so."

About 20 minutes into our interview, and after a display of several magic tricks and one-word answers to my questions, Mason announced he was going to streak.

First he kicked a dirty sock in my face. "It smells," he said churlishly. I began feeling a little edgy. I could see what was coming. I asked him to autograph my copy of his memoirs, which he did with a great sweep of his hand. I asked him why the funny marks after the signature. "It's a short-cut for making exclamation marks," he said.

Soon the denim overalls were unhooked.

"Who is your favorite actor?" I asked.

"Robert Conrad and Bill Bixby," he said. "And now I'm going to streak."

Suddenly the overalls were off altogether and on the floor.

"What is your favorite TV program?" I asked.

" 'The Magician,' what else?"

Next the striped cowboy shirt was off, and without going any further, he decided to streak in his underpants.

Mason didn't feel like talking about himself. His girl friend is Erica, the daughter of his father's business partner. "I love her," he said. His favorite subjects are math and geography, and there is one boy in his third-grade class who is jealous of him, but he doesn't want to talk about him.

When not working or going to school, playing with his magic toys, reading comic books and watching television are Mason's favorite pastimes. "Television is really his acting school," says coauthor Lynn Haney. "He looks at television as though he were on it."

"Does Mason think he is a lucky boy," I asked, "to have such devoted parents?"

Without skipping a beat, Mason interrupted: "My father and mother are lucky to have me. So are my brothers and my sister."

How You Can Win Contests!

Discover 14 Secrets to Winning . . . and Cash In On Exciting Vacations — Luxury Cars — Money and Thousands of Other Fabulous Prizes to Be Given Away This Year

If you dream of having enough extra cash to spend any way you would like. If you have longed for a few of the luxuries in life before you are too old to enjoy them. If you receive a special thrill when you are named a winner. Then continue to read and learn how to make your dreams come true.

To be a winner, the first thing you must do is forget about being lucky.

Pure luck has very little to do with winning contests.

If you follow any kind of sports activity closely, you know the best prepared team wins. They don't leave anything to chance.

The same systematic approach can help you win contests. If you prepare—if you have the proper tools—if you know how to make the law of averages work for you . . . you will soon be winning such valuable prizes as color television sets—tape recorders — radios — appliances. Even cash and vacations to exotic places.

Why am I so confident you can win—and win big?

Because I am doing it. I know the thrill of winning. I know what it takes to be a contest winner. I know if you are determined you can win too.

But learning how to win didn't come easy.

Until a few years ago, my wife and I were like the average person. We would occasionally enter a contest that caught our attention . . . with always the same results. Nothing. You may have experienced this same thing.

All my efforts left me frustrated. I knew I had to do something different to win. I decided to find out how I could improve my chances of winning. I started by interviewing the people who knew what it was all about. Contest judges.

I spent hours in writing letters and talking to judges. I studied carefully their advice and the techniques they suggested. With their help—and my own trial and error—I developed 14 simple—but effective rules—for entering and winning contests.

During the next three months my wife and I won valuable prizes in ten national contests . . . an average of winning one prize every 10 days.

Believe me, this is not luck.

To prove what I am saying is true, here are just a few of the letters I received announcing my winnings:

—You will be happy to know that your entry has been selected as one of the winners in the Purina Dog Chow $150,000 Triple Treasure Sweepstake Spectacular.

—Your entry has been selected as a winner in the Armour "Win a Wish from the Wizard" Sweepstakes.

—Congratulations . . . you are a winner in the "007 Colgate-Palmolive Sweepstakes." Please allow six weeks for delivery of your RCA Tape Recorder.

—Your Polaroid camera is being forwarded to you as a winner in the Libby's Fine Foods Contest.

My name is Haywood Kelly. My wife and I have won thousands of dollars in valuable prizes. You can be a big winner too—it's easy when you use the 14 simple steps I have discovered.

Without contests and a systematical way of winning, these prizes were only a dream . . . but now a dream come true.

Now you can make your dreams come true and experience the thrill of winning. You can master in a few hours what it took me two full years to discover.

The secret of winning.

I have written down every successful technique I have used. Every proven secret I have learned. And have included each of them in a book I have written, entitled "How to Win Contests."

Even though this book could mean hundreds, perhaps thousands of dollars to you in valuable prizes, it is priced at only $3.00. Remember, winning contests is not luck. It is SYSTEMATICAL PREPARATION.

I will show you how to prepare.

I will teach you the fourteen rules you must follow to be successful.

I will teach you the "golden rule" of winning.

I will show you how to be selective and enter only the contests that provide the best chance to win.

I will tell you how to use the rules of the contest to your advantage.

I will give you the formula for a winning strategy.

I will show you how to beat the law of averages by entering more than once. The trick is in the timing of your entry.

I will show you how to keep posted on current contests so you won't accidentally miss out on the best opportunities to win.

I will show you a secret trick to make sure your entries aren't overlooked.

I will teach you how to use logic to take the "chance" out of winning.

I will show you how to hit the jackpot time and time again.

At first you will find your winnings hard to believe. Even your friends won't believe it—they will think you struck it rich.

So, forget about being lucky. Don't take as long as I did to find out what it takes to be a systematic winner.

Give in to that impulse. There's nothing to lose.

I'm not asking you to believe what I have said. Just try it. I guarantee you will be a winner. It's as simple as that.

The Arts Are NOT for The Privileged Few!

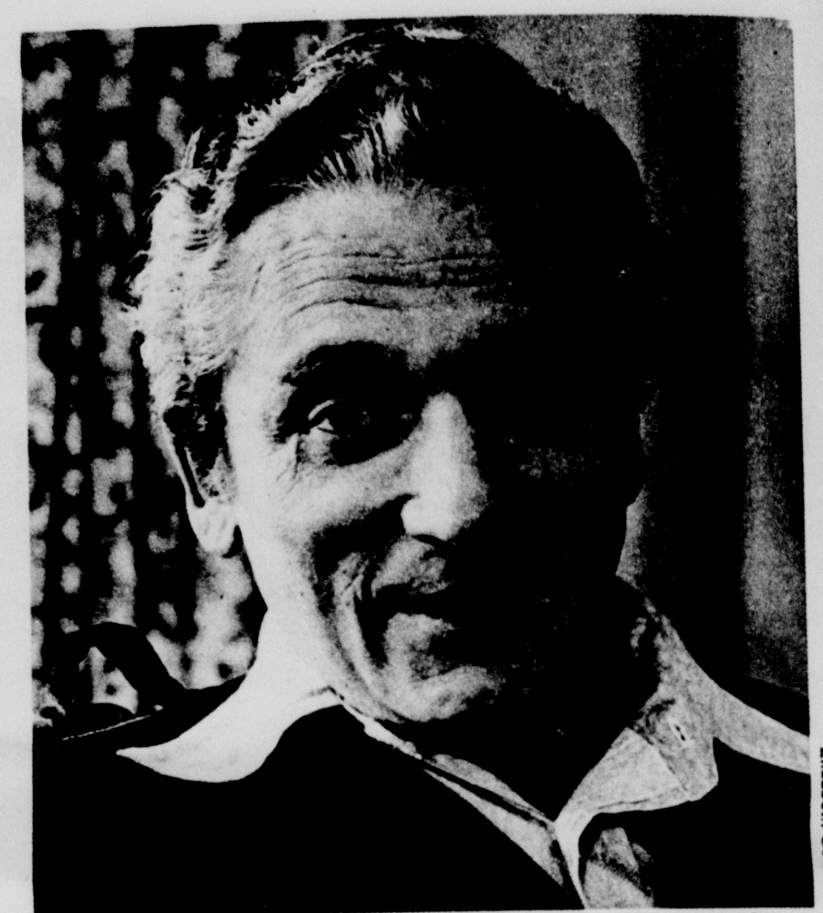
"A majority of Americans do not believe they can fulfill their cultural needs at home, despite TV and radio, records or tapes."

By Gerald A. Bartell

Especially for FAMILY WEEKLY

I spend every third or fourth week of my life in New York City. And since the theater, ballet and music are among my favorite recreational items, I always manage to spend an evening or two at Broadway shows or at Lincoln Center.

Lincoln Center (for those who have not seen it) is a complex of beautiful buildings interlaced by gardens, pools, fountains, walkways and outdoor table service—altogether incredibly lovely and practical for the performing arts. As I stroll about the Center before and after a performance—with the fountain playing, the lights on the pools, and thousands of people walking, chatting, eating and dallying at the outdoor café—I remember the dark, dismal, decaying semi-slum that was the Lincoln Center area some 15 years ago.



Elizabeth Gee

"The arts," says Gerald Bartell, "offer a constant restatement of the importance of the individual in our society."

> "It has been believed for too long that Americans are cultural eunuchs; that spectator sports are their only significant leisure-time indulgence."

Today, Lincoln Center is a world model for the performance and display of the arts. There, the power of the arts is expressed in architecture, in the creative design of building arrangements and landscaping, in interior decors of elegance and taste, in impressive examples of sculpture and painting, in imaginative theatrical productions of music and drama, in the assembled treasure of library and school. It is a never-ending exhibition of the power of the arts in ministering to the malaise of a city caught in computerism and facelessness.

America has many civic arts centers, most not as elaborate as Lincoln Center, but existing in response to a need. More than 70 million adult Americans experience and enjoy the arts in one form or another.

They go to arts and crafts shows, to galleries, historical museums and restorations. They go to the theater, movies, ballet, opera. They paint, sculpt, sketch, weave, carve. They attend performances of music, from opera to rock.

A majority of Americans do not believe they can fulfill their cultural needs at home, despite TV and radio, records or tapes. They go out to where the arts are for their enjoyment and appreciation.

It has been believed for too long that -

Americans are cultural eunuchs; that spectator sports are their only significant leisure-time indulgence. This survey probes deeply into the activities of the average American household and demonstrates that a desire for the arts and what we may regard as arts activities is not alone in the minds and lifestyles of the most educated and the most affluent. The need to participate arises from something more basic than learning or wealth.

Henry James, the famous novelist, once said that Americans regarded the arts as only "for women, immigrants and other impractical people." Certainly an impressive case may be made for an almost instinctive, compelling affinity for beauty and the arts by women, who are, after all, believed to be the more sensitive sex.

As for immigrants, our country was enriched with the art and folk art of the world when we invited new citizens to these shores by the millions. The respective cultures and energies they brought with them changed the metabolism of America. The "foreign" names of painters, singers, composers, dancers, have now become American names, scattered like windblown seed across the land, and their bearers propagate cultural vitality and influence wherever they settle.

"Impractical"? Our pioneer forefathers, once security and sustenance were insured, satisfied other practical needs with homespun cloth, iron and pewter, leather and wood, in forms that survive as indigenous and highly respected art. Today, the design of every article we use is no less influenced by someone's artistic expression, good or bad. It is impossible to divorce art from everyday life. And that is why the results of the Harris survey can be projected as a valid American condition.

The Harris survey revealed that nearly two-thirds of adult Americans would be willing to pay an additional $5 per year in taxes to support the arts; 47 percent would be willing to pay $25 more annually "if the money were used to maintain and operate cultural facilities such as theater, music and art exhibitions"; and more than one out of three people—36 percent—would pay up to $50 for such purposes.

Here are a few other survey results worthy of note:

- 89 percent of the people consider a theater, concert hall and an art museum important to the quality of life in a community.
- 76 percent believe such arts facilities have a favorable effect on a community's business and economy.
- 71 percent regard arts facilities in a community as inducements to attract residents who would improve the community.
- 77 percent think it important for young people to have the experience of seeing live actors perform on a stage.
- 68 percent agreed that TV should broadcast more concerts, opera and serious drama than it does now.
- 79 percent asked that schools make more of an effort to hold concerts for students because they should be exposed to classical music.

We must get used to the idea that more and more Americans will be joining the arts community. We must reject that old shibboleth that the arts appeal only to an intellectual or economic elite. Twenty-two percent of all adult Americans now make at least four visits a year to two or more of the following: a museum or gallery, a concert of music or dance, a performance of drama, opera or ballet. That is more than 30 million people!

"89 percent of the people consider a theater, concert hall and an art museum important to the quality of life in a community."

And I believe this is only the tip of the proverbial iceberg, for an additional 25 percent are actively participating nonprofessionally in the arts. They play a musical instrument, paint, draw, sculpt or pot; dance in ballet, sing in a choral group; act or work backstage in theater; do creative writing.

- Here is reason enough for political planners to embrace the arts as a proper social service with appropriate government funding.
- Here is reason enough for school boards and administrators to reverse regressive attitudes concerning arts instruction and encouragement in the schools.
- Here is reason enough to consider the arts as a populist (not elitist) activity that constitutes an open challenge to our public and private institutions for responsive action.

Underlying that response should be an awareness that the arts offer a constant restatement of the importance of the individual in our society and a significant role in the fuller development of the unknown potential within each human being.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR: Gerald A. Bartell is chairman of the Wisconsin Arts Board, the official state agency for the development of the arts. He is a member of the Business Committee for the Arts, which is made up of executives of leading U.S. corporations.

Burger on a Bun:
Three Ways to Make It Taste Expensive

Elizabeth Gee

Burgers a la Jet Set: Amarillo Burger, Copenhagen Burger and Moscow Burger.

"You'd be surprised what toppings can do to a hamburger," says Food Editor Marilyn Hansen. "Just start with my basic burger recipe—then create one or all of these taste treats—the Copenhagen Burger, Amarillo Burger or Moscow Burger. It's an economical way to please husbands and kids alike!"

Marilyn's Menu
Burgers
Oven-Baked Frozen French Fries
Favorite Salad
Milk Shakes

BASIC BURGER

1 lb. lean ground chuck
2 tablespoons wheat germ
1 tablespoon ice water
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¾ teaspoon salt
Few twists freshly ground black pepper

1. Combine all ingredients in medium bowl and blend with fork.

2. Shape into four burgers. Grill and garnish as desired.

Makes 4 burgers

Budget Tip: To stretch your ground chuck further, use one of the new textured soy-protein products. Make it up according to package directions, then proceed as above.

COPENHAGEN BURGER

4 basic burgers, uncooked
¼ teaspoon ground allspice
8 slices bacon
1 cup sliced onions
1 tablespoon bacon drippings
4 lightly toasted hamburger buns
4 ozs. Danish blue cheese, sliced

1. Sprinkle burgers lightly with allspice and grill as desired.

2. Fry bacon till soft-crisp and roll to "curl." Fry onions in bacon drippings till lightly browned.

3. Place each grilled burger on bun half. Top each with 2 tablespoons fried onions and 1 slice blue cheese. Garnish with 2 bacon curls; place top of bun on side. Makes 4 burgers

AMARILLO BURGER

4 basic burgers, uncooked
¼ teaspoon chili powder
1 cup chopped tomatoes
¼ cup finely chopped onion
3 jalapeño peppers, chopped, or 1 tablespoon chopped cherry peppers
¼ teaspoon salt
1 avocado
1 tablespoon lemon juice
4 lightly toasted hamburger buns

1. Sprinkle burgers with chili powder and grill as desired.

2. Make Salsa Fria: In small bowl combine tomatoes, onion, jalapeño peppers and salt. Refrigerate covered if not serving immediately.

3. Peel and slice avocado, sprinkle with lemon juice.

ON NOVEMBER 4th 1963,
A STAR WAS BORN.

Introducing Lena Zavaroni . . . the 10 year old British Bombshell who belts out a song in the tradition of Garland and Midler but has a "rock 'em, sock 'em" style all her own.

Lena's version of "Ma! He's Making Eyes At Me" has sold over a million records in England and throughout Europe.

On her debut album for Stax Records, Lena sings 12 songs from the 30's to the 70's that audiences from 6 to 60 have responded to with wild acclaim.

Lena Zavaroni: the 10 year old girl who's setting off fireworks in the world of show business.

4. Nothing is more endearing to others than a person who's always smiling.

5. The penalty for being a nonconformist is that you're likely to irritate people and make more enemies than friends.

6. If you gaze casually at someone, while keeping your face expressionless, it will intrigue him and make him want to become acquainted with you.

ANSWERS

1. False. As shown by a study sponsored by the National Science Foundation, which demonstrated that "attitude similarity was more important than personality similarity as a determiner of attraction." When it comes to making a favorable or unfavorable impression, your temperament and general character don't carry as much weight as your attitude – your likes and dislikes.

2. False. According to psychological tests conducted on more than 100 subjects of both sexes at the University of Alabama. It was found that, contrary to expectations, you will make a good impression on another person "merely by des- This may be expressed simply in quiet resentment or, on occasion, in "bite the hand that feeds it" behavior. But interestingly, another study reveals that showing a person kindness often has the effect of increasing your liking for him!

4. False. Psychological studies show that a perpetual smile gives the impression of "a suppressed negative attitude."

5. False. Studies at the State University of New York have demonstrated that independent people who don't mind rocking the boat now and then are generally viewed as more sincere, trustworthy and likable.

6. False. Psychological tests at Stanford University show that looking at people in this manner usually has the opposite effect. Instead of intriguing them, it's likely to produce unpleasant tension coupled with either fear or hostility, causing them to wish to avoid you. The investigators point out that a gaze becomes a stare in a matter of seconds. Unless the gaze is quickly mitigated by a disarming change in facial expression, such as a smile, it is likely to be interpreted as a hostile action. FW

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

Do Other People Really Like You?

True or False: Nothing is more endearing to others than a person who's always smiling. (See number 4)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. The biggest factor in determining whether another person will find you attractive or unattractive is how much you have in common personality-wise.

2. The surest way to turn another person off is to describe yourself in glowing terms.

3. A foolproof formula for increasing another person's liking for you is to be kind and considerate, do him a favor occasionally, and go out of your way to help him.

4. Nothing is more endearing to others than a person who's always smiling.

5. The penalty for being a nonconformist is that you're likely to irritate people and make more enemies than friends.

6. If you gaze casually at someone, while keeping your face expressionless, it will intrigue him and make him want to become acquainted with you.

ANSWERS

1. False. As shown by a study sponsored by the National Science Foundation, which demonstrated that "attitude similarity was more important than personality similarity as a determiner of attraction." When it comes to making a favorable or unfavorable impression, your temperament and general character don't carry as much weight as your attitude – your likes and dislikes.

2. False. According to psychological tests conducted on more than 100 subjects of both sexes at the University of Alabama. It was found that, contrary to expectations, you will make a good impression on another person "merely by describing yourself as sincere, warm, optimistic and confident." The results, it's pointed out, suggest a simple technique for increasing one's popularity.

3. False. Psychological studies have shown that showering another person with kindness and consideration is as likely to place a strain on the relationship as it is to strengthen it. Many people react adversely to the feeling of obligation that accepting help or money from another person often engenders. This may be expressed simply in quiet resentment or, on occasion, in "bite the hand that feeds it" behavior. But interestingly, another study reveals that showing a person kindness often has the effect of increasing your liking for him!

4. False. Psychological studies show that a perpetual smile gives the impression of "a suppressed negative attitude."

5. False. Studies at the State University of New York have demonstrated that independent people who don't mind rocking the boat now and then are generally viewed as more sincere, trustworthy and likable.

6. False. Psychological tests at Stanford University show that looking at people in this manner usually has the opposite effect. Instead of intriguing them, it's likely to produce unpleasant tension coupled with either fear or hostility, causing them to wish to avoid you. The investigators point out that a gaze becomes a stare in a matter of seconds. Unless the gaze is quickly mitigated by a disarming change in facial expression, such as a smile, it is likely to be interpreted as a hostile action.

WILLIE STARGELL:

Is This His Year to Be MVP?

Willie Stargell may be a perennial No. 2 for Most Valuable Player, but he's No. 1 on the Pittsburgh Pirates. Stargell was forced into the spot when his friend Roberto Clemente died in a plane crash. Clemente had always been the Pirates' leader, but Stargell picked up the mantle and was the principal reason his team remained a strong contender. . . . Last year Stargell led the major leagues with 44 home runs and 119 runs-batted-in, and posted a .299 batting mark for the year. He expected to be named the league's MVP, but was nosed out by Cincinnati's Pete Rose. It was the third straight year he had been edged out. . . . Stargell admits being disappointed, but "I'm not the type who believes in bitterness," he says. He admires Rose and enlisted his help in plugging for research funds to fight sickle-cell anemia. He says his interest in helping others stems from the direction he got from his mother and stepfather. "They gave me love and affection and a feeling that I should not complain about my own troubles, because others were worse off," he says. . . . Stargell's weight is sometimes a drag on his speed, but what he lacks in natural speed he makes up for in hustle. . . . Stargell, 33, is a native of Earlsboro, Okla., and first demonstrated his slugging prowess in sandlot play. After playing on farm teams, he moved up to the big leagues in 1962.—By Barry Abramson

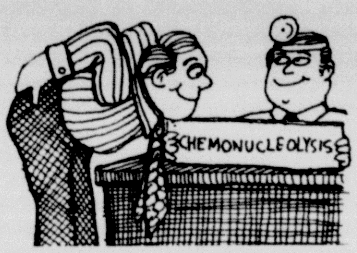
New Relief for Slipped Disk



There's new hope for slipped-disk sufferers. Slipped disk (or ruptured or herniated disk) means that the cartilage cushion between the vertebrae has developed a "leak." A protein substance called chondromucin leaks out and presses on a nerve. The pain can be excruciating. Heretofore surgery was the remedy: The disk and its leaked substance were removed and the two vertebrae that the disk separated were fused together.... Now there's a new procedure. Called chemonucleolysis, it's effective in about 80 percent of the cases. It consists of only one injection, right into the disk, of an enzyme called chymopapain that is derived from the papaya plant (it's very similar to meat tenderizer). The enzyme dissolves the leaked protein substance, and the pressure on the nerve is relieved. Is it safe? Yes, but in about one percent of the cases there can be an allergic reaction to the enzyme. That is the reason that chemonucleolysis is done in the operating room and not in the doctor's office.—By Erwin Di Cyan, Ph.D.

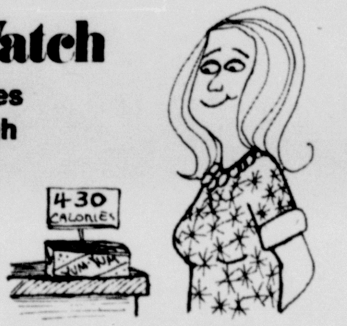
How to Keep Calories Low and Morale High



A dieter sails along more confidently on a new regimen when morale is high—so avoid pitfalls that make morale sag. For instance: When you've eaten salty food that makes you drink more liquid than usual, skip weighing yourself the next day—salt retains water and you'll get discouraged when you see your increased weight. . . . After you start a new diet, take more walks, get more fresh air; you'll feel the morale-boosting effects of increased blood circulation right away. . . . Turn your scales up two pounds so you'll know you're really two pounds lighter.... Keep a chocolate bar (or other fattening favorite) in the house on a table—right in plain sight. And don't eat it. Every day you don't eat it, you'll know you're saving yourself 430 calories.—By Harriet La Barre

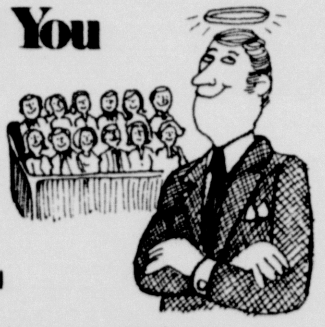
How to Look Honest In a Courtroom



Next time you watch a "Perry Mason" rerun, notice that all Perry's clients come to court conservatively dressed and combed, and scrubbed clean. That's because the fictional Perry Mason deduced what science has recently proved. When university researchers ran four different "trials" for defendants accused of killing a pedestrian while driving while intoxicated, they discovered the defendant's skin color made no difference. But his dress and grooming made considerable difference. The trials of two unattractive, untidy-looking defendants, one white and one black, both produced stiff sentences. The juries decided they were careless and heavy drinkers who deserved their punishment. The trials of the two neat, clean, conservatively dressed defendants, one white and one black, produced lighter sentences. As the juries saw it, the two attractive-looking defendants had probably suffered severe remorse and their accident was a one-time freak. —By Shirley Sloan Fader

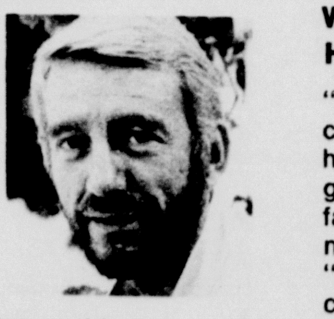
ROD McKUEN:

"Unpleasant Facts About Unwanted Animals"



"The public would be shocked if it knew how badly so many people treat animals. People will go on a vacation and leave their pet in the street, with the expectation of just getting another when they return. Thousands of animals are put to death every day by so-called humane methods, which are actually painful. I've seen living animals tossed on trucks with dead ones, and I've even seen guys take a cat not yet dead and bash it against a wall." The indignation was pouring from Rod McKuen, poet, author, composer and concert artist, who has established a foundation to help promote more concern. "Something has to be done about the widespread mistreatment, the understaffing of shelters and the inhumane ways of killing unwanted animals. I urge people to call the nearest humane society when they see cruelty to animals, to help stamp out such acts." —Interviewed by William Wolf

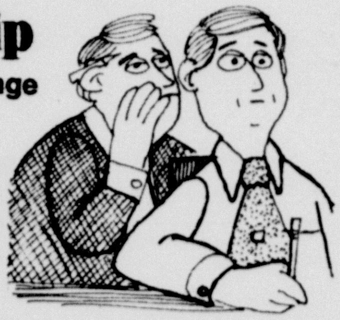
When Winds of Change Hit Your Office



"There are going to be changes made around here." When that word gets out in an office or factory, your first natural thought is, "How will it affect me?" Since you can't stop the change, learn some protective actions to make things easier for yourself. 1) Try to get some straight answers from your supervisor. If his reply is, "We're going to retain you to work the new machines. You won't have a problem learning"—you'll have saved yourself quantities of anxiety. If his answer is, "I don't know anything about it," go to someone who is in a position to know. When changes are planned in office procedure, don't just worry. Ask how the new methods will affect you. 2) Be careful whom you ask and to whom you listen. Learn to distinguish between facts from management and confusing rumors. 3) Guard against making change difficult for yourself because of negative thinking. Prejudging the new system or machine as bad only makes it harder for you to learn and adjust. —By S. dure. Called chemonucleolysis, it's effective in about 80 percent of the cases. It consists of only one injection, right into the disk, of an enzyme called chymopapain that is derived from the papaya plant (it's very similar to meat tenderizer). The enzyme dissolves the leaked protein substance, and the pressure on the nerve is relieved. Is it safe? Yes, but in about one percent of the cases there can be an allergic reaction to the enzyme. That is the reason that chemonucleolysis is done in the operating room and not in the doctor's office.—By Erwin Di Cyan, Ph.D.

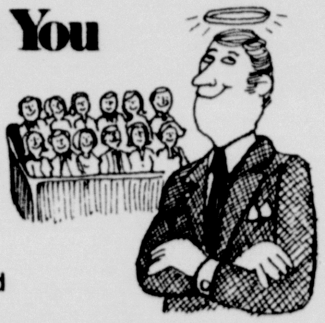
How to Look Honest In a Courtroom



Next time you watch a "Perry Mason" rerun, notice that all Perry's clients come to court conservatively dressed and combed, and scrubbed clean. That's because the fictional Perry Mason deduced what science has recently proved. When university researchers ran four different "trials" for defendants accused of killing a pedestrian while driving while intoxicated, they discovered the defendant's skin color made no difference. But his dress and grooming made considerable difference. The trials of two unattractive, untidy-looking defendants, one white and one black, both produced stiff sentences. The juries decided they were careless and heavy drinkers who deserved their punishment. The trials of the two neat, clean, conservatively dressed defendants, one white and one black, produced lighter sentences. As the juries saw it, the two attractive-looking defendants had probably suffered severe remorse and their accident was a one-time freak.

ROD McKUEN:

"Unpleasant Facts About Unwanted Animals"

"The public would be shocked if it knew how badly so many people treat animals. People will go on a vacation and leave their pet in the street, with the expectation of just getting another when they return. Thousands of animals are put to death every day by so-called humane methods, which are actually painful. I've seen living animals tossed on trucks with dead ones, and I've even seen guys take a cat not yet dead and bash it against a wall." The indignation was pouring from Rod McKuen, poet, author, composer and concert artist, who has established a foundation to help promote more concern. "Something has to be done about the widespread mistreatment, the understaffing of shelters and the inhumane ways of killing unwanted animals. I urge people to call the nearest humane society when they see cruelty to animals, to help stamp out such acts."

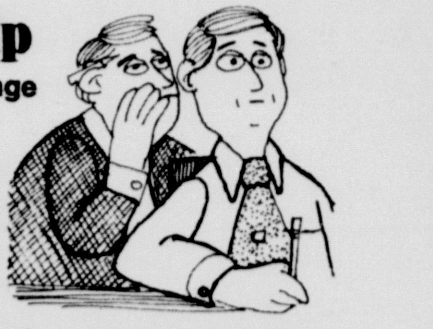
When Winds of Change Hit Your Office



"There are going to be changes made around here." When that word gets out in an office or factory, your first natural thought is, "How will it affect me?" Since you can't stop the change, learn some protective actions to make things easier for yourself. 1) Try to get some straight answers from your supervisor. If his reply is, "We're going to retain you to work the new machines. You won't have a problem learning"—you'll have saved yourself quantities of anxiety. If his answer is, "I don't know anything about it," go to someone who is in a position to know. When changes are planned in office procedure, don't just worry. Ask how the new methods will affect you. 2) Be careful whom you ask and to whom you listen. Learn to distinguish between facts from management and confusing rumors. 3) Guard against making change difficult for yourself because of negative thinking. Prejudging the new system or machine as bad only makes it harder for you to learn and adjust.

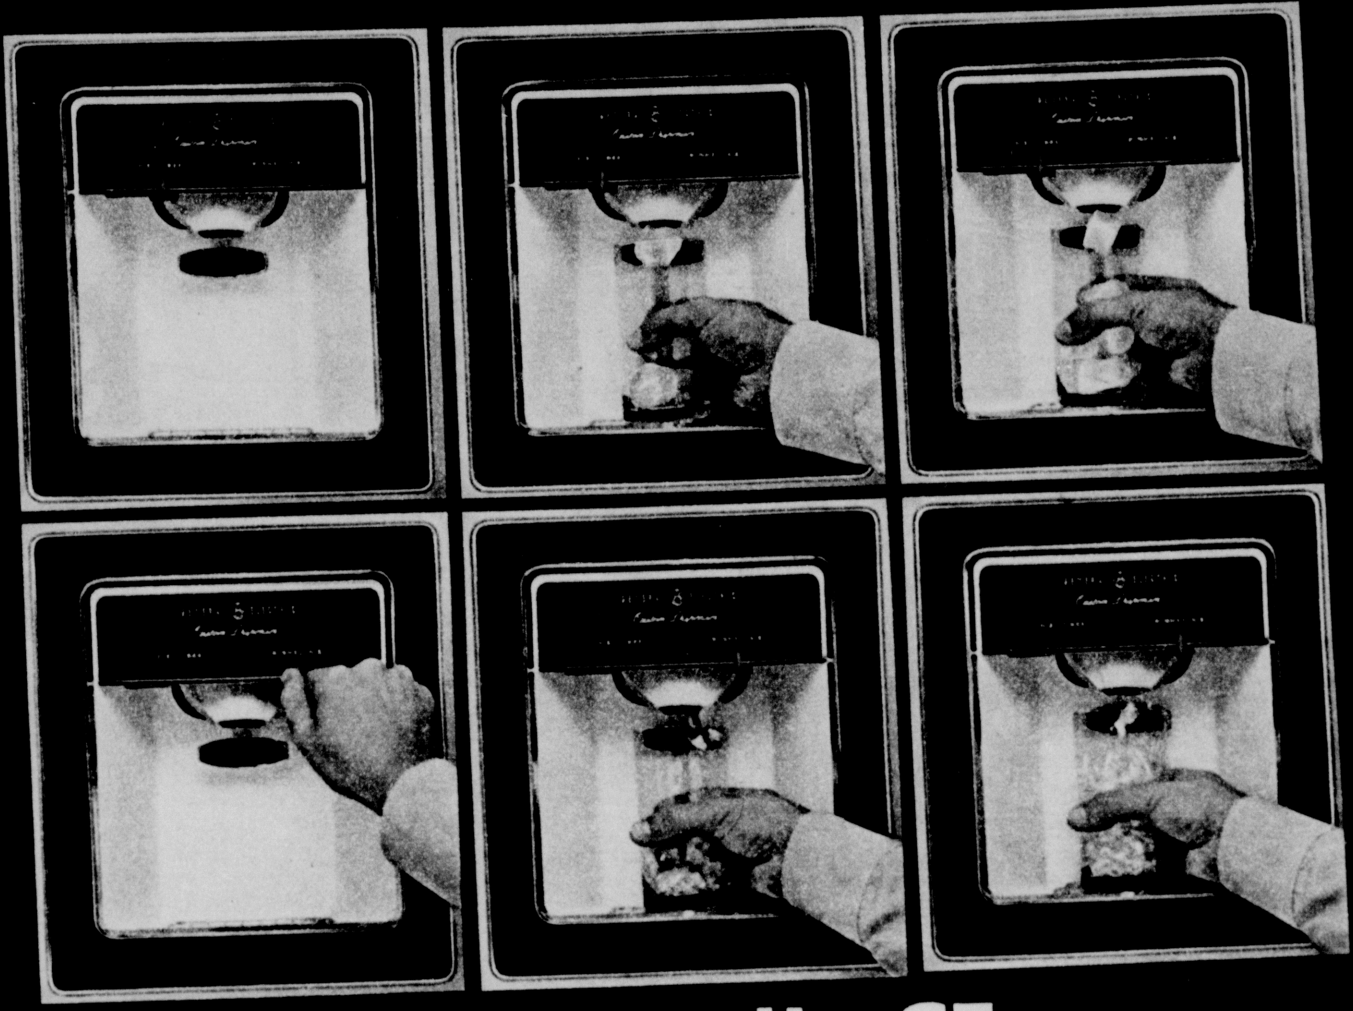
The greatest invention since the ice cube



is now on the GE Top Freezer Refrigerator.

You don't even have to open the door to get ice cubes or crushed ice. Just press your glass against the Custom Ice Dispenser Bar and out comes either ice cubes or crushed ice. And you also get these outstanding features:

Huge 6.82 cu. ft. freezer lets you stock up on bargains or convenience foods, so you make fewer trips to stores.

Power Saver Switch lets you save electricity when the kitchen humidity is low.

Provision for Rapid Electrical Diagnosis allows serviceman to check main electrical components in about 6 minutes.

Every GE major appliance is backed by General Electric Customer Care . . . Service Everywhere." Which means that wherever you are or go in the continental U.S.A., there'll be a qualified GE serviceman nearby.

The Top Freezer Refrigerator with the Custom Ice Dispenser — another reason why GE is America's #1 major appliance value.

Instead of telling us not to smoke, maybe they should tell us what to smoke.

For years, a lot of people have been telling the smoking public not to smoke cigarettes, especially cigarettes with high 'tar' and nicotine.

But the simple fact is that now more Americans are smoking than ever before. Evidently many people like to smoke and will keep on liking to smoke no matter what anyone says or how many times they say it.

Since the cigarette critics are concerned about high 'tar' and nicotine, we would like to offer a constructive proposal.

Perhaps, instead of telling us not to smoke cigarettes, they can tell us what to smoke.

For instance, perhaps they ought to recommend that the American public smoke Vantage cigarettes.

Vantage has a unique filter that allows rich flavor to come through it yet substantially cuts down on 'tar' and nicotine.

We want to be straightforward. Vantage is not the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette.

But it well may be the lowest 'tar' and nicotine cigarette a smoker will enjoy smoking. The truth is that smoke has to come through a filter if taste is to come through a filter. And where there is taste there has to be some 'tar.'

But what good is a low 'tar' cigarette if the smoker has to work so hard trying to pull the flavor through, he feels like he's sucking on a pencil?

Vantage gives the smoker flavor like a full-flavor cigarette. But it's the only cigarette that gives him so much flavor with so little 'tar' and nicotine.

A statement of simple fact we believe all of us can endorse. And that you can experience in your next pack of cigarettes.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They Suffer Pain And Itch Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues?

Exclusive formula gives prompt, temporary relief from such pain and itch in many cases. Helps shrink swelling of hemorrhoidal tissues due to inflammation.

News about a most effective medication comes from a recent survey of doctors. Asked what they, themselves, use to relieve such painful symptoms, many of the doctors reporting named one particular medication they either use themselves or in their office practice.

This medication gives prompt relief for hours in many cases from pain and itching of hemorrhoidal tissues. And it actually helps shrink swelling of such tissues caused by infection. Tests by doctors showed this to be true.

The medication used was Preparation H®—the same exclusive formula you can buy at any drug counter without a prescription. Just see if doctor tested Preparation H doesn't help you. There's no other formula like it. Ointment or suppositories.

How's Your Hearing?

Chicago, Ill.–A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

This is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. The actual aid weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 4600, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria St., Chicago, Ill., 60646.

If you order by mail,

Lynn Headley says:

"Please allow up to four weeks for delivery when you order by mail from Family Weekly. Family Weekly's ads are placed by reputable companies. The items and copy are checked for reliability. Yet, unintentional delays occur, because thousands of orders come in to our advertisers from all over the country. We at Family Weekly want to assist you as much as possible when these infrequent delays occur; so if they do, just send me a card or letter. I'll immediately look into it." Write:

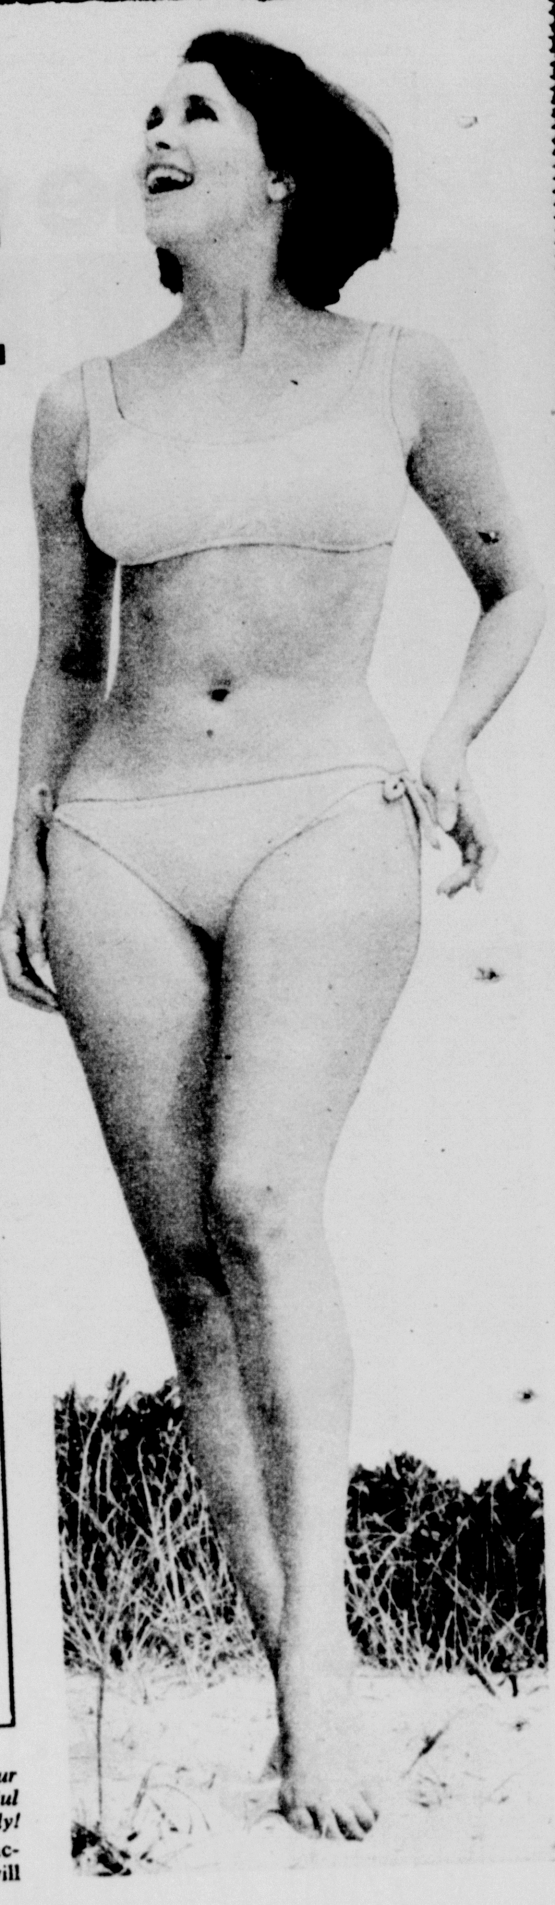
IS IT WORTH $2 TO YOU TO BANISH UGLY CELLULITE FOREVER?



Yes, for only $2 you can get the full low-down on A SPECIAL NEW WAY to rid yourself of ugly, figure-distorting cellulite—once and for all...THE SAME INCREDIBLE BREAK-THROUGH INFORMATION THAT THOUSANDS OF WOMEN HAVE BEEN EAGERLY PAYING UP TO $13 FOR!

And, now it's all yours in one fact-packed little pamphlet, small enough to carry in your handbag, but big enough to now make it easy for you to help:

Banish, forever, those orange-peel thighs!

Bid "Farewell" to those saddlebag hips and buttocks that have been making you burn with shame every time you have to be seen in sports clothes, or a bathing suit, or even walk around in front of your husband or lover!

Because Now—For The First Time In Condensed Form—Here Is A PROVEN Way To Break Down Ugly Cellulite Fat And Speed It Right Out Of Your Body!

What exactly is cellulite? It's that doughy, flabby mass of flesh that afflicts almost 90% of the women in the world, distorting the feminine curves of ladies from 15 to 90. And the sad truth about cellulite is that most women don't even know that cellulite is completely different from ordinary fat! And, because they just don't know the facts about cellulite, they have classified themselves as hopeless "fatties."

So they just keep trying to lose cellulite the ordinary way. They experiment with every new fad diet that comes on the market—the water diet, the grapefruit diet, the drinking man's diet, the low-carbohydrate diet, the high-protein diet, and who-knows-how-many-more. They starve themselves, get pummeled and kneaded at health spas, pay countless visits (and countless dollars) to "fat" doctors, eagerly join in the "group therapy" at their local diet club.

And, although they sometimes lose pounds, and inches, they still have lumpy, bumpy, ripply fat clinging to their thighs, buttocks, hips, upper arms, stomachs, to the insides of their knees, and, in some cases, even to their backs!

No wonder these women have become discouraged! They try their very best—and yet they still recoil with disgust at the sight of their naked body in a mirror!

But, Now, From The Women Of Europe Comes New Hope In The Form Of A Tried And Proven Cure For This Heartbreaking Problem!

Yes, recently uncovered facts now confirm that these women are not "just fat!" They are the unwitting victims of the Cellulite Scourge! And cellulite is not ordinary fat. It's lumpy, bubbly globules of toxic material which has become trapped in small pockets just underneath the surface of what used to be flawlessly smooth skin. It's really a gel-like substance containing fat, water, and poisonous waste material, which attaches itself to the vulnerable connective muscle tissue and just can't be budged by any ordinary diet!

If you've taken the simple Cellulite Detection Test shown above, and you're now sure that you're one of the thousands afflicted with this figure-distorting mess, this is what you must do:

Right now, clip out the coupon and mail it with $2. When your copy of Say Goodbye to Cellulite arrives, you will have all the information you will need to break down this hardened toxin-packed ugly fat, and speed it on its way right out of your body. Literally push it out in a completely "natural" way, without the crutch of diuretics or synthetically-produced chemicals that might further unbalance your delicate eliminatory system!

Yes, You CAN Win The Cellulite War Quickly And Easily, Right In Your Own Home, By Using These THREE SPECIAL CELLULITE CHASERS!

Once again, let me state that you will not have to spend one cent over the purchase price of $2. You won't have to buy dangerous appetite depressant drugs, special exercise apparatus, or expensive diet foods. You won't have to attend "pep" rallies to keep from falling off the diet-wagon, visit doctors, or even buy any high-priced "special" cuts of meat. All you need to know about cellulite is contained right here—condensed into these three all-important methods of self-treatment:

First, how to break down the hardened masses of flab that have been making your curves into lumps with unique Anti-Cellulite Self-Massage Treatments. (You'll also discover how to detect any incipient cellulite formations long before they become hardened and "marbleized" into fat!)

Second, the wonderfully simple and satisfying Anti-Cellulite Food Program. Once again, you will have to buy no special foods, prepare no special dishes, cope with no agonizing hunger pangs. You simply pick your meal from the complete listing of perfectly "normal" and delicious foods (including between-meal snacks) that you can reward yourself with, day after day—all the while knowing that they are actually helping your body to "wash" cellulite poisons right out of your system!

And third, you will be shown a few simple Anti-Cellulite Relaxers—a new type of condensed, effortless exercise, that will also bring a youthful glow to your complexion, increase your circulation, and promote an over-all general feeling of health and strength that you may have never experienced before in your lifetime!

Yes, Within Weeks After Beginning This Cellulite Elimination Program, Your Body Will Take On A New Shape! Bumps And Bulges Will Seem To Smooth Out, And Your Skin Will Be Softer And More Supple Than Ever Before!

You will actually feel more vibrant and alive than ever before because this special three-step Cellulite Elimination Program has a dual effect: Not only does it help give you the slim figure you've always wanted, free of ugly and distorting lumps and bulges; but it also acts as a natural booster, to accelerate the functioning of your body's normal elimination system so that harmful toxins are continually flushed out of your body!

You can tell the difference between cellulite fat and ordinary flab in two ways:

First, examine the surface of your skin under a strong lamp. If little shadows appear on the surface of what should be smooth skin, you've got it!

OR

Press or squeeze the suspect flesh between your thumb and index finger. If it's cellulite, the skin will ripple and look like an orange peel. (In the more advanced stages, the ripples are all too noticeable without applying any pressure at all!)

But that's not all! For once you regularly practice this simple anti-cellulite routine, you will actually help:

Revitalize weary, neglected and abused muscle tissue by throwing off the wastes that are now weakening it!

Practice the one simple trick that will prevent you from diluting your stomach's natural digestive juices, thus, unwittingly, slowing down normal digestion.

Stop relying on drugs to bolster your lagging self-control, and discover how to use nature's own appetite depressant to keep you from overindulging in foods that are harmful to your cellulite battle.

Discover how to identify and avoid the "food combinations" that actually impede your progress in eliminating cellulite.

All this valuable information is now yours. Yours for the unbelievable low price of $2! Once again, let us point out that this is the very same information that is being snapped up by women all over the country for as much as $13! (That's a saving of $11 to you!) Return the coupon and begin to look forward to a cellulite-free future.

Night at the Carnival. And almost everybody has a gimmick. Pick the one who doesn't. 1-2. No and no. It's the former tattooed man and his wife, "The Rubber Woman." Gimmick: They've embraced so much, she's erased him. 3. Nope. He's Moe M. Downe. Gimmick: Pitching show-off. His curve never breaks . . . only his extra-long cigarette. Not too bright. Thinks a manila folder is the Filipino contortionist. 4. Nope. He's Jack Knife. Gimmick: Dives 185 feet into a full-color photograph of Lake Erie. 5. No, he's Hugh Mann Kanonbawl, recently fired. (They wanted a man of higher caliber.) Either still has black powder on his face . . . or his charcoal filter cigarette is attacking his nose. 6. No, but it's a pretty good ms. 7. Right. He thinks there's enough fun here without extra gimmicks and fancy frills. Likes his smoking pleasure honest, too. Camel Filters. Great tobacco taste without the nonsense. 8. Not Noah Refund, the barker. Gimmick: Fast sales pitch. He could talk the Wolf Man into wearing a flea collar. 9. "The Bird Man" (not shown). He's away nesting.

BOB & CAROL
She wonders how they've made it

Carol Lawrence tries hard to make her marriage work, though she admits it is difficult—particularly for husbands and wives who work together. Looking back on the crises she and Robert Goulet have surmounted, she wonders how they've managed to stay together for nearly 11 years. Show-business marriages "take a real effort to make them work. And if they're not the source of tremendous gratification, the tensions and the pressures make it appealing simply to walk out." The reason they've stayed together, undoubtedly, has something to do with the way Carol feels about her husband: "That man of mine makes living a challenge. He can be darling, he's got a wild sense of humor. But he is stubborn! And what a temper!"

When you're taking that auto trip this summer and your spouse, sitting beside you with a road map, tells you to "turn left—I mean right," count to ten. Then imagine what it would be like trying to drive if you didn't have any road map at all. Back in 1909, a company called Rand McNally got the idea of taking pictures of the roads and drawing arrows on the pictures to show which way to turn. Four pictures and 60-some words got you through about three miles of driving. The first photograph in each set marked a starting point at which the driver set the car odometer at zero and then began looking for landmarks. "Turn left at the red-brick school," or "Turn south and leave the wires," were typical instructions. When the little red schoolhouse was replaced, or the telephone company strung some new wires, imagine the number of lost travelers who turned up at the friendly neighborhood farmhouse!

JUSTICE DOUGLAS
The waiter saw double

QUOTE: Justice William O. Douglas: "A gentleman stopped me on 56th Street near Park Avenue, called me by name, and said he had admired me for years because once as a waiter he had served me at a restaurant where I drank in rapid succession four double vodkas. 'What a man,' he said. 'If it had happened to me, I'd have been under the table.' I never told him it must have been Casey Stengel or Spencer Tracy (for whom I'm often mistaken), because it probably was not. There doubtless is still another understudy for me in Manhattan on the alcoholic side." From "Go East, Young Man," by Justice William O. Douglas (Random House, $10). UNQUOTE.

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

FLESH POT

I've seen my wife put on her girdle,
A sight that makes my bloodstream
curdle.
She tugs, she twists, she strains, she
wiggles;
Absurd it is, but gets no giggles.
At last it's on—that is, she's in it.
So tight it fits, no need to pin it.
Her shape, there can be little doubt
of it,
Is better when she's in than out of it.
And yet beneath, although unwanted,
The bulgy flesh remains undaunted.
Yes, though it's squeezed and lowered,
lifted,
It's all still there, just slightly shifted.

GAME ANALYSIS

I know what's wrong with my golf
And I willingly admit it:
I'm standing too close to the ball
After I hit it.

—Georgie Starbuck Galbraith

Inflation allows you to live in a more expensive neighborhood without even moving. —Conrad Fiorello

My wife went on a diet, and to give her strength, I hung a beautiful, expensive size-12 gown on the refrigerator door. And it did give her strength. She ate it. —Robert Orben

A college student called home late at night. When his father answered the phone, the boy said: "Hi, Dad. Did I wake you up?" "No," the father replied. "Do you want to call back later?" —Lane Olinghouse
